

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 61

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 61

61-The Insensitive Ones

Once we got back to the academy, we went straight to our room. After I have changed and got comfortable, I reckoned I should tell them about the whole incident. They were my mates and have always come to my rescue even when they are themselves annoying and bullied me here and there. I believed they deserved to know about my powers and how Mr. Tripper tried to force himself on me.

Once I sat down in my bed, I watched Lazlo and Maynard come and sit with me. Thiago was sitting on his bed and watching me from afar,

They were giving me time to speak up about my runaway earlier.

“I was ummm-I used to be in the same pack as Mr. Tripper,” I started off with a little bit of a background so that they understand where it all originated from.

“He was a great warrior and also the Alpha King’s favorite man. He would be the one to punish people for him. And then Corbin became the Alpha King. Mr. Tripper wanted to attain his spot as his best man but Corbin had his own friend he wanted beside him. Ever since I started hanging around with Corbin, which was when I was very young, I have always found Mr. Tripper disliking me more and more. He would occasionally bully me into stop hanging around with Corbin. And then when it was revealed to him that I am Corbin’s mate, he lost it. He didn’t like an Omega taking the spot of the Luna Queen. Well, cut to when I was transferred here, I knew he had recognized me. Then today when— when I was in the kitchen, he asked me to walk with him to his office. I did as he told me and then he-tried forcing himself on me,” the moment I said that part, their jaws met the floor.

I didn’t want to look into their eyes and watch their reactions so I lowered my face.

“What a scu*bag! How dare he tried touching you,” Lazlo got off the bed and started pacing back and forth angrily.

Thiago, who was pretending to be not listening before, was now staring at me silently.

“So that bite mark was indeed a job of a monster, only a perverted one,” Maynard too joined Lazlo, the two had never looked so angry before.

“He couldn’t do it though because I fought him off,” I instantly added so that they can calm down.

“You fought a beta warrior?” Lazlo asked as he stopped in his tracks and watched my face for answers.

“Is that what led him into unleashing this new power?” Maynard was trying to understand the whole situation.

“No! he didn’t unlock anything.” I raised my voice in frustration. How dare Mr. Tripper lied about having my powers?

“Then how did y—,” Maynard stopped in a midsentence and his eyes glowed.

“I was the one who caused all that damage to his office,” I finished, and then suddenly, they all burst out laughing.

I swear my heart sank in my chest.

“Yeah, sure!” Lazlo covered his mouth to subdue his laugh while Thiago was only staring at me with no emotion on his face.

“You think I am lying?” I yelled at the two who were still laughing and whispering funny jokes to each other’s ears.

“No! we just think you are traumatized and I assure you an Alpha like me will take care of him.” Maynard gently placed his hand on my shoulder when I got out of the bed. I felt humiliated.

He was trying to tell me an Omega cannot fight warrior so he will do it for me. “You don’t need to. I can kick his ass on my own,” I slipped his hand off and grunted angrily. Them laughing at me really hurt my feelings.

They didn’t believe me, fine but to make fun of me right when I am so hurt and traumatized, I thought they were very insensitive.

“Come on! you don’t need to get all riled up. We just wanted you to not say that in front of other people. They will not spare you for a day and will make fun of you nonstop,” Lazlo joined Maynard to excuse his behavior, but they have pissed me off.

“I shouldn’t have spoken to assholes!” I muttered and their smiles faded off pretty quickly.

“Language, Miss Omega! Just because we are nicer to you doesn’t mean you get to say whatever bullshit your mouth craves,” that typical Lazlo jumped out. It was like every time we were in the academy, he would act like a douchebag.

“Yeah! You need to put a leash on your tongue. You did mess up a lot back in my pack but I forgave you because you were a guest,” Maynard saying that made me narrow my eyes at him in shock, “Calm down, I am just teasing you!” I bet he saw how frustrated I looked because he instantly backed away.

13:52

2.00%

61-The Insensitive Ones

“Oh! I shouldn’t have spoken to you guys,” I muttered under my breath before storming out of the room. I wanted to be anywhere but in that room filled with my arrogant, stupid, and Alpha mates.

Once I was on the rooftop, I closed my eyes and let out a deep sigh. It had been a stressful day and they only made me acknowledge I cannot trust anyone.

So they were ready to believe Mr. Tripper but not me? even when I told them I survived Mr. Tripper, their dumb heads couldn’t figure out how a normal omega even fought off a great Warrior?

“I believe you,” a voice from behind me alarmed me of the arrival of Thiago. I didn’t know he would come after me.

I turned around and watched him in shock. He was really standing there behind me, waiting to have a word with me.

“You are the same one who put me on the same list of people who were the cause behind your parent’s passing away,” folding my arms around my chest, I narrowed my eyes his way.

Didn’t he like hate me or something?

Why was he talking to me again after he had ignored me for weeks?

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 62

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 62

62-Who Locked Me During The Hurricane?

"I was being unreasonable," he admitted but I didn't believe him, "I know you think I am lying but my pack would have eaten you alive if you stayed there," he explained but it was too late. He could have said all those things to me before when I was trying to contact him so much.

"You had time and my number to simply leave me one text and explain me this situation but you didn't. Do you have any idea how I felt all those days when you ignored me? I kept asking myself where have went wrong and the only thing that made sense was the fact that you just wanted to sleep with me. It is a very painful situation to think somebody wanted sex from you and they got it," Finally, now that he was listening, I was yelling and crying at the same time. It was only a drizzle but still enough to merge down with my tears.

"I know. But can you blame me?" he questioned and stole my attention, "You came to the woods to save me even when you didn't know about your new powers. You jeopardized your life for me back in the woods. You did everything to save Lazlo's reputation and punish his father. You stood beside Maynard and even went ahead to have a catfight with the beta of his pack. I knew you wouldn't listen to me and will still come to my pack trying to make everybody listen to you and hear from you that you are innocent. I didn't want that yet you did it, proving me right. You don't know this yet but Enya, you are very stubborn and willing to risk everything for the happiness of the people you care about. But my pack was not Lazlo's father or Maynard's mother. They' have hated your pack and everyone there for a long time. They needed some warming up to do. You showing up at the gate shocked them," he was speaking very aggressively and holding the tears back. I bet he missed his parents.

"I don't know what to say anymore," I sighed in defeat.

He did say some pretty solid things about my actions. I would have gone there to persuade others I am not a bad person.

"Which is why I had to push you away for your own safety," he approached me and gently held my hands.

The moment his hands were about to deepen the connection, he pulled his hands back from me.

"What happened?" I asked because I was looking forward to feeling his touch and gathering his emotions.

"I don't think it is appropriate of me to just hold your hands when I have hurt you so much," he stole eyes from me, looking very guilty.

"I believe you do make a good point. I would have come after you anyway," I smiled, comforting him.

"I know about your powers," he added and a frown shone of my forehead, "I have read about them," he finished and my eyes widened at him.

"Please tell me what is happening to me?" I asked but first, I held his hands to feel his emotions.

Nothing!

I didn't feel anything but his touch.

Nia!

Oh shoot!

Where the heck did she go? I needed her so that I can feel his emotions.

"What happened?" he looked slightly concerned when watching me trying to rub his palms with mine.

"Nothing!" I lied, "So you said you know about my powers?" i inquired and he nodded his head.

"But for now, you need to go to bed." He said as he cupped my face in his hands. I felt his finger gently touching under the bite mark and then his jaw clenched.

"That prick will pay for this," he finished angrily. I can't believe his one-touch was able to make my night. I freed my face from his hands and filled myself with his body.

"Will your pack ever accept me?" I asked and found him softly wrapping his arms around my body. He didn't rub my back or anything.

"They have to. You are my choice, but first, they will need to be told how good and loyal you are," his voice would turn deep and raspy whenever he spoke remotely about anything regarding his pack or parents.

We broke the hug and walked downstairs hand in hand. I was indeed worn out and I needed to rest. The fact that he came back for me filled my heart with a little comfort.

12.521

an

62-Who Locked Me During The Hurricane?

I know whatever the story was about his parents was painful, so I didn't force him into telling me about it. I will wait for him to be ready when it's time.

We all slept fine and even woke up in the morning starving and hangry.

"Move!" Lazlo yelled at us, making his way to the cafeteria where it was going to be us only today. Since the alphas were in the academy now, the chef and the service people were called in.

I was the first one to fill my plates and sit down in a corner. I haven't gotten a chance to sit and eat in the cafeteria before, I wanted to experience it minus the mean girls.

Thiago was the last one as he wanted some special kind of smoothie. He was in the kitchen with the chef when Lazlo and Maynard sat down with me.

"We saw you returning to the room holding hands with him last night," Lazlo scoffed, almost like making fun of me.

*And what is so funny about it?" I asked him, narrowing my eyes in his face.

"It's just how he mistreated you and then kicked you out of his pack, we didn't expect you to melt down so easily," Maynard spoke up when I thought Lazlo would be the only one I have to deal with.

"Especially when he was the one who had locked you on the roof during that hurricane," Lazlo laughed sarcastically without raising his head from his plate but it stung me like a bee.

"Hey! don't talk about that," Maynard complained and shook his head at Lazlo.

What did he say, Thiago had locked me on the rooftop?

"He didn't lock me on the rooftop," I blurted out of frustration. If they were trying to get under my nerves, then they did it just fine.

"I wasn't going to talk about it but now that you look so certain speaking about it," Maynard dropped the spoon on the plate and cleared his throat, "Who else knew you weren't with your mate? We were all under a misconception you would come back with Thiago," he tried to explain but confused me even more.

“No! there must be somebody else,” I stated as I found my breathing turning heavy.

“It was him,” Maynard confirmed, his words making my heart skip a beat.

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 63

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 63

63 Messed Up, Didn't 1?

Everything they said made me a little uncomfortable. It was indeed true that Thiago was the only one who knew I wasn't with him. They have riled me up completely perfectly.

I frowned and watched Thiago come towards us with his tray and a smoothie bowl.

“What's up? Why is everybody so silent?” he inquired passing little smiles to everyone. “Nothing! We were just waiting for you,” Maynard snickered as he proceeded to shove his mouth with waffles.

“Why didn't you come to look for me that day?” Instead of waiting for us to be alone, I decided to raise the objection when the two other parties who claimed he locked me on the rooftop were there.

“What?” Thiago tilted his face while trying to read my expressions.

“We can talk about it later,” Lazlo awkwardly crackled but shut up when I glared him into silence. “What are you talking about?” Thiago asked again and I bet he even looked at the other two to get an idea of what I was on about.

“The day of the hurricane when my blanket was left on the floor. You didn't see it?” I was looking through his eyes and asking my heart out.

“What? I di—” he paused because I wasn't done.

“Just tell me, did you see the blanket or not?” I repeated my question because it all came down to that one answer.

Maynard and Lazlo were sneakily stealing glances of me and Thiago this entire time.

“I did bu—” there it was, Thiago admitted to seeing the blanket on the floor yet he didn't come to my rescue.

Wait!

What if it was true and he was the one who locked me on the rooftop?

“No, but! You don’t get to lie to me,” I raised my voice and gulped angrily.

“I am not lying. If you just listen to me you wi- I wasn’t ready for his lies. He was so damn sneaky. The fact that he knew I was on the rooftop and didn’t come to my rescue explained he didn’t care about me.

Or maybe he planned it all.

“Did you lock me on the rooftop?” the moment I asked him straightforwardly, Maynard choked on his juice and Lazlo coughed awkwardly.

“What? you think I am insane enough to lock my mate on the rooftop?” Thiago tried raising his voice and it angered me.

First, he lied to me when he said previously he didn’t see the blanket, and now he was shouting at me?

“Don’t raise your voice at me. You are the one who knowingly walked away even when I was on the rooftop. One could expect something like that from you. I should have known you were lying about your pack not liking me. it was you, who wanted to get rid of me,” i shouted and grabbed the attention of the staff of the café.

Thiago closed his eyes and when he opened them, I saw his wolf flashing through them.

“Didn’t you say you heard somebody asking for help? So you are telling me somebody planned it all and then asked me to lock the door beyond you? If that is the case then you are admitting somebody else knew you were upstairs and not with me,” He reminded me of the crying noises I have heard and it hit me,

How did I forget about that?

“About your blanket. By the time I got out of the bathroom and spotted it, this dude over here appeared out of nowhere and told me that you are already in the basement and had dropped the blanket out of fear when you heard the windows shaking. He said you have asked him to collect the blanket. When I reached the basement, sure enough, I didn’t find you. I found you in his arms near the stairs so I went back,” he slarnmed his fist against the table and the food jumped up and came down slipping off the plates.

“But he told me-” I tried to make eye contact with Maynard but Thiago wasn’t done yet.

“Well, then next time when you hear somebody try to make a fool out of you, at least use your brain and recall the whole incident instead of accusing someone of something so disturbing.” He slammed his hand at his smoothie bowl and it shattered on the floor.

634 Messed Up, Didn't I?

He didn't wait for anything else and neither did I stop him. I was embarrassed by acting like a fool and believing Maynard.

“You lied to me,” now that it was only three of us, I glared at Maynard but there was a hint of hurt in my eyes that he spotted.

“I forgot the exact timeline of the events. Besides, it was a guess that maybe Thiago locked you,” he shrugged his shoulders, upsetting me more.

“You said Thiago never came looking for me. And you lied to him about me being in the basement,” I wasn't even able to raise my voice anymore.

I felt like a fool getting used by the hands of my mates.

“And you-,” the moment I turned my attention to Lazlo, he got up from his seat and pretended to attend a call.

“Sorry! An urgent work arrived,” he excused and rushed away from us.

So they both tricked me!

“Huh! fine I did it. And I don't feel like I should answer to you,” he muttered after he had stopped pretending to be clueless.

“I can't believe you would do something like that,” anger had started to fill my veins slowly.

“Like you are a saint. One minute you are in my arms and the next moment you are coming out of the bathroom or entering the room holding hands with Thiago,” his comment disgusted me.

He knew what he was saying had a reason behind it. I was their mate and had made it clear that I am not choosing one anymore.

“At least I am not making out with someone who is not my mate,” I grunted at him and got up from my seat to descend away from him.

He had made matters worse between Thiago and I, I needed to fix that.

But how?

od Walk Me On The Bridge

I have walked out on Maynard and was now looking for Thiago. He had left the academy to take a stroll and I felt responsible for him not finishing his breakfast Dammit, he was so badly craving the smoothie bowl and I ruined the fun for him

That was it, I decided to go after him and have breakfast with him.

“What are you doing here?” the female chef was always bitter toward me whenever she saw me.

“The same smoothie bowl for Alpha Thiago,” I didn’t know the ingredients, but she did.

She glared at me and then shared a look with the other staff members.

*Aren’t you the one who pissed him off somehow and he ended up creating all that mess for my staff to clean it?” she was much shorter in height than me. The angry and arrogant look on her face made it hard for me to keep looking at her face

“He wants his smoothie bowl,” I didn’t have time to argue with her. So I told her what he needed and after glaring at me for some time, she finally went ahead and made one for him.

T held the bowl tightly in my hands and exited the academy without going back into my room to get a sweater. I didn’t want to face Maynard and Lazlo again after they played me like an idiot.

Now I was lost where to find Thiago in this huge world. Luckily for me, I called him and he picked up my call.

“Don’t hang up,” I bit my lip when asking him to give me a chance to speak

“If I were to hang up, would I have attended your call?” I bet he rolled his eyes from the other side of the call when asking me that question,

“Oh! I want to speak to you. Where are you?” I asked expecting him to say something rude to me, but strangely enough, he didn’t

“I am on the bridge,” he knew I was aware of the bridge he was talking about.

“Fine, I am coming there,” I hung up and rushed to my feet to meet him there. I was still holding the smoothie in my hands and running towards the huge ass bridge-like crazy.

Nobody really used that bridge anymore and I wondered why?

There was a beautiful ocean under it. I have seen couples spend time there now that the vehicles didn't take that route.

It took me some time to reach my desired destination but when I did, I didn't regret it. The view was so beautiful that day. The birds had gathered around Thiago like he was a Disney princess. Walking towards him and hearing my footsteps on the bridge made the birds fly away.

"Oh!" I sighed sadly.

"Did you fill poison in their eyes against me?" I asked him as he smiled sweetly.

"Don't worry, I didn't," he didn't look very angry anymore hence I was able to stand close to him, "Did you bring this for me?" I am glad he pointed it out because I almost forgot I was holding a smoothie in my hands for him.

"Oh! Yes," I nodded like a fool, "I am so sorry for spoiling your mood. I didn't think straight and because a lot had happened in the past few weeks, I guess I just believed those idiots," I handed him over the smoothie and a spoon and watched him take a bite happily

"I am sorry!" I repeated myself and this time, he decided to leave the smoothie alone to answer back to me.

"It is fine. I shouldn't have reacted like an animal too. I am sort of glad it happened because now we know we lack in the communication department," he was in a very cheerful mood all of a sudden.

I thought he would be the same as before, cold and arrogant.

"Thank you for understanding me and forgiving me," now that he had finished the smoothie and was watching the ocean with me, I spoke softly

"Nah! I should be grateful you accepted me back after what I put you through," he instantly retorted reminding me how much it meant for him that I forgave him for his previous week's foolery.

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 64

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 64

64 Walk Me On The Bridge

“I was thinking about your powers last night,” he turned to me after he was done staring at the ocean while I stayed facing the ocean from the bridge, “I remember reading a little bit about it. They are called special werewolves and they were very uncommon to spot or find. Such werewolves are not usually just born from normal werewolf parents, you follow what I am trying to say, right?” once he acknowledged I was too silent, he questioned if I was even understanding him or not.

“My parents were normal, just ordinary werewolves,” I recalled my parents but I couldn’t really remember too much because I was only 6 when they passed away.

“Maybe it’s because I was only 6 when they perished away.” I tried to remember more but couldn’t for the sake of anything

“Hm! Pups don’t remember anything unless something extremely traumatic event happens. That’s where the werewolves sense wakes up in a pup,” he seemed lost when talking about childhood and trauma, “anyway, we were talking about you. There is no way your parents were ordinary, at least one of them. Do you know anything about their past or how they passed away?” the more he asked me the more I realized I didn’t know anything at all

They were my parents, I should have tried knowing more about them until I remembered why I wasn’t able to get any information about them.

“Lord Shaun has made some rules and one of them includes the complete confidentiality of the ones who have passed away.” I sighed because it sounded stupid to the lips yet he went head and sealed that rule.

“Even from the families?” the look on his face said it all.

“He loves collecting files and pieces of information. He had kept my parents past from me,” I shrugged sadly.

“Well, you will need those files to find out what is happening to you before you lose control and hurt yourself,” Thiago sounded too serious when warning me what might happen if I didn’t figure out what was wrong with me, “or others,” once he finished, I understood it was important.

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 65

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 65

65-i Knew They Killed My Parents

He told me I can find out about my powers if I get to know my parent's past. The only issue would be my relationship with the Alpha King and where I stand with my pack now.

"Following my ban from the pack temporarily, I think you know it's not possible for me to go back in there and demand any files on my parents," I said without looking away from his face. I was extremely grateful to him for even considering helping me but there were a lot of issues in regards to me demanding the files from the Alpha King.

There was this part of me that wanted him to help me with my newly found powers. He was trying but the main issue was my pack and the Alpha King.

"You are not banned. You are just not allowed to spend a night in there. You can still visit if you have some important work," he shook his finger to tell me it is not like I haven't been to my pack after getting kicked out of there.

But that was different. The principal has specifically informed them about letting me enter so that I can grab my stuff.

"Still! Even to do so, I'll have to speak to Lord Shaun or Alpha King Corbin. Do you think they will hear me and help me?" || reminded him of my whole nasty breakup with Corbin.

I don't know, even thinking about asking for his help will be a good idea. It only increased my worries and nothing else.

"Right," he gave up and nodded to himself but quickly retrieved.

"Isn't your adoptive father a guard or something?" he brought up the parents who didn't bother trying to comfort me ever since they adopted me. :

"Yeah! He takes care of the lockers," I nodded still not getting where he was going with it?

"So?" He raised his brow with a powerful smile displayed on his lips.

"You want me to ask him for help? He will never help me," I felt weird dismissing all his ideas but these were just some things I knew for sure wouldn't work out for me.

"You don't have to ask him anything. You know the area, the room, and everything. You can use your power to break the lock," his idea made me hold back my breath and place a hand on my heart.

Just the thought of it gave me a heart attack.

"I mean; wouldn't that be too much?" I complained but he didn't look frazzled.

"Don't you want to know about your parents and how you have these powers?" He made a good point. He reached for my hand and held it gently, once again! I didn't feel anything because Nia was still not around. I was getting worried for her. She had never stayed silent for so long. And knowing all that happened right after I used so much energy made me worry for her a lot.

"I do," I nodded once I realized he had been staring at me forever for an answer.

"So then let's do it. We will sneak into the pack, distract the guards, and then you will do the magic thingy. We will then grab the files, take pictures and make a run out of the pack," he was going crazy with his outrageous plan. I have never done something so exciting and forbidden but one could tell he was not very new to this.

After how he got in trouble with Argo, I acknowledged he didn't really fear anything.

"I don't even know how my powers work," I shrugged my shoulders when talking about my powers. It was like I don't even know what I was anymore.

"We can take a test run. You can try unlocking something," he snapped his fingers in front of my face to bring me back to reality and then held my hand to take me somewhere.

He looked determined and I was happy that he was taking so much interest in helping me out with my problems.

He took me back to the academy and then to the rooftop. He made me wait there for him while he went downstairs to grab some stuff.

I was worried about what he was planning but I was also happy that at least he believed in me and in my powers.

Once he came back, I saw him holding some padlocks just like how we have in our pack at the lockers. I used to take my father's lunch box whenever he forgot it at home so I knew the layout with my eyes closed. There was just this giant vault with so many padlocks that I felt like dying thinking about unlocking them.

654 Knew They Killed My Parents

"Is this like a training session or what?" I asked, laughing a bit.

“You need to practice it a bit,” he set the locks down and then gave me a sweater he brought from the room for me. I honestly thought he didn’t notice I was feeling cold this whole time.

I had no clue how it works but I really wanted to know more about my parents now. He was right! There was no way! I was a product of an ordinary werewolf couple. I just remember my mother being sick all the time.

“Okay!” I knelt down before the locks and rested my hands on my knees. I stared at the lock and thought to myself, what now?

“Focus on the locks,” Thiago was kneeling down from the other side and watching my face.

I closed my eyes and sighed. I didn’t know what “Think about your parents, Enya!” he then decided to help me some more.

“Think about them! Isn’t it weird that they died in a car accident when a werewolf cannot be killed from a simple car accident? We can heal,” the moment he said that I shot my head up and stared at his face.

What was he trying to say?

“What are you saying?” I put pressure on my words when asking him to explain his statement to me.

“Did you never think how weird it was that your parents died in a car accident and their bodies were almost unrecognizable?” once he hunched down more to reach my level, I bet he spotted tears in my eyes.

—

“Enya! That pack is an abyss; it drags innocents

1.” He finished and tears streamed down my eyes.

I always had questions about my parent’s passing but I never thought there will be any truth to it until now. And that’s when anger struck me. I tightened my fists and glared at the locks he had placed in a line. He wanted me to open one lock, whichever I can try but the anger and rage inside me woke up Nia even stronger.

“Ahhh!” his lips let out a gasp when all the locks clicked unlocked by themselves.

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 66

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 66

66-They Fight Over Me

“Enya!”

“Enya! Are you okay?” a faint voice shook me awake. I opened my eyes with difficulty and found my body in my bed.

“What happened?” Lazlo’s voice was a hint that I wasn’t alone. They were all gathered around me and staring at me.

I then realized what had probably happened. I passed out once I used too much of my powers. I shook my head and tried waking up entirely to hear what the others were saying to Thiago.

“It is always you who gets her in trouble,” Maynard grunted, standing with his bed and accusing Thiago.

“I know right! It is like whenever he gets closer to her, she gets in trouble,” Lazlo said, joining Maynard. By this time, already knew Lazlo and Maynard were one team. They didn’t like Thiago or probably didn’t get along with him. It was Thiago’s choice as well because he refused to hang out with them.

I have seen him sit alone and do massive research and spend time on his computer or phone, God knows doing what, then to spend time with them.

“Enough!” I groaned, sitting up in the bed. They watched my face and then shared a glance, probably because they knew I was going to take Thiago’s side.

“He didn’t do anything and please can you two remind me when was the last time he got me in trouble?” I stared at them, reminding them with my eyes what they did was still fresh in my memory.

“And before you two argue, next time when you lie about me, make sure you don’t act all saint afterward,” I finished talking but they knew I was not listening to them anymore.

“We didn’t lie because of a malicious intent,” Maynard stepped ahead to argue more.

“Can we let her rest?” Thiago finally spoke up after he had enough of our arguments.

“Malicious or not, you fooled me,” I wasn’t quitting either. I got off the bed to stand face to face with Maynard, who was not backing down either.

“And that was fair of you when you decided to pick him and reject the two of us?” as Maynard recalled the conversation he had heard back when Thiago and I were in the woods, Lazlo heaved a gasp from his gaping mouth.

“She was going to reject us?” Lazlo pushed Maynard back so that he can be the one I face now. His eyes were glaring into mine angrily as if I have received them.

“And he asked her to do it,” to add fuel to the fire, Maynard pointed at Thiago.

“That will be enough,” Thiago came forward to grab my hand and pull me back from the two. Now it was them staring into each other’s eyes.

I was tired of this back and forth, they need to get one thing clear. I was not a reward and neither a competition

“You two have been trying your best to cause a rift between us. It is not like you two didn’t try for her to pick you, so don’t point at me.” Thiago was talking to them but they were only scoffing at his every word.

“At least we didn’t ask her to reject anyone,” with that one phrase, Maynard collected his jacket and sprinted out of the room.

Lazlo passed me one last glance after he glared at Thiago and followed Maynard to the outside I had no clue how to deal with this mess when I was already under so much stress

I flopped down in the bed and sighed. Thiago turned over to me and sat down with me. I know we had a lot to talk about including the way I clicked those locks open and then passed out.

“What you did on the rooftop was spectacular,” he held my hands tightly, but once again. I felt nothing. I was slightly on the edge thinking maybe I lost that power?

I didn’t know how it works but it was indeed weird.

66-They Fight Over Me

“Yeah! But I passed out,” I responded weakly. Was I really that special? It was like somebody telling me my previous years were a joke. I have lived hearing I am a weak omega and I will be nothing if I didn’t get accepted by a strong and powerful mate. Which was why I stuck around with Corbin for so long. I was now realizing he used to be abusive from the start. I just choose to ignore it because he wasn’t abusing me.

“That happens with power. You just need to make sure you keep practicing until you stop passing out.” He was very supportive of my powers, something that Maynard and Lazlo lacked.

They wanted me to be with them when they needed me, but where were they when I wanted help with my powers?

Oh yeah! They were right here making fun of me.

“I am not ready yet?” I asked and he shook his head.

“We wouldn’t want you to pass out right when you unlock the lockers, do we?” he cupped my face but then pulled away when his phone rang in his pocket.

“I will attend this call and be right back with you, okay?” he got up from my side and left the room to speak to whoever was calling him

Now that I was alone with Nia, I wanted to hear from her.

‘Are you there?’ I asked because previously she was gone for a day or so.

I am,’ she replied, ‘I got sort of wasted when I used most of my energy to save us the other day,’ she replied happily.

I know she was surprised too now that she knew she wasn’t weak at all.

‘About that. Thiago is really helping us out, isn’t he?’ I mentioned him because just when I thought he was over me; he came back for me.

“Yeah!’ she didn’t say much and her silence kind of got me curious.

‘What is it?’ I asked and when she didn’t respond, I decided to ask her again, ‘I have noticed one of our powers is gone. Every time I touch his hands, I feel nothing.’ I stated just to hear what she has to say about it?

That is concerning me as well. Are we supposed to lose powers like this?’ she asked and it worried me too because what if I lose my power right when I am in the building and ready to unlock the vault?

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 67

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 67

67 They Don't Deserve Me

Ever since I started practicing, Thiago had been taking good care of me. He would bring me food and snacks every two hours to make sure my energy is full and I am not putting pressure on myself. What he didn't know was that I was really going to do anything to find out what happened to my parents. And for that to happen, I was ready to give my all into getting that locker to open.

It's been three days already and Maynard and Lazlo seemed to have gotten angry over the time I was spending with Thiago. But none of them complained or spoke to me until one day. That particular day was a bit of a ditzzy one.

Thiago received a call so he had to leave for some pack business. I was left behind with the two Alphas who hated me. The students were still on vacation so they were all I had pretty much that day.

"Hey!" I frowned when Maynard rushed past me to attend to the bathroom. I swear he was awake since morning but waited for me to take a step in the direction of the restroom to decide to attend it. The moment he saw me reaching the door, he sprinted into the bathroom and locked the door.

"You are so mature, Maynard!" I yelled from the other side, pouting angrily.

"Babe! It was all just a big mistake," Lazlo's voice caught my attention. I turned over to watch his face and found him speaking to someone on the phone. The tone and language he was using seemed sus. There was no way he was talking to a friend or the Royal beta of his pack.

"She is just a roommate, nothing ever happened between us," he added and I reckoned he was talking about me. But who would be curious about what is going on between Lazlo and me?

Only one name could pop up in my head at that time.

Jessica!" I murmured,

The night when she asked her friends to gang-rape me flashed before my memory and a wave of anger rushed passed my every vein. Not only did she want to destroy the peace of my mind and take away the choice of saying no from me, but also left me behind when they heard Argo's howls.

The fact that my mate was talking to her so sweetly and persuading her didn't feel right. I groaned, approaching his bed and snatching the phone out of his hands in haste,

I bet he didn't expect it because he wasn't given a chance to react when I stared at the screen and then put the phone to my ear.

It was indeed Jessica!

"Aren't you dating that psychopath?" I yelled on the phone, my veins were popping out in anger.

"What the fuck are you doing?" Lazlo got out of bed and tried getting his phone back from me. I was dodging him and trying to say as much as I could before he gets his hands back on his phone.

"Enya?" she asked a bit aggressively from the other side of the call.

"Yes! I'm still here and able to speak for myself despite your attempts of silencing me, you who!" I shouted but before anything else could be said, Lazlo stole the phone out of my hands.

"Babell" he almost sounded desperate, "No! what? I didn't give her the authority to use my phone She came onto me," he was busy explaining it to her and it was angering me

How was he able to defend himself after that was the part I was interested in?

"We will talk once you come back from the vacation, okay?" his calming tone and sweet concerning voice were bothering me.

How could he do this to me?

Out of all the people in the world, he chose her?

The moment he hung up the call, he turned over to me and lunged in my way. He raised his hand but only to throw the jacket on the floor that he was holding

"What the heck was that? Are you insane?" he shouted so loud that I bet the Moon Goddess must have heard him too

After he turned too loud, I heard the shower stop in the bathroom. Maynard must have heard the commotion.

67-They Don't Deserve Me

"You are pleading to her to get back with you?" I asked looking through his eyes instead of being scared of his angry glare.

"Hello! I don't beg anyone. We are already back together," he grunted and clenched his jaw after hurting my ego, dignity, and feelings.

“What? how could you do this to me?” my tone softened because I was in shock. I didn’t expect him to be so careless of my emotions and feelings.

What she did to me was horrible. Sure I didn’t tell them much, but I did tell them she has hit me. Did that mean nothing to him?

“How could I do what to you? Who are you to me? Oh sorry! I remember you,” he was pacing around and aggressively using his hand gestures to talk, “You are the mate who is busy getting in and out of Thiago’s ass all the time,” it was the way he said that made me cringe and close my eyes.

“What is going on?” as expected, Maynard rushed out of the bathroom wearing pants only. He was in such a rush that he didn’t even dry his hair.

“He is getting back with Jessica!” I announced, probably expecting he will show some decency and knock the sense out of Lazlo.

“Really? Congratulations dude,” Maynard held his arms open and hugged Lazio,

“You two don’t remember how she has bullied me this whole time?” I was able to get their attention when they didn’t want to understand why I was so upset with this idea.

“Why are you objecting? You are the one who gets to enjoy so many mates. And not even that, you are giving your all to that one mate while we sit around and feel empty,” Maynard defending Lazlo’s decision was not the thing I wanted to hear at that time.

“You two can spend time with me but you guys choose to lie and manipulate me,” I answered back at them

“Excuses!” Maynard scoffed.

“Do you not remember how she bullied me?” I asked Lazlo instead of talking to Maynard, he was being ridiculous.

“And what does that has to do with me?” Lazlo’s words shook the world from under my feet. That’s when I thought maybe it was my fault that I didn’t tell them what happened that night when I returned all bruised up.

“She asked her gang to rape me that night when I returned to the room all messed up. She initiated and started recording me while he—r friends — they almost stripped me naked” Gosh it was so easy to not talk about it. Almost felt like I was back on that road getting harassed.

The two shared a glance but when they looked my way, I didn’t see the reaction I was expecting

“And the entire world wants Enya Fosters?” Maynard’s comment compelled me into stepping back from them.

“Right! From the Alpha King to everyone, including Mr. Tripper, my father, Jim, Jessica’s friends, everybody wants you?” Lazlo too questioned my credibility.

I was surprised he added his father to the list when he had seen the proof of his father trying to sleep with me in recorded cam footage,

“You saw your father,” I whispered under my breath, my eyes narrowed in his face of Lazlo.

“And the others? Where is the proof?” Maynard placed his hands on his waist and asked me that question without displaying any concern

It was at that moment that I felt like they didn’t care one bit about me

“I can’t believe you two are saying this,” I shook my head in disbelief, “I think it is for the best that we don’t talk now” | was having a hard time believing my ears

“No it is a good time that I tell you to stay out of my life.” Lazlo came forward to hunch down to my face’s level and warn me not to interrupt his life again.

And mine too. I don’t want you to come crying for my shoulder when Thiago messes up. Maynard too pointed his finger in my face before walking past me.

“Oh, and by the way you are not special” Maynard added just when he was behind me, ‘At least not anymore,’ he finished and disappeared into the bathroom to finish getting ready Lazlo called Jessica again and started convincing her I wasn’t his anybody

I needed fresh air so I exited the room and rushed to the rooftop

Do you even feel mate bonds with them anymore? | asked Nia, who was also hurt after our mates broke us.

I do and that’s the part I hate the most she admitted to still feeling a mate bond with them.

They asked me to get them proof. How would I? I barely survived those times and they are expecting me to find some proof? It isn’t like I expected anything.’ I had my face covered in my hands and tears drenching my skin.

We don’t need to give anybody any proof. We know what happened, and we also know how to take care of ourselves.’ Nia’s tone changed but that was just the new changes in her that would make her act different at times.

She would get super angry and would calm down instantly too.

After some time. I went downstairs and grabbed the locks and my breakfast to come back upstairs and practice some more. I was able to break the locks open without passing out now.

I have now decided to focus on my mission. Once Thiago came back, he rushed straight upstairs with some snacks in his hands

What happened?" the moment he appeared on the rooftop. I got up from my spot and rushed into his arms. His gray jacket white shirt and gray pants were really making his black hair and crystal gray eyes stand out

"Heyt he comforted me after he felt my heart racing in my chest, "Your heart is on fire, lady!" he laughed a little to ease up the environment.

Tell me what happened? Did those two do something?" as he broke the hug and cupped my face in his hands, he made sure to look me in the eye and let me know how angry he would get if they did hurt me

"They are irrelevant at this point' I commented, 'I practiced more today, and Thiago, I feel like I am ready for my mission once I said those words, his eyes sparkled.

"Really He asked in excitement. This was the most he had ever displayed any emotions. I have always found him a bit too cold but thankfully, he was opening up to me now.

"I can do this. I reassured him.

*7 w come with you" he held my hand and promised to remain on my side too. It meant a lot to me He was an Alpha and if he was to get caught his entire pack will have to deal with the consequences, and yet here he was still trying to help me out as much as he could.

"I am proud of you,' he whispered kissing my forehead but then instantly sipping away from me, "But we have to wait he mumbled undertone

What why?" I asked and he let out a sigh

"We can only do that at night time and since there are only us in the academy, keeping up on our every move will be a Little too easy We must wait for the students to come back' he knew what he was talking about but I was not satisfied

Delay for even more than a day was not at all an option. I wanted it done now so that I can know what is happening to me and what happened to my parents'

Thiago! I understand you want us to be careful but I cannot wait' i stated determinedly
He tilted his face and fixated h seves on my face

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 68

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 68

68 Baby I Am Ready

"I need to know what happened to my parents. I need to know if there was a foul play involved," I stated my thoughts to him without any hesitation.

He was the only one who understood me and I can rely on him.

"And what if there was a foul play, then what?" his stare was so deep as if he was reading the details of my eyes and every little movement of my body.

"Then I will burn that whole pack down," I grunted in rage.

"There are many people who are innocent there, what then, what about them?" he was asking me these questions and although I wasn't understanding the meaning behind them, I was still responding to each one of them.

"Thiago! I need to know who was, directly and indirectly, involved," I said meaning every word of it.

"What if somebody knew that your parents were going to die and didn't help them because of the fear of someone of great power?" he was asking precise questions. I was beginning to feel like he knew something.

"If somebody did know and didn't do anything to save my parents or bring them justice, then I am sorry! That person is also a criminal. He murdered all the hopes of them surviving or getting justice," I answered well. It came right from my heart. Who would even forgive someone who might be the reason your parents are not with you today?

I wouldn't

I know how I have lived my life without my parents. If only there is someone who knows what happened to them and didn't come forward to get their culprit behind the bars, then that person doesn't deserve my forgiveness or sympathy too “Hm! I think you are ready,” Thiago changed his mind and decided it was time we get on board with our mission.

After practicing one more time, I went downstairs with him. We discussed how we were going to leave the pack in two hours so that we don’t have to think about sneaking out after midnight.

“You are headed somewhere?” Now that Maynard and Lazlo told me in clear words they were done with me, they were talking to Thiago freely.

I was surprised how they went from bad-mouthing him to being friendly with him. As for Thiago, he didn’t display much difference. He would always be aware of them talking shit about him but wouldn’t really care. It appeared as if he had more significant issues than dealing with some childish brawls.

“We are headed to my pack. Since I couldn’t show her around last time, we have planned a little trip to just walk her through the pack before the end of the vacations,” he lied without stuttering. He was busy packing his bag but it was also a con. We were going to stay in a local motel for at least 3 days even after we have stolen the files.

“Oh!” Maynard smiled but that seemed fake. However, he didn’t comment on anything afterward. It did surprise me that the two were true to their words when they said I am nothing for them anymore but coming from a mate, it hurt me.

I was not mean to them; I did spend time with them. It was just whenever they tried to ruin my time with Thiago by lying, it got me upset.

Not only with Thiago, but the way they would lie all the time and then I would be at the receiving end of the anger of the other person just was a bit too much for me.

“All set to go?” Thiago inquired after he had held his bag over his shoulder

“Yeah!” I nodded, watching him pick up my bag and leave the room. I had a few minutes to say goodbye to these two but they didn’t even bother raising their eyes at me and neither did I want to talk to them after they didn’t believe me over and over again.

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 69

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 69

69-The Deceitful Act*

I was now walking after Thiago, hoping I don't get to see Mr. Tripper, who was supposed to arrive back after a few days' break. Or should I say, after he lied to the principal about how special he was?

Thankfully, we weren't bothered and soon we were in Thiago's car and headed to my pack. My heart was doing all sorts of flips inside my chest. It wasn't going to be easy for me to be in my pack and steal those files. We have decided to take pictures of the files if we have time so that nobody can suspect what files were stolen.

"I know you are nervous but don't be. You are blessed with powers that can save you from doomsday," he acknowledged my strength and power and it was truly the best thing ever.

I was still not used to hearing I am powerful. It felt like a dream to me. How can I be powerful out of so many people in the world?

"Okay! So you remember what we will do right?" he asked and I nodded my head, "Walk me through it again," he said as he parked the car a little far away from the border.

This would be the sixth time that I was repeating the plan he had set out for me.

"I will distract the guards by causing damage to the tree over there and once they are out of our way, we will sneak in. I will umm— I will freeze the cameras and then burst the light out. After it all happens, we will hide behind the big table on the side outside the lockers. We will wait until my father leaves and then we will sneak in and lock ourselves inside. While you take pictures of the files, I will cause a little shaky—I mean earthquake to the building. The moment you are done taking the pictures of the files, we will head out," I finished and now it made me realize how messy the plan could be.

What if we get caught?

We had too many obstacles and we were relying a lot on my powers that I didn't even have any control of.

"Don't worry! Everything will go fine," he reassured me before getting out of the car. I followed after him and stared at the sky getting filled with dark red clouds. It looked velvety and scary.

Once we were hiding in the bushes, he held my hand to comfort me and prepare me for this act.

The only issue was that I still didn't feel anything from his touch.

“Are you okay?” he asked once he noticed how silent I was. I had to shake my head and not drown in my thoughts to assure him I was fine. I was just a little concerned about my disappearing powers.

What if suddenly my powers disappear and I am stuck in that vault?

I was maybe stressing myself out too much because I haven't done anything like that before.

“Okay! Now focus on that tree,” Thiago whispered in my ear, hunching over me from the back. I fixated my eyes on the tree and then confirmed my focus.

We can do this,’ Nia whispered too. I had my eyes only watching the tree and slowly, it felt like everything else started to disappear from the surroundings.

I was holding my breath in and channeling my anger. First, the smoke started to come out of that tree and my heart ached for the poor tree instantly.

It was an old tree hence I choose it but it still hurt me to burn it down.

Once the smoke spread around, the guards started to notice it. Very soon, the tree caught on fire. The commotion gathered the guards around the tree, giving us enough time to run past the border and make it inside the pack.

I bet they were thinking the lightning struck the tree but they had to put it out because there were other trees beside it and even their watch towers were near it too.

Growing up in the pack has given me an upper hand in the layout of the pack I knew where the cameras would be and how to avoid them. Thankfully, whenever Corbin used to pick me up after midnight, he would trick the cameras into not catching him out of the fear of his father. At least Corbin's actions came in handy. We were able to make it to the building of Lord Shaun's vault in the next few minutes. My heart was jumping up and down thinking about how I was going to get out of this mess tonight.

I had only one thought keeping me going. Tomorrow will come soon and this will all be over. I will be somewhere safe with my mate and enjoying the two day's vacation in a motel with him.

69-The Deceitful Act

Once I have deactivated the cameras, I burst the power panel and it darkened the entire building. We were now hiding under the table right outside where the vault was.

I then thought of a plan and rolled out from under the table to do one more thing to buy us some surety nobody was coming to look for us.

"Where are you going?" Thiago whispered once we noticed I wasn't following the plan. I ran over to the side and set the fire alarm. I was able to make it back under the table. I watched everybody leave the floor along with my father getting out of the huge room and running in the direction of the stairs.

Now that it was only the two of us, Thiago and I sneaked into the room to find a huge metallic vault. There were no padlocks on it but I knew how to crack it open.

"Time for some earthquake," I mumbled, preparing myself as I closed my eyes and let out an un-identifying scream. Thiago had his ears covered and a piece of fast music playing from his phone to his headphones. The moment the vaults door opened, Thiago began to look for the files while I knelt down and continued the scream.

The vault was moving and so was the ground. I can only imagine the fear others were feeling. Call me desperate or selfish, but I was determined to find out everything Lord Shaun had on my parents.

This pack has given me nothing but harsh memories. From the people of the pack bullying me to the lord and the Alpha King abusing me, I have been through a lot in here.

I carried no mind to what they were dealing with at that moment. I guess losing one's parents is a painful loss but to find out they might be killed is even more painful.

Thiago was busy taking pictures but I couldn't focus too much on him. I had to make sure I don't get distracted and keep screaming.

It was then I noticed that the roof was beginning to crack up a little and that's when I started tapping my palms on the floor. I was also bleeding a lot from my nose now, which wasn't a good sign.

"Okay, that is enough!" I heard Thiago gently hold my hand but something messed up. I wasn't able to stop. It was maybe the fear of what I might see in those files that made my heart crumble like a cookie and my anger rise to the top that I couldn't stop myself.

"Enya! Stop!" finally, as Thiago grasped both my hands and turned me around to him, I stopped. He cupped my face instantly to make sure I look into his eyes and realize I am not alone.

It was at that moment that I felt it.

There was a lot of fear in his palms, fear of losing me and then the feeling changed,

All I felt was,

Deceit!

And that's when I passed out.

Tasting All My Mates By Alexis Dee Chapter 70

Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 70

70-The One Who Lied

I passed out at the wrong time. We feared if I used too much power I will pass out and that's exactly what happened. It was a very wrong place and time to lose my consciousness.

I didn't even know what happened, did we get caught or did he leave me behind and run away to save himself?

All my questions were answered when I woke up in my bed again. So we weren't caught, but why was I back in the academy?

Has it been three days already? Weren't we supposed to stay at a motel for a little while? Nothing made sense and the desperate part was that I woke up in the middle of the night when everybody was fast asleep.

I had questions that needed to be answered and only Thiago could answer them, but where was he?!

pushed my body up and looked around the room. His bed was empty and there was nobody in the bathroom. Lazlo and Maynard were sleeping in their beds.

'Nia?' I called for her just because I wanted somebody to be with me. It wasn't like she would remember anything because she passed out with me.

'Are you alright?' Tasked and she groaned, she was still tired from the exertion.

I don't even know why we are back or how many days had gone by,' I continued to express my concern while covering my face in my hands.

'What if Thiago got caught while saving me?' my mind was going around in circles, worrying about what might have happened there.

Check the date on your phone and let me rest,' Nia grumpily voiced the best idea and I did just that. Upon checking my phone, I was surprised to see the date.

It was the next day, which means we did all the stealing stuff and then came back after midnight, but why?

And where was Thiago?

I started hitting him up on his phone but he wasn't picking up any of my calls. I was lost and devastated. I lied in the bed and eventually fell asleep again. I needed a lot of rest in order to recover the energy I lost during that mission of ours.

I woke up to Lazlo and Maynard causing noises in the room I had to rub my eyes to open them up and look at them.

"Sorry! Did we wake you up?" Lazlo spotted me and a smirk grew on the corner of his lips. I hated the way he mocked me.

"Spare her, or else she will pass out," Maynard was still bitter or should I say, this is how he was going to act around me now it it

Rolling my eyes, I got out of the bed and took a shower to calm my aching muscles down. After I came out of the bathroom, I finally saw Thiago rushing into the room.

It was like a sight of comfort seeing him. The doubts I had regarding him getting in trouble after last night washed away.

"Thiago!" I smiled, ignoring Maynard and Lazlo, who were in the process of wearing shirts but also noticing us.

"Hm?" Thiago voiced, not really looking at me.

"Good morning!" I greeted him, waiting for him to raise his face from his bag so that I can ask him in my eyes about last night but he never did that. In fact, he straightened his back and exited the room.

That is weird!

I sprinted after him and caught up with him in the elevator. I bet he wasn't expecting that because he let out a sigh and shook his head.

"I am sorry I passed out last night." I said in disbelief, after so much practice I still failed somehow, "But you got the pictures right?" I asked him, turning in his direction but he seemed blunt and blank.

"Thiago! How did we escape last night?" I questioned, feeling a little uneasy about his silence.

70-The One Who Lied

"I carried you here," he finally responded but then got off the elevator like he was in a hurry.

"That must be a real workout," I joked, running along to match my pace with him.

"Thiago! Did you take the pictures, I want to see them," I was getting anxious about his silence and what might be in those pictures?

"Thiago! What is the fucking matter with you?" Once he didn't stop walking ahead of me and we crossed the exit, I yelled at him.

This attitude of his was like a hidden volcano, it would appear anytime it wants.

He stopped on his way to the car and turned around to part his lips and heave a sigh.

"I didn't find the files," the way he said it almost felt like he was not fooling me but himself.

"What? you didn't find the files? But I saw you taking pictures of something." I reached him a bit annoyed with what I was hearing

"Well, you saw it wrong. You were too busy using your powers, how would you know what was happening around?" he shrugged his shoulders and tried walking away from me.

"No! wait a minute. I know what I saw. You were busy taking pictures. Tell me what is going on? is the information in the pictures is so bad that you are thinking keeping it a secret will be good for me?" I was literally over here giving him an excuse for his behavior and lies but he shook his head to me.

"I don't know what you are talking about," he stepped back but the cold look on his face reminded me of his behavior toward me when he found out I was from Alpha King's pack.

"There is something going on with you and I want to know what it is? We planned all this and then we went there and you took the pictures, but now you are refusing to show them to me! Is this some kind of a weird prank because if it is, it is pissing me off," I remained calm but my heart rate was speeding up.

"Enya! Go back to your room, you need rest," he coldly advised and made another attempt to run into his car when! rushed past him and closed the door and startled him, "what the heck are you doing?" he complained.

"You tell me what is going on with you? Why are you hiding those pictures from me?" I yelled as the desperation hit my nerves

"I didn't take any pictures. I told you, you wouldn't know because you passed out," the surety and confidence in his tone reminded me of something.

I felt his hands that time and there was deceit that I felt.

"You knew I would pass out, didn't you?" it then struck me. He never made me practice all my powers at once. He knew by the end of the night; I will be tired enough to pass out.

"You wanted me to pass out," my lips uttered those words in gasps but it was the smirk that formed on the corner of his lips that took me by surprise.

He played me, he fucking played me but for what?