

Chapter 3350

Pork Wing pulled out his phone and dialed a number...

A cold tone could be heard from the other side.

“Pork Wing? Why are you still not back yet?”

Pork Wing trembled when he met Harvey’s eyes.

“I’m no match for this man, Lady John.”

“He said that your badge won’t hold him!”

“I’m completely beaten!”

After a moment of dead silence, Dahlia said calmly, “I thought I won’t have much to do tonight.”

“Looks like someone here’s bringing me some fun.”

“Clear out the place.”

“We’ll play if he wants to play.”

Ten minutes later, every single customer of the bar was chased out.

People from the Overlord Gang showed up soon after, completely surrounding the entire place.

Even the streets were filled with tall and strong men.

The warm mood inside the bar was replaced by a cold and distant feeling.

The sound of high heels clacking steadily could be heard reverberating around the bar, and a hint of murderous intent was felt.

When Harvey told someone to get him more tea, the door was kicked down and a beautiful woman in Balenciaga stockings entered.

A lot of people couldn't help but swallow their spit after seeing her. Of course, Harvey wasn't included in the list.

Dahlia walked inside with a calm look on her face.

Freddy followed obediently behind her to enjoy the show.

The John family's expert fighters and the rest of the Indians followed soon after.

Their enormous pressure alone could completely suffocate the entire box.

They looked as if they were just here to see something exciting; they looked at the mess in the box, and then at Harvey, who was calmly sipping his tea.

When they saw Young Master Myers and Pork Wing lying on the ground paralyzed, the expert fighters all burst out in rage. They pulled out their firearms and pointed them right at Harvey.

They even showed the legal documents showing that they were able to do this, proving their family's terrifying strength in the process.

Dahlia wasn't in a hurry, though; she waved her hand to stop the others from doing anything before approaching Harvey.

"Are you the one who broke my subordinate's kneecaps?" she asked Harvey with narrowed eyes.

Her beautiful smile and eyebrows were quite the sight...

But anyone could see the murderous intent hidden behind that extravagant view.

Harvey smiled.

“He wanted me to take a look at your badge, but he just wasn’t respectful enough.”

“I couldn’t be bothered to talk to him. That was why I got my subordinate to break his kneecaps so he’d kneel.”

“Then, I could take a closer look at the badge.

Harvey’s calm words were enough to make the crowd boil with anger.

Pork Wing represented Dahlia’s authority, but Harvey made him kneel by breaking his kneecaps!

What a damn joke!

Freddy glanced curiously at Harvey; a playful smirk

leaked out of his face when he saw Harvey drinking tea that had no more flavor.

A true wealthy person wouldn’t do such a thing.

Harvey’s actions made Freddy think that Harvey was either an upstart or an ignorant young man with a bit of authority.
