

Chapter 3365

The attack was fast and deadly.

Rachel was sacrificing her life just to land a hit!

Both sides would perish at the same time!

Bulldozer's expression changed frantically; he didn't believe that Rachel would do something like this in the first place.

Rachel didn't care for her own life, but Bulldozer wasn't the same.

He served under the John family to enjoy a life full of wealth and prosperity , and not to live his entire life with a blade in hand...

He didn't want to die!

Bulldozer tried to defend himself midair; his fearsome slash instantly turned into a dozen different moves in the air.

Clang, clang, clang!

Sparks were flying all over the place. Sounds of metal clashing could be heard all over the box.

Soon after, Rachel fell on her back.

Blood seeped out of her mouth; her face had lost all color, and she slammed into the ground.

Bulldozer stood right in front of her, his arm was filled with scars. There was a deep wound on his chest.

I

He was completely shocked. He didn't think he would suffer this badly even when he decided to go on the defensive...

‘What terrifying power at such a young age!’

‘She’ll definitely become a God of War if she keeps growing! ’

Bulldozer’s eyes were filled with jealousy.

He had been fighting his entire life, but he had never once even gotten close to being a God of War. If that was the case, what right did a young lady have to become one?

Bulldozer couldn’t be bothered to abide by the rules of the underworld any longer.

“Go! Gun her down!” he exclaimed after scoffing coldly.

“She doesn’t have the strength to show off anymore!”

The Overlord Gang narrowed their eyes after hearing those words. When they saw Dahlia’s look, they immediately pointed their firearms toward Rachel, ready to pull the trigger.

But before they could, Harvey instantly appeared in front of Bulldozer.

He then kicked right at Bulldozer's chest.

Bulldozer wanted to evade the attack, but it was already too late.

Crack!

Bulldozer froze. There was a loud crack; at the most crucial moment, Harvey had shattered Bulldozer's sternum with a single kick.

Harvey calmly turned around, revealing a warm smile.

"This man tried to kill my subordinate. I was just defending her. None of you mind that, right?"

After hearing Harvey's words and seeing his movements...

Everyone froze. The entire place was dead silent.

Bulldozer fell to the ground. He looked at Harvey in shock, unable to utter even a single word.

He finally understood that Harvey was leagues above Rachel.

His arrogance and bias was all wishful thinking...

'I'm the foolish one after all...'

Filled with utter resentment, Bulldozer lay on the ground paralyzed.

He was barely breathing. Even if he wasn't dead, he was most likely crippled at this point.

The crowd couldn't believe what they had just seen. Even Sienna was at a complete loss.

'A legend got beaten just like that?!'

'At this point, Harvey's not just disrespecting the John family...'

'He's blatantly challenging them!'

'Both sides will end up horribly if this keeps escalating! '

At this moment, there was no rage, nor was there any sadness. Only fear could be felt seeping out of the box.
