

Chapter 126 Mr. Porter added, "Adina holds a big portion of company shares, and she also just secured such a big project. She's qualified to be the Sales Department's manager. I have no objection."

"I don't have other opinions either."

Most of the people in the meeting room agreed, and it was not possible for Dew to salvage the situation.

Aaron was not happy about Adina's arrogant demeanor, but ultimately, Adina had still helped turn the tables for the company.

With the Boyd Corporation project, the company did not need to worry about its income in the next six months.

He tapped the table indifferently and said, "Okay, we'll let Addy be the Sales Department's manager. The current manager of the department will be your assistant."

"Thank you, Dad."

Adina smiled obediently and sat down.

When Dew saw that, she became so mad that she gnashed her teeth violently.

She kept holding herself back, but anger continued to fill her heart.

She finally could not take it any longer. She suppressed her anger as she spoke, "Dad, the current manager of the Sales Department is a PhD holder who returned from abroad. She's an existing staff member who has worked for us for about eight years. Isn't it too rash to just let her be Adina's assistant?"

"What Dew says also makes some sense." Adina nodded in a serious manner. "Elina Osborne is a PhD graduate, and she also graduated with an MBA. She would really feel wronged if we just ask her to be the manager of the Sales Department. I think the position of General Manager is quite suitable for her."

Dew widened her eyes.

She was Daugherty Corporation's general manager!

What was that b*tch, Adina, trying to do this time?

"Dew, you graduated from a Tier 1 university, and you studied design for your degree. It's totally unrelated to corporate management. I think you can step down and let Elina take over the position." Adina smiled faintly. "You've made no contributions to the company as general manager for four years. Oh, I didn't say that. Mr. Lawson just mentioned it. Since you don't have the skills, you should give the position away to the right candidate. What do you think?"

"Nonsense!" Aaron slammed the table. "You just joined the Board of Directors, and you want to interfere with the company's staff arrangement of the company?"

Adina pursed her lips. "Dad, this is for the sake of the company's development."

"Don't use such a self-righteous excuse to deal with your sister!" Aaron said coldly. "Don't ever think that you can do anything you want in the company just because you've got a big client."

"Dad, now that you've mentioned it, I'll have to bring something up regarding Daugherty Corporation." Adina looked helpless. She took a document out of her bag and threw it on the table. "Mr. Lawson, Mr. Porter, you can read accounts, right? This is Daugherty Corporation's annual financial statement from last year. If you look at it carefully, you'll understand why I'm forcing Dew to step down from the position of general manager."

Mr. Lawson and Mr. Porter appeared puzzled as they flipped through the accounts.

In three minutes, their expressions changed concurrently, and they glared at Dew.

Dew's heart skipped a beat. Her sixth sense told her that she had something to do with the accounts.

She wanted to grab the document, but Mr. Lawson passed it to the next shareholder.

In less than ten minutes, the accounts document had been passed to all the shareholders.

Mr. Lawson was the first to stand up. "Dew, you've wasted our trust. Are you playing with our trust?"

Dew's lips turned pale. "Uncle Lawson, I didn't do anything. Adina must have done something to slander me."

"The accounts are clearly recorded. How could she have set you up?" Mr. Porter looked very disappointed. "You took at least $100,000,000 from the Finance Department in the project's name, and we signed the proposal only because we trusted you. But, what did you do? You embezzled the money from the company and faked the accounts. How can you still be the general manager?"
