My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1507

“Young? Immature?! Leslie has spent millions on her! How are we going to settle this then?!” It would be an understatement to say that Keira could feel her temper rising with each question she spat.

“Well, that’s not on me. He spent that money willingly,” Bonnie wasted no time in retorting huffily.

After hearing this, Keira was enraged. “What?! How dare you shirk things off, you brat?!”

Queenie was a little bewildered at this point because she didn’t expect things to turn out like this. So, she got up and said, “Dad, Mom, why don’t we go home first?”

“Queenie, are you happy now?” Even at a moment like this, Bonnie didn’t hesitate to push all the blame on Queenie.

Her shameless remarks rendered Queenie speechless.

Alas, Leslie genuinely loved Bonnie. Therefore, he turned to Keira and said, “Mom, please stop. This is between Bonnie and I. We’ll solve the problem ourselves.”

An irritated Bonnie threw the cutlery down harshly, grabbed her handbag, and stormed off. As a result, Leslie hurried to catch up with her as he called out to her, "Bonnie!"

Maggie and Brandon felt a little embarrassed at this moment. Keira hissed in fury, "I don't think Leslie is lucky enough to marry Bonnie. There will be no further discussions about the matter!"

"We're sorry. We're so sorry for Bonnie's attitude. We will knock some sense into her when we get home."

"Dad, Mom, we'll take our leave first." With that, Queenie nudged Nigel, and they made a hasty exit.

Maggie and Brandon were left in the room, and they kept apologizing to the Payne family members.

When they finally escaped from prying eyes in the restaurant corridor, Queenie patted her chest and was a little worried about her parents. "They won't fight, will they?"

"No, but the two families are bound to fall out," Nigel concluded with a quirk of his brow.

Queenie had underestimated Bonnie's shamelessness. How could Bonnie just leave and let their parents deal with her mess?

Just as Nigel and Queenie walked to the restaurant entrance, they heard arguments outside the door and saw two figures clearly entangled in some sort of disagreement.

Queenie took a closer look at the commotion and saw that the two figures were Bonnie and Leslie. Leslie was holding onto Bonnie, who was trying to leave, with all his might, and apologizing to her profusely as if it was entirely his fault.

Meanwhile, Bonnie kept trying to tug her hands out of his grasp with an unhappy grimace as though it was disgusting for Leslie to even lay a single hand on her.

Queenie watched the ruckus calmly by the side. She didn't expect to be able to see a hidden finale!

"Bonnie, I'm sorry! I'm so sorry! It's all my fault! Please come back and get engaged with me. I love you!" A surge of complicated emotions engulfed Leslie's heart at this moment. He wasn't really bothered by Bonnie wanting to end things with him, but the only way he could become Brandon's son-in-law was to marry Bonnie.

He couldn't just stand back and watch as the Silverstein Family's fortune slipped out of his hands. Therefore, he must grasp onto her with all his might and get engaged with her no matter how ridiculously humble he had to be right now.

"Let go! Leslie, I'm warning you! We're over! I'm done dating you! It's your business that you love me, but I don't love you anymore!" Bonnie pulled her hand back while shouting those hurtful words.

Nigel was not interested in this kind of drama, but he found that Queenie was watching them with a relish he couldn't understand. So, he forced himself to be patient as he accompanied her.

Finally, Bonnie and Leslie came all the way to the main road. Bonnie wanted to cross the street to the opposite side of the shopping complex, but Leslie kept pulling her hand and refused to let go.

Finally, having had enough of this farce, Bonnie showed incredible dexterity in high heels as she ran across the street at the last few seconds of the green light. Leslie, who didn't even notice that the green light had turned red, chased after Bonnie desperately.

As soon as he took a step, a car that had been waiting for the light to turn green rushed over and knocked him down. Luckily, the driver hit on the brake in time, and the car stopped less than half a meter away from Leslie. Nevertheless, Leslie still fainted due to the fright of having such a close brush with death.

Queenie, watching the drama, did not expect to witness a car accident. It didn't matter how much she despised Leslie; a life was at stake. Therefore, she darted forward and rushed to him, and Nigel, who was behind her, followed her.

On the other hand, Bonnie, who was so intent on leaving Leslie to the dust, didn't look back at all when she disappeared into the crowd.

Hence, she had no idea that Leslie almost lost his life in order to chase after her.

"Leslie." Queenie hurried over and squatted down to support Leslie's body. Then, the second before he lost consciousness, Leslie felt himself being held in a warm embrace. A pair of soft hands patted his face, and an anxious voice beckoned him to return to the land of the living.

"Leslie, wake up! Are you okay?"

Leslie finally regained consciousness but was still clearly panicking and in shock. The first thing he saw was Queenie's face. Then, all of a sudden, he hugged Queenie and cried like a child.

“Queenie...”

Queenie was startled by his reaction. Still, she figured that Leslie was merely terrified due to the rather morbid turn of events, so she gently patted his back and comforted him, “Alright, calm down. You’re fine.”

At this moment, a hand suddenly clasped Leslie and rudely dragged him from the floor to the side of the road to sit. It was Nigel. After he removed Leslie from Queenie and forced him down, he even dusted his hands in disgust.

Under the streetlamp, they saw that Leslie’s face and hands were scraped. He looked utterly wretched and miserable.

“I’m sorry! I’m so sorry, sir! Are you okay?” The female driver rushed over with her face pale in fright. Earlier, a man suddenly ran a red light and rushed out onto the street as soon as she shifted her gears to drive. Fortunately, she managed to hit the brakes in time, or she would have killed a pedestrian tonight.

The terrified Leslie suddenly grabbed Queenie’s hand tightly. Just now, when he was on the verge of death, it was Queenie’s voice that snapped him out of his fear. Her voice was the most melodious and angelic voice he had ever heard.

Only after the death ordeal was Leslie able to withdraw his feelings from Bonnie. He finally realized that Queenie was a kind and lovely person, and he regretted his previous behavior.

“Queenie, I’m sorry. I’m so sorry. Can you please forgive me?” Leslie was sobbing uncontrollably as he held Queenie’s hand tightly.

My Baby’s Daddy Chapter 1510

Queenie tried to pull her hand back to no avail as Leslie grabbed her hand with the desperation of a drowning man.

“Alright, calm down. Do you want to go to the hospital? We’ll take you to the hospital,” Queenie asked.

“Yes! Please go to the hospital! I’ll pay for your medical bills,” the female driver urged in worry.

Leslie was fine except for the shock and a few scrapes on his body. He waved his hand at the female driver and said, “Just go. You don’t need to pay.”

Despite that, the female driver was still concerned. “You’d better go to the hospital to treat your wounds.”

Leslie sat on the side of the road decadently and said to the female driver, “I won’t hold you accountable. Just go.”

The female driver had no choice but to leave because of his unwillingness to cooperate. Queenie glanced at Nigel before saying to Leslie, “We’ll drive you to a nearby clinic to clean the wounds.”

“Okay.” Leslie nodded docilely.

Both families had yet to leave the restaurant, so they had no idea what was happening downstairs. The members of the Payne Family demanded answers from Maggie and Brandon, while Maggie and Brandon kept apologizing to them for Bonnie’s actions.

Nigel drove over in order to attend the ‘show’ as it were. So, Queenie sat in the front passenger seat while Leslie got into the car; his legs were still jelly-like as he was still in shock. Nigel searched the navigation and drove to the nearby clinic. Leslie walked into the clinic, and Queenie followed him.

The doctor prescribed some ointment for sterilization while the nurse bandaged Leslie's abrasions in quick and efficient movements.

As the nurse cleaned and bandaged his wounds, Leslie looked at Queenie intensely. He could not express the gratitude and love in his heart through his gazes. Yet, at this moment, a firm thought emerged from the bottom of his heart.

He had utterly fallen in love with Queenie after tonight's events.

Nigel felt inexplicably displeased as he noticed Leslie's fiery and passionate gaze directed at Queenie. Thus, he clasped Queenie's forearm and said. "Let's go."

"Don't! Queenie, don't go," Leslie hurriedly called out.

Queenie didn't even manage to say anything when a force pulled her halfway out of the clinic.

"He won't die, so you don't need to pity him," Nigel muttered coldly. He opened the door of the front passenger seat and invited her to get in.

Queenie blinked as she interpreted his remarks. He was right. As long as Leslie was alive and well, his family would not come after her family. But, because of Bonnie, the two families, who were firm allies, had turned into enemies.

"Where are we going?" Queenie asked curiously.

"Where do you want to go?"

“Hmm...” Queenie narrowed her eyes as she thought it over.
