Chapter 2415

“Well.” Avery hung up the phone, not sleepy at all. With twenty percent of the phone’s battery remaining, she immediately got out of bed, found the charging cable, and charged the phone.

After charging, she came out of the room.

The villa was very quiet. When she passed her daughter’s room, she opened the door and glanced inside.

Layla turned her head at the slightest movement.

Seeing that it was her mother, Layla immediately told her what happened just now: “Mom, I made my brother cry. Because he quarreled with me, he asked me to play with him.”

Avery entered the room with a smile: “Mom knows.

She won’t blame you.”

“Of course I know you won’t blame me.” Layla looked confident, “My brother said you were talking with dad in the room, what are you talking about?”

Avery pursed her lips, and after a few seconds of embarrassment, cleared her throat: “Isn’t the Spring Festival approaching, your father discussed with me whether our family should go to Bridgedale to reunite with your brother, or let your brother take a leave to come back to reunite with us. After all, during the Spring Festival here, There's no fake side."

Layla: "Oh...that's all! Why do you want to close the door when you talk about this? Robert came to me because you closed the door."

Avery scratched her head: "Because we quarreled at the time. Your father wants to take us to Bridgedale, I think it's too busy.

The main reason is that Robert is relatively young and rarely travels far. I think it's better for Robert to take a leave of absence and come back. Saying that Robert has already come back from leave last time, and keeping him on leave will delay his study..."

"Oh... what's so noisy about this." Layla said inexplicably, "Are you here? Don't you feel a little silly when the family is fighting back and forth? Don't you guys ask what my brother thinks?"

Avery: "Well, we plan to see what your brother has to say."

“Mom, I remember that I used to be very smart, right? I used to think that everything was easy, but now I feel that learning is very difficult!” Layla sighed, “I don’t know if I can get the first place in the test this time.”

Avery picked up her daughter’s homework and looked at it: “Layla, Mom and Dad don’t necessarily want you to be first in the exam. As long as you’re not the last one, it’s fine. But if you make progress in your studies, Mom and Dad will be happier.

Moreover, Every time you advance to a level, the content you have to learn will become more and more difficult. What you are learning now is much more difficult than what your parents learned before.”

Layla: “Every time I feel that I have improved a little, and my classmates have also improved. I knew that progress was so difficult, and I didn’t deliberately not study hard at the beginning.”

“Layla, don’t blame yourself. You can’t worry about your studies. As long as you pay attention, what kind of exams will you take, Dad and Mom won’t blame you.” Avery comforted, “As long as you take the test seriously, no matter how many you take the test, Mom will let you go out for winter vacation.”

What Layla is waiting for is Mom’s promise, “Mom, I will definitely take the study seriously.”

Two hours later, the two children finally rested.

Elliot and Avery also went back to the room.

Elliot: “Wife...”

“Husband, I’m so tired. Let’s take a bath! Do you wash first or I wash first?” Avery worked a day’s work, and didn’t relax much when she came back at night.

With two children by their side, even if there are servants to help, the children like to stick to them.

“Let’s wash together!” Elliot was also a little tired.

Every time Elliot took Robert, Robert liked to hang on him.

Elliot had observed that when Layla and Avery took him, he wouldn’t be like this.

“Okay! I just have something to ask you.” Avery said, and took out the two’s pajamas from the closet.
