Chapter 2462

In the apartment.

Norah sat on the sofa, swiping her phone to pass the boring time. She had slept in during the day, so she wasn't sleepy at all at this point.

She had followed some employees of the Tate Industries before, so now she saw their Facebook posts.

Tonight, the Tate

Industries's annual meeting would be held in the largest convention and exhibition center in the city center.

Many employees took pictures of the scene and posted them on Facebook.

Norah looked at all the bustling and bustling things in the picture, and then thought that she was alone now, and her heart was inevitably a little sad.

Someone also took a photo of Elliot delivering a speech on stage.

In the photo, Elliot was slender and full of aura. He was still the kind of king who strategized and controlled the overall situation in his impression.

Norah's eyes were sore, thinking of the silly things and fantasies she had done in order to be with him.

The doorbell rang, bringing Norah back from memory to reality.

Norah got up from the sofa and walked towards the entrance.

The access control visual system at the entrance showed two tall men standing outside the door.

One of the men was exactly the Elliot she saw in the picture just now!

Norah's heartbeat instantly became disordered.

After taking a deep breath, she sent a message to Sasha Johnstone, and then opened the door.

The reason why she dared to open the door was because she felt that she had done nothing to provoke Elliot, even if Elliot came to find her, she would have a clear conscience.

After the door was opened, Norah's expression was a little nervous: "Elliot, what are you doing looking for me so late? After I returned to Aryadelle, I have been at home and have never gone out, nor have I done anything harmful to you and Avery."

Elliot pushed open the door and strode into her apartment.

From the solemn look on Elliot's face, Norah sensed the danger.

Could it be that Hayes betrayed her?

But even if Hayes betrayed her, she still hasn't done anything yet!

“Norah, you can hold your breath. If I don't tell you first, will you never tell the secret you know?” Elliot sat down on the sofa and looked at her coldly, “Why did Hayes look for someone with a scar on her wrist?”

Norah clenched her teeth.

This Hayes really did more than fail!

Hayes betrayed Norah like this, thinking that Elliot would give him a promotion? idiot!

“I want to help you find Haze and make amends.”

Norah also walked to the sofa and sat down, with a penitent expression on her face.

Elliot didn't believe Norah's expression or every word she said.

But one thing had been confirmed. That was the woman with the scar on the wrist that Norah was looking for, who knew Haze's whereabouts.

Gloria knows Haze's whereabouts!

It must be so!

“Who told you this clue? Sasha Johnstone?” Elliot asked with scarlet eyes.

Norah wanted to lie, but at this point, even if she lied, Elliot would not believe it.

“Yes. I have contacted her. Together with her, I am looking for the person with the scar on the wrist. If you find this person, you may be able to find Haze.” Norah did not forget to clean up for herself when she said this, “Elliot, Let me tell you the truth, I wanted to claim credit from you after I found Haze. I didn’t tell you in advance, because I was afraid that you would find it first, so that I would have nothing to do with you. I have this idea, right? I just want to turn my bad hand back into a normal one.”

“Besides this information, do you know any other information?” Elliot asked.
