“Miss Rogers, long time no see,” David replied politely. Meanwhile, Silva and the other man completely ignored David. Naturally, David would not show excessive passion to someone cold toward him. They were just two children in his eyes. “Dave, please take a seat,” Clinton said.

Goldie immediately gave up her spot. “David, come and sit here!”

David did not want to disrespect Goldie. After all, she was quite polite to him.

Hence, he walked over and sat next to Goldie. “Dav, let me introduce you, this is Stu, the heir of the hidden Pitt family. His family is also my family’s partner,” Clinton pointed to the man David did not know and introduced. Stu Pitt ?

David was taken aback

‘Stupid ?

‘This name was really something else. ‘It seems that the Pitts are people of culture.’ “Stu, this is my good friend David. This time, he also came to help me with the ten-year appointment,” Clinton introduced David to Stu again. “Hello, Stu,” David extended his hand and greeted him.

“Hello, Dave.” Stu also reached out, shook David’s hand, and said.

Those whom Clinton asked to help him out were definitely not ordinary people. Hence, Stu did not dare to be arrogant. At this time, Clinton said, “Okay! Now that we are all here, I will say a few words. “First of all, thank you for coming to help me. “If you need my help for anything in the future, just tell me. I, Clinton Zimmerman, will definitely not refuse.

“The ten-year appointment is an appointment I made with Stan and Lorraine 10 years ago.

“However, all of you have seen that it has gotten out of control now that it has developed to this point. It is not just between the three of us now. Countless heirs from different families and descendants from various sects have also come to participate.” “Zimmerman, I only promised you to help you deal with Stan, but I never promised you to help you deal with the others. Now that countless hidden families and sects are involved, do you think we can deal with so many of them with just a few of us?” Silva said.

As soon as Silva said this, several others, including David, felt that he was right.

If they were asked to deal with the chosen ones of so many sects and families, they would definitely refuse as it would simply be courting death!

David could have dealt with all these people, but the point was that it was unnecessary. His relationship with Clinton had not yet reached the level where he was willing to do this yet.

Furthermore, it would be too high-profile to do so and it was not in line with his low-key personality “Silva, don’t worry. I’ve already considered this matter. I’ll raise it with Lori tomorrow to differentiate the ten-year appointment from the battle of the younger generation in Somerland.

“At that time, you only need to help me defeat Stan in the ten-year appointment. As for the future battle of the chosen ones, you are free to participate on your own if you wish to.”

When Clinton said this, everyone was relieved.

This would be best.

They would help Clinton win the 10-year appointment with Stan first. Then, they could participate in the battle of the chosen ones in Somerland. No one wanted to miss this kind of opportunity to show their strength and develop their family's reputation, except David. David just wanted to make good on his promise in helping Clinton once. As for the battle of the chosen ones in Somerland, it was not something that he wanted to be a part of.

If he were to participate in it, he would be a big bully.

Even if all of the chosen ones in Somerland attacked him, he would be able to suppress them so much that they could not lift their heads with his explosive energy alone. He did not even need to lift a finger. The difference was so large that there was no possibility of competition. “That's good. However, how will the ten-year appointment go about, Zimmerman? Are you confident? Will everyone fight together at once or will there be different rounds? How many people will the other party have?” Stu asked.

“Not yet. Even though I asked Lori, she didn't tell me. She just told me that I'll know when the time comes. Perhaps she'll just arrange for me and Stan to fight. If that's the case, you won't need to do anything, but I will definitely pay back this favor,” Clinton said with a bitter smile.

“Alright, I’ll see you tomorrow. We’ll act according to the situation and counter every move they make.

David left Clinton’s room. It was almost evening by then, and he was going back to his room to rest.

In order not to attract attention, the room David reserved was located in the middle nor was it the best room available.

When David was about to walk to his room, he saw two people walking toward him.

They were a man and a woman, one of whom David knew.

It was Rhoda, Pearl’s best friend.

‘One of the three founders of SCC is called Goldie Rogers. Both of them have the surname Rogers ,so they are obviously children of powerful families. ‘There seems to be only one Rogers family in Springfield, right ? ‘So, these two should belong to the same family.’

The three soon met.

Naturally, Rhonda saw David too.

Rhonda was still very interested in her friend’s boss.

She also secretly checked David's information, but unfortunately, she could not find anything.

The more mysterious he was, the more curious she became. "Hello, Miss Rogers!" David greeted Rhonda first. "David, are you here for the ten-year appointment?" Rhonda asked curiously. "I'm not participating. I was just entrusted by others to help out." "Did Clinton invite you here?"

"Yes."

"Then you must be pretty good since you could get an invitation from Clinton."

"I don't have any skills. I'm just here to make up the party size. I'm not the only one Clinton invited."

Rhonda was not surprised that Clinton invited David here.

After all, Clinton was the one who helped David wipe out the Daniels family in Springfield. At that time, her brother came to the conclusion that David was not a simple person and Clinton must have helped him because he needed him. "Rhonda, who is this?" Tony asked while standing next to Rhonda. "Tony, his name is David, my best friend's boss, and also her man!" Rhonda introduced: When David heard Rhonda's introduction, he smiled bitterly in his heart, but he did not say anything to deny it as he would only make the matter worse. He still could not find a solution for Pearl.

"David, this is my brother, Tony," Rhonda introduced David to the man next to her. "Hello, David," Tony extended his hand and said politely.

“Hello, Tony,” David replied politely. “By the way, David, why did you send Pearly abroad?” Rhonda asked. “This is what the company needs to do to grow. Miss Pearl went voluntarily, and I also asked for her consent before sending her,” David replied.

“I think you wanted to send her away so you can live happily here, right?”

“Miss Rogers, that’s nonsense. Miss Pearl and I are innocent! Besides, she can come back anytime she wants.” “Innocent? Do you think I don’t understand Pearly’s mind? How could she have gone so far abroad if it wasn’t for you? David, I can tell you that if you let Pearly down, I will never forgive you.”

“Okay, Rhonda, why are you so worried about other people’s relationships? You should take care of yourself,” Tony said.

“Tony, Pearly is my best friend. For four years in college, we ate together, took classes together, and even slept together. How could I not worry about her? I surely know her body better than David,” Rhonda retorted. David was amused.

“Is Rhonda not straight?”

“I’ve never touched Miss Pearl before while you two slept together for so many years, so of course, you know her better than me!”

David observed Rhonda carefully. He noticed that Rhonda also had an amazing body. Miss Pearl was slightly thinner and she was not as well-rounded as Rhonda.

He also realized that the Rogers women were all so well-rounded.

One was Goldie and one was Rhonda.

Perhaps it was genetics. “You should watch your image as a girl!” Tony said with a dark face.

He was very worried about his sister. She was already 25 or 26 years old, but she was not looking for a boyfriend. Instead, she would hang out with a bunch of girls every day. How unacceptable!

“By the way, Tony, I just saw a woman named Goldie in Clinton’s room, you should know each other, right?” David quickly changed the subject. Tony and Rhonda were obviously taken aback when they heard this name. David caught this subtle change right away.

After a while, Tony said, “She is the eldest daughter of the Rogers family. She’s my eldest uncle’s daughter and also our cousin.”

David felt a little strange.

They were family and there should not be any hurdles between them. However, it felt like there might be some conflict between them. He still did not understand the cruelty of the competition between powerful families. In ancient times, there were stories of princes fighting for the throne.

Nowadays, in these powerful families, as long as there was no determined heir, the competition among them would be just as cruel. Even if it was confirmed, there might be people who cause trouble behind the scenes.

This was unless there was one person who was so exceptional that they could leave the others so far behind they would lose the confidence to compete.

“David, you know Goldie well?” Rhonda asked. “Not really, I’ve only met her twice. She’s one of the people Clinton invited to help out this time,” David replied. Rhonda breathed a sigh of relief.

‘That’s good...?’

She also didn’t want to be David’s enemy.

Firstly, there was Pearly. Secondly, since David was invited by Clinton, it meant that he was not a simple character anymore. Right now, they did not have much chance of winning against Goldie. If David was involved, they would have absolutely no chance of winning. However, they might have a chance if they got David on their side. “Dave, we’re getting ready for dinner. Why don’t you join us?” Tony invited. He wanted to form a closer relationship with David so that he could get David to help him in the fight for the heir position in the Rogers family.

Right now, he was at a disadvantage in this fight with Goldie. “I’m sorry, Tony. I’ve already eaten so I won’t be joining you. We shall meet again the next time there’s an opportunity. I’ll get going now, I still have something to take care of,” David rejected. Why should he eat with these two whom he was unfamiliar with?

He did not like to eat with random people.

It would be so awkward.

It was not like he needed this meal. Would it not be better to eat by himself? “Alright, you have to contact me when you’re in Springfield next time.” “Alright.”

The trio then parted ways.

David continued to walk to his room while Tony and Rhonda walked toward the restaurant. “Rhonda, are you that close with your friend?” Tony asked as he walked. “Yeah! We would wear the same clothes, eat together, and sleep together when we were in our fourth year in university. Do you think we’re not close?” Rhonda answered. “Well then, ask your friend when she’s coming back. When the time comes, ask her to bring David and we’ll have a gathering.” “Tony, are you thinking of bringing David over to our side?” “Yeah, David is definitely not a simple man. Goldie is helping Clinton now and Clinton will definitely help her because of this favor. Moreover, Silva has always been targeting her, so we have almost no chance of winning. However, we might have a shot if we can get David to help us.”

“Alright, I’ll call her later,” Rhonda answered.

Tony shared the same thought as her. They had to get David on their side.

After David parted ways with the Rogers siblings, he went straight back to his room and did not go out again. In another room of the Black Sand Hotel, Stan was also discussing the next day's ten-year appointment with a few people.

Lorraine had not disclosed any arrangements for the ten-year appointment.

Hence, it was impossible for the two protagonists to not be nervous.

Especially now that it had become the focus of the entire Somerland.

Once they lost, it would not only be a blow to their confidence, but it would also have a huge impact on their entire family.

Hence, neither of them could not afford to lose.

They had to be fully prepared, and no matter what the competition was tomorrow, they had to be able to deal with it.

This night, many people had trouble falling asleep.

Stan, Clinton, and Lorraine could not sleep.

Many other chosen ones who felt that they had the strength to compete for the number one among the younger generation in Somerland could not sleep. Selena could not sleep either!

Tomorrow, she might be able to know who she belonged to for the rest of her life.

At this moment, she was nervous but also looking forward to it. Only David slept soundly. . This was just children playing house, and it meant nothing to him. Early the next morning, all those participating in the ten-year appointment gathered on the pier west of Dark Cape.

They needed to take a cruise ship from here to an uninhabited desert island more than ten kilometers away. That was where the ten-year appointment was being held. A huge cruise ship was docked at the pier, as well as several small yachts.

There were also countless submarines underwater.

Of course, David asked Killer to buy all these.

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

As for the reason ?

It was none other than spending some money and getting lavish points. David was also in the crowd as he was standing with Clinton.

At this moment, he was just a nameless young man.

No one would associate him with the god-like Silver Face yesterday. Even Lorraine basically dismissed that idea in her heart.

It was because Silver Face was too strong, and David was too young.

At that time, Killer was standing on a huge cruise ship.

“This cruise ship was arranged by our captain to send you to your destination. Please board the ship in an orderly manner and don’t cause trouble for me. As for those who stay behind, I believe you all know what to do! Don’t anger our captain or you won’t be able to bear the consequences.”

If it was back then, how would a mere mid-Dragon Ranker dare to reprimand so many strong people? There were even people who were halfway to the God Rank among them. He would definitely be courting death by doing this.

However, today, no one dared to speak up. The strength David showed the day before was terrifying.

Next, everyone lined up to board the ship under the command of the members of the Red Flame Mercenaries.

After David's intimidation yesterday, no one dared to jump the queue. They all lined up one by one to get on the boat. Even the people who were halfway to the God Rank were no exception, and now, no one dared to violate the rules set by Red Flame Mercenaries. Meanwhile, the members of Red Flame Mercenaries who were assigned to maintain order were feeling extremely proud.

Almost all of the chosen ones among Somerland's younger generation were here, and there were even many masters who were halfway to the God Rank accompanying them. However, so what?

They would still have to obey the orders.

Commanding people who were halfway to the God Rank was definitely their proudest moment that they would be able to brag about for the rest of their lives. The news of Silver Face shocking everyone yesterday had not yet spread.

Once spread, it would surely cause a huge sensation. A guardian who was a mid-God Ranker appeared out of nowhere. This was a big deal! It could also play a very important role in changing the future. Those who boarded the ship were all descendants of major forces, as well as the masters who were sent to protect them.

As for the other followers, they could only stay in Dark Cape, waiting for their young masters or young ladies to return.

The ones left behind made up the majority of the visitors.

It was estimated that less than one-fifth of them had boarded the ship.

Soon after everyone got on the ship, the cruise ship moved and started heading to a desert island more than ten kilometers away.

Not long after the cruise ship set off, everyone saw a huge island. It was more than ten kilometers away, but under the fast sailing of the cruise ship, they soon arrived.

After the cruise ship docked, everyone on board disembarked in an orderly manner.

Lorraine was wearing a veil in front of her face as she walked ahead with the Krums.

This was her second time here.

Her first time she here was not long ago. She came here to find a deserted place with a strong magnetic field as the venue for the ten-year appointment.

After arriving here, everyone realized that their mobile phone had lost signal and they had temporarily lost contact with the outside world. A group of four to five hundred people followed the Krums as they walked towards the center of the deserted island.

They were surrounded by huge trees.

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

When the wild animals saw the humans, all of them fled.

After about ten minutes...

They walked to the center of the deserted island. There was a huge and irregular stage, and it had been casually tidied up. Moreover, there was a volcano next to it.

It should have been formed many years ago, after an eruption. At this time, Lorraine and her master, Taylor, were standing on a heightened area.

Lorraine said, "Everyone is welcome to participate in this ten-year appointment. I believe everyone knows that this ten-year appointment was originally made by myself, Lorraine, Stan from the Warner family, and Clinton from the Zimmerman family ten years ago. We didn't expect it to have such a big impact, but since everyone is interested, I shall invite everyone to participate after the approval of my sect, and have set the venue to take place here.

"Don't worry, because of the extremely strong magnetic field here, modern electronic equipment will be completely useless, the satellite won't pinpoint us, large firearms won't work, and everyone's mobile phones cannot be used. “Here, we will return to our primitive state. The people who can come here are all important figures from major families and sects. I believe everyone knows that the world is about to change, and everyone knows the purpose behind coming here. Today, whoever can defeat all the chosen ones of the younger generation in Somerland and become the number one among the younger generation in Somerland will also get me, Lorraine Lovewood.” “Miss Lovewood, I heard that you are peerless and you’re also the number one beauty in this era. Don’t you think you should take off your veil and let everyone appreciate your beauty?” Someone asked.

“Yeah, take off your veil and show everyone, so that we can be more motivated, right?”

Lorraine glanced at the many chosen ones of Somerland and noticed that everyone was looking at her with interest.

Although she knew that these people were only here for the title of number one among the younger generation in Somerland and she was just a by-product, at this time, she could only do what everyone wanted.

These men represented almost all of the top forces in Somerland.

“Since everyone is interested in seeing my face, then I shall respect your request,” Lorraine said, reaching out to lift the veil on her face. A stunning and charming face appeared in front of everyone’s eyes.

I’ m A Quadrillionaire chapter 636

I’ m A Quadrillionaire chapter 636

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 636

Those present were all descendants of the major forces in Somerland. Whether they were hidden or not, they were all experienced. Naturally, they had seen a lot of beautiful women before this.

However, Lorraine's stunning and charming face, coupled with her otherworldly and ethereal temperament, really made people want to conquer her. If they could defeat all the chosen ones in Somerland and get the title of number one among the younger generation in Somerland, their name would not only be able to resound throughout Somerland, but they could also conquer the number one beauty in Somerland. A beautiful woman would end up with the hero, and this was the eternal truth.

All the younger generation who participated in the ten-year appointment were gearing up. They were eager to give this a try and badly wanted to express themselves.

Lorraine was about to announce what came next.

However, at this time Clinton stood up and said, "Lori, the ten-year appointment was made by us ten years ago, and it should be completed by only me and Stan. As for the battle between the chosen ones in Somerland, that is separate matter, and it should not be mixed with this one."

"That's right, that's exactly what I mean! The ten-year appointment is a ten-year appointment, and the battle of the chosen ones in Somerland is a battle of the chosen ones in Somerland, so let's not mix them up," Stan also stood up and agreed.

He had the same thought as Clinton.

There had to be an outcome between him battle with Clinton.

As long as he defeated Stan in the ten-year appointment, even if he could not defeat everyone in the next battle of the chosen ones in Somerland, his fame would still rise.

Otherwise, once they suffered a defeat, their efforts after preparing so long for the ten-year appointment would have been wasted.

Today, there were so many chosen ones in Somerland, and the descendants of the hidden family accounted for the vast majority of those present, so who could guarantee that they would be able to defeat all of them?

No matter how conceited Stan was, he would not dare to claim that.

Therefore, it was still necessary for him to raise his popularity and get the benefits first.

Lorraine did not expect to be questioned by Clinton and Stan.

‘Don’t they want to win the title of number one among the younger generation in Somerland?’

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

‘Or do they see so many chosen ones from Somerland that they have no confidence in themselves?’

She could technically let the two of them fight, but if this happened, one of them would definitely win, and according to the agreement, she needed to marry the winning party.

Unfortunately, this would seriously affect the sect’s plan. The task entrusted to her by her sect was to use this ten-year appointment to hold a grand event in which the chosen ones in Somerland would compete to be the number one. Meanwhile, she would need to marry the winner of this grand event. Since this winner would be very important in the future and was crucial to the survival of the Krums, they had to get him on the sect's side. Lorraine did not know what to do either, so she could only turn her head to look at her master. Taylor stood up and said, "I am Taylor Cda, the third elder of the Krums and also Lorraine's master. Furthermore, I am also the person in charge of this event. Everyone should trust the reputation of the Krums." "Stan and Clinton, Lori has been meticulously cultivated by the Krums and we have put too much effort into her. If she wants to marry, she will naturally only marry the best among the younger generation. If you want, you can also proceed with the ten-year appointment, but if you want to get Lori, you must defeat all the chosen ones in the country and become the number one among the younger generation in Somerland." Stan and Clinton looked at each other. At this time, Lorraine was not so important anymore. They had to fight for themselves and their family. They had to fight before the grand event between the chosen ones in Somerland started. If they won, naturally, they would be remembered by all. If they lost, they would undoubtedly be forgotten. "Sure!"

The two answered at the same time.

Taylor was relieved to hear that they agreed to this.

If the two of them clung to the idea of the ten-year appointment and insisted on the winner marrying Lori, the matter would not be so easy to handle. Lori could not just get married like this, as they had already built up her reputation.

Everyone in Somerland knew that Lorraine's elegance was peerless. She was the number one beauty in Somerland and a woman that all men wanted to conquer.

She was also the most critical part of the Krums' plan.

If her final destination was set in advance, and if the disciples from the Krums could not defeat the countless chosen ones and could not become the number one among the younger generation in Somerland, the Krums' plans would have failed.

As the third elder of the Krums, Taylor was sent by the head to take charge of this plan, so she could not let this happen.

Thankfully these two boys were pretty smart.

“Since both of you agreed, then you should fight before the grand event between the chosen ones. It just so happens that you are also the heirs of two top families in the secular world, so you should let the many hidden families and sects present observe the strength of the secular families. You must put on a good performance.”

“Master Coda, we've been preparing for a ten-year appointment for a long time. We shouldn't inst immediately select a winner or loser as it'll be too hasty. We should have five people on each side fight five rounds. The side who wins the best of three will get the final victory,” Clinton suggested. He was not confident that he could defeat Stan if they only had one round.

Instead, he directly that they have five rounds. Coincidentally, he had invited four powerful people. Even if they did not take action, he already owed them a favor. Taylor looked at Stan.

As long as the winner of the two did not marry Lori, it did not matter how many rounds they went at it. It would just be an appetizer anyway. The grand event of the chosen ones in Somerland was the highlight of today. Stan glanced at Clinton and said, “I agree!”

“Okay, then it’s up to you to arrange this yourself. There will be five rounds and the side with three wins will be the final winner. However, you should not fight to the death, and I hope you know your limits and not threaten anyone’s life. Everyone who is halfway to God Rank will be the judge of this grand event. Once the outcome has been decided, we have the right to stop the battle. My friends who are halfway to God Rank, please come to me. The rest of you, please make way for the two sides that are going to fight,” Taylor said finally. Immediately, nearly ten people who were halfway to God Rank at the scene flew to Taylor location. Augustus, a God Rank guardian, was also among them. That place was the highest point in the vicinity and they could see what was happening below clearly. Hence, it was an excellent place to watch the battle from. The rest of the contestants were scattered as they busied themselves looking for a place to stand so they could leave the platform in the center empty. The Krums were not only powerful, but they also had a high prestige among all hidden families and sects. This time, the grand event of the chosen ones in Somerland was organized by the disciples of the Krums, so everyone acted according to the words of the elder from the Krums. Meanwhile, Clinton gathered with David and the rest to discuss the order of the fight.
