He could also risk everything and go for an all-out effort. He wanted to see if he could kill two late God Rankers.

Plus, he felt like he was at his peak now.

It was all because of the changes David brought.

Mason looked at David with more and more admiration in his eyes.

“Old Master Stefani, are you saying yes?” “David, I will definitely support this kind of thing that is beneficial to Somerland, and with your talent and strength, the burden of Somerland will be handed over to you sooner or later. Although you are still young, there is no other way. Somerland is now encountering internal and external troubles, so I need young people like you to rectify and reform it. I am old, and now, it is a young people's world. Therefore, you can make your own decisions on many things. You don't have to tell me everything. If it is inconvenient for you to reveal your strength, I will support you and clean up your mess.”

“Thank you, Old Master Stefani!” David stood up, put his hands together, bowed to Mason, and said sincerely.

“David, it's me who should thank you. I thought I would not live long. Once the deterrent effect of my presence disappeared, Somerland's foundation would be too thin and under the attack of internal and external troubles, it would hard for Somerland to continue being stable. In the future, Somerland may have become the next Chaos Land. Now, you not only saved me and allowed me continue to contribute to Somerland, but you also show unparalleled talent. This is such a blessing for Somerland,” Mason lamented.

“Old Master Stefani, don't say that. As a Somerlander, these are all things I should do. If we don't have a stable homeland like Somerland, where would our warm homes be?”

“You're right about not having a home if you don't have a homeland. David, you really impress me. Go do what you want without any worries. My old bones can still support you for a few years, but you can't neglect your cultivation either. You should reach the level of a peak God Ranker as soon as possible as that is the most important thing.”

“I got it. Don't worry, old Master Stefani. I will definitely work hard.”

“Tell me about the grand event of the chosen ones in Somerland. I heard that some people can’t sit still anymore,” Mason said with murderous intent on his face.

Next, David began to tell Mason everything starting from Dark Cape until he left the grand event of the chosen ones, including the Dominic family and Star Alliance colluding with foreign forces and attracting five God Rank guardians who tried to kill everyone who participated in the grand event of the chosen ones to cause chaos in Somerland.

The two talked for a long time.

Mason also told David a lot of things he did not know before.

For example, many forces among the hidden sects and families once sent their people to help Somerland tide over the difficulties.

Mason was far from being as powerful as he was now a hundred years ago. Without the help of these forces, Somerland might not be what it was now.

The most familiar names were the King family and the Krums.

Of course, there were also many sects and families that not only did not help Somerland at that time but also secretly developed their own forces and scrambled for resources.

The Dominic family, Star Sect, and the Haran family, who were driven out of Somerland by Mason, were such forces.

The Dominic family and Star Sect were still a little more restrained, and they had not gone over the line. That was why they could still hide in Somerland.

Meanwhile, the Haran family even tried to take over a place to rule it themselves.

They occupied an area and they were not controlled by Somerland. They made their own rules, so in the end, they were naturally driven out of Somerland by Mason.

Plus, he stipulated that the people of the Haran family would never be allowed to set foot in Somerland.

Therefore, the Haran family despised Mason to the bone.

It was Mason who made them leave their homeland. They could not even come back to visit their ancestors after so many years, making them sinners of the Haran family.

If they ever got the chance, they would definitely not go easy on Mason and Somerland.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 695

In addition to this, Mason told David that there were five most powerful forces in the world. These five major forces all had one thing in common, that was, all of them had peak God Rankers in their families and some even had more than one. The five major forces around the globe were composed of three ancient families and two comprehensive forces. Somerland was a comprehensive force.

There were three families behind Falconia.

The Chris family, the Morrow family, and the Oxis family.

These three families were also the strongest and most mysterious families in the world today.

No one knew exactly how strong they were. It was possible only the three of them knew how strong each other was. Therefore, they would jointly support Falconia to become the most powerful empire in the world.

There was also a comprehensive force called the Underworld Alliance. In addition to the five strongest forces, there were also many small and medium-sized forces in existence.

However, most of them were attached to the five major forces.

Somerland also had many subordinate forces around the world.

These small and medium-sized forces needed to hand over a considerable amount of resources to Somerland every year in exchange for Somerland's protection.

However, recently, Mason was rumored to be on the brink of death, so many forces that were originally attached to Somerland also began to change sides and look for someone new to depend on.

In their opinion, once Mason died, Somerland would definitely be swallowed up by several other major forces. Therefore, they had to find new backers in order to survive the upcoming troubled times.

Mason did not come forward to stop them either.

This was not the time to show his face. He was waiting for a chance.

A chance that would shock everyone in the world.

This chance would come soon as the news of his death was slowly circulating. It could be seen from the way the Dominic family and Star Alliance came out to collude with foreign forces.

If the news of Mason's death did not spread, they would not be so hasty.

Mason only needed to wait a little more and soon, a lot of people would not be able to hold back any longer. After all, who did not want a share of this big Somerland cake? They would do this step by step, and the first to take action would get the biggest piece of the pie. Interest would push everyone to reach out their hand toward Somerland. Mason only needed to show up at this time to cut off those hands that reached over to Somerland and make them retract their hands.

The two talked until afternoon. Then, Julia came with lunch. Hence, David stayed to have lunch with Mason.

Julia was very happy to see David again.

Especially when she heard about David's performance at the grand event of the chosen ones in Somerland and how he killed Axel, the eldest son of the Dominic family and a late Dragon Ranker, in seconds.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 696

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 696

He suppressed the descendants of countless hidden sects and families and climbed to the top to become the number one among the younger generation in Somerland. After that, he even impressed countless chosen ones and got a chance to marry Lorraine, a woman of peerless elegance. However, David unexpectedly left the scene after his job was done, hiding his merits and fame.

He only left behind countless legends about him.

The most important thing was David's age as he was at least ten years younger than those chosen ones.

He really deserved to be the most talented person her great-grandpa had mentioned.

Even those heirs from sects and families who had been hidden for many years had been trampled under his foot.

Although Julia was just an ordinary woman, she was Mason's great-granddaughter. The environment in which she grew up made her destined to have a much higher benchmark than the average person.

So far, apart from David, no man had really caught her eye.

Even Stan and Clinton who were the most dazzling among the younger generation in Capital City were no different.

Julia did not know that David was Silver Face nor did Mason tell her. She was already beyond surprised by David's achievements, so if she learned of David's true strength, it was unknown how she would feel. 1

Mason was also happy today. He insisted on David accompanying him for a few drinks.

David had no choice but to obey. Mason's body had recovered now, so drinking a little wine would not have any effect on his body at all.

The two were eating food and drinking some wine.

Julia was smiling at them the whole time as she continuously served them food and wine.

At this moment, she felt that she was the happiest she has ever been. Unfortunately, David did not belong to her yet. Otherwise, her life would be perfect. After three rounds of drinks, Mason asked David, "David, how are you going to form this new team, do you have any plans?"

David put down his fork and said, "Old Master Stefani, I'm going to hold a meeting in the name of the Somerland government and I will send an invitation to all the hidden families and sects who have resurfaced and ask them to send someone to attend the meeting. At the same time. I'll warn them to restrain their disciples and children and ask them to obey the laws of Somerland. Plus, they must also send someone prestigious to join this new team to maintain the order of Somerland society. If we catch anyone violating the rules, we will not be merciful with them. What do you think?"

"It's feasible. Let Julia issue the invitation in the name of the Somerland government. You two can go and discuss this later. She can do this well, and if you need anything in the future, you can directly seek out Julia. Julia is my secretary in Somerland, and she can handle a lot of things herself," Mason replied.

"Okay, Old Master Stefani. However, I need a government identity to both meet these people from the hidden families and sects and also to take the lead in forming a new team. Therefore, it might expose my identity as an MP of Somerland."

"No problem, you can reveal your identity, but you can also claim to be a disciple I secretly cultivated, which resulted in your status. I believe that no one will question it."

"Alright, I understand." After leaving Mason's place, David called Celia and told her he would go over later before he drove to Celia's house.

After David left, Julia was busy clearing the table.

Mason spoke at this time, "Julia, I asked David to contact you to create more opportunity for you two to interact. You must seize it."

"Great-grandpa, why are you talking about this again?" Julia asked, feeling embarrassed.

"Julia, I can tell you have feelings for David. Back then, I was underestimating David with my comments about him. He's definitely the most talented person in all the recorded history in the world. He might even break through the obstruction of peak God Rank and reach the next realm. So, you have to seize him."

Julia was dazed after she heard that. Then, she asked, "Great-grandpa, is David that amazing?" "He can only go further," Mason said ruefully.

"I understand, Great-grandpa. I will seize the opportunity. However, David said he already has a girlfriend," Julia said sadly. "So what? Even though it's a monogamous era, which one of the powerful men out there only has one woman? A lot of people from powerful families had illegitimate children outside, for example the heir of the Quinn family David killed. After he did, they immediately found an illegitimate child to take over as their heir. Don't get all twisted up in this," Mason advised.

"I don't intend to, but I'm worried that David won't give me this chance. He seems to reject the idea of betraying his girlfriend. I can tell he loves his girlfriend a lot."

"It's fine, I have a chance to help you with him, but of course, he has to fancy you first."

"I got it, Great-grandpa."
