Then, a tall beautiful woman came up and politely asked, "Hello, ladies and gentlemen! I'm Golden Leaf Hotel's lobby manager. How can I help you?"

"Well... We... we're just looking around! " One of the classmates answered.

"Yes, yes, yes! We only came in to have a look. We don't need anything. We'll get out of your hair, lady."

"Sorry, everybody! We're the most exclusive hotel in South River Province. You're not allowed to look around. Please leave if you have no other business." The beautiful manager said politely. Still, her expression was disdainful.

"We're here to see David. Didn't he tell you?" Patrick interjected.

He did not believe David had not taken care of these things.

"So you're Mr. Lidell's guests! Mr. Lidell has instructed us, and we've arranged the seats. Please follow me." When the beautiful manager heard they were here for David, her expression immediately changed. She smiled and said respectfully.

The beautiful manager's words also put everyone at ease.

It turned out David had already made the arrangements.

It looked like he was going to spend millions of dollars treating them for a meal!

He must be a super-rich heir.

They heard Golden Leaf Hotel's manager call David Mr. Lidell.

They must know each other.

Thus, the group of 50 or 60 people followed Golden Leaf Hotel's beautiful manager to a large private room.

"Hold on, everyone! The dishes are ready and will be served in a minute," the beautiful lobby manager said before leaving the private room.

“Have a seat! Fill up the seats.” Patrick began to arrange.

“Those who drink can sit together.

“And those who don’t drink can sit together.

“Try mixing genders!

“There’s an old saying, ‘Work is effortless when men and women team up.’”

Everyone started working.

Everyone also sat in between their opposite genders.

However, there were exceptions.

Ava sat next to a girl she was on good terms with.

There was an empty seat next to her.

Dean quickly walked over and sat down.

He had been eyeing this opportunity for a long time.

Life was so beautiful with one of the three goddesses of SRU—Ava sitting next to him while he ate the most expensive food and drank the most expensive wine in South River Province.

It felt so good.

When the food was served, he was going to have to take some photos and post them on social media. It would be best if he included Ava in the photos.

He could make his classmates at school envy him.

While Dean was indulging in his imagination, a voice rang in his ear.

“Sasha! Come on, let’s sit in the back.”

After saying that, Ava pulled the girl next to her, got up, and sat at the next table.

She now had girls on both sides.

Many classmates suppressed their laughter at the sight of this.

They got up to change seats when they were already seated. Ava clearly did not want to sit next to Dean.

Dean sat in his place, his face flushed with rage, wishing he could rape Ava a hundred times.

It was f*cking humiliating.

It made him look bad in front of the whole class.

The atmosphere was awkward for a moment.

Seeing Ava get up and change seats, Patrick immediately arranged for two more people to sit there.

The beautiful woman beside Dean had now become an Ugly Betty.

Soon after everyone sat down, the private room door opened.

The good-looking waiters served countless delicacies.

Once the dishes were served, everyone was still in a dumbfounded daze.

The f*cking lobster and king crab weighing more than ten pounds cost tens of thousands of dollars each.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 717

The table full of delicious food was normally only seen only on TV.

Three minutes later...

Everyone was busy taking photos to show off on social media.

Ten minutes later...

After showing off, no one moved their spoon and fork even though everyone was gulping secretly.

It was because the main character, David, had not arrived!

No one dared to move.

Patrick gave David a call when he saw the food getting cold.

“Hello! Patrick, are you there yet?” David’s voice came over the phone.

“David, where are you? We’re reached, and the food is also ready. Everyone’s waiting for you!” Patrick said. When Patrick spoke, everyone looked at him.

“The food’s ready? Hurry and eat! Why are you waiting for me? I’ll have a drink with all of you later. Don’t wait forme.”

“Okay! We’ll dig in first.”

Patrick hung up the phone and said, “Let’s dig in! Don’t wait for David. He’s busy with something right now. He’ll come later.”

Everyone stayed still even after he said that.

Patrick could only pick up his spoon and fork and start eating.

Then everyone dug in.

The table of food was delicious!

The men were gobbling it up.

“Patrick, does this table of food cost a lot of money?” Some classmates asked as they ate.

“Yeah! Patrick, you’re the most knowledgeable person here. I’ve only seen these dishes on TV. They taste so good. It must be expensive.”

“I think it’s gonna cost at least two hundred thousand dollars. This black one is caviar. It’s a premium ingredient.”

“This is the best meal I’ve ever had.”

“It’s not only the best but also the most expensive.”

Everyone chatted.

They were talking, but it did not stop them from eating.

They could not stop their hands!

“I was wrong! I thought a million dollars would be enough for dozens of us. I didn’t expect David to be so generous. I was shocked too,” said Patrick.

“What’s the matter? Does this table exceed your expectations?” A classmate asked.

“It exceeds my expectations!” Patrick replied.

“Patrick, don’t keep us in suspense. How much will our meal cost?”

“Yeah! Don’t keep us in suspense! I only want to know how much the wine I just drank cost.”

“That mouthful of wine cost about ten thousand dollars!” Patrick said to the classmate.

‘What?’

‘About ten thousand dollars for a mouthful of wine?’

Everyone stopped and looked at Patrick in shock.

“Don’t look at me like that! The official price of the world’s top red wine is about three hundred thousand dollars per bottle. Don’t you think one mouthful would cost ten thousand dollars?”

The classmate, who had just drunk the wine, was stunned.

Did he drink a year’s worth of his own living expenses in one gulp?

Was this how rich people f*cking lived?

Three hundred thousand dollars for a bottle of wine?

A house in their small county would cost only two hundred thousand to three hundred thousand dollars!

The bottle of wine could buy them a new house.

“How... how much will this table of food and two bottles of wine cost?”

“The whole table adds up to about one and a half million dollars! After all, it’s an eight-star hotel. Besides the food, the labor cost is also a considerable expense. It’s about ten million dollars for six tables! ”

‘Ten million dollars?’

Everyone present was petrified...

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 718

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 718

Everyone there felt heartbroken that one table of food cost one and a half million dollars.

It was indeed delicious, and they even wanted to swallow their tongues. However, the thought of an average cost of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars per person upset them.

If they had to choose between a meal and one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, they would have chosen one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Those who did not come from wealthy families thought they could do a lot with one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

It was equivalent to years of their family income.

Of course, it was someone else’s treat, and they had no choice, so they could only eat as much as they wanted!

Every extra bite was a gain.

Not many people drank at first.

However, after hearing that a bottle of wine cost three hundred thousand dollars, many girls scrambled to drink some.

After all, these were opportunities.

By taking a couple more sips, they would have something to brag about in the future.

They would be someone who had drunk a premium wine that cost three hundred thousand dollars per bottle.

Half an hour later...

No one could eat anymore.

There was still plenty of food left on the table.

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

The food costing one and a half million dollars per table had super generous portions.

However, no one left the table.

It was a rare opportunity, and if they rested and went to the washroom, they might be able to eat more.

Just then, the private room door opened.

David walked in from outside.

Everyone got up voluntarily.

They owed it to him after the dinner.

David had spent so much money to treat his classmates to dinner.

The students who previously had had some opinions about David were also full of admiration for him now.

He had bought the whole class a meal for ten million dollars.

No matter how rich they were, they did not think they could do it. They would only treat a few close friends to a meal at most.

However, David did not mind it at all.

No matter how close or poor their relationship was, he treated everyone equally.

With such generosity, no wonder he was rich.

“Is everybody satisfied with the meal? You can order anything you need. Don’t make yourself a stranger. Since you’re out, enjoy,” David said after entering the private room.

“Yes! Yes! I’m so satisfied! David, thank you so much. It’s the best meal I’ve ever had.”

“Yes, yes, yes! We’re satisfied too. I didn’t expect there’s such delicious food in the world. It’s a real eye -opener.”

Everyone complimented David.

“Come on. Let’s propose a toast to David for his generosity in treating us to such a wonderful dinner.”

Dean picked up the wine bottle to pour some wine, but it was empty.

There were ten people per table with two bottles of wine each, and the glasses were so large that there was hardly anything left after everyone poured themselves a glass.

There were more than fifty students in the class. Two- thirds of them did not want to drink at first. However, they wanted to try it after hearing that the wine cost three hundred thousand dollars.

Even Ava tasted some.

She also wondered what the expensive wine tasted like.

Dean was a little depressed.

He thought he could use it to make himself look good.

He could also have an excuse to drink a little more.

This was because the wine was so good.

It cost three hundred thousand dollars per bottle!

A chance like that occurred once in a blue moon.

However, they had finished it.

He kept his eye on the bottle. From what he had just observed, there should be a little left.

However, the bottle was now empty.

When exactly did they empty it?

Dean was puzzled.

Was it when he went to the bathroom earlier?

It must be!

There was no way the wine would disappear for no reason.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 719

He had been watching it the whole time.

'F*ck! I've been careless!'

Someone else had beat him to the twenty thousand or thirty thousand dollars.

"Why don't we replace wine with tea?" Dean asked awkwardly.

David saw that everyone's glasses were empty, and the bottles were opened.

Knowing they had finished the wine, he pressed the call bell on the wall.

"Tea won't do! Isn't this the first time we've gathered together in three years? And it's not easy to have so many people present. Drink some more!" David said.

"No thanks! David! You've spent a lot of money. We'll feel bad if you order more."

"Money comes and goes. The most important thing is for everyone to enjoy their meal. Since I'm treating you, won't I be humiliated if everyone didn't have a good time? It's up to me today. Now, sit down!"

After David said that, everyone sat down without further objection.

Soon the private room door opened again.

The beautiful lobby manager came in.

"Mr. Lidell! What can I do for you?" The beautiful manager said respectfully.

“Serve ten more bottles of this wine to each table.”

“Okay! Just a moment, Mr. Lidell. The wine will be delivered right away. Anything else?”

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

“No!”

“Then I’ll go out first. Mr. Lidell, you can call me if you need anything.”

The beautiful manager turned and left the private room after she finished speaking.

Ten more bottles per table?

Everyone was shocked again.

It cost three hundred thousand dollars per bottle. Ten bottles would cost three million dollars.

Six tables cost eighteen million dollars.

Adding what they just ate to the equation, their dinner would cost thirty million dollars.

This... was f*cking too much?

How much money did David have?

No rich heir would spend money like that.

People were starting to get confused about David.

“David, you don’t have to order that much. We can’t finish it at all. Can we return some of them?” Patrick asked.

Even though he knew David had money and connections, the latter was being a little too much.

Thirty million dollars for dinner with classmates?

Even the richest man in Somerland would not do that, would he?

“It’s okay! You can take them back if you can’t finish them. I know you like these. I’ll send you two bottles that they’ve stopped producing,” David said casually.

He did not seem to care.

Soon, the wine was served.

The manager delivered David's instructions as soon as possible.

David opened a bottle and filled his glass.

Everyone began pouring wine.

Now, everyone had a full glass of wine.

David raised his glass and said, "Everyone, it's not easy for us to get together. There's still one year left for us until we graduate. I hope you can remember our time in university wherever you are. This will be an indelible mark on our life. I hope we can keep in touch and get together again decades later. Cheers!"

"Cheers!"

Everyone shouted together.

After three rounds of wine...

David asked the manager to take them to Golden Leaf Hotel's entertainment area right away to sing and dance together.

Golden Leaf Hotel's huge private room still felt empty after accommodating 50 or 60 people.

Everyone was already tipsy, and thus, more relaxed.

Someone soon began dancing in the middle of the private room.

Besides that, it was a dance involving both men and women.

Everyone screamed, of course.

David wanted to sneak out.

However, Patrick and the rest caught him.

Therefore, he could only sit with them in the private room.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 720

As the host today, many female classmates invited David to join them.

However, David refused by pretending to be drunk.

After being in contact with so many stunning beauties, who were at least solid 9s, David's taste had upgraded. He was not interested in these 7s or 8s.

He was not interested, but other people were.

Patrick soon succumbed to the temptation and joined in the dance.

There were several good-looking female classmates in the class, and the men thought it would be nice to take advantage of them amidst the commotion.

However, it was a pity that the most popular girl at SRU—Ava did not join in. Otherwise, they would have had much more fun.

They also wanted to see what the most popular girl looked like when she danced.

Ava had always looked quiet and gentle to them.

After Patrick and the rest left, David took the opportunity to sneak out of the private room.

He texted Patrick, telling him to leave with everyone after they were done and that he had already taken care of the bill.

Even if David did not text him, Patrick could only leave with everyone after they were done.

No one would fight to foot the bill because no one could afford it.

David looked at the time. It was already past 9 PM. He walked out of Golden Leaf Hotel alone, preparing to leave and go home to rest.

“David!”

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

David was about to leave when a voice stopped him.

David looked back.

The person who had just called him was Ava, the class and campus belle.

Ava hurried to David's side.

"Ava, why did you stop having fun with them?" David asked.

"David, you're today's host. Why did you stop too?" Ava asked in response.

"I'm a little tired, so I'm going home to rest. But don't worry. I've already footed the bill, and you can have as much fun as you like until morning."

"Thank you for your hospitality today. I'm tired too. Please send me back to school, David! "

"Uh... Sure!"

David walked over to his Bugatti Veyron, opened the car door, and said, "Please! Ava."

The two got into the Bugatti Veyron.

The car left the Golden Leaf Hotel with a roar.

Golden Leaf Hotel was not far from SRU, and it did not take long to walk there. However, David did not want to come back to collect his car, so he drove there right away.

David had just pulled out of the Golden Leaf Hotel's parking lot when Ava said, "David, let's go somewhere and talk! "

"Now? Isn't it too late?" David replied.

"What's the matter? A girl like me isn't even afraid, so what is a man like you afraid of?"

"It's not that I'm afraid! It's that boys gotta protect themselves out there!" David said earnestly.

"Poof!"

Ava could not help laughing.

"David, you're so funny!" Ava said with a laugh.

“Some other time! It’s a bit late today. The school will be closed.”

“Don’t you want the school to be closed? That way, you’ll have an excuse to book a room outside. You’ll hint at the hotel staff, asking them to lie that there’s only one room left. Then the two will have to share a room. The girl will draw a line in the middle of the bed and say they’re not allowed to cross the line, or you’ll be a jerk. In the end, the boy crosses the line and has his way with the girl once the lights were off.

David put his foot on the brake.

Pulling over to the roadside, he turned and gaped at Ava.

“Ava, have you been watching too many soap dramas?”

“Really? That’s what they say on TV, but have you ever thought about it that way?”

“Never!”

“Are you sure?” Ava also turned to look at David.

“Yes!” David answered confidently.

“Alright! You win. Send me back to school!” Ava said as she turned to look ahead.

“Uh... Okay!”

David sent Ava back to school, and they were silent throughout the journey.

Ava got out of the car and left without saying goodbye to David.

David drove away with a confused look on his face.

He could not figure out what he had done to Ava.

He never thought of it that way!

How baffling!

David returned to South River International Residence, parked his car, and went upstairs.

He took the elevator to the top floor. The elevator door opened, and David walked out.

As soon as David stepped out of the elevator, he saw a familiar and delicate face.

‘Amelia?’

'What is she doing here?'

Amelia had come to see David.

She had pondered for a long time and decided to confess her feelings to David.

She wanted to tell David that she was still a virgin.

She still had her first kiss too.

If David did not believe her, he could try. She would not fight back.

She was afraid she would never meet such a nice man again if she lost David.

It was not only because David was rich but also because David was able to do so much for his exgirlfriend, Sarah.

He was a super-rich heir who pretended to be a poor guy and did everything for Sarah.

He even did it for three years.

How many super rich heirs could do that?

It meant he loved Sarah.

It was a pity that Sarah did not appreciate it.

If she were Sarah, she would never dump a man like David for money.

Money was important nowadays.

However, she would never trade her body for it

Besides, there were more important things than money.

The rich heirs around her had been after her for sex.

She would be abandoned once they got bored with her.

Only David was not like that.

He not only did that for Sarah.

The same thing happened the last time she was here.

Besides, David's figure had been etched in her heart ever since David saved her from Leo and Jacob.

Therefore, she decided to tell David how she felt as soon as possible.

David's focus was not on his studies right now.

He might ask for leave anytime and stop coming to school.

That was the case last semester.

She was afraid she might not ever have the chance to confess her feelings.

However, she had no idea that David was treating the class to dinner today.

When she arrived, she rang the doorbell, but no one answered.

She waited there.

She thought David would come back at night!

She had been waiting for over an hour now.

She was going to leave if David still did not return.

Otherwise, she would have to stay in a hotel when the school closed.

Just as she was about to leave after waiting a little longer, the elevator doors opened.

She knew it must be David.

David was the only one living on the top floor. No one else would come here.

Otherwise, she would be embarrassed to have waited here for so long.
