“Pavan, look at this place. This is the place you destroyed. Nearly 100,000 people turned into ashes in an instant. You pretentious punks, do you think that only your life is important while other people's lives are not?” David asked in a low voice.

“David, these are just ordinary folks. You have reached peak Stellar Rank and are no longer one of them. Look forward! Only when you get out of here will you realize how big the outside world is,” Pavan persuaded.

“No matter how strong I am, no matter how big the outside world is, it will not change my identity as a human on Earth. You just want me to let you go, but you know what? I just had a vote on how to deal with you. Do you want to know the result?”

“You want to make me a burial offering to these ordinary people. I can guess that easily, but you won't really do it, will you? David, you must know that I am the eldest son of the Tuffin family, and the people from my family are on their way here. If I die, the Earth will cease to exist. By then, instead of 100,000 dead, tens of billions of human beings on earth, including you and your family, will also die.”

“Pavan, you are brilliant and know how to exploit my weaknesses, but unfortunately, you miscalculated something.”

“What?”

“My strength!”

“Your strength? What do you mean?”

David did not answer.

He stood next to Pavan and looked up at the sky.

Immediately after...

Boom boom boom!

Fierce energy emitted from David's small body and swept across the Earth, making everyone on Earth feel inexplicably fearful.

They felt as if their breathing was slowed down.

At this moment, David looked like a king towering over his kingdom.

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

Anyone who saw him would want to bow down at his feet.

After a short while, David stopped emitting his energy.

Next to him, the kneeling Pavan was stunned. He looked as if his soul had left his body.

When he returned to his senses, he looked at David in terror.

“You... You... You...”

He could not form a sentence after stammering for a long time.

The energy David was emitting just now was too strong.

It was so strong that Pavan had only felt this kind of pressure from his grandfather Orson, who was also the head of the Tuffin family.

David was already at this level.

Then, the people from the Tuffin family coming to rescue Pavan would only be met with one fate: they would be wiped out just like him.

“So? Master Pavan of the Tuffin family, am I worthy of being seen as your rival now?” David asked.

“Impossible! Absolutely impossible! David, how could you reach Cosmos Rank? You have only lived for just over 20 years, and achieving this kind of power is impossible. No one in the heart of the Milky Way can do it, let alone a resource-poor indigenous living planet like Earth. You are lying to me!” Pavan immediately yelled in a panic.

“There are always people better than you in this world. Pavan, your vision was too narrow. Have fun on your way to hell as you become the burial offering for the 100,000 people you killed. Don’t worry, someone will go down to accompany you soon. I will kill everyone that the Tuffin family sends here.”

“No! No! You can’t kill me! I am the eldest son of the Tuffin family, and I am the chosen one! I am the man who will become the Master of the Milky Way!”

Pavan started screaming in horror.

At the same time, he started struggling and squirming on the ground.

David ignored Pavan's shouting and directly killed him on the ruins.

According to the other timeline, Pavan was indeed the Master of the Milky Way and might have achieved even greater feats.

However, he did not have the chance to do so in this timeline.

His life stopped here.

However, David did not kill the people who came with Pavan.

These people were useful to David.

He did not know how to operate the Octagon and could not find the way to the center of the Milky Way. Hence, he needed these people to help him.

However, David permeated his mind power into their brains and left a backup plan for himself.

Once he sensed that something was wrong, he could kill these people immediately.

This was also the use of his newly developed mind power.

However, there were limitations to it as well.

The other party must have their guard down and consent to David's mind power permeating their brain.

If not, David's mind power could not enter their bodies.

This was an excellent way to control his captive.

If they dared to rebel, then David would kill them at once.

When Pavan was killed just now, the alarm in the Tuffin ancestral residence on Planet Tuffin faraway in the heart of the Milky Way blared.

"Oh no! A direct descendant of the family has died. Go find out who it was and report it to the head of the family."

“Roger!”

A super large family like the Tuffin family would have a lot of direct descendants.

When they became adults, they would leave the family to train, and accidents would sometimes happen.

So, after every direct descendant was born, the family would use their umbilical cord blood to create a life plaque. These plaques would then be placed in the Tuffin ancestral residence to be watched by special staff.

Once a direct descendant died, their life plaque would break into pieces, and the ancestral residence’s alarm would ring.

After that, the people watching the plaques would know which descendant died so they could report to the head of the family immediately.

Soon, the death of Master Pavan of the Tuffin family was reported to Orson, the head of the Tuffin family.

Smash!

Orson was having tea with his brother Adan: Immediately, he smashed the expensive teacup in his hand into fine powder.

“What’s going on, Orson?” Adan, who was sitting opposite him, asked.

It had been a long time since his brother Orson was so mad.

The teacup he smashed just now was very expensive.

“I just got the news from the ancestral residence. Pavan’s plaque broke,” Orson said with a dark face.

Even if Pavan was not the most outstanding among the direct descendants of the Tuffin family, he was the eldest of this generation of the family.

In addition, he was the face of the Tuffin family.

Orson would not be so mad if another average direct descendant died. After all, there were too many direct descendants in their family.

Many went to train outside, so some were expected to die from accidents.

The Tuffin family would encounter such incidents every year.

However, the eldest son Pavan died, and he even died on an indigenous living planet.

This was equivalent to slapping the Tuffin family on the face.

“What? Pav’s dead? Wasn’t he detained on an indigenous living planet? How did he die?” Adan asked in shock.

“No matter how he died, this was clearly a bold slap to our family’s face. Don’t spread news of this yet. If not, the Dallarosa family will start making untrue claims about this. Our family is in a dangerous position right now,” Orson said.

“I understand.”

“Also, tell them to come back soon to elect the next head of the family. Then, we should head to Earth at once. To avoid more accidents, you should lead the team. You must not make a single mistake. This mission is critical as it will determine whether we can keep our position among the eight prominent families of the Milky Way Empire.”

“Alright, Orson, I got it.”

After Adan said that, he turned to leave.

He had to arrange this matter quickly.

Their family was indeed in dire straits now.
