David looked at the huge Milky Way Battleship before him and narrowed his eyes.

'Indigenous people!

'Indigenous people again!'

He really hated this title. However, he could not refute them.

Everyone who came from the center of the Milky Way, regardless of their strength, would call them indigenous people.

This seemed to be an inherent sense of superiority.

"Are you from Pavan's family?" David asked.

"That's right! We are the Tuffin family, one of the eight prominent families of the Milky Way Empire. I am Pavan's second grandfather. Since you've reached the combat power of a Stellar Ranker, Pav did not die in vain," Adan replied.

However, he changed the subject and scolded loudly, "However, Pavan was also the eldest son of the Tuffin family. Even if he committed a huge sin, he can only be dealt with by his family. Indigenous people like you do not have right to touch him. Who gave you the courage to kill the direct descendant of the Tuffin family?"

'How did they know that Pavan was dead?' David thought suspiciously.

There should have been no chance for Pavan to send news back.

It seemed that there should be some unknown connection between these people. After he killed Pavan, the news of Pavan's death would automatically be sent back.

However, so what if they knew?

Since David dared to kill Pavan, he was not afraid of them finding out.

"Pavan slaughtered nearly 100,000 people on Earth without batting an eyelid. Since his life is important, aren't the lives of the 100,000 earthlings important? According to your logic, the Tuffin family are allowed to kill others, but others cannot kill you?" David replied, neither obsequious nor supercilious.

“Hahaha! You are right. This is the logic of the Tuffin family. It’s an honor for you indigenous people to die by the hands of a direct descendant from my family. You should be grateful for this. Prepare yourself. Since you dare to take action against my family member, then you’ll receive a death sentence!” Adan said with a loud laugh.

“This might be your logic, but I disagree with it. They are all lives. In my opinion, everyone is equal, and no one is superior nor inferior to the other. I will kill anyone who dares to kill anyone on Earth, no matter who he is, how high his status, or how powerful he is,” David said seriously.

“Hahaha!”

“Hahaha!”

“Hahaha!”

This time, Adan was not the only one laughing.

Everyone in the control room of the Milky Way Battleship, including Nine and Lone and the operators of the ship, burst into laughter.

That was definitely the funniest joke they had heard in their lives.

Indigenous people were indigenous people.

Even if they reached Stellar Rank through alternative means, it still could not change their mindset.

Everyone was equal, and no one was superior nor inferior to the other.

What a joke!

How would people be equal in this world where the strong were respected, and a powerful person could destroy countless gnats with a wave of his hand?

As long as one could reach a certain level of strength, they could even be the master of the Milky Way and would be revered by all life in it.

A single sentence could determine the life and death of countless beings.

The strong were superior while the weak were inferior.

This was the rule of the world today.

An insignificant indigenous human being was spewing nonsense about equality, and how no one was more superior nor inferior to the other. What a joke!

Was not David worried that he would become the laughing stock once word of this this got out?

"You have your logic, but I also have my beliefs, and I don't think it's funny," David said again after listening to the laughter of the people from the Tuffin family inside the Milky Way Battleship.

"As expected of an aboriginal! You can't change your aboriginal nature even if you're a Stellar Ranker. How naive. In this world where the weak are prey to the strong and the strong are respected, I have to say that you really are something else," Adan sarcastically.

"You can call me weird or naive, but I will only continue to follow my philosophy and persistence. So what if you have a high status? So what if you're strong? Pavan was the eldest son of your family, and his status was high, right? At the end of the day, he also has a life. He'll disappear forever after I kill him. What's the difference between him and ordinary people? No matter how powerful and awesome your family is, can you bring him back to life?" David said ironically.

The scene became quiet.

Whether it was the powerhouses from Earth or the Tuffin family's people in the Milky Way Battleship, it never occurred to them that David would dare to speak to the Tuffin family, one of the eight prominent families of the Milky Way Empire, like this.

After learning the identities of these people, Mason and the rest were scared out of their minds.

David dared to speak like this in the face of this super force.

Could it be that he knew he was doomed and was just throwing the handle after the blade?

They looked at David and saw his expressionless face.

They could not tell what David was thinking.

“Earthling, you are pretty bad*ss since you dare to talk to me like that. Do you know who I am? We can’t resurrect Pav, but... We can avenge him. Now, I declare that 10 billion people on earth will be slaughtered and made into burial offerings from the eldest son of the Tuffin family. As for the rest, they will become slaves of my family and serve us for generations until the last human being on Earth goes extinct,” Adan said indifferently.

Lord Adan from the Tuffin family, a mid–Cosmos Ranker, was genuinely mad.

Even in the heart of the Milky Way galaxy, Adan’s strength stood at the very top.

Moreover, there was huge supporting force behind the Tuffin family.

The Grandmaster of the Tuffin family was still alive!

Just the remaining power of this Grandmaster had deterred many forces from the Milky Way Empire. At this point, no one dared to do anything to the Tuffin family.

Now, Adan was ridiculed by an indigenous human being on the edge of the Milky Way.

How could Adan not be angry?

The consequences of his anger were severe.

He initially did not want to kill so many people on Earth, but now he had changed his mind.

He had to use ten billion human lives on Earth to restore the dignity of the Tuffin family.

Mason and the others immediately became tense and prepared to act at any second.

Even if they were at a disadvantage, they would still fight.

“Slaughter ten billion human beings on Earth to become burial offerings for Pavan? And we will be slaves of your family for generations until the last human being on Earth goes extinct? I want to ask where the Tuffin family gets the guts to do this.”

“What a joke! You’re just an indigenous living planet. Even if the Earth is completely wiped out, so what? It just so happens that it’s still useful to keep you around. If not, I’d have already directly destroyed the Earth. Next, I’ll show you if I dare to do this or not! Prepare the Level Three Magnetic Cannon! Teach these ignorant earthlings a profound lesson, and let them know the consequences of offending the Tuffin family!

After Adan said that, a rumble could be heard.

The Milky Way Battleship began charging.

Magnetic cannons were more powerful than laser cannons.

They were also special weapons equipped on the Milky Way Battleship.

The Level Three Magnetic Cannon was the least powerful of the bunch.

If they used the Level One Magnetic Cannon, they could destroy the Earth in just one shot.

Both magnetic cannons and laser cannons were powerful weapons.

However, weapons of this type had one flaw.

They needed time to build up energy.

They could not be launched at will. Mason and the others all looked at David nervously.

They hoped he had some way to stop it.

Otherwise, the human population Earth would suffer heavy casualties.

Just when the magnetic cannon was about to finish charging, David spoke.

“You must think clearly. The Earth has become a high-class citizen planet of the Milky Way Empire, and the Milky Way Empire now protects it. Do you think the Tuffin family can withstand the monstrous wrath of the Milky Way Empire after you launch the cannon? Don't sacrifice the whole Tuffin family so freely.”

‘What?’

When David said this, the Tuffin family in the Milky Way Battleship was frightened.

A magnetic cannon operator used his quaking hand to stop the magnetic cannon that was about to finish charging.

A high-class citizen planet in the Milky Way Empire?

'This is the highest right granted by the Milky Way Empire.

'Anyone who dares to do anything to this kind of planet without an appropriate reason will be severely punished by the Milky Way Empire.

'Even the Tuffin family, one of the eight prominent families of the Milky Way Empire, would have to pay a great price if they do something to this planet for no reason.

This chapter is provided by . Visit for daily update.

The price they have to pay will be greater than the value of Earth.

Everyone in the Milky Way Battleship was looking at Lord Adan of the Tuffin family.

Everyone here listened to him.

"Are you f*cking kidding me? Tell me how the hell a newly discovered indigenous living planet became a high-class citizen planet of the Milky Way Empire."

Adan could not help but swear.

If this were the case, then things would be difficult.

His mission to plant a slave mark on Earth would fail.

The Milky Way Empire would only allow someone to destroy a planet or even a portion of their population with justifiable reason.

However, they would never allow someone to plant a slave mark on the planet.

This was the Milky Way Empire's bottom line.

"You can check on the Internet to see if I'm joking or whether the Milky Way Empire has registered Earth as a high-class citizen planet," David said with a chuckle.

Inside the control room of the Milky Way Battleship.

Adan looked at David for a while and barked, "Look it up!"

"Yes, Lord Adan!"

After a while...

"I found it, Lord Adan!"

"What is it?"

“According to the information, Earth has been registered by the Milky Way Empire three months ago and has become a high class citizen planet of the Milky Way Empire.”

“Bastards!” Adan roared.

No wonder the earthlings dared to speak to him that way.

It seemed that they had this trump card. Earth had become the Milky Way Empire’s high-class citizen planet, so it was no longer unowned.

Adan could not plant a slave mark on this planet anymore.

If not, the Tuffin family would not be able to handle the consequences when the Milky Way Empire found out about this.

The Milky Way Empire never recognized the slave mark because it was too cruel. Yet, various forces would still plant it in secret.

Once a mark was planted, all lives on this planet would become the planter’s slaves, and their talents would also be slowly absorbed.

Furthermore, the mark would be there forever until all the living things on the planet became extinct.

Most importantly, if the act of planting slave marks happened too frequently, an uncontrollable situation might develop since it could slowly absorb talents.

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 940

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 940

The Milky Way Empire was also afraid that there would be external forces that could threaten them.

Hence, they absolutely prohibited slave marks on the surface.

However, they would turn a blind eye if it were planted on an indigenous living planet that was just discovered.

If one were to plant a slave mark on Earth, a high–class citizen planet just registered by the Milky Way Empire, they would be challenging the Milky Way Empire’s bottom line.

No one had ever dared to do that.

Even if the two forces were at war, the Milky Way Empire would never allow the winning side to plant a slave mark on the losing party.

Adan could not wrap his head around this.

'How did an indigenous planet that's only a level 0.7 civilization do this?

'Becoming a high-class citizen planet of the Milky Way Empire would take a lot of money.

'Plus, the time frame was not right either.

'Three months ago?

'That is when Pav's life plaque was broken.'

"Lord Adan, what should we do now?" Nine asked.

Nine was pissed.

He thought he could take off but fell to the ground before even starting

This huge disparity caused the new head of the younger generation of the Tuffin family to be filled with rage. However, he did not have anywhere to vent his anger, so he could only keep everything inside.

"Nine, there might be a change to our plan. You should know that with the current situation, it is impossible for us to plant slave marks on the Earth anymore. Otherwise, the Tuffin family won't be able to bear the anger of the Milky Way Empire. Also, the Dallarosa family has been eyeing us and waiting for a chance to replace us in becoming one of the eight prominent families of the Milky Way Empire. Right now, we must not give them this chance," Adan calmed down and said.

"But... Should we just forget this? Pavan died by their hands," Nine asked unwillingly.

"Forget it? No way. Since we can't get them, we should just destroy them," Adan said in a deep voice.

"But in this case, what will we say if the Milky Way Empire investigates the matter?"

“What will we say? A direct descendant of our family was killed, what else? As long as we don’t touch the empire’s bottom line and plant the slave mark. They won’t care about a war between two forces. The Tuffin family has lost a direct descendant, and it is only natural for us to come to take revenge,” Adan said with a gloomy face.

The main purpose of his visit to Earth this time was to have Nine plant a slave mark on Earth.

Then, with Nine’s extremely high talent, he would surely lead the Tuffin family to continue to stabilize their position as one of the eight prominent families in the future such they could reach even greater heights.

However, it seemed impossible to plant a slave mark now.

The Tuffin family did not dare to violate the bottom line of the Milky Way Empire.

So, they could destroy Earth in the name of revenge for the eldest son of the Tuffin family, Pavan.

This mission was a complete failure.

David was actually been too simple-minded on this matter.

He thought that the Earth would be protected once it became a high-class citizen planet of the Milky Way Empire.

He thought he could make all forces who wanted to take action against Earth retreat.

Although the Milky Way Empire officials said this would be the case, it was obviously inaccurate.

Strictly speaking, Earth becoming a high-class citizen planet in the Milky Way Empire would only prevent other forces from planting slave marks on Earth.

It would not guarantee the safety of the Earth.

The Milky Way Empire governed millions of living planets in the Milky Way, but they would not stop internal forces from fighting.

However, the aggressor would need to give a reasonable explanation for their actions

The eldest son of the Tuffin family, Pavan, died on Earth. Therefore, the Tuffin family sent people to destroy the Earth as an act of revenge.

This explanation worked.

The Milky Way Empire would not pursue the matter at all.

Plus, the rules were made by the strong in this world, and it only ever applied to the weak.

It was simply impossible to restrain those who stood on top of the pyramid.
