

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 983

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 983

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 983

This was because human life expectancy had increased dramatically in the heart of the Milky Way. Those under the age of 100 were called youth.

People like David, who was in his twenties and not even thirty, were just adolescents. It was pretty scary to be at partial Universe Realm when one was in their twenties. David had to lie about his age, saying he was seventy or eighty. Mia did not doubt him. Even though it was still scary for people in their seventies or eighties to be in partial Universe Realm, it was still within the acceptable range. If David told Mia the truth, Mia's jaw would be on the floor. A twentysomething peak Cosmos Ranker? No such person had appeared in the recorded history of hundreds of thousands of years in the entire Milky Way. While David and the others were on their way to Planet Boundless, inside a luxurious complex on an unknown planet at the center of the Milky Way. "Is there no news yet?" A man with an impressive appearance asked. "Master, not yet," an old butler said from the side. "What about Planet Boundless? Is there any news of Mia?" "No." "There are only two possibilities then. One is that they've captured Mia successfully, but they've stood me up because they want to have Mia all to themselves, so they ran away with her. Another is that they've failed and don't dare to contact me. Either they died, or they ran away. Heathcliffe, which do you think it is?" The man who was addressed as Master asked. "Master, I think they most probably failed, and it was a complete wipe-out," Heathcliffe answered.

"Reason?" IN "Even though the space pirates are dangerous people who live on the edge daily, this doesn't mean they're not scared of death. If they offend you, there might be something scarier than death waiting for them, so they won't dare to do that. Hence, even if they failed, they would immediately report the reason if they were still alive. They wouldn't dare to flee, so there's only one possibility: they're all dead." "That makes sense. What went wrong then? Mia can't fight back with her level, and judging from her character, she wouldn't abandon those women who've been with her for so many years. In the end, she'd only surrender obediently. This plan was absolutely flawless, so what went wrong?" "Perhaps Mia got lucky, and someone coincidentally saved her." 1 111 L "This is another possibility. This person must be pretty strong if he could save Mia. Heathcliffe, make the preparations and follow me to Planet Boundless. Burke values prestige the most and has invited many people, so Mia definitely knows this. I'm sure she would go to Planet Boundless if she's still alive. If not, her family will be doomed if she embarrasses Burke in front of so many reputable people and angers him. I want to see who's so courageous to ruin my plan." After the man said that, his eyes glistened with a hint of murderous intent. He had been waiting for a long time for a chance to execute this plan. However, someone had ruined it. Even though Mia did not have any powerful backer behind her, she was still one of the four fairies. Hence, she was pursued by many youngsters in the Milky Way. Even the older generation admired her. This young man would not dare to risk universal condemnation to dominate Mia by force. Therefore, he could only find a chance to do this in secret. He would not get a lot of chances to stop Mia outside the Milky Way's core. If he failed this time, he would not know when he would have such a chance again. Moreover, Mia would surely be more vigilant next time. He would definitely make this nosy person suffer unimaginable consequences. "Yes, Master!" After Heathcliffe answered respectfully, he turned to make arrangements.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 984

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 984

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 984

Half a month later, the Octagon had almost arrived at Planet Boundless after traveling for so long. After entering the Milky Way's core, David also encountered more and more spaceships and flying vessels.

However, they did not run into any accidents along their journey. The security level at the core of the Milky Way was still relatively high. Space pirates could only wander outside the core but dared not enter the core to commit any crimes. Plus, not everyone could use an Octagon. Most people would run away when they spotted it. So, David and the Octagon's journey went basically unimpeded. As they got closer and closer to Planet Boundless, David and the others also encountered other Octagons, and even Milky Way Battleships. They should be heading to Planet Boundless to celebrate Burke's breakthrough to Universe Realm. After more than ten days of interaction, Mia also had a certain understanding of David. This person was very different from the direct descendants of the major forces she had seen before. First of all, David did not seem to have much interest in her. Even when the two were alone, he would only ask her about some important information regarding the layout of the Milky Way. He would even look at her with clear eyes. There would only be admiration and no traces of lust in his eyes. Hence, he never teased her brazenly or indirectly. This was Mia's first time meeting such a man since she became one of the four fairies. She was wondering if David was a normal man. How could he be so unmoved meeting the goddess of the Milky Way? Mia had seen too many pairs of eyes overflowing with lust and desire. As she was gradually getting used to that feeling, she suddenly met a man looking at her with clear eyes without a trace of lust. Hence, she started to examine herself. She wondered if she was not good enough. This was the usual psychology of a woman. If one wanted to get her attention, one needed to be different. Of course, David did not mean this at all. The only thing in his mind was to upgrade as soon as possible to solve the Earth's crisis. It would be best if he could eradicate the Tuffin family and get things done once and for all. However, it would not be easy to deal with Grandmaster Tuffin, a magnate who had been alive for millennia. Even though David did not feel anything for Mia, Mia was becoming more interested in David. David had a good temper, temperament, appearance, strength, background, and so on. Meanwhile, Mia valued a good-tempered man the most. She could not stand the temper of most of the direct descendants from major families. Some of them were irascible and violent, especially with the way they treated their servants. It was common for them to scold or beat their servants. Some of the servants were even tortured and killed after making a mistake. Mia looked down on people like this the most. She would disqualify them no matter how powerful and high their statuses were. She herself would often treat the people around her like her sister. Mia would not punish them if they did not make principled mistakes. Because of this, the women around Mia were very loyal to her and would be willing to die for her during critical moments. Even though the Milky Way was enormous and there were many people living in it, finding a good employer was still a very challenging task.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 985

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 985

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 985

"Mia, we should be arriving at Planet Boundless soon, right?" David asked Mia, who was sitting across from him.

“Master David, we will arrive in three more days,” Mia replied. “Mia, tell me about Planet Boundless and Burke.” “Sure! After Mia answered, she thought for a moment, organized her train of thought, and said, “Planet Boundless is one of the Milky Way Empire’s high civilization planet. It’s enormous and very prosperous. “As for Lord Burke Lutgen, he should be close to 200 years old, and he’s very powerful. He just broke through from partial Universe Realm to Universe Realm not long ago, so now, he is a beginner Cosmos Ranker. His father, Ramos Lutgen, is an important figure in the Milky Way Empire’s military. “But I don’t actually like Burke. This is mainly because he has a cruel temperament. He has developed many kinds of torture methods by himself and finds joy in torturing humans and animals. He loves finding joy in other people’s pain.

Moreover, he is also someone who will seek revenge for the smallest grievance, and he values his prestige a lot.” “If you don’t like this, why are you going to help him celebrate?” David asked with some doubts. “Master David, you have no idea how difficult it is for someone like me who lacks a powerful background to refuse the big shots’ invitations. Doing so will not only embarrass the other party, but it will also bring disaster to the people around me. So, even though I look fabulous on the surface, most of the time, I have no choice,” Mia said with a wry smile. David talked to Mia for so many days, and he already had a general understanding of the situation of the Milky Way. This was actually the same as Earth that had been expanded a few times over. Mia was equivalent to a famous international celebrity on Earth. Although countless people loved and admired her, she was just like a clown to those who held absolute power. As Adan once said, the rules of the Milky Way Empire were made by the strong and would only apply to those at the bottom, and the world where ordinary people and martial artists were equal that David envisioned was nearly impossible unless he created it himself. “Burke only invited you out of the four fairies?” David asked. “Yes, only I was invited because there’s a high chance that Burke wouldn’t even be able to get the other three to agree. Thus, he won’t even try to spare himself from the embarrassment.” David understood. Among the four fairies in the Milky Way galaxy, the other three had strong backers, while Dance Fairy Mia was the only one who did not. That was why she had no choice and could not refuse the invitation of these big shots. David also began thinking that since he had seen Dance Fairy Mia among the four fairies, and she did indeed live up to her reputation, the other three fairies should be pretty good as well. 1 They might even be better than Mia. It would surely be mind-blowing if he had a chance to gather all four fairies to perform. It was a pity that the other three could not be hired through money. Otherwise, David would be willing to spend as much as possible. Seeing the four performing together was trivial, his goal was the massive influx of lavish points. If he succeeded, he would not need to waste effort thinking about how he should spend money. A collaboration between the four fairies would give him plenty of lavish points and save him a lot of time. When the time came, he would ask Mia to keep this secret for him, and then he could just hide behind the scenes. He could hide his identity and get lavish points from spending money. Thus, David asked, “Mia, do you think I can hire all four fairies for a performance?” Mia was amazed when she heard that. Then, she asked, feeling a little unsure, “Master David, are you saying you want all four of us to gather to perform for you?” “Yes, but I’m wondering if it’s possible. Don’t worry, Mia. I’ll compensate you all no matter how much it will take. As long as it’s successful, I’ll give you a huge sum after it’s done,” David said expectantly.

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 986

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 986

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 986

After confirming David’s idea, Mia was in disbelief. It seemed that Master David only knew about cultivation and was not concerned about the outside world at all.

He actually wanted to gather the four fairies in the Milky Way and get them to perform for him. Mia had to say that this idea was a little bit insane. “Master David, it’s not a matter of money. Do you know who Astrid Barlowe, the head of the four fairies, is?” Mia asked with a wry smile. “Who?” David asked. He had no idea who Astrid was. He had only heard about the four fairies after meeting Mia. “Astrid is the princess of the Milky Way Empire and a member of the royal family. Do you think she is someone you can invite with money? There are not many people in the entire galaxy who can invite such a character, even the heads of the major forces have to respectfully address Astrid as princess when they see her.” “The princess of the Milky Way Empire?” David was also taken aback. He did not expect Astrid, the head of the four fairies, to have such a strong background. ‘I don’t think I can invite a person of this status with all the money I have in the system, “This kind of person wouldn’t care about money at all.’ David shook his head in disappointment. ‘It seems this plan is not going to work.’ “I see. I haven’t paid attention to any news recently, so I’ve embarrassed myself in front of you.” “Master David, you can’t say that. It’s because you don’t care about the world and are so focused on your cultivation that you have your current achievements,” Mia immediately complimented David. The two talked about other topics. Three days passed in a blink of an eye. David and Mia were standing in the observation room as they looked at the huge planet with an intense halo in the distance. This was Planet Boundless. It was big and beautiful. The planet’s volume was estimated to be at least 10,000 times that of the Earth. This was the first time David had seen such a large living planet. Only the sun was larger than Planet Boundless within the solar system. The Octagon slowed down as it slowly approached Planet Boundless. Soon, they came across a vessel patrolling the outer space of Planet Boundless. The patrolling vessel parked in front of the Octagon and said something “Who’s on this ship? Please report your name. We are the patrol team under Lord Burke of Planet Boundless, and I have been ordered to carry out the patrol mission here.” David looked at Mia beside him and motioned for her to answer. “I’m Mia Concord, and Lord Burke has invited me to celebrate his breakthrough to Universe Realm,” Mia replied. “Oh, it’s the Dance Fairy. My apologies for offending you. Please don’t take this to heart, Please come with me.” When the people on the patrolling vessel finished speaking, they led the way and the Octagon followed. The Octagon slowly descended on Planet Boundless and followed the patrolling vessel. After the patrolling vessel determined Mia’s identity, they reported the news to Planet Boundless while showing Mia the way. “Patrolling Vessel 1758 reporting to the main tower. Dance Fairy Mia will arrive on Planet Boundless in about two hours.”