I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1017

How could a chamber of commerce be established just because someone wanted to? Starting a chamber of commerce required great strength and huge wealth.

A chamber of commerce had to have someone at least in Universe Realm to avoid being targeted by other forces.

Otherwise, the chamber of commerce would soon belong to others no matter how much wealth it had.

"Mia, it's a deal then.

After the banquet on Planet Boundless is over, we will go to the most prosperous part of the Milky Way.

I will pay the money at that time, and you will contribute your effort.

Let's set up a chamber of commerce to fool around.

I won't ask you to make a lot of money, but I think a chamber of commerce will be pretty interesting," David said.

"Okay! I've no reason to disagree since you've said so, Master David.

However, you can't blame me when you lose money," Mia responded with a smile.

While the two were chatting happily...

Bang! The courtyard gate was kicked open, and Fergus walked in with a grim face.

David looked at Fergus with a hostile look in his eyes.

'What's up with this brat?' "What are you doing here, Master Fergus?" Mia asked.

"What am I doing here? Of course, I'm here to do you!" Fergus said through gritted teeth.

"Master Fergus, you..." Mia could not say a single word to retort him.

She had never imagined Fergus, who had always been polite in front of her, to blurt out something so crass.

Was this still the same Master Fergus, the modest gentleman?

“Mia, I’m going to be honest with you.

I come here today to f*ck you.

So? Are you surprised? Do you think I’m different from before? Do I look like a different person to you?” Fergus continued.

Mia stared blankly at Fergus without speaking.

Of course, she was at a complete loss of words.

She had not come back to her senses until now.

“Listen, Mia, you forced me to do this.

Ask yourself, how did I treat you all these years? Huh? I’d always go to your every performance.

Because of you, I even told everyone that if anyone dares to cause trouble, they’ll be causing trouble to me, Fergus Callisto.

Do you know how many people I offended? And look what happened now.

Not only are you lukewarm to me, you even come to this kid’s place every day.

Do you think I’m dead? How long have you two known each other? You should just move in together!”

Fergus rattled on, and Mia finally understood.

Fergus might have thought that she had done something inappropriate with David, so he had come to criticize her.

However, since it had come to this, she should clear it up with him.

She turned to look at David, and he looked as calm as always.

Mia never felt that David was nervous, even when he was facing Fergus and Burke.

This was Mia’s dream man.

Unlike Fergus, who pretended to be a noble man on the surface but in reality, was a petty and narrow-minded person.

LV

“Master Fergus, I’m so sorry.

I am grateful for everything you’ve done for me, but you’re not my type.

So please, stop wasting time on me.

Thank you!” After Mia said that, she stood up and bowed to Fergus.

“Mia, you’re too naive.

Do you think a bow and a show of gratitude can make up for the sacrifices I’ve made for you all these years? What do you take me for? Am I so cheap?” Fergus said, anger rising in his chest.

What Mia said just did not completely ignite the anger in his heart.

He never thought Mia would say something so cruel.

Mia would never dare to do this back then.

Now that she had a pretty boy to rely on, she was not interested in Fergus anymore.

‘What a pair of reckless adulterous swine!’ “What should I do to satisfy you, Master Fergus? Please stop pestering me,” Mia asked.

“What? You think I’m pestering you now that you’ve got yourself a pretty boy? Haha! Fine, Mia, if you want to draw a line between us, you must accept my requirement.”

“What is it?” Mia asked.

Even if she could guess what it was, she still asked him because she still held a glimmer of hope.

As long as Fergus’ requirement was not the one she was thinking of, she could still consider it.

“Before I tell you, I have to ask you something, and you must answer me honestly. Only then will I tell you what it is.” “Please go ahead.” “Are you still a virgin now?” ‘Um...

Mia did not answer immediately.

Instead, she looked at David beside her and noticed he still looked calm as always.

“Even though I’ve interacted with many men throughout all these years, and many people are eying me, I always mind my business and keep out of trouble.

I’ve never had intimate relations with anyone, so I am still a virgin.

Also, I kept my first kiss because I wanted to wait for a man I love so I can give both to him and spend the rest of my life with him,” Mia said firmly.

She did not say this to Fergus.

Instead, she was saying this to David because, in her heart, David was the one she was waiting for.

When David heard what Mia said, he turned his head to look at her in confusion.

Coincidentally, Mia also turned her head to look at David.

Their eyes met.

“The look in Mia’s eyes looks familiar.

I seem to have seen it somewhere.’ David recalled it.

‘Isn’t this the same look Selena gave me last time?’

Damn!

‘What on Earth is going on?’

‘I still haven’t handled my complicated relationship with the women back on Earth and now here comes another one? ‘What should I do?’ David genuinely felt that after he got the system, he seemed to have gotten very lucky with the ladies.

‘Forget the ones on Earth, let’s talk about the one in the Milky Way.

‘I encountered Mia getting chased and saved her, but if this is the case, wouldn’t it be better to save a man? ‘Not only did I save a woman, but the woman was also a peerless beauty.

'It seems that none of the women around me are unattractive.

In the end, David pushed all the blame onto the system.

'Why are you named super lavish system? 'You should change your name to the f*cking super romance system.' While David let his imaginations run wild, he was interrupted by a loud laugh.

"Hahaha!"

Fergus was laughing carefreely.

"Alright, Mia.

You better think this through.

You should accompany me for a week, and you can't say no to anything I want to do to you during that week.

Also, you must cooperate with me willingly.

After that one week, we'll go our separate ways, and we won't owe each other anything," Fergus said excitedly.

He did not think that Mia was still a virgin, and even kept her first kiss.

This was very favorable to him.

As Fergus looked at Mia's graceful figure and seductive red lips, a lewd and evil smile spread at the corners of his mouth.

Mia sighed in her heart.

Indeed, it was just like she imagined.

Fergus was after her body, and he wanted to dominate her.

He was only putting on a show when he was in front of her back then.

This was the real him.

"I'm sorry, Master Fergus. I can't agree with that I told you I want to leave myself for the man I love, and you're not him.

So, please change your request," Mia rejected.

"You don't get to choose today.

Mia, you should just accept like a good girl.

If you cooperate with me, I might be gentle with you.

If not, don't blame me for not being tender and protective of you," Fergus said with a lewd grin.

"Master Fergus, please watch yourself.

I will not agree.

You should just give up," Mia answered, her beautiful face turning dark.

Indeed, she was wrong back then.

She did not think that Fergus would say something so explicit.

He was such a scumbag.

"Oh? Really? Is David the man you love? When I break all of his limbs and force him to watch me f*ck you, I'll see if you feel ashamed then." "You...

You're shameless..." Mia pointed at Fergus and said with a shaky voice.

"There will be more shameless things later." After Fergus said that, he ignored Mia and said to David, "Hey, kid.

Do you want to break your limbs yourself, or should I help you? If you want me to do it, I might not control myself, and it won't be good if I hurt your head." "Master Fergus, this has nothing to do with Master David.

Please don't bring him into this.

Please don't bring him into this.

I haven't met the man I love.

You're just not suitable for me, so I rejected you.

This really has nothing to do with him," Mia said nervously.

Fergus did not seem to be in a stable state now, so Mia could not let him drag David into this.

Even though Mia could not see through David, she did not think David had the strength to fight Fergus, a top ranked direct descendant of the Callisto family.

"No? I haven't done anything, and you're already so concerned about him.

Also, you come here every day to talk to him.

So, you're clearly a pair of adulterous swine who haven't got the chance to get into bed together.

However, you won't get the chance anymore." "Master Fergus, you've misunderstood.

Master David saved me.

If it weren't for him, I would have died by the hands of the space pirates.

That's why I come to him every day.

I only want to thank him and nothing else." "Mia, listen to me.

Even if David didn't save you, you wouldn't have died either," Fergus said suddenly.

"What do you mean?" Mia questioned.

"We will all die soon anyway, so let me tell you the truth, Mia.

I was the one who sent the space pirates.

Even if David didn't save you, the space pirates would have still brought you to me.

I would have then locked you up and made you my slave forever, exclusive only to me," Fergus roared.

He had thrown caution to the wind, so what if Mia knew?

He would have to force himself on her later anyway, and they did not have much time left.

The entire Planet Boundless would be destroyed by the Sangruil Sinners that could annihilate a team of palace guards in less than two hours, let alone a week.

"You...

You...

You scoundrel! You're shameless! You scum!" Mia pointed at Fergus with a shaky finger and hurled abuses at him through her tears.

She figured that someone had hired the space pirate.

She had thought of many suspects, Fergus was not one of them.

If Fergus did not tell her, she might have never guessed it.

Fergus' behavior today had changed everything Mia knew about him.

At the same time, Fergus boggled David's mind.

David looked at Fergus, who was on the brink of madness.

No wonder Fergus looked like he wanted to kill David when they first met.

It was because David had ruined his plan.

David also noticed something.

'Fergus seemed to say that we will all die soon anyway, but what does that mean? 'Was that statement the reason Fergus went mad?' When David wanted to ask, Fergus spoke again.

"Go on! Yell at me! Yell at me all you want! You can't escape today, Mia.

I will get you no matter what.

You can only belong to me, Fergus Callisto!" Mia looked at Fergus with tears in her eyes.

Fergus had turned a blind eye to David when he came in, and he was not bothered by David at all.

It was as if David was his prey, and he was allowed to ride roughshod over him.

Furthermore, David was very cooperative, and he never said anything throughout the entire process.

David wanted to see what Fergus wanted to do.

When they were at this point, David finally understood.

Basically, Fergus had a fallout with Mia, so he wanted to kill David and take Mia as his own.

To be honest, David felt helpless as well.

He got himself into such huge trouble after randomly saving a person.

Now, he had gotten into trouble with the Callisto family before he could settle debts with the Tuffin family.

Also, the Callisto family was much more powerful than the Tuffin family.

They were not on the same level at all.

After all, the Callisto family was ranked second among the eight prominent families, so how could the Tuffin family, who was ranked last, compare to them? However, David would not turn a blind eye to this right now.

Mia was a significant figure in David's future money spending plans.

Therefore, he could not let anything bad happen to her for now.

Also, Fergus said he wanted to kill David, so David could not back out now, right? Trouble seemed to always come in pairs.

He understood that if he had the strength, so what if he offended all eight prominent families of the Milky Way Empire?

Right now, whoever was the strongest was respected, and the ones who would make the rules.

Besides, he was a peak Celestial Ranker but was being pointed and scolded at by a beginner Cosmos Ranker.

Could he take this lying down? "Are you done?" David asked Fergus.

"What?" Fergus was confused.

"Get out if you're done.

Don't stay here and affect my mood." "W-What did you say?" Fergus asked in disbelief.

"I said..."

David stood up and started cursing.

"Get the f*ck out when you're done.

Don't stand here and f*cking affect my mood.

If not, I'll kill you." Mia looked at David in astoundment.

Fergus was also shocked after David yelled at him.

As a direct descendant of the Callisto family, this was the first time someone scolded him like that after living for more than a century.

Furthermore, that person was also an ant to him.

Because of this, he could not return to his senses for the time being.

"You're asking to die!" Fergus suddenly flew into a fit of rage and charged at David.

Boom! He emitted his beginner Cosmos Rank energy, and the entire courtyard began shaking under Fergus' terrifying power.

Mia could feel this clearly.

She was shocked by Fergus's energy, and her entire body went ice cold at that moment.

'Oh no! Oh no! Fergus is mad! What should I do?'

Now, their only hope was Lord Burke from Planet Boundless.

He was the one who would stop all this.

If not, they would not be able to escape this calamity.

When Fergus got next to David, he had fully emitted his peak beginner Cosmos Rank energy.

As he was about to cripple David, a hand appeared before him without being affected by his strong energy.

Then, before Fergus realized what was happening, the hand grabbed his neck.

'Ugh!'

Fergus suddenly felt like he was suffocating.

Next, terrifying dark energy came from this hand and enveloped his entire body.

It immediately destroyed all the organs inside Fergus's body but did not kill him instantly.
