Gold Imperial Star in the Royal Region is the home of the Golden Eagle Bounty Group, ranked third in the Milky Way.

At this time, the Golden Eagle Bounty Group was holding an internal meeting.

"Captain, should we capture David, ranked 98 on the most wanted list? It's making a lot of noise in the bounty hunter world," someone asked.

"Originally, since we had just returned from hunting two adult Star Pythons, we should let everyone rest for a while to recover from their injuries.

Although David is ranked 98th on the most wanted list, he has limited value to the Golden Eagle Bounty Group.

We should not participate as per reason, but after David came to the Royal Region, capturing him this time was no longer a matter of value but a game between several bounty hunter groups.

If we don't join in, the outside world will think we are cowardly, thus negatively affecting our reputation."

A middle-aged man sitting on the main seat said, He was Elio Aureliano, captain of the Golden Eagle Bounty Group.

"Then let's f*ck him up! The Golden Eagle Bounty Group has never been afraid of anyone!"

"Yes, let's f*ck him up! I'll go and make arrangements.

David will be in the Royal Region soon, so we can't fall behind."

"Wait! The ones with injuries should just stay home and recuperate," Elio said.

"Okay, we got it, Captain." The same thing was happening elsewhere.

Several bounty hunter groups in the Royal Region were discussing the capture of David, including the first and second-ranked bounty hunter groups.

In the end, everyone reached the same conclusion.

Capturing David was nothing, the important thing was the reputation of their bounty hunter group.

They could not afford to be looked down upon by the outside world.

Therefore, everyone unanimously decided to capture David.

For the next few days, all the bounty hunter groups in the Royal Region were dispatched to the surroundings of the Royal Region, where David was about to arrive.

They were all ready and waiting for David to arrive.

The movement of these bounty hunter groups also alarmed countless forces in the Royal Region.

They were all sending people to the location where the incident was about to take place to join in the fun, leading to more and more people rushing over.

Meanwhile, David had no idea about this.

He was still living leisurely daily while watching the two fairies perform for him.

Then, he would buy the information he wanted to obtain from the Meteor Chamber.

Although he would not get many lavish points, no matter how tiny a mosquito was, it is still meat! Moreover, he could also pass it.

Ten days passed quickly.

When David's Octagon arrived outside the Royal Region, everyone in the Octagon's control room was stunned.

'W-What's going on?' They saw countless ships parked in the void in the distance as if waiting for their arrival.

There were black-horned ships, Octagons, Milky Way Battleships, and even a few Galaxy Warships.

'Is there going to be a war? 'Who is at war with whom?

'Are they going the wrong way? 'Did we wander into a battle between two big forces that is about to go off?' If the other party misidentified them, their Octagon would be turned into a beautiful firework in the void if the Milky Way Battleship decided to fire at them.

In addition to that, they would also be killed.

“H-Hurry, go tell Master David about this,” the commander of the Octagon stammered.

His clothes were drenched with sweat.

Bean-sized sweat droplets were rolling down his forehead.

“Y-Yes!” A staff member ran frantically out of the control room to notify David.

At this moment, David was having tea while chatting with the two fairies in the living room.

Astrid looked a little dejected these two days.

They were about to arrive at the Royal Region.

In other words, she would soon part with David, causing her to be in a bad mood these days. “David, Mia, you must come to Planet Royal to visit me,” Astrid said reluctantly.

“Don’t worry, Astrid. We will,” Mia replied.

“Yes, we will,” David replied.

At this moment, they heard a sound.

Thud! They saw a staff member of the Octagon barge into the door before falling to the ground.

Then, he got up quickly, knelt on the ground, and stammered, “M-M- Master David, bad news!”

“Why are you panicking? Get up and tell me,” David reprimanded.

Mia and Astrid also looked curiously at the man kneeling on the ground.

“M-Master David, t-there are many battleships in front of us.

They’re densely packed, as if they are waiting for us,” said the person who barged through the door.

“Okay, I get it, don’t worry.

You may go now,” David said calmly.

David was wondering what was going on.

These should be the people the empire sent to pick up Princess Astrid, but his staff were terrified.

They were indeed inexperienced.

“Huh?” The person was a little stunned.

‘Master David doesn’t seem nervous at all.

Does he know why those ships are here?’ “Don’t worry! I know why those ships are here.

They won’t do anything to us.

Just continue moving forward,” David added.

“Yes, Master David.

I will convey your instructions right now.” After this person left, David looked at Astrid and said, “Your Royal Highness, don’t worry! When we are done with our own business, we will go to Planet Royal to find you.

The people sent to pick you up have already arrived, and we will send you there right now.” “D-David, I-I’m sorry....

I haven’t told my father when I’ll arrive, and I haven’t called anyone to pick me up.

So, I don’t think those ships are here for me,” Astrid whispered.

She did not tell her father when she would arrive at the Royal Region because she wanted David to send her back to Planet Royal.

Hence, she lied to David and said someone from the Royal Region would pick her up.

Now that they were outside the Royal Region, this lie was naturally self-defeating.

“What?” David asked with wide eyes.

“David, I wanted you to send me back to Planet Royal, so I didn’t tell my father I was in the Royal Region.

I don't think the ships are here for me," Astrid looked at David and said aggrievedly.

"Really?" David asked seriously, looking at Astrid.

"Sorry, David!" Astrid's tears of grievance were about to escape her eyes.

David looked at Astrid speechlessly.

'I didn't say anything, so why are you feeling aggrieved? 'If I say anything more, she might burst into tears, judging from her expression now.' David shook his head helplessly and comforted, "It's fine.

I don't blame you." "Really?" Astrid lifted her head immediately and asked in surprise.

"Yeah. I don't blame you. Let's go and see what those ships want." David got up to leave after he said that Astrid quickly followed behind him while Mia was the last one to leave.

She was not worried about the purpose of the ships in front of them.

This was the Royal Region, and the emperor's most beloved Princess Astrid was with them.

David first walked into the Octagon's control room, followed by Astrid and Mia.

"Master David!"

Everyone in the control room greeted David respectfully.

"Hey." David responded and looked in front of the control room.

Seeing this, even David was a little shocked.

He saw the densely packed battleships parked in the void in front of them.

They were so numerous that they were almost obscuring the rest of the void.

'What's going on? 'If they're not here for Princess Astrid, why are they here?' Moreover, David's strong mind power felt that the atmosphere seemed a little off.

Mia was instantly scared stiff.

She had never seen such an event before.

She was scared even though she knew that no one would dare to do anything if they realized that Princess Astrid was around.

She thought there would only be a few ships, but why were so many of them there? There were at least tens of thousands of ships, big and small.

Since there were so many ships here, was there going to be a war? Mia also shared the same thoughts as everyone else.

'Did we wander into a battle between two big forces?'

Only Astrid remained calm in the entire control room of the Octagon.

She was Princess Astrid from the Milky Way Empire after all.

Although this was the first time she had witnessed such a scene, it did not frighten her.

It was because Astrid was taught by her father, Emperor Nimbus, from a young age that their family ruled the entire Milky Way.

No one dared to disobey the Barlowe family's orders.

Besides, Emperor Nimbus was number one in the Milky Way.

Astrid was his favorite daughter, so no one in the Milky Way would dare to take action against her, except for the Sangruil Sinners, who had popped up recently.

These people had intense hatred toward the Milky Way Empire, and they despised the Barlowe family even more.

As long as there was a chance, they would definitely not spare the people of the Barlowe family.

If they were in some remote area in the Milky Way, Astrid would be worried about the Sangruil Sinners.

Unfortunately, they were in the Royal Region, the center of the Milky Way.

A place where Sangruil Sinners would never dare to appear.

Even if they came here, they could only hide their identities.

They would not be so brazen.

“David, don’t worry, I’ll go out and see what’s going on,” Astrid said.

She was the only one who could resolve this now.

She wanted to see who dared to block the road ahead.

At this moment, Astrid was no longer the quiet girl in front of David.

Instead, she was the beloved Princess Astrid of the Milky Way Empire.

If she revealed her identity, it would definitely be more shocking than the tens of thousands of ships ahead.

However, David did not have the habit of standing behind a woman.

In his opinion, men were born to protect women, not the other way around.

No matter who they were, or what their identity was, it would still be the same even if she was Princess Astrid of the Milky Way Empire.

She was just a woman to him.

Therefore, David would not choose to stand behind her.

Besides, as long as the boss did not show up, David would not be scared of these ships in front of him.
