I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1057

"Don't go out yet. I really want to know why these warships are gathering here and whether they are coming for me," David said seriously. Astrid was just about to persuade David so he would not act recklessly because of rage.

In the end, she did not say anything when she suddenly saw David's serious expression.

Men should be like him. No matter what happened, they should be calm, cool-headed, and indomitable.

Her father, Emperor Nimbus, was such a man, and David was the same.

Astrid unconsciously compared David to her father, Emperor Nimbus.

Both of them could give her a great sense of security.

The Octagon moved forward, and David stared at the countless battleships ahead.

Soon, it reached the front of the group, and their path forward was blocked. Therefore, the Octagon could only stop.

After the Octagon stopped, some of the ships in front of them circled behind it to surround David and the others.

"David Lidell, you can't escape now. Come out and surrender!" A voice came from a Galaxy Warship.

David narrowed his eyes. These ships did come for him.

"What's going on?"

This was the first time he had come to the Royal Region, but these people knew his whereabouts and were waiting for him here.

Something was not right. 'Is it the Callisto family?

'Can't be.

Even though the Callisto family was one of the eight prominent families and ranked second in the ranking, they could not mobilize so many ships.

Moreover, there were so many Milky Way Battleships and several Galaxy Warships.

The Callisto family would not have this strength.

The Tuffin family was even more out of the question. Firstly, their strength was way too lacking, and secondly, the Meteor Chamber was watching the Tuffin family's every move now. Hence, David would know if the Tuffin family planned to do something big. 'If that's the case, who else had such power?'

David had countless questions in his mind.

Since he could not figure it out, then he would not. He decided to ask them straight away.

He scanned the scene in front of him with his mind power.

He did not find any Infinity Rankers. "Who are you? I don't think I know you, right?" David asked.

His voice came from the Octagon's loudspeaker before spreading to the countless ships. 1

"Hehe... It doesn't matter who we are. It's also fine if you don't know us. The only thing matters is that we know you. Stop spewing nonsense. Come out and surrender now. You've wasted a lot of our time. Do you not see all of us waiting for you?" Another voice came from another Galaxy Warship.

"You have to at least let me know what's going on after doing so much to kill me, right? Who has the authority to make so many of you wait for me here? Also, what are you trying to do?" David asked again.

"You're so f*cking annoying. How can you have so many questions? Get out now and follow me. If you behave, I'll give you some of the reward money." This time, someone else spoke.

Before David could say anything, someone retorted, "Yves, there are so many of us here, so why should David go with you? Wouldn't that mean all of us here have wasted our time?"

"What does that have to do with me? Did I ask you to f*cking come? I'll kill you right now if you dare to make another squeak!" The man named Yves barked back.

The one who questioned Yves just now did not dare to say anything anymore. Clearly, he was worried that Yves would really kill him. Everyone knew of Yves Townsend's style. David learned something from the conversation. Someone paid money to capture him, and these people were not from the same gang. There should be a lot of different forces here.

When Yves saw no one speaking anymore, he continued arrogantly, "Hehe, David, if you don't come out, don't blame me for going over there to capture you myself. Don't blame me for crippling you when that happens since I don't know my own strength. Who asked you to be so disobedient?"

David's strong mind power traversed the distance between the two sides and directly reached the Galaxy Warship that Yves was in. Yves was a beginner Celestial Ranker. Then, David discovered that there was actually a mid-Celestial Ranker on this Galaxy Warship. These people were not weak!

"Captain Kraut, take care of your dog. He doesn't have the right to speak here. If he continues barking, I'll teach him a lesson for you," Elio, the Captain of the Golden Eagle Bounty Group, said. Yves did not dare to speak. Clearly, he could not afford to provoke Elio. David's mind power followed the sound, and it came from another mid-Celestial Ranker. "Captain Aureliano, you don't have the right to discipline my men. You should just take good care of your dog." "Oh? No one here is speaking, and you Berserk Hunters are the loudest. Why? Are you trying to do this all by yourself?" "I don't mean it that way. We should all fight based on our own abilities."

"I think that's exactly what you mean."

"Elio, are you trying to start a fight?" "Why, Reggie? Are you saying you want to practice with me?" "You..." Before Reggie Kraut could finish speaking, he was interrupted by a voice. "Okay, stop spewing nonsense. Don't you think you've wasted enough time? If you want to start trouble, go do so to the side. Don't do it here. We don't have time to accompany you." 1

The two did not speak anymore. It was because the one who interrupted them was the captain of the first-ranked bounty hunter group, Shadow Hunters.

He was a late Celestial Ranker.

Even though the third-ranked Golden Eagle Bounty Group and fourth-ranked Berserk Hunters had a long-standing grudge, this was clearly not the time to resolve it. They were intimidated by the first-ranked bounty hunter group, so they did not dare to continue fighting. Among the four bounty hunter groups in the Milky Way, the first-ranked Shadow Hunters were always on top. Meanwhile, the three others were about the same in strength, so they were always unconvinced of each other's strengths.

Inside the Octagon's control room. Everyone could guess who these people were based on their conversation. 'Bounty hunter groups!' Moreover, they were the top-ranked groups in the Milky Way, so they were very powerful. Even some of the top family forces would not dare to provoke them. Aside from David, Astrid, and Mia, the others started shaking with fright. So many powerful bounty hunter groups were here to catch them, so would they still have a way to escape? David also knew a little about the bounty hunters.

However, he did not look deep into it.

These bounty hunters were only working for the Milky Way Empire.

Their mission was to catch the most wanted people in the Milky Way Empire in exchange for a reward.

However, why were they here for him? Was he wanted in the empire?

That did not make sense.

He saved Princess Astrid, so why was he wanted by the empire? 'Wait...

Something dawned on David suddenly. He realized the problem. Even if he saved Princess Astrid, he did not tell Burke or make it public.

Furthermore, Burke tried to stop David when he was trying to leave Planet Boundless. In addition, David even emitted an intense killing intent targeting Burke, scaring him witless.

This guy would definitely hold a grudge. Burke's father was also an essential member of the empire's military, so it should not be too difficult for Ramos to list David, a man with little background, as a wanted criminal in the empire.

The Octagon had been parking in Planet Boundless for so long, so it was easy for Burke to tamper with it. He could have quietly installed a tracker to follow David's location.

Then, he could inform these bounty hunter groups, so they would know when and where David would arrive in the Royal Region. However, there was one more thing David could not figure out.

Even if Burke's father listed him as a wanted criminal in the empire, was he worth so many bounty hunters coming to catch him?

There were tens of thousands of ships and four precious and rare Galaxy Warships. Not to mention there were at least dozens of the Milky Way Battleships. Furthermore, there were millions of people in these countless battleships.

How much would it cost to deploy so many resources?

How much was a common wanted criminal like him worth?

"Florian, what should I do? We have so many bounty hunters here, and there's only one David. We can't dismember him and divide him among ourselves, right?"

This was a woman's voice.

She was Norah Florentine, the captain of the second-ranked Red Spider Hunters.

"I understand why everyone's here. David is just one person. Even if he is ranked 98th on the most wanted list, it's not worth it for so many of us to come here. Everyone just wants to use this opportunity to confirm their position in the bounty hunter community. Since almost all of the bounty hunters in the Royal Region have arrived, let's establish new regulations and reshuffle the bounty hunter community," Florian Madden said.

"I agree! We can't just waste so much time here. Florian, since you're the captain of the first ranked hunter group, you should preside over it," Norah said.

"I agree as well," Elio followed suit. "I agree!" "I agree!"

"I agree!"

Countless bounty hunters responded.

Florian's status in the bounty hunter community was unquestionable.

He led Shadow Hunters to capture the top ten most wanted criminals many times before.

He once fought an adult galaxy beast, the Titan Giant Ape, alone. Ultimately, he killed it and brought it back to the Royal Region, shocking countless people. "Since that's the case, I'll say a few words. It's been a long time since the bounty hunter community has had newcomers. We should focus on cultivating newcomers and giving them more opportunities. Otherwise, the bounty hunter community may have no successors in the future, which is not what I want. Thus, I think it's better to take this opportunity to hold a competition for the younger generation of bounty hunters. In it, all bounty hunters under the age of 100, whether they are from bounty hunter groups or not, can participate.

"Since David is only one person, and it is unrealistic to divide him, so we should use him as the prize for this competition. Whoever achieves victory will take David away and go to the empire to exchange him for the bounty. Although David's value is not high for us, it is enough for the younger generation of bounty hunters. It can not only improve their reputation, but they could also get huge rewards. With that, I believe everyone will go all out. At the same time, we, Shadow Hunters, will also prepare rewards for the top three participants. What do you think?"

"Florian, you are always thinking of the bounty hunter community, and we have no reason to disagree. We, Red Spider Hunters, will also prepare generous rewards for the fourth or fifth place," Norah said. "Then we, Golden Eagle Bounty Group, will prepare prizes for the fifth to seventh place," Elio echoed.

"We, Berserk Hunters, will prepare prizes for the eighth to tenth place," Reggie said.

"Very good! I believe that with the joint efforts of everyone, the bounty hunter community will be even better and eventually become an indispensable force in the empire." Florian said with relief.

"Captains, you have done your best for the development of the bounty hunter community. It is a great honor for me to be a bounty hunter," someone shouted. "I am honored to be a bounty hunter."

Millions of bounty hunters on the scene shouted excitedly at the same time. Inside the Octagon, David was stunned as he heard what they said.

'What the hell?

'If they can win, they can take me away in exchange for a reward? 'Do they think they can just do whatever they want with him? 'There isn't even a peak Celestial Ranker among them, and they want to trade me, a strong partial Infinity Ranker, for a bounty?'

David just thought it was funny. Princess Astrid did not find it funny at all.

She was enraged.

David was her savior, but he was now listed as a wanted criminal by the empire.

No matter who did it, they would have to pay for this.

This gentle-tempered Princess Astrid of the Milky Way Empire's heart was filled with killing intent for the first time.

Now that things had reached this stage, everything had become apparent.

With so many bounty hunters coming together, capturing David, the 98th most wanted man on the list, was just a pretext. What was more important to them was holding this competition for the bounty hunters so more young bounty hunters would emerge.

David was nothing more than a prize.

The 98th most wanted criminal on the most wanted list was nothing to these hunters, but this would be a huge bounty and honor for certain individuals.

Whoever got first place would enjoy an excellent development in the bounty hunter community in the future.

There might even already have been a tacit understanding between these hunter groups, and they were ready to reshuffle the bounty hunter community to increase the exposure of such bounty hunters.

However, they just did not have a chance to do so.

David, the most wanted man in the empire, coming to the Royal Region would be the perfect start.

As for David himself, they genuinely did not care about him.

He was just a peak Cosmos Ranker.

Even excluding the four big bounty hunter groups, some slightly stronger bounty hunter groups could catch David.

Even if David did not come to the Royal Region this time, the shuffling of the bounty hunter community was imperative.

David just happened to run straight into them. During another occasion, his listing might have attracted some bounty hunters.

However, it would never have reached this scale.

Tens of thousands of ships and millions of bounty hunters were gathered here. There were also numerous onlookers from large forces.

“David, how about leaving this matter to me? Don’t worry, I will definitely give you a satisfactory answer. No matter who is involved, I will find out and punish him,” Astrid said apologetically

David turned his head to look at Astrid and said with a smile, “There is no need to worry, Your Royal Highness. I can handle it myself.”

Although David was smiling, everyone in the control room felt a chill. Of course, what puzzled these people more was how David addressed the veiled woman. ‘Your Royal Highness?’

‘What does he mean by that? ‘Is there anyone else with that name? ‘Isn’t he worried that the Milky Way Empire will find out?’ Only one person in the entire Milky Way Empire had that name; she was the emperor’s only daughter, Princess Astrid.

They would not associate this woman with Princess Astrid of the empire at all.

“David, I am the cause of this, so let me resolve it, okay? Otherwise, I, Astrid Barlowe, will not feel at ease in the future and will always live in guilt,” Astrid said in a low voice.

She was afraid that David would blame her for this.

If she had told her father earlier and asked him to send someone to pick her up, David would not have become wanted by the empire.

Even though Astrid had no idea what went wrong, after the conversation these few days, she had learned that David had just come back from exploring outside.

With that, she could eliminate the fact that he used to be a wanted criminal.

Astrid was confident that she was the one who caused this.

The person who could list David on the most wanted list of the empire was surely someone from the empire, and they should have quite a lot of authority.
