

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1051

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1051

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1051

"Kid, do you want to stand up? Do you want to take revenge? Do you want to reign supreme?"

"Who's there?" Fergus opened his eyes suddenly.

He saw a man in a black robe beside the bed.

"Who are you? How did you get in?" Fergus asked, glaring at him.

"You don't need to know who I am.

You just need to know that I can make you stand up again.

I can make your strength grow by leaps and bounds, become a peerless talent, and crush everyone in the younger generation of the Milky Way Empire," the black-robed man said.

"W-What did you say?" Fergus asked in disbelief.

"I said I can make you stand up again.

I can make your strength grow by leaps and bounds, become a peerless talent, and crush everyone in the younger generation of the Milky Way Empire," the black-robed man repeated.

"Impossible!!! I know there's no cure for my body anymore unless I leave the Milky Way and go to a higher civilization." "Really? If you don't believe me, forget it.

Goodbye! Just pretend I was never here." After the black-robed man finished speaking, he was about to turn and leave.

"No, I believe you! I believe you! Don't go, please don't go!" Fergus cried out hurriedly as if he was grabbing a life-saving straw.

"That's right," the black-robed man stopped and turned to Fergus.

"What do I have to do for you to cure me?" Fergus asked.

"You'll find out later," the black-robed man replied.

“Okay! As long as you can cure me and make me a peerless genius, I will accept any of your requests and never regret them.” “Very promising! Next, you need to open your heart.

Don’t have the slightest resistance in your heart, or you may die if this fails.” “Alright, I’d be dead if you didn’t show up.

I’m not afraid of death,” Fergus closed his eyes and said firmly.

The black-robed man gave Fergus a look.

He took out a potion vial, put it to Fergus’s mouth, and said, “Open your mouth.” Fergus opened his mouth when he heard that.

The black-robed man poured every drop of the potion into Fergus’ mouth.

“Swallow it all.” Gulp! Fergus swallowed all the potion in his mouth.

After that, the black-robed man took out four more potion vials with syringes, stuck them on Fergus’s limbs, and injected all the potion inside him.

Fergus did not feel anything because his limbs had already been crippled.

Finally, the black-robed man took out another potion vial and stuck it in Fergus’ neck.

“Hmph!” Fergus groaned.

After he injected all of the potions into Fergus, the black-robed man put his hand on Fergus’s head and said, “The next moment is the most critical.

You must endure it.

No matter what image appears in your mind, don’t harbor even the slightest resistance in your heart.

If you can persevere, you will succeed.

If you can’t, then sorry, you will die.” Soon, Fergus’s body began transforming.

The limbs that David had crippled started inflating.

A sharp pain overwhelmed Fergus but he did not show any pained expressions.

Instead, he started cackling.

“Hahaha!” It was because he started regaining feeling on his limbs.

Even though this was not a pleasant feeling, Fergus did not care.

He could endure everything as long as he could stand up again.

Gradually, the meridians on his entire body started inflating.

The excruciating pain continued to intensify, spreading from his limbs to his whole body.

Bean-sized beads of sweat slid off Fergus' body, and scary images began to appear in his mind.

He saw that he had turned into a half-human, half-beast monster.

F Fergus instinctively wanted to reject it, but when he thought of what the black- robed man said, he immediately extinguished this thought.

As long as he could stand up again, he would not mind being a monster.

Fergus did not care.

He wanted to make everyone who looked down on him regret it.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1052

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1052

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1052

The Octagon on which David was riding continued to head toward Planet Royal.

In the bounty hunter world, Moe and David, who suddenly appeared on the most wanted list, had caused quite a stir.

They were new faces on the wanted list, and their rankings were high, so they easily attracted the attention of many bounty hunters.

It was because the ones who were always on the list but never caught were experienced criminals.

They knew that the empire were hunting them, so they would not show their faces easily.

After all, the Milky Way was so large.

However, new arrivals on the most wanted list were different.

These people would not hide before they realized they were on the empire's most wanted list, so the bounty hunters could easily catch them.

Therefore, all eyes were on Moe and David.

However, after seeing Moe's detailed information, they all shook their heads simultaneously.

He was the current king of the Sangruil Sinners, and his combat power was unknown.

Who would dare to target such a character? Although the information stated that his combat power was unknown, how could the king of the Sangruil Sinners be easy to deal with? Hence, his combat power was estimated to be at least above Infinity Rank. Even the top three bounty hunter groups would not dare to provoke such a giant easily.

Therefore, all eyes moved onto David, a peak Cosmos Ranker.

Even so, he could rank in the top 100 of the empire's most wanted list, so he could be described as the ideal target of many hunter groups.

Even a few large bounty hunter groups were moved, and they wanted to accept this task.

With that, more and more bounty hunters began to look for David's traces.

On Planet Boundless, Burke crossed his leg while watching the news within the bounty hunter circle.

'Good! Great! Excellent! It seems that many bounty hunters have noticed David.

'If I tell them where David is, countless bounty hunters will begin swarming to him immediately. 'David is doomed no matter how powerful he is.' Burke got up and went to another room, where more than a dozen staff were busying themselves.

When one of them saw Burke coming in, he hurried over and greeted respectfully, "Lord Burke!"

"Where's the Octagon you've been monitoring? Can you figure out his route and final destination?" Burke asked.

He had someone tampered with David's Octagon ahead of time.

Therefore, they could trace David's location.

"Lord Burke, the target has now reached the Styx Region.

According to the travel path the target is taking, we can guess that he should be heading to the Royal Region where Planet Royal is located." "The Royal Region? "Why is David going to the Royal Region? "How dare he head to the Royal Region after he disobeyed His Majesty's order? "Isn't he walking right into a trap?" Burke did not understand what David was going to do.

However, he did not care.

No matter what David was doing, it would not change his fate.

Since David was going to the Royal Region, this made things easier.

Most of the bounty hunter groups were stationed in the Royal Region.

If they found out David was going there, the bounty hunter groups that did not want to take action would also seize this golden opportunity.

"How long until the target will arrive in the Royal Region?" Burke asked again.

"Based on their speed, they might take about ten days to reach the outskirts of the Royal Region."

"Alright, I got it.

Continue keeping an eye on it.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1053

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1053

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1053

David was on the Octagon. The three sat opposite each other. "Master David, we were a few days away from the outskirts of the Royal Region.

The Royal Region is the most prosperous place in the Milky Way and our destination this time," Mia said.

"David, Mia, please come with me to Planet Royal to be my guests once we arrive at the Royal Region.

I want to thank David for saving my life, and my father also wants to see you," Astrid said as she looked at David expectantly.

She genuinely wanted David to go to Planet Royal.

Once they got to Planet Royal, she could find a way to make David stay for a little longer.

Otherwise, they would part ways soon.

It was hard for her to find a man she did not hate.

Astrid did not want to part with David so soon, especially after getting along with him these days.

She enjoyed being with David.

She felt safe with him.

This was the feeling that only Astrid's father, the emperor of the Milky Way Empire, could give her.

"Your Royal Highness, we won't go to Planet Royal.

You will be safe once we arrive in the Royal Region.

She enjoyed being with David.

She felt safe with him.

This was the feeling that only Astrid's father, the emperor of the Milky Way Empire, could give her.

"Your Royal Highness, we won't go to Planet Royal.

You will be safe once we arrive in the Royal Region.

I believe that Sangruil Sinners would not dare to sneak into the Royal Region.

We still have a lot of things to do.

How about we come to Planet Royal again after we're done?" David thought for a while.

He did have a lot on his plate right now.

His first task was to buy a few more chambers of commerce and spend 1 trillion.

After that, he would act once he got 10000 lavish points to break through to Infinity Rank.

Otherwise, a partial Infinity Ranker like him would not be safe in the Royal Region where the big shots gathered.

Moreover, the Tuffin family was still bothering David.

He would never be at ease until he got rid of Grandmaster Tuffin.

In addition, David was not willing to meet the emperor of the Milky Way Empire now.

The strength gap between the two sides was too significant.

If they met each other, he would not even have the right to speak.

David did not want to go to a meeting where their identity, status, and strength were completely unequal, even if the other party wanted to thank him.

“Ah? Can’t you wait? Can’t you go and have fun in Planet Royal for a few days?” Astrid asked nervously.

“Your Royal Highness, not right now.

We have something urgent and important to take care of.

I’m sorry, we can’t accompany you to Planet Royal, but don’t worry, as long as we finish our task, we will definitely come to look for you on Planet Royal,” David assured.

“But...

Well...

You must come to Planet Royal to find me once you’re done,” Astrid said disappointedly.

“Don’t worry.

We will definitely do so,” David said affirmatively.

Time passed day by day.

The Octagon that David and the others were riding on was slowly approaching the periphery of the Royal Region.

In the Royal Region, they would hand Princess Astrid to the people coming to pick her up.

After that, they would head to their first stop.

This was where Mia's family lived.

David wanted to set up his base camp there temporarily.

Right now, he did not have anyone, so he could only ask the Concord family to manage the chamber of commerce.

He did not care about profit anyway.

As David's Octagon got closer and closer to the Royal Region, Burke revealed David's whereabouts at the appropriate time to the bounty hunter community.

In an instant, it caused a violent shock in the community.

Countless bounty hunters in the Royal Region went to the location where David was scheduled to arrive.

However, most of the idle bounty hunters came purely to watch the fun.

After all, David was one of the top 100 most wanted people in the empire.

Some bounty hunters with low strength might never have a chance to see this happening in their lifetime.

Therefore, they wanted to come and see what was going on.

Only some top bounty hunter groups genuinely wanted to capture David and hand him over to the empire in exchange for huge sums of money.

Several bounty hunter groups were also secretly competing to see who could catch David.

This was an excellent opportunity to become famous.

Anyone who could capture David while competing with so many people could rapidly establish the reputation of their bounty hunter group and overtake other bountyhunter groups.

Hence, this could be said to kill two birds with one stone.