All things considered, David and Mia should have no chance of making a comeback

However, reality slapped Burke across the face.

Burke rushed back to the Royal Region apprehensively. He did not know what was waiting for him, but he had to face it.

At this time, David and Mia were heading to Blue Star happily.

David was happy because, in the next period, he might have a chance to spend a lot of money to get many lavish points. Then, he would be able to break through his current rank and reach Infinity Rank. Then, he could stop the underlying threat that was the Tuffin family. After all, even if only 1% of the millions of bounty hunters sent things over, it would still be ten thousand of them.

Plus, they would be things they were unfamiliar with. It did not care if they were precious or not. David was happy as long as he had the chance to spend money. Even if he spent 100 million on each person, it would still be 1 trillion!

As for Mia, she was also overjoyed. From now on, she would not need to act according to other people's intentions. She only needed to follow David. Judging from her time with him, David was easy-going and did not share the bad habits of the other big shots.

Mia always needed to be careful around the big shots. She was worried that she would offend them if she said something wrong.

However, it was not the same with David. She could say whatever she wanted, and David would not be mad when she cracked jokes.

Mia felt good spending time with David like this.

Her father, Truman, had told her to find suitable support all these years.

However, it was not that easy.

After all, this was about her life.

Fergus was one of the important candidates Mia had targeted.

However, after he showed his true self, she was shocked as she did not think that he was someone like that.

Hence, Mia figured her other candidates were also the same as him.

They only wanted to get their hands on her body.

No one would truly love and protect her for life.

When they finally got her, they would get bored of her. Then, they would abandon her. Even though Mia had not spent much time with David, she could tell that David was very easy going and attractive. He did not have greedy lust in his eyes. Instead, they were very clear. He was also powerful, and he did not put on airs. After spending so much time with peerless beauties like the two fairies, he had never once showed any desire.

He also had powerful control. He completely smote even a dignified woman like Princess Astrid. As long as they were not idiots, anyone could tell that Princess Astrid was very reluctant when she was about to leave.

Mia did not want to fight the princess for David, and she did not have a lot of requirements. She would be happy even if she was their maid if it meant she could stay by David's side.

No one could compare with Astrid's status and identity.

Most importantly, she would feel at ease. She would not need to be scared and remain vigilant at all times.

Two days later, Blue Star appeared in front of them. As David looked at the blue-ish planet, he started lamenting about the universe's wonders.

After entering the Royal Region, they had seen countless living planets on their way, big and small.

This was the void outside the Royal Region. No number of dead planets could compare to it.

TT

Indeed, this was the most prosperous place in the Milky Way. Also, this was the more remote place in the Royal Region. It would surely be more prosperous in the heart of the Royal Region, which was the surrounding area of Planet Royal.

When David was in school, he asked his science teacher a question.

'Aside from Earth, are there other living planets in the universe?'

Back then, the teacher's answer left a deep impression on David.

of course! Earth is just a drop in the ocean that is the universe.

*However, those places are too far away from Earth, so we can't explore it. 'I'm sure humans will leave Earth and discover aliens when there is more advanced technology on Earth.' 1 David wondered, 'How long has it been, and I'm already meeting with said legendary aliens.' When David thought about this, he turned to look at Mia. 'Aliens are not much different from humans on Earth.

'If I have to find a difference, they are prettier and classier than humans.

'Both Mia and Astrid are like that.'

Mia could feel David's eyes on her.

The flawless skin on her charming face started to turn red, tempting others to have a bite.

After staying silent for a while, Mia returned to her senses and started introducing the planet, "Master David, the planet in front of us is Blue Star, and it's also the planet my family lives on. What do you think? It's pretty, right? You won't regret living here. When we're in Blue Star, I'll bring you around to view the scenery."

She could be at ease with David and say whatever she wanted.

If it were someone else, Mia would not dare to say so much.

"Yes, it's gorgeous. I'll have to trouble your family for the next period," David said.

"What are you talking about, Master David? It's an honor for our family to work for you. How will it be trouble? Everyone in my family will welcome your arrival."

"Mia, don't say that. We're friends, so we should be equals. Stop calling me Master David. It won't sound nice to your family. Also, I don't like it. Why don't you just call me Dave?"

“No way! Why don’t I just call you David?” Mia thought about it and said.

She would not dare to call David so affectionately.

Even Princess Astrid did not call him that, so how would she dare to?

Wasn’t this telling others that she had a higher status than Princess Astrid?

“Alright,” David said.

He knew it would be difficult for Mia to call him Dave so intimately.

Aliens took hierarchy even more seriously than humans.

“If that’s the case, you can also be more at ease with me. It feels like you’re keeping your distance from me. We’re friends, so you don’t need to do that,” Mia looked at David and smiled. “Alright, Miss Mia,” David joked. “Can’t you drop the Miss? My family calls me that too.” “No, I’m not your elder. We’re friends.”

“You can also call me that if you’re my friend.”

“I’m worried that my family will misunderstand.”

“Misunderstand what?”

“Our relationship?”

“What are we?”

“We’re friends! So just call me Mia.”

“Um...”

“Pfft!”

The two chatted happily.

The Octagon approached Blue Star. Under the Conrod family’s guidance, the Octagon landed on the Concord family’s territory. At this moment, the Concord family had just gone through a crisis. Hence, they sold everything the family owned at a meager price. They did not even sell them at 1% of the original price. They had no choice. Under the suppression of the Gatsby family, the number one family in Blue Star, very few families dared to take over the Concord family’s properties.

Even if there were, they would use this chance to lower the price.

Until now, the Concord family still had no idea why the Gatsby family was suddenly targeting them.

Truman even brought all of the family's core to the Gatsby family to apologize.

In the end, they could not even enter the door and could only stand outside for the entire day.

Hence, they came back dejected and depressed.

They did not get an answer or the Gatsby family's forgiveness. With that, the Concord family could only sell their assets. No matter how low the other party offered, they would sell as long as someone was willing to buy. After selling everything, the Concord family started moving out.

They were getting ready to return to the old house they used to live in.

More than a thousand family members started moving.

The entire family was in chaos.

Truman looked at the manor, and his heart was filled with reluctance.

They even sold this manor at a meager price.

After all, they had lived here for decades.

The Concord family's core was instructing others to move things.

They would bring whatever they could as they would still need them in the old house. However, the main thing was that they could not sell it at a reasonable price anyway. "Truman, it's almost ready," Vash and the other brothers walked over and said to Truman.

"Alright. Let's go then," Truman said. "Truman, do you think we can come back in the future?" Caspian looked at the manor and asked reluctantly. "I have no idea. Maybe, maybe not," Truman shook his head and answered.

"I think we can. I believe Mia will bring all of us back here grandly. When the time comes, I also want the Gatsby family to get a taste of being forced out of their home," Bastian said.

Truman patted Bastian's shoulder. He did not say anything before turning to leave.

of course, he wished for that too. The Gatsby family was so imposing and did not even give a reason.

Truman wished that one day he could get back at them.

However, if he wanted to do that, all of the hope would be on Mia.

He did not want his daughter to be so pressured.

The Concord family's background was too weak, and they did not have the luck to enjoy this.

When Truman and his brothers were about to leave with the other family members, more than ten black-horned ships appeared in the sky, stopping above them. All family members lifted their heads to look at the uninvited guests.

"Truman, did I ask your family to leave?" A voice said from the black-horned ship.

"Lord Gatsby, there's no need to eradicate us, right? What did we do to offend you? What is it that's worth so many people coming here?" Truman asked.

This was the question everyone in the Concord family wanted to know the answer to. They were slowly rising while relying on Mia as one of the four fairies. However, they had never offended any force on Blue Star.

They always maintained peace and strived to live with others in harmony.

Sometimes, they would rather suffer losses just to ensure their partners' interest.

They were also liked by most of the forces in Blue Star.

However, the Gatsby family targeted them for no reason or warning signs.

They caught the Concord family completely off guard. Now, they still had no idea why the Gatsby family were doing this. They had to die knowing what happened, right?

"Truman, I know you're unconvinced. Your family has been doing well in the past years, and you didn't offend us, but I was ordered by someone to do this, so I don't have a choice. A big shot wants to eradicate you, so you can't leave."

'What?'

When the Concord family heard this, they felt their brains buzzing.

Some even fell to the ground.

A big shot wants to eradicate us?

'What kind of huge grudge is this? 'Why do they want to eradicate a family with a few thousand people?' Truman tried to recompose himself. He asked after inhaling sharply, "Who wants to do this? My family never offended anyone, so the least you can do is tell us so we can die knowing what really happened, right?"

Not long ago, a big shot contacted the Gatsby family and asked them to take action against the Concord family. Initially, the Gatsby family hesitated. After all, Mia was one of the four fairies in the Milky Way, and she had connections. Hence, the Gatsby family would not get any benefit from doing so.

However, after confirming that big shot's identity, the Gatsby family decided to take action.

This was because that person was too terrifyingly strong.

Their family even had a influence on the empire's military. The Gatsby family dreamed of having connections with a person like this.

Even though they were the number one family in Blue Star, they could not control Blue Star completely. If they had such thoughts, the other forces on Blue Star would work together to fight them. If these forces worked together, the current Gatsby family could only flee.

However, if they managed to complete the task instructed by the big shot, the Gatsby family might use this chance to control Blue Star using the big shot's support.

Hence, the Concord family was destined to be the sacrificial lamb.

Even if Mia had connections, they would not challenge that big shot just because of her.

At the end of the day, Mia was just a clown for others' entertainment.

Moreover, the Gatsby family guessed that that big shot wanted to take action against the Concord family because Mia had offended them.

If not, the Concord family had always stayed in Blue Star and never gone out. How could they offend such a reputable character? Therefore, the Gatsby family did not hesitate anymore. They slowly forced the Concord family into this situation right now.

“Truman, stop struggling. I won’t tell you. And as for whether you’ve offended them, I don’t care. I only accepted the task to eradicate you, that’s all,” said the head of the Gatsby family, Erwin Gatsby

“Erwin, are you sure you want to eradicate all of us?” Truman asked angrily. “You’re wrong. We’re not the ones who want to eradicate you, someone else does. We’re just the executor.”

“You... Erwin, you’re such an intolerable bully!”

“Truman, I don’t want to waste my breath with you. Right now, I’m giving you two choices. One, give up struggling and go with me to wait for your end. Two, I capture you myself. However, if you choose the second one, I won’t be responsible for any casualties,” Erwin said impatiently.

After he said that, the Concord family members started wailing. “My lord, we’re just servants they hired. We don’t share their blood, so please spare us!” “Yeah, my lord! We’re just servants of the Concord family and are not related to them at all! Please be magnanimous and spare us!” The ones who said that were the servants and admins the Concord family hired. They did not share the Concord family’s blood, but these people made up more than half of the total population of the family.

Truman looked at the thousands of people clamoring, and he sighed internally.

He knew there was no return now.

The Gatsby family was determined to eradicate their family.

As for that big shot, Truman could probably guess the reason. His daughter must have offended them. She might have turned down their pursuit or their invitation. In short, she might have embarrassed that big shot, so that was why they would choose to take action against the Concord family

Meanwhile, aside from a select few, none of the Concord family members had left Blue Star before, so they would never have offended this big shot.

Truman had no idea what the details were, he could only ask Mia when she came back. To ensure his family’s safety, he could only choose the first choice and return to the Gatsby family: Truman was worried about whether his daughter was in danger. However, when he recalled what his daughter asked him to do a few days ago, he felt slightly better.

His daughter just bought a chamber of commerce worth 200 billion for a big shot, so she might not be in danger.

“Erwin, these people are not related to my family. They’re all my employees, so let them go. My family and I will go with you,” Truman said. “Do you think I’ll believe you just because you said so? Who knows if you planned this? What if I let a direct descendant go, and that big shot starts asking questions? My family can’t afford to bear this. No one here can leave. All of you must come back with me and stay in my family’s dungeon to wait for the big shot’s instruction. As for whether you’ll live or die, it’s all up to that big shot.”

“No, I won’t go! I am not related to them at all, and they only hired me. I don’t want to go to the dungeon! I want to get out of here!” One of the servants yelled. The Gatsby family’s dungeon was not a good place. It was a famous hell in Blue Star.

was

Once they went in, they would suffer a fate worse than death.

No one would want to go there. “I am also not related to the Concord family, so I don’t want to go to the dungeon.”

A lot of people started making noise.

The entire Concord family was in chaos.

Some people tried to run away in the midst of the chaos.

However, how would they escape the surveillance of the dozens of black-horned ships in the sky?

Boom boom boom!

“Ah!”

A few energy cannons shot out from the black-horned ships. Those people who tried to run away let out a scream before turning into a wisp of smoke. They even implicated the people around them who did not want to escape.

After more than a hundred people died, the scene became silent.

They were taught a bloody lesson, so no one dared to say they wanted to leave anymore.

Truman and his brothers were looking at this scene with blood-red eyes. However, they could not do anything

After adding all of the Concord family's direct descendants, collateral relatives, and servants, there were only over a thousand people. Now, one-tenth of them were dead. So, how could they not feel sad? "Come one! Run away! Why are you not moving? Damn! Anyone who dares to move will end up like them. I'll eradicate all of you right here!" An arrogant voice said.

This voice sounded pretty young, so it should have come from the younger generation of the Gatsby family "Truman, watch your people. If not, don't blame me for being merciless," Erwin said. "Gatsby. I'll remember this. Don't give us a chance to make a comeback. If not, we will do the same thing to you many times worse," Truman said through clenched teeth. "Oh? Do you think you're all that? Many times worse? How are you planning to do that? Listen to me, Truman, you have no chance." After he said that...

Boom!

Another loud sound. More than a hundred people disappeared from this world. "You b*stard... You're so insufferable! ..." Truman pointed at the black-horned ship in the sky and yelled.

However, before he could finish talking, his brother Vash stopped him.

"Truman, stop!" Truman was stopped so he could only stare at the sky fixedly.
