

THE SUBSTITUTE WIFE: MY POOR HUSBAND IS A BILLIONAIRE

CHAPTER 766 MAN'S SPECIAL INTUITION

Brandon had been watching Draco.

This man had always been very polite, as though he wasn't a threat to anyone at all.

But judging from the way Draco looked at Janet, Brandon could tell that Janet was special to him.

Although Janet failed to notice, Brandon knew exactly how Draco felt about her. Call it a man's special intuition.

However, he decided not to point it out. Wearing a polite smile, he explained, "I don't usually interfere in Janet's work, but this matter was related to her reputation. I'm her husband and it's only right that I helped her out with this. I hope this didn't impact you or your studio, Mr. Wesley."

"I understand. Since you're here, would you like to have a cup of tea before leaving?" Draco asked hospitably.

His smile was warm, and his words and the way he acted showed that he was indeed a real gentleman.

"I'll take a rain check on that if you don't mind, as I have work to do today." Brandon politely refused. Then he turned to face Janet and smoothed her hair affectionately. "I have to go. See you at home tonight?"

Janet smiled at him sweetly and nodded. "Okay. See you tonight."

Then Brandon left with his bodyguards.

Seeing how intimate the couple was just now, Draco fell into pensive silence.

As soon as Brandon and his men left, he asked Janet seriously, "Did Mrs. Fuller give you a hard time?"

"Fortunately, Brandon came right in the nick of time. Mrs. Fuller wasn't able to do anything too excessive." Janet shook her head without hesitation. She didn't want Draco to worry.

Then she excused herself and went back to her desk.

Just now, everyone was watching this exciting scene unfold. However, since Draco was back, they all dispersed like mice.

As soon as Janet left, Draco made an announcement. "Everyone, proceed with your work. I'll study the files Mr. Larson gave me and investigate this matter. And at the meantime, all of you should just focus on your work at hand. Got it?"

Everyone nodded in unison and then bent over their desks to focus.

Janet also went back to work.

When Tasha passed by her desk, she poked fun at her. "Brandon still loves you so much. I heard a lot about you two when I was still married to his brother. Nora often talked about how Brandon was faithful and loved his wife very much. He sounded totally different from the cold-blooded man everyone had made him out to be."

A shy smile tugged at the corners of Janet's lips. She seldom talked about her husband with others. Since Tasha had brought it up, she felt like she had to say something. "Our relationship isn't always perfect.

You've only seen our good side."

"It's not like I haven't experienced the ups and downs of marriage, but it's not easy to find someone who loves you the way Brandon does. You're luckier than most people." Tasha admired how Janet was so low-key about her relationship. Judging from the happy look on her face, she knew that she was happy with Brandon even behind closed doors.

Thinking of her own failed marriage, Tasha couldn't help but feel a little sad.

"Everything will be okay, Tasha." Janet seemed to know what she was thinking about. She glanced at Tasha's rounded belly and added, "You're going to be a great mother."

Tasha touched her belly and smiled. "You think so?"

The two chatted harmoniously when Dalores suddenly cut in rudely. "Hey! Can you stop chit-chatting during work hours? No one wants to hear about you and your husband. In fact, Janet, your husband was the one who gave Draco those files. You must've known what happened. What you should do now is to tell us who leaked the design!"
