

THE SUBSTITUTE WIFE: MY POOR HUSBAND IS A BILLIONAIRE

CHAPTER 781 JEREMY'S HELP

As Vivian walked out of the detention center, she looked up at the sky and took a deep breath. She breathed in the cold air, which made her whole body instantly feel better.

Everyone was pointing fingers at Allie, and nobody in prison believed her.

As for Brandon, even if he suspected that someone had been instructing Allie, he had lost all leads.

So, for the time being, Vivian was safe.

When Vivian got into the car, she leaned against the seat back and began thinking about her plan. Her original plan should have been flawless, but for some reason, things started going south.

She should not have underestimated the enemy.

Charis had always said that Janet was no match for her. So, Vivian assumed that Janet should be easy to deal with.

It appeared that Vivian needed to be more careful than ever.

Leaning against the seat, Vivian closed her eyes to rest. But her moment of peace did not last long as her phone suddenly rang.

She took out her phone and found that the person who was calling was her mentor, Jeremy.

"Mr. Button, what can I do for you?"

It had been a long time since he last called, so she was surprised to see him calling.

"How are things going? If you need help, you can come to me at any time."

As a male mentor, Jeremy was a gentleman and easy to get along with. He had taught Vivian a lot of things, and she respected him.

Vivian really felt his concern, so she told him everything.

"I've followed your advice and got close to the Turners. I'm avenging Charis."

"Since you're on the right track, don't forget our little agreement," Jeremy reminded her.

Vivian fell stunned.

Back then, Jeremy had promised her resources to help her take revenge. But of course, they came with a price.

Vivian had to give him half of the Turner Group in return.

Therefore, for the plan to go smoothly, Jeremy needed her to gain a firm foothold in the Turner family as soon as possible.

At this moment, Vivian suddenly became hesitant when she heard what Jeremy had said. Everything in the Turner family belonged to Charis. Vivian did not want to take it from her, but she was left with no other choice.

She had no feelings for the Turners, and the sole reason she stayed with them was to avenge Charis. In the past few days, Vivian saw that they did not seem to have plans to clear Charis's name and bring justice to her.

They were too afraid of Brandon.

Vivian was dissatisfied with their cowardice.

Unlike the Turners, she would do everything she could to give Brandon and Janet the taste of their medicine. She would not show mercy to them on Charis's behalf.

Another thing, Vivian could not help but wonder why Jeremy wanted half of the Turner Group. With this in mind, she plucked up her courage and asked, "Mr. Button, why are you interested in the Turner Group?"

"You don't need to know the reason. Just do what you should, Vivian," Jeremy coldly replied.

Vivian lowered her eyes and answered, "Yes, sir."

Since she had decided to do this, there was no turning back. Well, there would not be a problem had she not encountered a setback.

"Mr. Button, Janet turned out to be a tough enemy. I had been very careful, but I still failed. She and Brandon have been trying to track me down. If they found me, the plan would fail."

Vivian surmised that Jeremy probably had a solution.

"I'll send you something later. Maybe it'll help with your problem with Janet."

Jeremy was always confident, and not once did he not have a solution in mind.

Just like he had promised, Vivian received an email from him about W Marks Studio.

Janet was working in the said company.

Meanwhile, Vivian was more perplexed than ever. How on earth did Jeremy know so many things going on in Barnes when he was actually out of the country?!

Not wanting to make her to think too much, Jeremy firmly reminded her, "Vivian, remember, you have to please the Turners. You need them so that you'll have the power to go against the Larson Group."
