Chapter 2579

He's indeed a prince, the prince of Carinovelle.

"If I remember correctly, there are quite a lot of people in the royal family of Carinovelle. The prince is not a rare species." Layla has no filters for the nobles.

After all, she was also a pampered princess at home. As long as she wanted, her parents and brother could give her anything.

"Boss! How can you say that! Even if he doesn't inherit the throne in the future, he will definitely inherit a lot of inheritance in the future! In fact, when he grows up like this, money is not that important... Boss, he is so handsome, are you really not going to think about it?" The assistant was crazily moved.

Layla: "Is there nothing else?"

The assistant: "Yes! Everyone is handsome! Different temperaments! Different skin colors and different countries, the same thing is that they are all handsome, rich and powerful! Boss, if you can have them all..."

"Pfft!" Layla patted her heart, "Don't talk nonsense. I only need one."

“But it’s so hard to choose! Boss, see for yourself, All of them are excellent!” The assistant really had a hard time making a choice, “You can chat with them online first, and let them come to the company.”

“Come to the company?” Layla saw the assistant’s little thought, “Why don’t you help me meet them!”

“Boss, don’t tease me. When I see a handsome guy, my brain is easy to short-circuit. Why don’t you ask your best friend to help you?”

“Okay! I’ll check the email first.” After Layla finished speaking, the assistant stepped aside immediately.

“Boss, that prince is really nice. His eyes are so clear and clean. From the perspective of physiognomy, he must be good.”

Layla: “...”

Assistant: “Boss, Take your time, I won’t bother you anymore.”

After finishing her work, Layla opened the email during lunch time.

After casually opening and reading a few emails, except for her tired eyes, there was no fluctuation in her heart.

It’s not that she had never seen a handsome guy.

Her father, older brother is very handsome, and her younger brother were also very handsome. She had long been immune to handsome men.

It's not like she hadn't seen rich people.

Her family itself was a super wealthy family, so looking at the family conditions of these people did not arouse her interest.

No matter how much money there was, how much could a person spend in a lifetime?

Just like no matter how many houses there were, people could only sleep in one room every day.

She turned off her mailbox, picked up her phone, and suddenly wanted to send a circle of friends.

She searched for the picture of Prince of Carinovelle on the Internet, and saved it to her mobile phone.

Later, she posted a circle of friends – my assistant said he looks very innocent, what do you think?

Avery was the first to see the moments posted by her daughter, and immediately commented: [Baby, do you like him?]

Layla replied: [Hey, mom, what do you think he looks like?]

Avery: [Not bad! As long as you like it baby.]

Soon, Elliot commented: [Daughter, you can read more, don't be in a hurry to settle down so quickly.]

Avery replied to Elliot: [As long as my daughter likes it, this boy is quite handsome.]

Elliot: [Carinovelle is too far away. Unless this person can give up his princely status, there is no need to talk about it.]

Avery: [My daughter is just asking for everyone's opinions, she didn't say she wants to marry, so don't worry.]

After Eric saw Layla's circle of friends, he wanted to comment but dared not.

In the end, he had no choice but to send a message to Avery: [I think what Elliot said makes sense.

Carinovelle is too far away.

You tell her to be more rational and consider many factors before making a decision.]

Avery: [Don't you dare to contact her?]

Eric: [Yes.]

Avery: [Since she started to choose a partner, it means that she has started to let go. If you have any advice, tell her yourself!

You can't stay in touch forever.]
