

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2603

Chapter 2603

Siena lowered her head and said in a low voice, "$20,000."

"Oh, such a small amount of money... You told me earlier that it's the same if I help you pay it back." Master Hogan pretended to be generous, "It's okay if you pay it back from Cyrus. Since you are sure to resign, I'll have someone pay you your salary tomorrow."

Siena: "Thank you sir."

"You're welcome. I'll give you a little more money as a pension for your mother-in-law over the years. You can use it to pay tuition fees then." Master Hogan said.

Siena was very grateful, and quickly thanked: "Thank you! I thank you on behalf of my mother-in-law!"

"It's worked hard for you to take care of Lucas these past few months." Master Hogan said, "It's getting late, you should get off work!"

"Okay. I'll leave after I've cleaned up the kitchen." Siena took the plate away from the dining table.

Master Hogan walked towards Lucas's room.

Lucas didn't lock the door, Master Hogan directly turned the doorknob, pushed the door and walked in.

When Siena packed up and was about to leave, Master Hogan hadn't come out yet.

She didn't know what the father and son were talking about.

Siena could feel that Master Hogan's attitude towards Lucas was much better than last year when Lucas just returned to Hogan's house.

Whether it's because Piper liked Lucas or not, seeing Lucas being treated kindly by his father, Siena was happy for him.

Although the Hogan family was not comparable to those top rich families, it was much richer than ordinary families, at least it could make Lucas's life worry-free at night.

The next day, at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Siena came out of the rented house and trotted all the way towards Hogan's house.

At the same time, the Hogan family's car drove towards the airport.

When Siena ran to Hogan's house, a bodyguard of Hogan's family told Siena that Lucas had already left.

Siena couldn't believe it and took out her phone to check the time.

It's 6:20 in the morning.

Didn't he say go out at 6:30?

"Master Hogan left at 6 o'clock." The bodyguard said, "No one sent him off."

Siena gasped for breath, her eyes were red.

There was a place in her heart that seemed to be hollowed out.

She felt the same way when her mother-in-law passed away.

With her schoolbag on her back, Siena left Hogan's house step by step.

After arriving at school by the first bus in the morning, she couldn't help but send a message to Lucas: [Young Master, I went to look for you, but you had already left. I am coming to school now. Best of luck. I will also work hard to get into the University of Thopiavelle.]

After the message was sent, there was no surprise, and Lucas did not reply.

Siena looked at the phone with a black screen, feeling a sense of grievance. Tears could not stop falling down.

After a while, she raised her hand to wipe away her tears, picked up a pen, and wrote a sentence in her notebook: Study hard, and only by making myself stronger can not be afraid of being abandoned.]

In a blink of an eye, It's summer.

Siena started the three-day exam with other candidates who took the big exam.

Those three days had passed extremely quickly.

After the last exam, the head teacher used the rest of the class fee to take everyone to the restaurant for dinner.

"Siena, have you contacted the travel agency I introduced to you?" the head teacher asked.

Siena shook her head: "Not yet! I've been preparing for the exam before, so I didn't think about it."

"Well. Are you going to wait until the scores come out before going, or leave within two days?" the head teacher asked, "I'll ask them to charge less money."

Siena: "Thank you! I probably won't go to Yonroeville anymore."
