

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2610

Chapter 2610

Shea and Lilly were kindhearted people. The eyes of both of them are very innocent, and their enthusiasm could be felt when they spoke.

“Siena, you just agree! Lilly often mentions you! She has always regarded you as a good friend.” Shea smiled and said, “Usually Lilly plays with Maria. She doesn’t have any other good friends.”

Siena looked at the girl next to Shea.

The girl was shorter and thinner.

She looked at Siena timidly, as if she wanted to speak, but was too embarrassed to do so.

“Siena, this is my sister, Maria.” Lilly saw that Siena had been silent, so she dragged Maria to introduce her.

Siena nodded.

“Then let’s put it this way. I’ll call Wesley and ask him to get the room ready.” Shea walked aside with a smile and went to make a phone call.

It’s too late for Siena to refuse.

“Who is Wesley?” Siena asked in an annoyed manner.

“Wesley is our father.” Lilly replied, “After auntie Layla took me down the mountain, they adopted me. They treated me like their own daughter, and Maria also treated me as their own sister. Everyone treated me very well.”

Siena nodded: “That’s good.”

“Siena, don’t you want to go to my house to play? You don’t think I want to show myself off to you, do you? I definitely don’t mean that.” Lilly explained sincerely, “It’s just that I haven’t seen you for too long. I miss you. If you have any difficulties, I can ask my parents to help you. They are very good people.”

Maria nodded fiercely at the side: “Sister Siena, my whole family is good.”

Siena: “...”

Shea finished the phone call, walked over, and held Siena's hand again: "My husband welcomes you to our house very much. He said that he would cook for us at noon. My husband's cooking is very delicious. We'll go home after a while!"

Lilly: "My dad's cooking is really super delicious. As long as my dad doesn't work the night shift, he cooks for our family. By the way, my dad is a doctor, and he is super powerful."

Shea: "Your father should be embarrassed to hear that."

Lilly: "No matter what others say, my father is the most powerful in my heart anyway."

At 11 o'clock in the morning, Shea took the three children down the mountain.

Along the way, Lilly pulled Siena to talk.

"You haven't been to Aryadelle yet, have you? I'll take you to play then! I have a lot of pocket money."

Maria: "Sister, take me with you! I also have pocket money."

Lilly: "It depends on whether Siena agrees."

Siena said awkwardly: "Then let's play together!"

"Sister Siena, you are so kind. Come to our house to play for a while longer! You can come to our house to play often in the future!" Lilly's chatterbox opened up, and she was no longer so stage-frightened.

"Maybe I won't have so much time when I go to college in the future." Siena tacitly refused.

"Okay! Then, when you are free, you can come play with us again! Or when we are free in the future, we can come to play with you!" Maria continued.

Siena: "It is good."

Not long after, the car arrived at the gate of Foster's Courtyard.

Siena glanced at the mansion in front of her, a little confused.

She didn't expect their family to be so rich and live in such a big mansion.

"Siena, this is my uncle's and auntie's house," Lilly explained to Siena after getting off the car, "and Maria and I planned to live here for a while, because my uncle and auntie have all gone to Bridgedale, and now only my cousin stays at home alone, but now my cousin is also at work.”

Lilly said, holding Siena’s hand, going into the yard.

Siena immediately asked vigilantly: “Is this the home of Elliot and Avery?”

“Yeah! Do you know them? They are also super good people. They send me many gifts and red envelopes every year.” Lilly said, “But they are very busy because they have to go to work.”
