

I'm A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1103

Chapter 1103 "I understand, Master David. Since you said this stupid rock is a very precious metal, I wonder, how much you're planning to pay me?" Oren eventually asked the question he was more concerned about.

He was in urgent need of money. If not, he would not stay here.

A year ago, after returning from the brink of death, Oren promised his dead teammates' families that he would compensate them so they would be provided with the basic necessities.

He believed he could get a high price with this stupid rock then. However, a year passed, and he still had the rock.

His promise also seemed so far away.

He was so helpless when his teammate's child fell sick. Sometimes, a man without money was no man at all.

David showed Oren eight fingers. However, he did not say the exact price. He was worried he would scare Oren, so he decided to mentally prepare Oren first.

"Eight million?" Oren asked in disappointment.

To be honest, eight million was not too low.

No one had ever proposed over a million to him before.

However, to Oren, this was not enough.

More than a hundred teammates died, and this thing was worth so little.

He needed at least ten times this price if he wanted to fulfill his promise.

However, since he took the rock over and promised David he would not bring it back, he should just take it.

He needed money urgently, and time waited for no one. He would come up with another plan for his promise in the future. As long as he was still alive, he would not forget it. Oren had accepted this price in his heart. However, David shook his head, hinting to Oren that he was wrong.

Oren was stunned.

'Not eight million?

'Can't be eight hundred thousand. After all, David said this is very precious.

"The Nine Turning Star Iron! The name alone sounds very bad*ss.

'However, how would a big shot like David be interested in something worth eight hundred thousand? 'It's like he's worried I won't sell it to him if he tells me the price. 'Could it be eighty million?' Oren was filled with joy. 'I was right to come here this time. 'David knows what he's doing!'

"Eighty m-million?" Oren asked carefully.

David shook his head again.

Oren was puzzled.

'It's not eight million or eighty million, but it's a number that starts with eight. Could it be...' Oren widened his eyes suddenly and stammered, "M-Master David, i-is it eight hundred m million?"

David continued to shake his head.

Oren was completely stumped this time. He had said all the numbers he could.

If he went up, it would be eight billion Galaxy Dollars, which was impossible. If he went down, eight hundred thousand did not seem like a number that suited David. "Master David, stop playing with me. I can't figure it out. Please tell me," Oren said.

Chapter 1104 "Oren, I'll tell you. You have to sit down, and it'll be best if you're mentally prepared so you won't be shocked," David thought about it and said. He knew if he did not tell Oren, Oren would never have guessed eight trillion in this lifetime.

"Don't worry, Master David. I've been a bounty hunter for so many years, and I've seen so many things. I was even on the brink of death once. Money is nothing to me, but I can't ignore my dead teammates' families. I'm fine with anything as long as I can ensure their wellbeing."

When David heard that, he felt impressed.

It was very rare to have people who valued relationships so much in this materialistic world.

“Alright, Oren. Listen closely. This Nine Turning Star Iron is very important to me, and it’s very precious. I’m prepared to buy it from you for eight trillion Galaxy Dollars.”

David told Oren the number.

His words were like a bomb in deep waters when they entered Oren’s heart. Immediately, huge waves started forming inside Oren.

Oren felt light-headed and could not calm himself down for a long time. ‘Eight trillion Galaxy Dollars? “How much is that?’ Oren had never heard of this amount, let alone seen it. ‘Who is David?’

“He wants to buy this stupid rock for eight trillion Galaxy Dollars. ‘Aside from whether this rock is that valuable, does he even have so much money? ‘It’s not eighty thousand, not eight hundred million, but eight trillion! ‘I think only the biggest chambers of commerce in the Milky Way can take out so much money!

“Master David, are you sure you’re not joking with me?” Oren asked in shock. “I’m not joking. It is indeed worth eight trillion Galaxy Dollars. Are you happy with this amount?” David asked with a grin. “O—Of course! I’m delighted! No, I’m not! No, t—this is too much! I can’t take s—so much money! You only need to give me one billion, no, one hundred million Galaxy Dollars!” Oren stammered.

“No, I should pay you accordingly. I never take advantage of others. It’s very, very hard to get the Nine Turning Star Iron. It requires nine star collisions to form, and you found such a huge one. So, I won’t give you even a penny less,” David said righteously. If it were someone else, they would want to use the least money to get the best deal. However, David was not the same. He wanted to spend money. He needed lavish points the most. He finally found such a valuable Nine Turning Star Iron, so he would not let it go. That would be eighty thousand lavish points! If he got it, he would immediately have the highest combat power in the Milky Way. Even if he met Emperor Nimbus, he would not be scared.

“M—Master David, h—how can I…” “You don’t need to feel bad about this. So many of your teammates sacrificed their lives to get this. So what if I pay a fortune for this? I can’t use it to get back the lives of your teammates. I can’t go against my conscience for this, so I should pay you accordingly. Take this money and compensate your dead teammates.” David’s speech was too good. No amount of money could get back the lives of Oren’s dead teammates.

Oren was touched.

If it were someone else, they would not tell Oren the truth about the rock, and they would surely use all kinds of methods to lower the price.

David was the only one who would tell him honestly.

'If I were a woman, I would pay back Master David with my body.

'No!

'I don't think he likes women.

'Too bad I'm a normal man, if not... ' Oren stood up and put his hands together before bowing to David deeply. He said, "Master David, you have a noble character and unquestionable integrity, and I am so impressed by you. This bow is from my dead teammates. Your presence made their deaths more meaningful and improved their living family members' lives." After he said that, Oren bowed to David again and continued, "This is from me. If it weren't for you, I might not be able to fulfill my promise to my dead teammates in my life. I would forever live in regret. Thank you, Master David! Thank you!" At this moment, this middle-aged man, who had nearly escaped death, had tears in his eyes.

Chapter 1105 David accepted Oren's bows. He knew if he refused, Oren would not feel at ease. "Oren, please don't say that. I only did what I should. This rock is indeed very useful to me. Let's start the deal now if you don't have other opinions." David was still thinking about his eighty thousand lavish points.

To prevent more trouble, he should do the deal now.

He needed to get the lavish points now. "Alright! Let's start now," Oren quickly said. "However, I have a small request," David said suddenly.

"Please tell me, Master David."

"I hope you keep this deal a secret and don't tell anyone. This will be good for both of us. I'm not the only one who wants the Nine Turning Star Iron. Also, eight trillion Galaxy Dollars is a lot of money. If others learn about this, you might not be able to protect it with your strength, don't you think so?"

David figured it would not be much trouble to him if this matter was leaked as he would soon be the strongest person in the Milky Way.

However, David did not want to attract too much attention. Even though no one in the Milky Way could threaten him, what about outside the Milky Way? He should always be vigilant so that he could live longer.

"I agree, Master David. You're right. I should keep this a secret and not tell anyone about this. Don't worry," Oren patted his chest and promised.

This was about his safety.

He would surely keep this secret and not tell anyone.

"Let's start now," David said.

The two exchanged contact information. Then, David started transferring money into Oren's personal account.

Normally, such a considerable amount being transferred into a personal account would alert the Milky Way Empire Regulatory Department, but David had the system's help.

Hence, the Milky Way Empire Regulatory Department would not notice this.

After all, the system was a remnant of a God Tier Civilization.

A level 3 civilization would not detect any of its unpredictable cover-ups.

Oren felt as if he was in a dream even after the transfer was done.

It finally dawned on him as he looked at the 13 digits in his account.

After the deal, David did not ask Oren to stay.

He was in a hurry to look at the changes in the system. Since he already had the lavish points, he should spend them on upgrading himself. Oren did not stay either. He was also in a hurry to save his dead teammate's child. They were waiting for the money to save their life.

Plus, he needed to divide this massive amount of money with his surviving teammates.

However, he did not plan to take out everything.

After all, it was too big of an amount.

It might not be a good thing to let them know about this.

David asked Mia to arrange a quiet secret room for him. He was about to stay there and would only come out after breaking through. David sat cross-legged inside the Concord family's secret room on Blue Star. After he recomposed himself, he opened the system panel.

(Host: David Lidell

Indeed, his lavish points had increased to above eighty thousand.

David stared happily at this number.

This was such a surprise.

He never thought he could get so many lavish points in one go.

He thought he would need to spend some time to become the strongest in the Milky Way.

However, how many days had it been since he arrived at the Royal Region? He had already achieved it. This was such an unexpected surprise. This alone was his biggest gain after coming to the Royal Region. David clicked on the [+] button behind Body.

A pop-up window appeared.

(Host, are you sure you want to upgrade Body? This upgrade will cost ten thousand lavish points.)
