

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1177

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1177

Chapter 1177 The Royal Region, Planet Royal! Inside the Royal Palace of the Milky Way Empire. Emperor Nimbus had just cleared customs when he briefly bumped into the Empress Gamora. After learning about some of the recent events in the empire, he immediately convened a high-level meeting of the empire.

Among them were the lords of the four great halls: Azure Dragon, White Tiger, Red Finch, and Black Tortoise, the ministers of state and military generals of the empire, as well as the princes of the empire. It could be said that this gathering of individuals included almost all the official rulers of the empire.

This was also the only time when all the top-level personnel of the empire were completely gathered, except during the empire's state banquet. "I believe everyone is aware of what happened to the Sangruil Sinners!" Nimbus, who was sitting on the throne, said. "Us princes are aware!"

"We ministers are aware!"

All the high-level officials of the empire replied in unison.

"I called everyone here today because I wanted to discuss a countermeasure. Hence, I will not hide this from all of you. The Sangruil Sinners have been preparing for hundreds of years this time and they are menacing. I retreated this time because I had been slightly injured after battling the leader of the Sangruilians, Moe Labate," Nimbus said.

After he said that.

Everyone present was shocked. The emperor was an invincible existence in the entire Milky Way, yet he was actually injured?

This was truly beyond their cognition. No wonder the emperor had not shown himself for a long time. No wonder he had left the empress to handle everything. It turned out he had retreated behind closed doors to recuperate.

It seemed that the Sangruil Sinners had not come in peace this time! "Your Majesty, is Moe Labate, the king of the Sangruil Sinners, so strong? Did he actually manage to injure you? It's really unbelievable to me," one minister stood up and said in shock. "Exactly! It is shocking to me that there exists someone in the Milky Way who could hurt the emperor."

Nimbus smiled and said, "You don't have to be so shocked. I, Nimbus, am human, not a god, I am not invincible in the world, so it is normal that I would be injured. I fought against Moe Labate and although my injuries were not minor, Moe Labate was much more injured than I. After more than a month of recuperation, I am now healed, so everyone can rest assured!"

Nimbus's words coaxed a sigh of relief from everyone.

According to the emperor's words. Moe Labate should be weaker than him.

This was fine.

If Moe Labate was stronger than the emperor.

The empire would be in danger. However, faced with these Sangruil Sinners who had disappeared for hundreds of years, the high-level officials of the empire present felt troubled.

Many major events had occurred in the Royal Region recently and they were all related to the Sangruil Sinners.

It never rains but it pours, and these people had managed to endure the situation for so long "Your majesty, what should we do next? There has been some unrest within the Royal Region recently," asked Wagner Barlowe, the eldest prince.

"If anyone has anything to say, or any opinions, state them. The purpose for calling everyone here today is to find a way to deal with the Sngruil Sinners without affecting the empire. Let me remind you first that the empire is now facing a difficult time. I could previously ignore your private squabbles, but not anymore. I will not forgive anyone who goes behind another's backs," said Emperor Nimbus. "Us princes understand!"

"We ministers also understand!"

The words of the emperor were still quite the deterrent, and no one dared go against it.

"It's good that you all understand! If you have any suggestions, you can voice them. If accepted, you will be credited and rewarded for your merits after the matter with the Sangruil Sinners is resolved."

"Your majesty, many major events have occurred within the Royal Region during your recovery. The Grims, who ranked fourth among the eight great families, was destroyed, and the ancestral land of the Drakes, who rank first, had been laid siege, causing the ancestors of the Drakes to be seriously injured. These were likely the work of the Sangruil Sinners."

"What do you mean likely? I think it is definitely the work of those bastards. They want to muddy the waters of the empire while the emperor was recovering, and then come to fish in troubled waters."

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1178

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1178

Chapter 1178

I also think so. The Sangruil Sinners must feel that they would have no chance of winning if they were to directly face off against the empire and choose to start from within the empire. The first thing we have to do is to absolutely deprive them of this opportunity.”

“What are your thoughts? Let me hear them!” Nimbus interjected. “Your majesty, after what happened to the Grims and the Drakes, the entirety of the Royal Region is in a state of panic. Everyone is gathering their own forces to deal with future emergencies, but as everyone knows, apart from the few powerful forces in the Royal Region, the others are but ants in the eyes of the Sangruil Sinners. If the Sangruil Sinners are allowed to continue and end up destroying another two more forces, the people will then be quick to lose hope in the empire and the situation will degrade even more. First of all, we should stop this kind of thing from happening...” In the Royal Palace.

The highest officials of the empire were all speaking freely, expressing their views, and putting forward various opinions. They all hoped that the emperor would adopt their ideas.

One could tell from the emperor’s injuries that the appearance of the Sangruil Sinners was undeniable. This was the biggest crisis the empire was facing since the initial destruction of Sangruil.

Everyone usually fought for power and profit, and there were certain conflicts between them. However, in the face of such a formidable enemy, the empire had to unite. At this point in time, no one dared scheme behind each other’s backs, especially after what the emperor had said.

After Nimbus listened to what everyone had to say, he finally made a plan based on everyone’s ideas.

They would hold an empire state banquet in advance and invite all the forces within the empire to participate. Nimbus was aware that the Sangruil Sinners had infiltrated some of the forces of the Royal Region.

To determine which ones in particular, further investigation was needed.

Regardless, they could not sit still any longer.

The longer this dragged on, the worse it would be for the empire.

Holding a state banquet was only the first step. This was to prevent the Sangruil Sinner's continued infiltration. More importantly, it was still necessary that they locate the Sangruil Sinners's nest as soon as possible and then concentrate on annihilating them in one fell swoop. Neither did Nimbus inform the empire's high-level officials present the reason why he attached such significant importance to these Sangruil Sinners. It was not because of Moe Labate's significant combat power. If it were only him, Nimbus would not be afraid at all even with his current combat strength. This was because in addition to the emperor, the Barlowes also had someone in the partial Eternal Realm, and that was Wilfred Barlowe.

Someone of partial Eternal Realm who had been recently promoted through special means was not a cause for concern.

What Nimbus truly feared was the Nine – Headed Serpent Clan. Although he has never dealt with the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan before, there were many records in the Barlowe's history books about them.

According to these records, the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan adored human flesh the most and had tried capturing humans in the Milky Way many times before.

Although it all ended in failure, they never gave up. Not to mention, the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan was one race that could rank top ten among the beasts of the galaxy. Their strength was absolutely terrifying. If the Sangruil Sinners were to form an alliance with the Nine-headed Serpent Clan this time and if they were to send just two random individuals to support the Sangruil Sinners, the Milky Way Empire would have a hard time stopping them.

This was what Nimbus was most afraid of!

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1179

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1179

Chapter 1179 One day later. The imperial government finally spoke up. It was announced that the recent turmoil in the Royal Region was caused by the Sangruil Sinners who had disappeared a long time ago. The Sangruil Sinners had appeared this time to destroy the balance of the Milky Way, overthrow the Milky Way Empire, and rule the entire Milky Way galaxy.

It was hoped that all the forces in the Milky Way would unite and resist the threat together to ensure their peace.

At the same time, the empire also decided to hold a state banquet in three months' time. All forces invited by the empire had to participate and discuss how to eliminate these rebels.

Starting today, the army and the four major halls consisting of Azure Dragon, White Tiger, Red Finch, and Black Tortoise would all be dispatched to carry out patrols within the imperial domain.

They were to promptly report to the empire if they were to find any trace of the Sangruil Sinners. If the news were confirmed to be true, they would receive a huge reward from the empire. After this announcement was made, waves shook through the entire Milky Way. After all, the Sngruil Sinners had disappeared for hundreds of years. Many of the younger individuals were unaware of this force's existence. They all began studying Sangruil one after another. After learning that this was a force that once could compete with the empire, they were all shocked.

Sangruil had once been so brilliant. All the forces breathed a sigh of relief when the empire made their statement.

It was good enough now that they knew the situation. The unknown was always the scariest.

No one would be able to feel at ease without knowing what was going on.

With the imperial army and the four major halls dispatched to patrol the Royal Region, the Sangruil Sinners would definitely refrain from acting cockily. One was a lingering power that had been in hiding for hundreds of years. The other was the Milky Way Empire that was in its heyday. Even if the two forces used to be similar, the current empire had already left the Sangruil far behind.

No one thought that the Sangruil Sinners could overthrow the empire.

At this point, them coming out to cause trouble was just because they wanted to disrupt the empire. After all, these two sides had previously fought to exterminate the other.

Once the empire got serious.

These clowns would be finished.

The empire's announcement appeared to have temporarily calmed the empire.

However, anyone who has reached a certain status knew that the empire's current situation was not optimistic. The Sangruil Sinners had been preparing for hundreds of years and were not so easy to deal with.

Although the surface was calm, the water below still surged.

At the edge of the Milky Way galaxy. David and the others had found Planet Buck. It was a very inconspicuous, ultra-small planet that had some life. "Sir, here we are. This is the Planet Buck," Balu shouted excitedly.

Although he had been young when he left the planet and hundreds of years had passed since, this planet had been imprinted in his mind deeply, and he would never forget it.

The Galaxy Warship had just approached this place when it was immediately intercepted by a patrolling vessel. David saw this and thought to himself that this vessel was much more developed than what was available through earth's technology. There was no such thing as a patrolling vessel on earth.

It looked like that Grim family have developed this place well over the years.

The patrolling vessel reached them and seeing that it was the Grim family's galaxy warship, immediately said respectfully, "It seems that the masters of the Grim family have graced us, please come with me."

It then lead the way. The galaxy warship followed the patrolling vessel and entered Planet Buck.

While leading the way, the patrolling vessel immediately contacted Julius Grim, the head of the Grim family on Planet Buck.

At this time, Julius was enjoying a full service tended to by several enchanting beauties. These beauties possessed a characteristic, which was that the word "slave" was written on their foreheads in blood-red.

He had been extremely reluctant when he was sent here by his family to preside over the work here hundreds of years ago. This place was too small and too poor.

He had been filled with enthusiasm at the time and have wanted to achieve great things.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1180

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1180

Chapter 1180 However, over the course of time, reality slowly smoothed his edges. The Julius of today now felt that this small planet of Buck was actually pretty good.

That was because his family was far away and only ever visited once every few years.

He was emperor here.

He enjoyed the offerings of Planet Buck, from their food to their women.

His words were law.

No one dared go against him. Was he not much stronger now than when he was acting as a grandson every day back in the imperial domain?

Julius shivered and took a deep breath. It was a beautiful day, and he was living better than an immortal.

Suddenly, his communicator rang. "What is it?" Julius picked it up and asked a little unhappily. "Sir, a master of the family has arrived." "Master of the family? Who is it?" "I don't know! But this person certainly has a high status within the family since he came on the family's galaxy battleship." "What? He is in the family's galaxy battleship? Where is he now?" Julius stood up abruptly as he asked in shock. "Right behind me, he is preparing to descend." "Alright, alright! I'll be there soon." Julius hurriedly disconnected the communicator. He was also frightened.

Those who were qualified to ride the family's galaxy battleship definitely held a pretty high status. The people who came for an inspection in the past all came on Octagons, yet this guy actually rode the galaxy battleship this time? He had to go and meet them quickly. Otherwise, if he were to offend them, the good days would come to an end.

Julius was used to being a master, and he did not want to go back to becoming a mere grandson.

After landing on Planet Buck, David brought Mia and Balu along and got off the galaxy battleship. Julius greeted them with a large number of the Grim family members. "I had not known that your excellency would be coming here. Do forgive us for the lack of preparation. I am the head of the Grim family on Planet Buck, it is good to see you, my lord." Julius clasped his fists with both hands and bowed at a 90-degree angle, his greeting respectful.

"Welcome lord!!"

The Grim family members behind him also shouted. "You are the Grim family who stayed here to manage things?" David asked. "Yes, that is me. May I know who you are, my lord...?" After David confirmed Julius's identity, he waved his hand directly. Julius and the other members of the Grim family behind him only felt an unrivalled aura coming toward them. There was a sharp pain and then their bodies flew up, then hit the ground heavily.

Thud!!!

Thud!!!

Thud!!!

Everyone vomited blood.

At the same time, they were turned into cripples by David.

It all happened too fast. Their minds were all a blank except for the severe pain washing over their bodies. Julius tried to support his body with his hands but was unsuccessful. He could only lay on the ground and look at David with a frightened expression. He asked through spasms, "You...you...who are you? We are all of the Grim family, so why did you treat us like this? What did we do to offend you?"

"As if I am anything like your failure of a Grim family. I have eradicated the Grims completely. As the pawns of the Grim family, you may be exempted from the death penalty, but cannot escape punishment. Thus, I will have you all spend the rest of your lives in bed. You will repent for the sins you committed in the first half of your life like this," David said expressionlessly. He had scanned the planet with his mind power before they landed.

And it showed David the unsightly things Julius had committed.

The entire planet was like hell itself. The population was estimated to be in the millions. All the beautiful women had been captured by these scum and locked up for their own pleasure. Meanwhile the men and less desirable women were all subjected to mine for the Grim family.

Not to mention, they were overseen by the Grims.

If they were to slack, they would be beaten up David also found many people hiding in the dark who were not under their control. After all, the Grims only had a limited number of people here.

It was impossible to control the entire planet.

The vegetation on Planet Buck was also very dense, which made for great hiding.