

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1189

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1189

Chapter 1189

Ligit Star.

A sky-soaring tower.

Two men were sitting across from each other, drinking coffee.

One of them was frowning, while the man opposite him looked relaxed.

The man frowning was Sangruil's king-Moe, and the other was Severus from the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

Unable to resist after a while, Moe asked, "Severus, when will your people from Nine-Headed Serpent Clan arrive? Nimbus has noticed our frequent movements. He should have healed from his injuries by now. The sooner we act, the better for us."

Severus took a sip of coffee before slowly answering, "King Moe, calm down. You know it takes time to get across the Zone of Nothingness. You can't rush it. They'll get here when you get here."

Severus enjoyed being on top of the Milky Way and the slow pace of life.

Humans were indeed the wisest of all creatures. They were unique, and it was no wonder all creatures in the universe wanted to imitate them.

He was not the only partial Eternal Realm around, but there was no one stronger than him.

Other than that, Severus was one of the top ten galaxy beasts.

Besides his physical prowess, he had Nine-Headed Serpent Clan's natural talent.

Even if he could not beat Nimbus, he was confident that he would not lose.

Severus did not take Moe seriously. If he had the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan's genes, he would be restricted by the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

This was why they had sent him here.

Helping Sangruil take on the Milky Way Empire was one nice way to call it.

To put it bluntly, they were spying on Sangruil to prevent them from breaking their deal.

However, Severus fell in love with the Milky Way after coming here.

He did not want to go back to the Beast Galaxy anymore.

Not only were there tons of delicious food to eat, but you could stand at the top of the galaxy and look down on everything.

It was something the Beast Galaxy could not give him.”

The Beast Galaxy had Eternal Realm elders controlling him, and there were several races that even the Nine–Headed Serpent could not afford to offend.

Besides that, the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan was also at war with its arch–rival, the Star Pythons.

He could be sent to war at any moment.

It was unknown whether he would survive this.

How easy was life here?

Not only was there no danger, but he could do whatever he wanted at any time.

When he finished eating the humans on Light Star, he could continue eating on another living planet.

There were millions of living planets on the Milky Way. It would take forever to finish them.

This was the kind of life Severus wanted.

It was unlike the Beast Galaxy, where he had to keep his tail between his legs.

Moe was unsatisfied with Severus’ attitude.

“How can I not worry? Our infiltration plans are now being limited by the empire. If Nimbus is given more time to prepare, we will be in trouble. Severus, you don’t want the Nine–Headed Serpent to be in trouble either, do you?”

“Moe, I think you’re confused. So what if we give them time to prepare? With the two of us around, Sangruil is already invincible. One or two more partial Eternal Realms will be sent over to ensure no mistakes this time. Wipe out the Barlowe family, and everything will be settled, won’t it?” Severus said dismissively.

“Severus, I’m not panicking. The Milky Way has several other powerful forces besides the Barlowe family. Even if we wipe out the Barlowe family, it will be troublesome not to win over these forces. Besides, our partnership with the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan must be kept secret. We can’t let too many forces know about it. It will cause a rebellion among the Milky Way’s people if revealed to the public, and it will become a big deal involving the entire Milky Way. We’re doomed if news of this gets to the Universe Enforcers. It’s very unlikely, but we can’t rule it out either. Thus, we should keep things lowkey.”

Severus had no choice but put down his teacup and turn serious at Moe’s words.

Universe Enforcer! These were the people who struck fear into the entire universe.

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 1190

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 1190

Chapter 1190 Of course, this only applied to strong races with great ambitions. If you were only a weak race, only trying to get on with your day, there was no need to be afraid. They would ignore such a petty race.

However, you had to be careful if you unreasonably launched a war on lower-tier civilization, causing extinction and misery in the pursuit of your ambitions and your race’s development.

You better hoped you did not run into these guys.

Otherwise, getting annihilated could be just a matter of minutes.

The Universe Convention was what the Universe Enforcers came up with.

The goal was to limit the possibility of an aggressive war between galaxies.

One of the main points was they did not allow high-tier civilizations to attack low-tier civilizations without reason just because they were stronger.

Depending on the situation, they would be beaten back to square one or annihilated at worst once the Universe Enforcers found out about this.

Resist them?

It was not that they did not think of that.

They just could not do it.

As the law enforcer in charge of the universe's order, they could not do it without strong backing.

How else could a level 3 civilization like the Milky Way have existed next to a level 5 like Beast Galaxy for so long?

If it were not for the Universe Convention and Universe Enforcers, the Beast Galaxy would have taken over and made it its colony long ago.

Neither the Milky Way, Beast Galaxy, nor any forces had any idea where or which force the Universe Enforcers came from.

Rumor had it they were from a level 8 or even level 9 civilization.

However, these were only rumors.

They had not been confirmed.

The Universe Enforcers were like gods to many low civilizations. They were invincible and could not be insulted.

Some civilizations even treated Universe Enforcers like gods.

However, they were not gods, and they could not be everywhere at once.

When a lot of remote galaxies went to war, the Universe Enforcers could not handle all of them.

After all, the universe was vast.

The number of law enforcers was too limited to cover every corner of the universe.

Law enforcers were rare in galaxies like the Beast Galaxy and the Milky Way.

As a result, many powerful forces would still take risks but dared not make it too big of a splash.

After all, enforcers were like a sword hanging over their heads. No one would bet their whole race on it.

A low-civilization galaxy like the Milky Way at the edge of the galaxies was hardly on the enforcers' radar.

The Universe Enforcer's attention would not be attracted unless something happened and caused the Milky Way to collapse.

This was only a possibility.

However, it was unlikely.

It was why Sangruil's king—Moe said they had to prevent the Milky

Way's humans from finding out about Sangruil's collaboration with the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

Otherwise, things would get ugly once the Milky Way united against Sangruil.

Everyone would be doomed if it attracted the Universe Enforcer's attention.

Meanwhile, Nimbus was holding a state banquet, inviting all forces in the Milky Way. It was likely he would announce the news.

At this point, he would explain that the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan was humanity's enemy who treated humans as food.

It would cause all humanity in the Milky Way to gang up against them.

This was why Moe was so nervous.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1191

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1191

Chapter 1191 Severus had figured it out too.

He had to find a way to stop the state banquet that Nimbus was going to hold on Planet Royal in three months.

The Nine-Headed Serpent Clan loved eating humans. It was their instinct, and it could make them grow faster.

Hence, there was this irreconcilable difference between the two races.

If everyone in the MilkyWay found out that the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan worked together with Sangruil, there was no doubt that they would unite to fight against them.

At that time, even though they were absolutely capable of winning the fight, it would not be easy.

Other than that, Severus was afraid that he might catch the attention of the Universe Enforcers.

He had never seen those bunch of elusive fellows. However, that did not stop the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan from being afraid of them.

“Since Brother Moe put it that way, I shall use the bloodline secret technique to urge them to hurry over here. If their clan representatives can’t arrive here in three months, I’ll head to the Planet Royal with you and see what the Barlowe family got,” Severus said in a serious tone.

Indeed!!

The moment one heard the name of the Universe Enforcers, even one of the strongest clans, the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan, would chicken out.

Moe secretly snickered.

This was what he wanted.

He had to eliminate the Barlowe family as soon as possible and get everything under control.

Besides, he could not expose the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan yet.

As the overlord who had conquered the Milky Way before.

Moe would have known that once his plan of working together with the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan was exposed, he would immediately become the sinner of the Milky Way and everyone would see him as an enemy.

However, there was nothing they could do.

If he did not look for foreign aid, Sangruil would slowly drown in the river of history.

This was what Moe would never tolerate.

He could not let Sangruil be gone forever while he was leading it.

That was why he chose to make a reckless move and came up with this craziest idea.

If it failed, there was nothing more he could ask for.

It would only speed up Sangruil’s downfall.

If he succeeded, then Sangruil would become the overlord of the Milky Way once again.

When the time came, all he had to do was to make the lands near Beast Galaxy a restricted area and secretly give it to the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

No one could know about this.

The Labate family could still be the royal family of the Milky Way.

It was a huge price to pay.

However, it was still acceptable.

He had the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan backing him up, so Moe could not find any reason that this would fail.

He would only fail if he accidentally alerted the Universe Enforcers.

However, the chances of this happening were very low.

If things really turned out that way.

Then that would be how Sangruil would end.

Moe would not have anything to complain about either.

This was the last crazy thing a king of a nation that was about to fall would do

“It sets my mind at ease to hear Brother Severus say this. We’re all in the same boat now. It’s not going to benefit us in any way if the boat tips over. That’s why we have to stop Nimbus from organizing the state banquet and eliminate all the risks that might make the plan fail.”

Moe finally put a smile on his face.

“Nice working with you. I hope Brother Moe can keep his promise after we’ve succeeded, otherwise, it’ll be difficult for me to explain to my clan.”

“Don’t worry, Brother Severus. I have to have the capability to do so even if I change my mind. Don’t you think so? Haha...”

The two of them talked to each other for a while.

After that, Severus sent Moe off.

Then, he used his blood to perform a secret technique and contacted the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

The communication devices were incapable of forming a connection between two galaxies. They had to perform a secret technique to be able to contact each other.

Every strong clan would have its own secret technique of communication.

Planet Buck.

David continued to lead Balu and Mia across the old-growth forest on Planet Buck.

They were looking for the Buckeranians who were hiding in the dark.

They soon arrived at a dark place. David reached out and signaled the two persons behind him to stop. The Buckeranian's hidden base was right in front of them. It was bigger than the other bases scattered across the planet.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1192

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1192

Chapter 1192

There were at least hundreds of thousands of them.

The area occupied was much bigger too.

"Balu, there's a Buckeranian base in front of us. As the head of Planet Buck, it'd be better for you to take the lead," said David as he turned around.

"Yes! Mr. David!"

Balu took a few steps forward after that.

Then, Balu raised his voice, "Fellow Buckeranians, nice to meet you! I'm Balu, son of Babu, previous head of Planet Buck. Three hundred years ago, Planet Buck encountered a disastrous event. My family and I were sent away from this planet. I finally made it back here today. This time, I'll lead all of you out of misery and live the peaceful life that we used to live. The Grim family, who brought disaster upon us, has been eliminated. God had mercy on us Buckeranians, and He gave us another chance to start a new life."

After Balu finished talking, he kneeled on the ground. Then, both of his arms crossed and rested in front of his chest, with his forehead touching the ground. He made a special prayer gesture that only the Buckeranians would recognize.

Balu quietly kneeled on the ground.

Soon, there were noises in front of him.

There were pairs of bright eyes showing up in the dark.

Heads started popping out one after another on the top of the huge tree.

Slowly, not far ahead from them, a few thousand people started showing themselves. Young men and women were carrying different kinds of weapons in their hands.

These people were sizing David and the others up with curiosity.

They knew the three of them did not come here to take them away.

The Grim family would send many people here to take them away and make them their mining slaves every time they came here.

It was unlikely that they had only sent the three of them here.

Other than that, the man who was kneeling on the ground performed the Buckeranians' ancient worship gesture.

This was the gesture the Buckeranians would only use when they worshiped their God every year.

However, these people did not ask any questions out loud.

It was as though they were waiting for someone to arrive. David and Mia did not say anything either.

After a while, the crowd in front of them dispersed and cleared a path.

A gray-haired old man leaning on his walking stick hobbled toward them.

The old man had just shown up, and he asked impatiently, "Who? Who? Who's Balu?"

Balu heard the old man's voice.

Only then did he lift his head.

He looked at the old man and replied, "I'm Balu!"

The old man saw the slave mark on Balu's forehead and immediately came forward to help Balu up. "Are... Are you really Balu? Babu's son?" The old man asked in a tone full of anticipation. "Yes! I'm Balu. My father is Babu," answered Balu.

“Little Balu! Do you still remember me? I’m Utopia,” The old man looked at him with his eyes welled with tears.

Utopia?

Balu tried recalling.

After all, three hundred years had passed since this.

Suddenly, it came to him.

He widened his eyes, and asked in a loud voice, “Uncle Utopia?”

“Yes! Yes! It’s me!” The old man replied excitedly.

“Uncle Utopia, you... you’re still alive? I thought everyone was dead. I didn’t expect you’d still be alive. That’s great. Sobs...”

Balu got all emotional and suddenly started sobbing in front of everyone.

Utopia was his father’s general officer back then.

He was also someone whom Balu was close with.

It was just that it had been a long time.

Utopia’s appearance had changed a lot, and Balu did not recognize him.

It was hard for Balu to suppress his emotions when he could meet someone he knew after three hundred years.

However, it only took him a moment before he fell silent.

“I was supposed to be dead. Our people couldn’t see any hope for the future. It truly upset me!” Utopia exclaimed. “Uncle Utopia, it must have been tough for you!”

“It’s nothing! Little Balu, it must have been tougher for you all these years! Let’s go! Let’s head somewhere else and have a chat.”

Utopia was about to take Balu deeper into the forest after that.

“Okay!!!”

After Balu answered him, he turned around and looked at David, “Mr. David, please follow me.”

David smiled and nodded.

He felt happy for Balu to be able to reunite with someone he knew.

At the same time, it reminded David of the people who were waiting for him to return to Earth.

He had to get things done as soon as possible.

Then, he would return to the Earth.

That was the only place where David felt like home.