

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1391

Chapter 1391

Beast Galaxy.

Just like the name suggested, it was a galaxy consisting of beasts.

Countless races of galaxy beasts gathered here to reproduce and live out their lives.

This was a level 5 civilization, and it was the most powerful among the galaxies.

Not only was it countless times more powerful than the Milky Way, a level 3 civilization, but it was also much bigger.

In short, any race that was on the top of the ranks here would be able to annihilate the Milky Way.

The Nine-Headed Serpent Clan was one of its representatives.

They could only barely make it into the top ten in the Beast Galaxy. However, if they could ignore the Universe Enforcers, they could easily overthrow the Milky Way using their full force.

Not only that, if one were to move the Milky Way into the Beast Galaxy, it might not even occupy more than one-tenth of the space.

One must know that there were still a lot of undiscovered areas in the Milky Way.

If one were to add up all those undiscovered areas, it would be bigger than the known areas of the Milky Way.

Hence, one could only imagine how big the Beast Galaxy was.

The Nine-Headed Serpent Clan resided at the edge of Beast Galaxy, and the only thing between it and the Milky Way was the Zone of Nothingness.

However, the Zone of Nothingness was very wide as well.

Normal people would not be able to cross it.

Unfortunately, for the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan, the humans in the Milky Way were delicious food that could promote growth.

Hence, they always vied to control the Milky Way.

To put it bluntly, they wanted to raise the humans of the Milky Way so they could eat them anytime they wanted to promote their growth.

However, the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan was a huge race in the level 5 civilization. According to the Universe Convention, they were not allowed to take action against the Milky Way, which was only a level 3 civilization.

This was the rule set by a high-level civilization, and the Universe Enforcers were the people who set these rules.

Without the Universe Enforcers and the Universe Convention, the universe would be chaotic.

There would be constant wars between the galaxies and races, and the civilians would never have a day of peace.

The strong would devour the weak to become stronger, while the weak would never have the chance to grow.

This was what happened countless years ago.

Back then, there were no restrictions set by the Universe Convention.

Even when the high-level civilizations noticed something was not right and came up with the Universe Convention, no one wanted to obey the rules.

They still did whatever they wanted and completely ignored the Universe Convention until the Universe Enforcers came along to crush those people's ambitions.

They punished the rule breakers and even annihilated some of the arrogant ones.

Eventually, everyone came to their senses.

From then on, the Universe Enforcers' reputation resonated across the universe.

Even though so much time had passed, their reputation never faded.

Of course, the Universe Enforcers would appear from time to time. They would find those who were going against the Universe Convention secretly and punish them severely.

To be honest, the reason the high-level civilization set the Universe Convention to restrict the races of the universe was not to maintain the order of the universe and protect the weak. They were not so lofty.

Instead, they did not want civilizations that were level 6 and above to be born under gunfire again.

This was the most important reason.

After all, the universe was too big.

If everyone was constantly being pressured by war, it's possible that a high-level civilization would suddenly be born in one such corner of the universe.

This was what those rule makers did not want to see.

On the edge of the Beast Galaxy.

In the area in which the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan ruled over, a huge crack suddenly appeared in the space.

An enormous tortoise climbed out of the crack and stood tall in the void.

Roar!

The enormous tortoise let out a sound that sounded like a roar.

It caused countless creatures on the surrounding planets to feel dizzy. They looked up to the void above them in shock as they wanted to see what had made that noise.

The appearance of the enormous tortoise immediately attracted the attention of the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

The head and senior elder of the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan, Lucius and Serpentine, immediately arrived at the scene.

Chapter 1392

Humans were the most efficacious creatures in the universe.

Therefore, all races in the universe would imitate the human form.

Both Lucius and Serpentine appeared in human form.

Only during combat would they return to their original forms and display 100% of their combat power.

Looking at the enormous tortoise that inexplicably appeared in front of him while exuding an aura that only belonged to a strong Eternal Realm Ruler Ranker, both of them were a little puzzled.

Based on what they knew, there seemed to be no turtle race in the Beast Galaxy, right?

Even if there were, they would be extremely weak.

Why was there such an enormous tortoise from Eternal Realm here?

Also, the moment it showed up, it made such a loud noise.

Obviously, it did not come in peace.

‘Wait!’

The two suddenly realized that something was wrong.

They saw that there was actually a building on the back of the enormous tortoise.

‘I—Is this enormous tortoise just a ride?’

Serpentine and Lucius glanced at each other.

At this moment, they felt very shocked in their hearts.

Obviously, ordinary people could not use an Eternal Realm Ruler Ranked beast as their ride.

Even though it was just a tortoise, it was an Eternal Realm Ruler Ranker.

Only someone stronger than it could tame a behemoth of this level.

‘Who is this?’

‘What are they doing in the territory of the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan?’

“May I know what your Excellency is doing in the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan’s territory?” Serpentine could not stop himself from asking.

“Long time no see, nine-headed bastards! Have you already forgotten me?”

A joking voice resounded through the void, making Serpentine and Lucius frown.

'This guy did not come in peace.'

The two did not answer, but instead, they stared at the building on the enormous tortoise's back.

They wanted to see who was here to make trouble.

After David finished speaking, he walked out of the building with Amadi, then walked toward Serpentine.

The moment he saw David, Serpentine recognized him.

The Milky Way's new Eternal: David Lidell.

Not long ago, when David first got into Eternal Realm, he gave Serpentine a show of strength.

Hence, Serpentine had a deep impression of David.

He had roamed the Beast Galaxy for so many years, and yet, had never suffered such a huge loss

One of his heads on his Eternal Golden Body was chopped off by David using his sword from a galaxy away.

It could be said that David's move did not do much harm, but was still extremely insulting.

This was an absolutely embarrassing for Serpentine.

He had already stepped into Eternal Realm a long time ago.

Even if he was only a Ruler Ranker, he was in the late stages of it.

On the contrary, David just got into Eternal Realm, and he was only a beginner Ruler Ranker.

The two were two small realms apart.

Serpentine had indeed been looking down on David, a new Eternal, and that was why that had happened.

It was undeniable that David's sword was scary.

Even after so long, Serpentine was still fearful of it.
