

Married At First Sight Chapter 1567

Married at First Sight Chapter 1567—Zachary said, “You don’t have to put too much pressure on yourself. Nana told you that, but the handover will be at least a few years later. Even the smartest and greatest missus in charge will take a few years to fully take over everything.

“Look at the account books when you have time so you can learn where the properties are and what businesses are in operation. You can take your time with the rest.”

Serenity nodded and responded, “That’s what Mom said. She said I’ll be able to take over after two or three years.”

“It’s thanks to the missus in charge every term that the number of stores and properties grew. If the money earned isn’t fully spent, it can be used to repurchase stores and houses, or it can also be invested in other financial products. In any case, money is used to generate more money.”

Serenity replied, “I’m still under a lot of pressure after hearing what you said. I dare not say that I have an eye for investment.”

“It’s not difficult. You just need to purchase a few stores. As long as the location is good and it has the potential to be developed, you can buy it. We can also buy properties with money out of our pockets. Unlike other families, we won’t stop women from investing or doing business.”

In other rich families, women mostly stayed at home. They were not allowed to put themselves out there and run businesses.

To those families, having their women running businesses outside was a symbol of their incompetence

The Yorks did not have such rules.

It might seem like Tania and her two sisters-in-law rarely showed themselves in public, but in fact, they were involved in any profitable industry.

Among the Yorks, Rowan was still a minor and was the only one who only had a few properties under his name. He bought them using the money he saved from his allowance every year. Rowan was ahead of his peers. After all, many people struggled for a lifetime only to buy one house.

Apart from Rowan, everyone else in the Yorks had considerable private businesses.

Not to mention Zachary—he had numerous big and small companies that belonged to him alone.

Serenity smiled and noted, "I'm currently not investing in anything except for the vegetable farm, which I simply followed Elisa. I also have to learn more-I can't become the worst head missus in your family."

Zachary replied to her dotingly, "You have me. As long as I'm here, I won't let you become the worst head missus in our family. I told you that I'll transfer all my properties to you so you can manage them, but you refused."

"How about you start by helping to manage our private properties as a couple?"

"Do we have a lot of private properties?"

"Not really."

Serenity could not believe his words.

His definition of "not really" could be shocking.

Zachary led Serenity into a summer house and sat in front of a wooden table.

Serenity could not help but lean her head on his shoulder. "Babe, only now do I feel like I'm blending into your family."

This was because her in-laws started to arrange for her to take over the internal family businesses.

Zachary embraced her and said, "It was my bad for hiding my identity in the beginning as I didn't dare let you know all this. You wanted a divorce when you found out who I am... Now that things are good, I'm afraid to let you discover so quickly that you have a heavy burden, afraid that you'd want to leave again."

"Seren, in our family, goods can't be returned once sold. You have to tolerate me for life whether I'm good or bad."

Serenity was amused by him.

"You're handsome and rich, and yet you're afraid of being returned? Even if you're returned a hundred times, many ladies will still line up to marry you."

"I don't want anyone else except you."

Zachary immediately expressed himself.

He only wanted Serenity.

In relationships, he was unfeeling and would not be easily moved. Once he was moved, he would not easily change his mind.

Thinking of being unfeeling, Julian came to Zachary's mind.

"Seren, do you still remember what Julian said about his hypoactive sexual desire disorder?"

Married at First Sight Chapter 1568—Serenity left Zachary's shoulder and looked at him. She seemed gossipy "What did the psychic say? Can Julian be treated? Or did he lie about it?"

"According to Mr Bucham's investigation, Julian didn't lie about it. I don't think he'd have the guts to come up with such a lie. As powerful as he is, his dad is still the head of the family. Since Mr. Bucham still hasn't completely let go of everything. Julian won't be able to get away."

Serenity asked, "So he really has hypoactive sexual desire disorder?"

Zachary nodded

Juan's update came from Zachary pestering and asking his nana

Then What did the psychic say?"

Julian was also an excellent man, but it was unfortunate that he had hypoactive sexual desire disorder. A person with such a disorder could only depend on fate to find a partner and live a normal life. Otherwise, Julian would be someone who was only living in the shell of a man.

He was normal in all aspects but did not react to women.

Zachary answered, "The psychic said he can meet a destined person, but that person hasn't appeared yet, so he needs to wait."

"Julian is about the same age as Mr. Lewis, right? Does he still have to wait? Wouldn't he be forty by the time he gets married and has children?" Serenity asked.

"It probably won't take that long. I'm guessing it'll happen in the next two years. Duncan is slightly older than Julian, but I somehow think that Julian will get married before Duncan."

Zachary's sister-in-law had no feelings for Duncan at all.

She was also hurt in her past relationship, so it would not be easy to pursue her.

Besides, Mrs. Lewis was also in the way.

Serenity kept quiet when she thought about her sister and Duncan.

"Babe, is that psychic that great?"

"He wouldn't dare spout nonsense to my nana if he isn't skilled."

Serenity chuckled and said, "You said he was talking nonsense. The last time we met, I noticed you were quite polite to him."

Zachary kissed her on the cheek and grinned. "That's because he said we'll have a son and a daughter. Who doesn't like to hear nice words? Our family wishes for a daughter the most."

Serenity touched her flat belly and said, "Now, there are only intestines inside. Our children are still sitting on the clouds in the sky."

People said that children sat on the clouds in the sky to choose their mothers.

No child had chosen Serenity to be their mother yet.

Zachary turned her face toward him and lowered his head to kiss her red lips.

After giving her a deep kiss, Zachary lovingly caressed her glittering red lips with his big hand and said in a low and hoarse voice, "Seren, whatever will be in life, will be. Otherwise, we shouldn't push it

The psychic said we'll have a son and a daughter. I believe that it'll happen one day.

The psychic also said that Serenity will show signs after fall.

After fall happened to be when they would hold their wedding..."

Perhaps Serenity would show signs after their wedding, or she might be pregnant before. The early stage of pregnancy would not affect their wedding.

"I hope what the psychic said will come true," Serenity expressed.

Zachary noted, "He has tricks up his sleeve."

In fact, instead of the psychic, Zachary trusted his nana more.

If his nana trusted the psychic, he must be an expert.

"Don't think too much. I told you that we should go with the flow. The more you think, the more stressed you are, and the more difficult it'll be to get pregnant. As long as we have no health problems and our genes don't conflict with each other, it'll only be a matter of time before we have children."

Married At First Sight Chapter 1569

Married at First Sight Chapter 1569—Serenity thought of her main task at the moment, which was to first figure out all of her in-laws' family properties.

This was to prepare her to become the head missus in the future.

With her attention distracted, she would not dwell on the matter of being pregnant or not.

Zachary embraced her again and whispered a few words in her ear.

Serenity blushed right away and pinched his thigh.

Zachary played along and shouted, "Honey, are you trying to kill your husband?"

"Come on, I didn't even use force. You screamed like a little girl," Serenity commented.

Zachary laughed out loud.

Meanwhile, at the Stones, Mrs. Stone was helped into the house by the housekeeper and a strange man.

When Elisa, who was about to go out, saw this, she threw her bag onto the sofa and quickly went forward She asked anxiously, "Mom, what happened to you?"

She remembered that her mom mentioned going out for a walk to get some fresh air.

Mrs. Stone was assisted to the sofa. She sat and answered, "I accidentally fell and sprained my foot. Luckily, Mr. Reading saw me and sent me back."

Elisa squatted in front of her mom and saw that her mom's clothes were soiled. It was true that she had taken a fall. After that, Elisa looked at her mom's foot and noticed that it was slightly red and swollen. Her mom seemed to have sprained it.

As such, Elisa asked the housekeeper to bring the ointment.

She stood up and thanked the strange man, "Thank you, Mr. Reading."

Mr. Reading was in his early thirties and looked rather handsome. Elisa found him to look familiar, but she did not know him at all. Given that Mr. Reading saw her mom spraining her foot in the surrounding area, he must also live here.

Elisa had never met Mr. Reading but thought he looked familiar.

Mr. Reading responded, "You're welcome. Anyone who saw your mom would've sent her home."

"Elisa, Mr. Reading is Zachary's cousin. They're of the same age," Mrs. Stone explained.

Mr. Reading was Tania's nephew from her paternal family.

The Readings were a wealthy family but were very low-key. If not for Tania marrying into the Yorks and becoming the missus in charge, very few people paid attention to the Readings. It was mainly because they never attended the parties of the high society in Wiltspoon, so only a few people knew them.

Elisa was very surprised.

She had liked Zachary for many years and openly confessed her love to him, but she never knew his cousin.

No wonder she felt that Mr. Reading looked familiar. It was not that she had seen him before, but Mr. Reading and Tania shared some resemblance. After all, they were aunt and nephew.

Elisa had seen Tania, so she felt that Mr. Reading looked familiar when she saw him.

"Mr. Reading, thank you so much. Please have a seat."

Elisa now knew that Mr. Reading was Zachary's cousin, so he was considered a close relative. Besides, Mr. Reading also sent her mom home when she sprained her foot. Hence, Elisa was nice to him, and she was full of gratitude.

Mr. Reading said, "Ms. Stone, I have something to do, so I won't be staying. I'll visit again some other day when I have time."

“Mr. Reading, you should sit and have a cup of tea.”

Mr. Reading politely refused the kindness of the mother and daughter.

Mrs. Stone said to her daughter, “Elisa, see Mr. Reading off.”

Elisa hummed.

She escorted Mr. Reading out.

Married At First Sight Chapter 1570

Married at First Sight Chapter 1570—Along the way, Elisa kept thanking Mr. Reading.

Mr. Reading smiled and said, “It was no trouble at all. Our families are considered relatives, so you don’t need to be so courteous, Ms. Stone.”

He stopped at the villa entrance and looked at Elisa. Afterward, he reached into the hidden pocket of his suit and retrieved a small box of business cards he carried with him before pulling one of the cards out for her.

“Ms. Stone, this is my business card.”

Elisa took the card and looked at it.

Mr. Reading’s name was Andrew Reading. He was the COO of Reading Group, and the CEO was his elder brother.

After accepting Andrew’s business card, Elisa said, “Thanks for sending my mom home, Mr. Reading. I’ll treat you to a meal someday when you’re free.”

Andrew grinned. “Okay. I’ll be leaving first, Ms. Stone.”

Elisa walked him to his car and waved him goodbye. She stood at the same spot to watch him drive away. Remy, who just came out of the villa next door, happened to see this.

He did not return to FC Manor for the holidays. He told his parents that his newly bought villa needed to be renovated again. He had to keep an eye on the work, lest the renovator makes a mistake. As such, he would not be going home this holiday.

In fact, Remy wanted to take advantage of the holiday to pursue Elisa and go on a date with her.

After he confessed to Elisa, she neither accepted nor rejected him.

Remy knew he had a chance.

He was glad to have spent some time together with Elisa. He could feel that she was genuinely happy with him.

The iron must be struck while it was hot. Remy did not want to miss the opportunity.

FC Manor was his home, so he could go back whenever he wanted.

His family would be even happier if he could bring Elisa back too.

Remy had only told his big brother that he liked Elisa, and Ben was very supportive of Remy's pursuit of Elisa. Moreover, Ben intended to expand their business in Wiltspoon. That way, Remy could stay in Wiltspoon for a long time, which would be better for him to pursue his future wife.

At this time, Remy was standing in front of his villa. He saw Andrew's car drive by and also saw what he looked like.

Remy was slightly relieved because he regarded Andrew as not as handsome as he was. He did not have much of an impression of Andrew. Similar to Elisa, he only thought that Andrew looked familiar.

After Andrew drove away, Remy walked toward Elisa. Elisa saw him too and was in no hurry to go back inside. She waited for him to approach her.

"Elisa, who was that man just now?"

Earlier on, Elisa and Andrew were talking and smiling.

Remy was on guard, afraid of having a love rival without his knowledge.

Elisa was a nice lady, but due to her character, she had a bad reputation in the high society of Wiltspoon. Remy thought that those people were jealous of her and deliberately wanted to ruin her reputation.

It happened that Elisa did not care about those things, causing many people to never consider her as a wife candidate.

This was a good thing for Remy. If nobody realized the good in her, he would not have competitors and would have a greater chance of succeeding.

Elisa answered, "That was Mr. Reading, Zachary's cousin. You might not know him- even I didn't know him until my mom introduced him. The Readings keep an extremely low profile in Wiltspoon. Everyone's understanding of them is that their daughter is the Yorks' head missus."

Remy came to a sudden realization. "Ah, that was Mr. York's cousin. No wonder I felt that he looked familiar. Mr. Reading and his aunt look alike."

He had seen Tania several times and had a deep impression of her.

"Why did Mr. Reading come over?"

Mr. Reading was quite focused when he looked at Elisa just now. Remy was worried that he would fall in love with her at first sight.

Elisa explained, "My mom went out for a walk but fell and sprained her foot. Mr. Reading happened to have walked past and seen her, so he sent her home."

Remy asked, "Does Mr. Reading live here too?"
