Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1696 -Seeing the brothers from the York family coming over, the bodyguards of the Lewis family felt a headache.

“Young Master York.” The bodyguard of the Lewis family stepped forward boldly and blocked the way of the three of Zachary. He said apologetically, “Young Master York, our Young Master doesn’t want to see you yet, please leave first and don’t make it difficult for him.”

Zachary said softly: “Tell young master that we’re coming here to see him.”

The bodyguard: “Sir and Madam are still coaxing the fourth young master Lewis to eat, and the fourth young master Lewis is in an extremely bad mood at the moment.” The bodyguard said these words, and he hoped that Zachary and others would leave on their own initiative, and didn’t make it difficult for them.

In fact, what they hoped most was that Duncan would be willing to meet his friends, and not lie on the hospital bed all day long.

It’s a pity that Duncan, who didn’t even listen to the words of his father and mother, was even less likely to listen to their persuasion.

Duncan had been lying on the bed for more than ten days, and his mentality had already collapsed. He was looking forward to standing up immediately and walking like a normal person, so that he would no longer have to lie in bed and be taken care of.

He didn’t want to see anyone else either, he always felt that when others came to visit him, there was sympathy in their eyes.

He was disabled and couldn’t walk.

Even putting him in a wheelchair made him uncomfortable.

The doctor said that he would have to lie down for a while, as his leg injury healed a bit, and sitting in a wheelchair would not be so uncomfortable, but if he wanted to recover like a normal person, he still needed to stay for a long time, and he had to continue to do rehabilitation.

“I don’t want to eat, I don’t have an appetite, take it away, take it away!” Duncan’s roar came from the ward.

Immediately afterwards, the bowl and chopsticks were knocked over and fell to the ground with a loud noise.

They didn't need to go in and look to know that Duncan lost his temper and knocked over the bowl in his mother's hand.

Mrs. Lewis wanted to feed her son breakfast herself, but the bowl and chopsticks were knocked over and fell to the ground. The bowl was smashed, and the food in the bowl fell on the bed and the floor.

"Duncan."

Mr. Lewis raised his hand high in anger, but in the end he put it down weakly, and put on a pleading tone: "Duncan, if you don't eat something, your nutrition and physical strength won't keep up. How can you get better? Look at your mother, since your accident until now, she has been around you every day, and her hair is all white."

Because of proper maintenance and frequent beauty treatments, Mrs. Lewis didn't have much gray hair before.

Now, it's really gray haired.

"Husband, don't blame Duncan." Mrs. Lewis brought paper towels and a trash can, wiped off the food spilled on the bed, and cleaned up the floor.

It was she who made her son unable to walk while lying on the bed, and she insisted on taking care of him herself.

As far as the son's violent temper was now, except for their parents who could tolerate it, it was difficult for others to tolerate it.

"I'm not hungry, I can't eat, I lie here every day like a living dead, I don't exercise, I can't digest, I'm not hungry at all, I can't eat, how many times have I told you, don't send me any more I can't eat so much food! Do you think I'm the same Duncan who can eat two big bowls of rice in one meal?"

Duncan overturned the bowl and asked his mother to clean it up because he felt that he was wrong, but he just couldn't help it and couldn't control his emotions.

After being accused by his father, he yelled at his parents, and his words were full of his despair about his current situation.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1697 -Mr. Lewis felt extremely uneasy when he heard his son screaming.

Duncan was a tall, rough-looking man. After lying in the hospital for more than ten days, he lost a lot of weight.

Those who care about him would feel uncomfortable as long as they saw him now. He couldn't stand up, and he lost his former vigor.

Even the eyes were no longer the brilliance of the past, and some were desperate.

The doctor also stated at the beginning that his ability to fully recover would largely depend on his ability to reclaim his confidence, persevere in treating his legs, and engage in rehabilitation.

It's a long way.

It was possible to go day after day without making any progress, which was especially easy to break down.

"Husband, don't blame Duncan." Mrs. Lewis persuaded her husband, "It's my fault. Duncan said he wasn't hungry anymore, so I insisted on feeding him."

Mrs. Lewis took all the faults on herself go.

Duncan looked at his mother, and suddenly looked away, unable to look at his mother again.

Although it was his mother who thought he was going to see Liberty and intended to stop him, causing his car accident, in fact, the bigger fault was on him. He was driving too fast, so in case of an emergency, even if he braked suddenly Or rear-end someone else's car.

It was a blessing not to die.

The bodyguard came in and stood there for a long time before he dared to come over and asked Duncan softly, "Fourth Young Master, Second Young Master york, Callum came to see you."

He dared not say that Zachary was here.

Callum had not been in Wiltspoon recently, people who didn't know thought he was on a business trip and just came back now, with the relationship between the two families, it was the most normal thing for Callum to come to the hospital to visit Duncan.

Duncan said coldly: "I don't want to see him, and now I don't want to see anyone, let him go."

After a moment of silence, the bodyguard said: "Eldest Young Master York, and Mrs. Eldest Young Mistress are also here."

Duncan: "I don't want to see anyone, I don't want to see them, I don't want to face their sympathetic eyes when they look at me, I don't need sympathy!"

After the bodyguard said one more word, Duncan exploded and lost his temper again, The bodyguard growled loudly.

"Duncan." Mr. Lewis shouted.

But Mrs. Lewis hurriedly said to the bodyguard: "Go out and tell Zachary and Callum that Duncan won't see any guests."

She followed bodyguard out of the ward.

After seeing the York brothers, Mrs. Lewis burst into tears.

"Zachary, Callum, I don't even know what to do." Mrs. Lewis wiped her tears and choked up.

Serenity handed her a tissue and comforted her: "Auntie, Duncan will get better soon."

"His mentality has collapsed and he can't listen to anything. He always said he's disabled and struggles to sit up. He said he couldn't walk normally. He lost his self-confidence." Mrs. Lewis said, tears fell down again.

Duncan's mentality collapsed, and Mrs. Lewis also collapsed.

Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Lewis took care of their son every day, without the help of maids, and did not need other sons to replace them, because they felt that they had caused the result of the youngest son.

Until the youngest son recovers, Mrs. Lewis would insist on taking care of him.

That way, she would feel better.

The York brothers also comforted Mrs. Lewis.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1698 -Serenity also helped Mrs. Lewis walk to a chair not far away and sit down.

“Duncan doesn’t want to see people, doesn’t communicate with others, so he’s bored and puts himself on the edge of his horns, how can he get better?” Mrs. Lewis wiped her tears and apologized to the Zachary brothers: “Zachary, Callum, don’t blame Duncan, he doesn’t want to see people now, sometimes he doesn’t even want to see his brothers when they come to see him, and he doesn’t let them into the ward.”

“When his three sister-in-laws came to the ward with soup, they were not allowed in. Now, when he sees everyone, he thinks that everyone is feeling sorry for him, and he also thinks that everyone is feeling sorry for him if they say something kind to him.” Mrs. Lewis couldn’t stop crying.

Duncan had always given her the impression of being very strong.

But the current collapse also left Mrs. Lewis helpless.

The elders of the Lewis family had all been there, but Duncan just couldn’t listen to them now. He didn’t even want to see his best buddies Zachary and Josh. The two send him messages and calls, but he didn’t answer them.

Duncan completely locked himself in his pessimistic world.

If this continued, when would he recover?

After Zachary was silent, he said: “Can Duncan now use a wheelchair outside, Auntie? When you have some free time, take him for a walk. He has been in the hospital bed for more than ten days, and he is bored. He’ll feel better if you send him out for a walk and a break.

We can’t let him fall apart like this because it would ruin the rest of his life. All we need to do is help him change his mind and give him back his faith in life for him to get better.”

Mrs. Lewis sighed, “When he moves, his legs still hurt terribly. He can sit in a wheelchair, but after sitting, he feels useless again and is unable to sit in the wheelchair. He also resisted sitting in a wheelchair, saying that he would spend his whole life in a wheelchair, saying that he was disabled.”

Zachary opened his mouth, but for a moment he didn’t know how to answer.

As Duncan’s close buddy, Zachary had also done a lot. He spent every day sending messages and making phone calls to Duncan, trying to motivate Duncan, but like nothing, Duncan never replied to him.

Did Duncan read Zachary’s message, which he was unaware of?

Duncan trapped himself in his pessimistic world, built an iron wall, and didn't want to see anyone other than his parents, and he couldn't listen to other people's persuasion and comfort.

Although it caused distress and anxiety in those who cared about him, there was nothing they could do.

Mrs. Lewis cried for a long time before she stopped her tears and slowly calmed down.

Duncan continued to require Mrs. Lewis' care. No matter how uncomfortable Mrs. Lewis felt, she had to maintain her calmness or else her son would be effectively destroyed.

"Zachary, Callum, Serenity, I'm really sorry, you come here every day, and you always make your trip for nothing." Mrs. Lewis apologized to the three of them again.

"Auntie, Duncan will get over it in time, don't worry too much." The York brothers were nothing but consolation.

Mrs. Lewis nodded. She would definitely let her son regain his confidence in life and stand up again.

"Zachary, the media reporters, please keep an eye on them, and don't let them write about Duncan's injury. Duncan will still use his mobile phone to check the trending news every day." Thinking of this, Mrs. Lewis asked Zachary for help.

The Lewis family members were constantly keeping an eye on current news, and as soon as they saw anything in the media about Duncan, they reacted right away.

Mrs. Lewis was afraid that the Lewis family would not be able to keep an eye on her.

Zachary: "Auntie, I've paid attention to it, and I won't let them make up any more random things."

Those media liked to involve Liberty the most.

Liberty was divorced and lived with a child. This was not sensitive. What was sensitive was that her own sister was the eldest mistress of the York family.

Because of this relationship, as long as Liberty was involved, it would be very interesting.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1699 -They gave the gift to the bodyguard and brought it into the ward after briefly comforting Mrs. Lewis. Prior to the others, Zachary had to leave the hospital.

Mrs. Lewis escorted everyone all the way to the elevator entrance. She watched them enter the elevator before going back.

Back at the door of the ward, Mrs. Lewis stood for a while before going in.

Duncan was lying on the bed, staring blankly at the ceiling, wondering what he was thinking.

“Zachary and the others left?” Mr. Lewis asked softly.

“Duncan doesn’t want to see them, they can only leave.” Mrs. Lewis sighed, walked to the hospital bed and sat down, looked at her son, after a while, she said softly: “Duncan, everyone came to see you because they care about you. It’s not sympathy, so don’t go into the horns, okay?”

Duncan closed his eyes. It was obvious that he didn’t want to listen to what his mother had to say.

Mrs. Lewis’s heart suddenly throbbed.

Duncan had been pulled back on the right track, and he no longer clamored to venture into the rivers and lakes. He borrowed a large sum of money from Zachary and started his own business. It was very hard at first, but he survived.

More than ten years had passed before the Lewis & Co. was today.

His net worth had also reached tens of billions. He was a high-spirited and successful person who walked with wind.

If it wasn’t for his feelings...he would still be the Fourth Young Master Lewis who walked like a wind.

It’s all her mother’s fault, it’s her son’s car accident that caused her son to persecute and stop him from pursuing Liberty.

Duncan closed his eyes because he wanted to ignore his mother and not listen to her, but unexpectedly fell asleep.

Although he lied in bed every day, in fact, he suffered from insomnia and couldn’t fall asleep all the time.

Sometimes he closed his eyes, thought about things, and fell asleep groggily at dawn.

The car accident hit him too hard.

He couldn't accept the reality that he would become crippled.

"Husband, look at Duncan, I'll go for a walk." Mrs. Lewis got up and said.

"Go ahead, don't think too much, Duncan is just depressed for a short time, I believe he will cheer up." Mr. Lewis knew how sad his wife was during this time.

Now that Duncan was asleep, it was also good for Mrs. Lewis to go out for a walk to relax.

Mrs. Lewis took a deep look at her sleeping son, then took out her bag from the drawer of the bedside table, put it on and left the ward.

She didn't go out to relax, she went to see Liberty.

When Mrs. Lewis came to Liberty, the shop was not busy. After the night shift had breakfast, few customers came in to eat. If the shop was not closed, it would be busy again at noon.

Some people didn't like to eat white rice at noon, but like to eat noodles and dumplings.

In the past, All You Can Eat only dealt with breakfast business, and usually started tidying up and cleaning after 10 o'clock, and then closed the door for get off work.

In the past, Liberty occasionally kept the store open all day, working when there was work, cooking dumplings when there was no work, or simply dozing off in the store.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1700 -"Mrs. Lewis." Seeing Mrs. Lewis coming in, Liberty who had just sat down quickly stood up and called Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lewis responded gently, and seeing that there was no business in the store, she said softly, "Liberty, is it convenient for me to invite you to a nearby coffee shop for a cup of coffee?"

Liberty smiled, "It is convenient."

Liberty took off her apron, put it away, and said to the two shop assistants: "Clean up first, I'll go out for a while, and Jim will send Sonny back later, take care of Sonny for me."

They had planned to go to a nearby coffee shop. The business of that coffee shop was not good, and it was losing money every month. The coffee shop owner planned to sell it.

The location wasn't bad, and there ought to have been quite a few diners there, but the business wasn't great. Was this due to poor management by the owner or poor cooking by the chef?

Liberty wanted to find out more clearly, and then took a look at the surrounding environment. If it was suitable, she wanted to take over the coffee shop.

The vegetable farm invested by her sister had a stable business, and a vegetable company had also been established. It cooperated with many big hotels, schools, and factories, and supplies a lot of vegetables every day.

Apart from taking care of the business she invested in, Serenity also had to learn to manage the internal affairs of her in-law's family, so she was very busy.

Liberty didn't expect to catch up with her sister, she just wanted to make a bloody breakthrough in the catering industry.

"Okay." After arranging things in the store, Liberty followed Mrs. Lewis out.

Liberty didn't take Mrs. Lewis's car, she drove her own car and followed Mrs. Lewis to the nearby coffee shop.

The business of the coffee shop was so-so, so it seemed very quiet.

Both ordered a cup of coffee.

"Mrs. Lewis, you need to rest more and take care of her health." Liberty said with concern. Compared with before, Mrs. Lewis looked old and haggard, she didn't even put on makeup, and she didn't have the grace and luxury of a noble lady like before.

Mrs. Lewis said with a wry smile: "I also want to take care of my health, but seeing Duncan like that, I can't eat or sleep, and I feel very uncomfortable."

After a moment of silence, Liberty said: "Mr. Lewis will get better."

Mrs. Lewis picked up her cup of coffee and took a sip.

She couldn't sleep well and was in low spirits. She would ask someone to deliver coffee to the hospital twice a day, and she just relied on drinking coffee to survive.

Putting down the cup, Mrs. Lewis blamed herself: "Liberty, I regret it, I regret it so much that my g-u-ts turn green. Duncan likes you, why should I stop him? He is almost 40 years old, and it is rare for him to like you, I should be happy, but I...If I can have Tania's mentality, Duncan won't be lying in bed today."

Tania was the head of the York family, her status couldn't be said to be invaluable, besides, Tania was born and grew up in a wealthy family, and his vision had always been very high.

When Zachary's Grandma forced Zachary to marry Serenity, Tania was displeased, but she didn't stop his son, and let him make his own decision.

At first, Tania didn't like and couldn't accept Serenity as her daughter-in-law.

But no matter how disliked Serenity was, Tania never did anything to hurt Serenity, nor did she do anything extreme to break up the young couple.

When someone called Tania to sue Serenity and speak ill of Serenity, Tania ignored her status and image, scolded the other party bloody, and wanted to protect her daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Lewis thought that if she had Tania's mentality and structure, what happened today would not have happened.

"Duncan has been trying to convince me. I refused to let go. I didn't agree with you two being together. I told him that if I want to agree with you, he should sever the mother-child relationship with me. Liberty, if time can turn back, I will definitely help you and Duncan." Mrs. Lewis couldn't help holding Liberty's hand, and continued: "Liberty, now, I want to leave, and I don't want to care about it. Now, as long as Duncan is healthy, he can like whoever he likes, he really likes you, what he said to you in the hospital are not his true words."
