Married at First Sight Chapter 1616 -“Mrs. Lewis, please tell me.”

“Liberty, you are a bit like Mrs. Stone when you were young. When your aunt was young, she was a beautiful and strong woman. I don’t know how many older generations fell in love with your aunt and wanted your aunt to be their daughter-in-law.

In the end, Mr. Stone took the lead, and your aunt became the young mistress of the merchant, and now she is the god of the sea.”

Mrs. Stone also disapproved of her son’s marriage at the beginning, but she couldn’t make the decision. Both her husband and son liked it, but she could only hold her nose and agree in the end.

But the relationship between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law was not always good.

It wasn’t until there was a problem with the Stone Group that it was Mrs. Stone who turned the tide and brought the Stone Group through the crisis. Her mother-in-law accepted her sincerely.

Elisa also said that when her mother first married into a businessman, her grandmother made things difficult for her.

Liberty smiled and said, “My aunt and my mother are real sisters. It’s normal for sisters to look alike. I also resemble my mother, so I resemble my aunt.”

When Liberty mentioned her mother, Mrs. Lewis immediately remembered that Liberty was an orphan whose parents died, and there were a lot of excellent relatives in her hometown.

“Liberty, do you like Duncan now?” Mrs. Lewis suddenly asked.

Liberty had long guessed Mrs. Lewis’s intention of asking her out to talk.

Without the slightest hesitation, Liberty replied calmly: “Mrs. Lewis, I have always regarded Duncan as a friend. I have never thought of anything wrong. I don’t hate Duncan, but that is not love.”

After decades of immersion in a wealthy family, Mrs. Lewis still had a good eye for seeing people. She could tell that Liberty was telling the truth.

Liberty’s eyes were clean, without any impurities.

If Liberty was lying, would Duncan dare to meet her gaze so frankly? Liberty didn’t have such advanced skills yet, did she?

“Liberty, I believe in you.” Mrs. Lewis’s voice became more and more gentle.

“But Duncan likes you. He is a stubborn bull. No matter how I persuade him, he won’t listen to me. He still likes you.”

She told Liberty clearly that she did not accept Liberty as her daughter-in-law.

After Liberty was silent, she said: “Mrs. Lewis, when Duncan confessed to me, I also rejected him. He was pursuing me, but I didn’t accept his pursuit. He still likes me, and it’s not that I can control him.”

Liberty really had no choice.

It’s her business if she didn’t love Duncan, but it’s Duncan’s business if Duncan loved her.

“Mrs. Lewis can communicate with Duncan again. I am very grateful for Duncan’s love for me, but I really don’t want to think about remarriage. The last failed marriage, I still tremble when I think about it. I finally got rid of it, and my life is now normal, and I don’t want to go into the grave of marriage. Mrs. Lewis, you can also arrange for Duncan to meet and associate with other famous daughters. If Duncan gets in touch with more women, he will find more women who are better than me and who are more suitable for him.”

Mrs. Lewis sighed: “Liberty, to tell you the truth, ever since Duncan turned thirty, I have been anxious. I have arranged countless blind dates for him in a year, but he doesn’t want to meet the woman. He is independent. I really can’t do anything about him.

Lily is the daughter of my good best friend. Although she is not from Wiltspoon, the Harmon family is one of the richest families in their area. Lily is a little younger than Duncan. The two are actually a good match and the two families also intend to get married. In the end, as you have seen, Lily has given up on Duncan now.”

Mrs. Lewis sighed again as she spoke. She really wanted Lily to be her daughter-in-law.

Married at First Sight Chapter 1617 -Lily would give up Duncan because she knew that Duncan liked Liberty.

She almost gave up on Duncan without even struggling.

Duncan had a unique taste and Lily couldn’t satisfy Duncan, she might as well give up, so as not to arouse Duncan’s hatred, and the two could become business partners.

“Mrs. Lewis, I also persuaded Duncan for you. I told him that Ms. Harmon is very nice, and I see that he and Ms. Harmon can get along too.” Liberty said.

In Mrs. Lewis’s words, Duncan was independent and stubborn. Unless he gave up and changed the people and things he believed in, it would be difficult for others to change him.

Mrs. Lewis: “Liberty, I know you are not to blame for this matter. The problem is not with you, but with Duncan.”

If Liberty had entangled Duncan, Mrs. Lewis would have driven Liberty away forcefully.

But Liberty didn’t like Duncan, so Mrs. Lewis really couldn’t do anything to Liberty.

Mrs. Lewis: “However, Liberty, you can do me a favor.”

Liberty: “What do Mrs. Lewis want me to do for you?”

Mrs. Lewis: “Do you want to open a shop in another place to do business away from that street? It is best to stay away from the Lewis & Co..

Don’t worry, I will compensate you for all the losses caused by your moving shop.

Your new shop, No matter where you rent, as long as you stay away from the Lewis & Co., I will cover the decoration for you without you spending a penny.”

When Liberty first found out that Duncan liked her, she also thought about whether to quit the lease or move out, and finally decided to face it calmly.

Duncan pursued her, even if she quit the rent and moved away, wouldn’t Duncan pursue her? If that was the case, she would have moved out overnight.

What’s more, she managed to get a lot of regular customers there, and the business was so good. This was her first time opening a shop and she put in a lot of hard work. To be honest, she was really reluctant to give up.

“Of course, if you can leave Wiltspoon, I will give you more compensation to ensure that you can gain a firm foothold in other cities and will not let you suffer.” Mrs. Lewis said and her last few words were the key point.

She really wanted Liberty to leave Wiltspoon and live in a place where Duncan could not find her.

Liberty also heard that Mrs. Lewis told her to quit the rent, move out, and open a restaurant in other streets. That was a prelude, but the real reason was to let her leave Wiltspoon.

Liberty: "Mrs. Lewis, I'm used to living in Wiltspoon, and my relatives and friends are all in Wiltspoon. You asked me to take Sonny to leave Wiltspoon and live in a place where Duncan can't know. This... I really can't do it."

Mrs. Lewis was a little embarrassed, but her heart was suffocated.

For Mrs. Lewis who was used to being strong in the Lewis family, communicating with Liberty at this moment was quite aggrieved.

If it were someone else, she would just throw out a check, and then ask someone to drive the other party away, and it's over.

No matter who the problem was.

If she didn't like it, she couldn't let the other party have a chance to appear in front of Duncan again.

It's a pity that the unfilial son, Duncan liked Liberty.

With the support of merchants and York family behind Liberty, Mrs. Lewis was so aggrieved and could not be too strong towards Liberty.

"Retire the lease, move out of that street, go to other streets to re-rent the facade, redecorate, start over, I can consider it, but, Mrs. Lewis, do you think it is really useful for me to do this?" Liberty asked Mrs. Lewis.

When Duncan was young, he used to hang out outside. In the urban area of Wiltspoon, was there any corner that Duncan didn't know?

Married at First Sight Chapter 1618 -Liberty could hide from the monk, but she couldn't hide from the temple.

It couldn't cure the symptoms, let alone cure the root cause.

Liberty: "Mrs. Lewis, If you can persuade Duncan, it is actually the best way. I also hope that you will work harder to persuade Duncan."

Mrs. Lewis: "..."

Mrs. Lewis' face became a little hot after hearing Liberty's words.

Liberty hoped that Mrs. Lewis would convince Duncan to stop bothering her despite Mrs. Lewis's request for her to avoid Duncan.

After a long while, Mrs. Lewis said to Liberty in a begging tone: "Liberty, I will not come to you if I have a way. My son is simply not good at anything. I can only look for you.

Liberty, I don't mean to look down on you, but marriage is about being well-matched, and you understand that, not to mention that you live a peaceful life now and don't consider remarrying, even if you consider remarrying, you and Duncan will not be happy together.

You have different levels and different circles. When you are passionately in love, you may feel that you can overcome everything. When the passion fades, your conflicts will arise.

Besides, I can't accept you as my youngest daughter-in-law. If you are really with Duncan together, I can't guarantee what your mother-in-law will do to you."

After Mrs. Lewis finished speaking, Liberty said: "I understood."

Mrs. Lewis: "Then, can you pity me, who is dedicated to old mother with a good son? As long as you leave Wiltspoon, I will give you as much compensation as you want. You can still keep in touch with your sister and your aunt, just tell them not to Just leak your whereabouts so that Duncan can't find you."

Mrs. Lewis held Liberty's hand and begged, "Liberty, please take pity on me. As long as you agree to leave, I will arrange other things."

Liberty gently withdrew her hand.

"Mrs. Lewis, I'm sorry. I can't promise you to leave Wiltspoon. It's not my fault. Why do you want me to sacrifice? Mrs. Lewis, you can take Duncan to move out of Wiltspoon, away from me."

Mrs. Lewis choked.

Liberty continued: "I am from Wiltspoon. I was born and raised here, and I married in Wiltspoon. Almost all my relatives and friends are in Wiltspoon. I am used to the way of life in Wiltspoon. I really can't adapt to changing places. If I can adapt, I will always want to go back to Wiltspoon."

Liberty's words made Mrs. Lewis choke again.

Although the Hunt family was in the countryside and this family was also managed by Wiltspoon.

Liberty said that she was from Wiltspoon, but Mrs. Lewis couldn't refute it.

"Liberty." Mrs. Lewis said in a serious tone, "Are you thinking about accepting Duncan in the future, so you refuse to leave Wiltspoon?"

Now Liberty didn't love Duncan.

What about in the future?

Mrs. Lewis couldn't help but question Liberty for the future.

Duncan: "Mrs. Lewis, I admit that Duncan is always a very good man. I really dare not say what will happen in the future. Maybe I will really accept Duncan in the future, or I may not accept him in my whole life. However, I can be sure of one thing. As long as you disagree, I will never marry into your Lewis family!"

It was like treating the problem like a ball and kicking it back to Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lewis: "..."

Liberty didn't guarantee it, but she did.

If she said she made a promise, Mrs. Lewis felt that there was no guarantee.

After all, Liberty would not compromise with Mrs. Lewis.

Married at First Sight Chapter 1619 -"Do you have anything else to do, Mrs. Lewis? I've to pick up Sonny and return home." Liberty felt a little uncomfortable.

She didn't think about Duncan, but who could feel comfortable being asked by Mrs. Lewis like this?

She just rented Duncan's shop, and Duncan and her brother-in-law are good friends, and Duncan also helped her a lot, so she became a little more enthusiastic about Duncan, but she really didn't think about Duncan, but she would suffer Seeing Mrs. Lewis's persecution in disguise.

She was right, why let her leave Wiltspoon?

"Go, ride carefully on the road, there is too much traffic." Mrs. Lewis said softly.

Liberty picked up the key of the car, said goodbye to Mrs. Lewis, got up and left.

After Liberty left, Mr. Lewis came in quickly.

Seeing the wife sitting in the corner, Mr. Lewis walked over.

Mr. Lewis: "How did the talk go? The talk is over so soon?"

Mr. Lewis saw Liberty go out, but seeing Liberty's expression was very calm, he really couldn't see anything.

He didn't know what happened between the two women.

"If you finish what you want to say, the talk is over. If the talk didn't work out, she's the same as your son, who refuses to bow, she doesn't think it's her problem..." After Mrs. Lewis was silent, she added: "It's really not her problem."

Mrs. Lewis sighed and told her husband everything she and Liberty had said.

Finally, Mrs. Lewis said: "Liberty said she can guarantee it, but I don't agree, she will never marry into the Lewis family."

"Wife, do you think Liberty is very cunning? Wouldn't that make Duncan fight with me? How much it will affect the relationship between mother and son?"

"You didn't agree in the first place, the mother and son had a fight, it's not Liberty's fault." Mrs. Lewis said.

Mrs. Lewis never promised her son to be with Liberty, but after Liberty made the promise to her, she always felt that she was being tricked. If it was true that Liberty tricked her, she was not. In short, Mrs. Lewis just felt uncomfortable.

"Husband, why don't our family make a move to punish your son and see if we can change the Lewis & Co. to other cities?"

Mr. Lewis said, "Do you think Lewis & Co. is just starting? This company has squeezed into one of the five major companies in Wiltspoon, and Duncan is now worth tens of billions, which may surpass our family's assets in a few years. Besides, the Lewis & Co. and the York Corporation are deeply cooperating. If you let Duncan know that his parents are playing tricks behind the scenes, just to destroy and prevent him from pursuing Liberty, you have thought about the consequences. Is it possible?"

It is possible that father and son will turn against each other. Duncan looks rough and carefree, but in fact he is a person who holds grudges very much."

Mrs. Lewis: "This will not work. Let me just watch Duncan go after him. Liberty, in the end, Liberty will marry into the Lewis family as the young mistress?"

Mr. Lewis said: "Didn't Liberty promise you that as long as you don't agree, she will never marry into our Lewis family, so you will be cruel to the end, let our son will be a bachelor for the rest of his life."

Mrs. Lewis: "..."

Mrs. Lewis couldn't make her agree with Duncan's pursuit of Liberty.

Let Mrs. Lewis be cruel to the end, and if she refused to agree for the rest of her life, she will not be able to do it.

When parents fought hard with their children, it was often the parents who were soft-hearted first.

Mr. Lewis: "I've already said, don't look for Liberty, it's useless, the problem lies with our son. Even if you promised Duncan and Liberty to be together, if Liberty doesn't love Duncan, she won't be with Duncan."

Married at First Sight Chapter 1620 -"Does a divorced woman have to remarry? I think Liberty is really cold-hearted, and it's not easy to accept new feelings. If Duncan doesn't give up, he will probably spend a lot of time. Let's see if you can move Liberty, maybe it's not you who stop them from being together, but you begging Liberty to be with your son." Mrs. Lewis's face was dark.

"It is absolutely impossible for me to ask Liberty and Duncan to be together, unless it is red and rainy." Mr. Lewis muttered in his heart: If you talk too much, you will be beaten in the face in the future. In order to ask Liberty to marry him, he artificially created "Red Rain".

Duncan guarded Sonny in the shopping mall, he was absent-minded.

He really wanted to find his mother and Liberty, and wanted to know what his mother and Liberty talked about. Would Liberty not want to accept his feelings even more because of this?

But he couldn't go.

He wanted to guard Sonny.

Liberty entrusted Sonny to him to take care of him. If there was something wrong with Sonny, he would be sorry for Liberty's entrustment.

With his hands in his trouser pockets, he walked back and forth at the entrance of the children's playground. He didn't know how many times he walked back and forth, and he still couldn't see Liberty coming back.

"Uncle Duncan, Uncle Duncan."

Sonny was tired from playing and wanted to go home. He wanted to come out, but the staff didn't let him come out alone, and said to him: "Little friend, see if your parents are here. If they are not, you can play for a while, and then come out when they come to pick you up."

Sonny didn't see his mother, but he saw Duncan, so he yelled at Duncan.

Duncan's mind was not on him, and the scene was very noisy, so he didn't hear Sonny's shouts at all.

The staff came over and patted Duncan on the shoulder.

When Duncan turned to look at The staff, The staff said, "Sir, are you the parent of that kid? He doesn't want to play anymore, he wants to come out."

Duncan saw Sonny, quickly said: "Yes, I am his uncle."

As Duncan spoke, he strode over.

"Uncle Duncan."

Sonny pointed to Duncan and said to the staff: "Auntie, he is my Uncle, he is very good, can he pick me up?"

Duncan heard Liberty said about the regulations here, Echoing Sonny's words: "I came here with his mother. His mother is out shopping, and I will take care of him."

The staff mainly confirmed that the two knew each other, and Sonny seemed very close to Duncan, so she released Sonny Out.

Duncan brought Sonny's shoes, squatted down, hugged Sonny, let Sonny sit on one of his laps, and then helped Sonny put on the shoes.

Then put down Sonny, holding the little guy and wanting to leave.

"Uncle Duncan, my mother paid the money. If I don't play anymore, I can get some money back."

It's actually a deposit.

Duncan led Sonny to refund the deposit again, and after getting back the deposit, he picked up Sonny and walked out.

"Uncle Duncan, where's my mother?" Sonny asked.
