

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1749

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1749 -Dalton responded to Callum: "Second Young Master York, I'll wait for you to marry Camryn successfully before asking me to be the best man. Let's go."

With that said, Dalton opened the car door for Camryn, and after Camryn got in the car, he also returned to the car, not too lazy to argue with a scoundrel like Callum, and it would take a long time.

Dalton drove quickly and took Camryn away from the York Corporation.

Callum stood at the entrance of the company and watched the car go away. He didn't go back until it was out of sight.

All the security guards on duty were watching Callum.

"He's my future brother-in-law." Callum didn't know what the security guards were thinking, he explained it funny, so as not to spread rumors in the company later, saying that his fiancée ran away with other men.

Although Dalton was not Camryn's real brother, but the two were siblings, Camryn regarded Dalton as an older brother, so he was naturally his future brother-in-law.

The security guard on duty smiled embarrassingly.

They just heard that the vice president called that man Mr. Da, and he had a different surname from the future wife of the vice president. How could they be brothers and sisters, unless they were brothers.

Thinking of the status of their vice president, they also believed that no one would dare to compete with their vice president for a woman.

Callum didn't care what they thought, as long as he didn't spread rumors that his fiancée was robbed.

When he returned to the office, he saw that Kevin was still there, and said, "Are you still here?"

Kevin: "Let's go, brother."

Kevin returned to the desk, picked up the bouquet of flowers, admired them for a while, and said, "The flowers in second sister-in-law's shop are more beautiful than those in other flower shops. No wonder the business in her shop is getting better and better."

That's because others know your thoughts on Ms. Newman, and they went to Spring Blossoms to buy flowers on purpose in order to please you or establish a good relationship with the future Second Young Mistress in advance."

Spring Blossoms's business was good in the first place, because in the downtown area, the business was usually better than other flower shops. During the holidays, especially Valentine's Day, the business was booming. It could keep the boss and workers busy, and the money could be received softly.

Now the business was even better, naturally because of Callum's status.

Another point was that everyone was interested in Camryn and wanted to know how a blind person persuaded Dalton to help her take over Newman enterprise.

Why did she trust Dalton?

But apart from Callum and Serenity, Camryn didn't tell anyone else, this was her private matter, she didn't think it was necessary to make it public.

As for other people scolding her as a white-eyed wolf, Camryn didn't try to defend, but when Callum heard someone scolding her like that, he was anxious with others. In front of Camryn, she called her a white-eyed wolf.

Even Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Joyner didn't dare. The two aunts hated and envied Camryn, a niece. They hated Camryn for pretending to be a pig and eating a tiger. Aunts' son has been fired, so he can't take advantage of it.

The plan to take advantage of the opportunity to seize her natal family's property failed. Could they not hate Camryn?

Jealous of Camryn, who was blind, could be liked by the second young master of the York family, Callum, and even Serenity didn't dislike her for being blind.

"It's not that I asked them to help Camryn's business, don't expect me to owe them favors."

After admiring the bouquet, Callum put down the bouquet, took two boxes of snacks, opened a box of snacks, picked one up and ate it.

Callum: "The sweetness of these dim sum is not very sweet but I love to eat it. Camryn bought these dim sum for me because she knows my taste."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-