

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1861

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1861 -Mr. Chandler did not hold Trenton back and let him leave the coffee shop.

After he left, Mr. Chandler called his mother, and after his mother answered the phone, he said to his mother: "Mom, Trenton still doesn't want to get in, but he should have had a quarrel with Camryn. He was slapped by Camryn, and half of his face was swollen."

After hearing this, Mrs. Chandler said proudly, "It shows that our method is effective. You should pay more attention to Trenton and tell Camryn in front of him. I don't believe that Trenton doesn't care at all."

Mrs. Chandler and her second sister had negotiated with Camryn several times, but to no avail. The main reason was that they had always despised Camryn, a niece. Because they had a good relationship with the elder brother, they got more benefits from the elder brother.

Naturally, she would not be nice to Camryn.

As soon as Camryn took over Newmans's business, she began to attack the Chandler and Joyner families. Mrs. Chandler hated Camryn very much.

She didn't know what shIt luck Camryn had, a blind woman could be liked by the second young master of the York family, if they didn't believe it before, but now Callum was engaged to Camryn, and the engagement banquet was still held. It was very lively and lively, and the famous people in Wiltspoon were invited to the banquet.

Only the Chandler family and the Joyner family were not invited, which showed that Camryn also hated their two families.

It made the two families a joke in Wiltspoon.

"Mom, I know, but Trenton is also tired of us talking all the time. He quarreled with me just now, and now he has left."

Mrs. Chandler said: "He is still a child. I don't understand; he doesn't like hearing what we say, so don't tell him these things for the time being. Isn't school starting soon? Find out what he's missing and go shopping with him. Before school starts, send him to report to the university he was admitted to, and he won't be angry. It's just coaxing a child. Mom believes you can do it. Create a misunderstanding between her and the Second Young Master York. They are only engaged now, and they haven't received the certificate yet, and the marriage still has a lot of variables."

The Chandler family and the Joyner family not only want to drive a wedge between Camryn and his younger brother, She also wanted to break the marriage contract between Camryn and Callum, the best way would be to let Camryn have nothing.

“Understood.”

After the mother and son ended the call, Mr. Chandler also left the hotel quickly.

But when Camryn came out of the hotel, Callum didn't help her to the parking lot, but led her to the right of the hotel.

Camryn was in a bad mood, and with her fiancé by her side, she didn't pay attention to remembering the number of steps.

After walking a long way, she realized that something was wrong. She stopped and asked the man beside her, “Callum, where are you taking me?”

“You seem unhappy, so I'll take you somewhere relaxing. There is a park nearby, and I'll take you there for a stroll. It is full of trees, is ideal for summer strolling, and is cool.”

Camryn was silent, and said: “Okay.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1862

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1862 -Callum led her away again, and said as he walked: “Trenton actually still cares about you. He's still young and ignorant, so don't argue with him too much. It's a lie to say you're not angry or sad.”

Camryn said softly: “In that family, what I care about most is Trenton. Although I have a bad attitude towards him on the surface, as if I hate him, but in my heart, I like this brother very much. He is different from them, he really likes me as a big sister. He treats me like a big sister, since he was sensible, he will protect me and help me, whenever my mother beats and scolds me, he always rushes to push my mother to prevent her from beating and scolding me.

Mom thought it was because I coaxed him that he would protect me like this. Later, she refused to let me get in touch with him, and tried every means to hinder our siblings from getting along. But living in the same room, Trenton can always speak for me, he will protect me in front of his father.

His father will say a few words to my mother hypocritically, so that my mother can treat me better. When Trenton went to school, Carrie was jealous of Trenton's treatment of me as a grown-up. Sister is better, and urged my mother to send Trenton to a boarding school, and said something about cultivating Trenton's independence.

Actually, they didn't want Trenton and me to have a brotherly relationship, so Trenton was taken away from me when he was very young. I was sent to a boarding school and only came back once a week. When he came back, they acted and treated me well.

As soon as Trenton returned to school, I became the little transparent at home again, and I was often called by Carrie. She bullied me, and my counterattack often resulted in my mother's beating... That family left me with shadows and darkness, but Trenton was the light."

After Camryn said this, she paused for a while, and then continued: "My two elder aunts heard that they have been friends with my dad since they were young. There is a big age gap between them and my dad, and they don't like to play with my dad. Maybe I think my grandparents love my dad more, they are jealous.

I began making plans to take over Newmans' company at the same time that I was getting ready to kick out the Chandler and Joyner families. They were dependent on Newman's. Do they really believe I don't know how much blood they sucked? As it was already for the benefit of my aunt and nephew, I just ejected them from Newman's and refrained from suing them.

Now they want to drive a wedge between me and Trenton, really D*mn it. Callum, you don't have to show mercy to them." While Camryn was hurt by his younger brother, he also hated his two eldest aunts.

Originally, she thought that it was just a matter of aunt and nephew, no matter how they scolded her, she turned a deaf ear to it, anyway, one day she was around, she would not let those cousins return to the Newman family.

Although it couldn't be said that the Chandler and Joyner families' Wiltspoon businesses were particularly large, they were nonetheless fairly successful. The two were active in comparable industries to the Newman Enterprise.

In the past, the two of them had cooperated deeply with Newman's. Of course, Camryn cut off the cooperation now. It was the two of them who lost the most, and Newmans' loss was minimized.

Besides, Camryn did not retaliate against them.

However, Callum, who was eager to protect his wife, was not so good-tempered. He secretly caused many obstacles to the two families and made them suffer in business.

Camryn knew that she didn't intercede for the two families, but left some money for them, as long as they could live.

Now, she didn't want to show mercy.

The Newman family only had an empty shell company in Wiltspoon, otherwise she would have managed to break the capital chain of Chandler and Joyner's businesses, and if they couldn't make enough money, they would automatically go bankrupt.

"Okay." Callum replied calmly, "They like to toss so much, we will play with them slowly, let them fall into despair little by little, and lose everything."

After Camryn was silent, she said: "The saddest thing for me is that Trenton believed what they said."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1863

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1863 -Callum said gently: "He also regrets Trenton's words. Camryn, don't feel sad. Trenton will comprehend you as he matures."

Trenton's parents and second sister all went in, and they were more or less related to Camryn. It was normal for him to find it hard to accept. After all, he was only 18 years old, without the baptism of society, the ability to bear was not so strong.

Camryn stopped talking.

When Callum accompanied her to relax in the park, walking on the tree-lined road, the cool breeze would blow from time to time, and listening to the people passing by chatting, Camryn's mood improved a lot.

She just felt uncomfortable, and she didn't blame her younger brother.

She didn't even want to explain her brother's misunderstanding and complaints.

When a person is suspicious of you and doesn't trust you, no matter how you explain, others will not believe you again, unless the other party sees your dedication and sees you fulfill your promise with practical actions.

After Trenton graduated from university, she would let Trenton join Newman's to work. It was up to him whether he was a dragon or a bug. If he was a dragon and could soar into the sky, she was willing to hand over Newman's to him.

She couldn't see that it was not so convenient to manage the company.

What she wanted was justice, to vent her anger for her father, and to inherit the property that belonged to her father.

Like the big villa in the Newman family, her grandparents gave it to her father, and her father left a will before he died, and all the properties under his name belonged to her, the only daughter, so the big villa was also her.

It belonged to her. After being occupied by someone, she endured the humiliation and had to take the house back and put it under her own name. In the future, in the big villa, she had the final say.

It wasn't hers, like the villas under the uncle's name, she didn't grab them, didn't touch them, they belonged to Trenton and Carrie.

...

Queen Enterprise.

A sports car drove into Queen Enterprise, bypassed the small park in front of the office building, and finally stopped on the right hand side of the entrance of the office building.

Soon, Hugh got out of the car, took a file bag, and walked into the office building.

When the people who came out from inside instinctively called him "Mr. Queen" when they saw him.

Mr. Queen nodded and smiled, and after walking past them, everyone realized that this was not Mr. Queen, but the Second Young Master Queen, Hugh.

The two brothers frequently mistook people because of how similar they appeared.

Hugh didn't care if people often think of him as the elder brother, oh, the elder sister.

Already, the two siblings looked alike. No one would blame the elder sister if she got her body back, but when would the elder sister get her body back?

Ever since Hugh could remember, he thought he had an older brother, but he didn't know it was his older sister.

When he was young, he found that his brother was different from him. He peed standing up, but his brother squatted. He even asked his brother why he squatted.

The elder brother did not explain, but from then on, he was no longer allowed to follow into the bathroom. At that time, the siblings were less than two years old.

Hugh had no memory of that incident, it was his mother who told him.

When he was in elementary school, as he grew older, he gradually realized that he had no brother, only a sister, but he was used to treating his sister as a brother, because his sister was so much like his brother.

He had never seen his sister with long hair and skirts.

Therefore, he didn't know what it was like for his sister to recover her body.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1864

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1864 -It would also be noble and glamorous, because his sister's personality had long been cultivated, and she belonged to the indifferent kind of person.

Hugh took the elevator to the top floor.

After getting out of the elevator, he saw Hayden's secretary, and he whistled. When the secretary looked at him, he greeted him with a smile.

"Is my brother in the office?" Hugh asked the secretary.

The secretary said gently, "Mr. Queen is in the office. Second young master, Did you call and tell Mr. Queen in advance?"

While speaking, the secretary got up and left the desk, and came to Hugh's side. In short, the secretary would stop the second young master from outside the office, so that he couldn't let the second young master go in casually and disturb Mr. Queen's work.

"I am the younger brother of my elder brother. When can I not visit him? Do I need to call in advance?" Hugh was stopped by the secretary as soon as he finished speaking.

"Second, young master, please don't go in if you didn't call Mr. Queen ahead of time to let him know you were coming. It will make Mr. Queen's work hard to do. When Mr. Queen gets angry, he can't even finish his food."

Hugh: "..."

He shook the document bag in his hand, and said to the secretary, "My brother asked me to help with the investigation. Now that I have the result, bring it to my brother. Have a look, do I still need to make an appointment in advance?"

The secretary said with a good-tempered smile: "Second young master, you should call Mr. Queen now and ask if Mr. Queen has time to see you."

Hugh was helpless, who was told that his sister was too busy. Time was precious, when his own brother came, he had to make an appointment in advance, otherwise the secretary would stop him from going in.

In the past, he often entered the company with his sister, but he was never stopped by the secretary. Today, it was the first time.

Hugh glared at the secretary, but honestly took out his cell phone and called his sister.

After his sister answered the phone, he asked her: "Brother, I'm outside your office, do you have time to see me? I have inquired about everything you asked me to inquire about, and I have discovered it for you and brought it here."

Hayden replied, "Come in."

Then Hugh hung up the phone, said: "My brother told me to go in."

The secretary smiled and greeted him, and knocked on the door of the president's office for him.

After Hugh entered, he walked towards his sister and complained: "Brother, your secretary is too businesslike. I'm your younger brother. I'm also the boss in Queen Enterprise. I'm here to see you. The secretary stopped me outside."

Hayden didn't look up, and said to his younger brother: "Do you still know that you are part of the Queen Enterprise? You work this way? Three days of fishing and two days of drying the net. If I give it to you, I'm afraid it won't last six months and the company will go bankrupt."

Hugh grinned, "Isn't it because my brother is here, my parents regard you as a successor, and there are so many people in the company, and they have already thought of you as the future leader of Queen Enterprise."

With someone supporting him, he would be at ease.

If his sister didn't care about the company, he could hold on, but now he wanted to continue playing for a few more years.

Although Hugh was not as bold as Hayden, he was not bad, but he was a bit more playful. Although he also helped with the business, he was more often a star-chaser.

Anyway, his sister was there for him, so what did he have to worry about?

Even if the elder sister changed back into a woman and got married, she could still take care of the Queen Enterprise as long as the wedding wasn't too far away.

Hugh's only requirement for his future brother-in-law was to be capable. In the future, he could share the worries and worries of the Queen Enterprise with his sister, so that he could continue to be a happy star chaser.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1865

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1865 -Hayden raised her head and glared at her younger brother, then put down her smile, she reached out to her younger brother, said: "Bring it here."

Hugh quickly handed the file bag to Hayden.

"Sister." Hugh called out in a low voice.

Hayden stared at him. Hugh stuck out his tongue, and quickly changed his words: "Brother."

In the company, Hayden couldn't be called sister.

Hayden had disguised herself as a man for more than 20 years, even if she would pass on in the future. Hugh couldn't reveal it because his sister would severely beat him.

The siblings learned martial arts together, but Hugh was still not as good as his sister.

It's just that he came out ten minutes earlier than her, and he felt like he was born ten years earlier than her.

"Kevin didn't lie to you. He was indeed urged to marry by his family. The urging was too strong. He used the excuse of going on a business trip and came to Jensburg to seek refuge." Hugh said gloatingly.

Hayden took out the materials that his younger brother had organized from the file bag, read them carefully, and tore them up.

"Brother, why did you tear it up? It took me a while to find out, and it's my credit for printing it out." Hugh wanted to stop it, but he was too late.

He had the illusion that the fruits of his labor were being ruined by his sister.

"Tear it up, burn it, and even the ashes are flushed into the sewer, so that we can ensure that Kevin doesn't know about it, and we can't let him know that we have investigated him, which will cause unnecessary misunderstandings."

As Hayden said, she actually took out the lighter and burned the paper that she had torn in half. After the paper was burned to ashes, she took out two paper towels, got up, squatted down, and used the paper towels to pack up those ashes.

Seeing this, Hugh hurried to help.

The siblings wrapped all the ashes on the ground with paper towels, and Hugh took the initiative and said, "I'll wash it in the bathroom."

Hayden didn't speak, and acquiesced in her younger brother's behavior.

A few minutes later, Hugh sat back across from his sister and saw that she was processing documents again. He said, "Brother, I haven't finished talking about Kevin's gossip. Are you not interested?"

"I'm not interested in anyone's gossip." Hayden said coldly: "Say what you want, I'll listen."

"I received this news on the way to the company, so I didn't have time to summarize it in the materials, brother, I heard that the old lady of the York family has chosen grandsons-in-law for several of her marriageable grandchildren."

Hayden didn't answer.

Grandma May was a very fun old lady. The old lady would help her grandchildren choose their granddaughter-in-law. Hayden didn't find it strange, and even took it for granted.

Many old mistresses of big families started to worry about their grandchildren's marriage because they had retired for many years and didn't have to worry about anything else.

Grandma May was such an old lady.

Hugh: "Mr. York and his wife came together under the help of the old lady, and now they are loving each other. The wedding of the two is under preparation, and the happy day is coming soon."

Hayden hummed and said: "Young Master York and his wife's wedding, we all have to go to drink the wedding wine."

Hugh: "It's natural, for Young Master York's wedding, everyone should give him that face."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-