Chapter 1811 Juan Overheard Their Conversation

The three of them gathered their inner strength once again and went all out. Three seconds later, they heard a loud noise. A huge force blew them away, and one by one, they fell to the ground, the seal disappearing at the same time.

“The seal is... gone?” Elias asked as he looked at the entrance of the cave that was brightly lit by the sun.

“Yes. The seal is gone,” Frida replied while staring at the entrance as well.

At the side, a look of joy appeared on Shermaine’s face. There was a light of hope in her eyes. Without the seal, she could go inside and get the secret technique to alter Evan’s memories.

“Thank you. Thank you all!”

A riot of emotions brewed in Frida’s eyes when she saw how excited Shermaine was. She did not know if she should be happy or worried.

Is it worth it to take such a big risk just to break the seal and alter Evan’s memories for three months? Also, what will happen to her and Evan in these three months and whether she will have her way is still unknown. The seal is broken, and this place will soon be discovered by those who want the treasure. How many people will lose their lives on the way to fight for the treasure?

Gale was worried about the same things as well. There was an undecipherable look on his face. Only Elias looked calm and unbothered as if he knew that things would have a way of working themselves out.

After some time, Shermaine walked into the cave. Back then, the treasure cave had been destroyed, and the master of Daemonic Mount had obtained two books from it – one was the secret technique to alter memories, and the other was a medical book. Upon reading the first book, the master of Daemonic Mount had tried to use the method to alter a person’s memory, and he had succeeded. Later, for some reason, he had sealed the two books and stored them in the box at the entrance of the cave.

Shermaine stared fixedly at the box and walked up to it. She knew that she would get the sealed books once she opened the box.

Taking out the key that the master had placed in between the walls, she unlocked and opened the box. She was overjoyed when she saw the two books lying inside.

“I only need this one. I’m not interested in the medical book. Who needs it?”

“Let’s just leave the medical book. Just take what you need and place the box in a safe place.”

Shermaine nodded in agreement with Elias’ suggestion. After she took the book she needed, they left together.

Frida was worried that the place would be discovered soon. She suggested finding something to hide the entrance.

Elias let out a sigh and commented, “The more you try to hide, the faster the people will find out. I think we should just leave it. Whoever finds it is up to fate.”

“You’re right. But I think we should cover the entrance with some weeds and rocks. At least, that will hide it from ordinary people’s eyes.”

Elias smiled faintly upon hearing Gale’s suggestion. Then he left without a word.

Frida agreed with Gale. While both of them were discussing the matter, Juan overheard their conversation as he was roaming around nearby.

He was stunned for a moment. But coming back to his senses, he quickly hid behind a stone to eavesdrop on them.

“I think we should just cover the entrance with some rocks and scatter some hay or something. It will look more suspicious if we hide it too deliberately.”

“You need to make sure they won’t spill the beans! They can’t tell anyone that there’s a treasure in there!”

“Don’t worry about it!”

Behind a rock, Juan was shocked when he heard the conversation.

He had been looking for the hidden treasure for the past couple of days. He did not expect it to be inside the cave.

Indeed, Lady Luck was on his side.

Knowing that the guards were going to seal the cave soon, Juan decided to take a look inside before they seal it.

Chapter 1812 Three Months

After Frida and the others left, Juan looked around before running into the cave. He saw six small holes and wondered, In which hole is the treasure hidden?

He took a closer look and began to check one by one.

Just when he arrived at the third hole, he heard footsteps outside. The guards who were sent by Elias to block the entrance of the cave had arrived.

“Crap! Should I get out right now?”

While he was hesitating, he heard a loud noise.

Gale had actually got those people to blow up the entrance of the cave.

F*ck. How could this happen? They said nothing about using explosives!

Looking at the entrance of the cave, which had been completely sealed by rocks, Juan knew that there was no way out now. Am I going to die in here? Will this cave be my grave? No! Is this a joke?

Taking a deep breath and calming himself down, he continued to explore other holes to see if he could discover anything else.

“The entrance is sealed. I believe those who are looking for the treasure won’t be able to find it easily.”

“Yes. Even if they find it, they will never know that the treasure is in here.”

“Keep this in mind. Don’t tell anyone about this, or you’ll lose your life!”

“Don’t worry. We’ll keep our mouths shut.”

“Good! Let’s go, then.”

Gale glanced at the entrance of the cave, which was covered with weeds, and left with the rest.

He could never have imagined that someone had already entered the cave.

Meanwhile, Shermaine, who had gotten the book of secret techniques, was reading through it attentively. It turned out that if one wanted to alter another person’s memory, one had to pay a price. She finally understood why the master had sealed the book back then.

It was written in the book that altering others' memories would only be effective for three months, and those who used the secret technique could only live up to three months.

In other words, when the memory of the person was restored, the life of the person who used the secret technique would end.

Shermaine looked awful upon reading the book.

Once she used the secret technique on Evan, she would only live for three months. Should I...

Looking at her pale face, Frida realized something was off, so she read through the book as well. She was shocked when she found out about the truth.

H-How is that possible?

She grabbed Shermaine's hand and persuaded her, "Shermaine, you can't use this. You can't..."

Shermaine was hesitant. Although all she could think about was being in love now, she still had to consider carefully since she would only have three months left to live after using the secret technique.

"What is it?"

Elias, feeling curious, took the book. His face clouded over when he finished reading, and he wanted to destroy the book.

"Elias, what are you doing?"

"This harmful thing shouldn't exist in this world. No wonder the master sealed the books back then. I'll destroy it now to save it from harming other people!"

"No! It took us great effort to get it. You can't destroy it! You can't!" Shermaine quickly stopped him.

"Why? Are you really going to use the technique? Three months. You will only have three months to live after this. Is Evan worth it? Is he worth your life? I thought you've always hated men."

"Yes, Shermaine. Don't be stupid. It's all my fault. If I had known that there's a price to pay for it, I wouldn't have helped you get the book!" Frida said.

Looking at the both of them, Shermaine smiled wryly. "I didn't say that I would use it, but I will think about it. Elias, you don't have the right to destroy it. The book was sealed by the master.” She took the book from Elias’ hands. “I cherish my own life, so I won’t do anything stupid.”

Chapter 1813 Evan Is Worth It

As she spoke, Shermaine had already made up her mind. For so many years, she had tested countless men. Now that she had found the one whom she was willing to love wholeheartedly, she did not mind giving up her life for him.

Back in her room, she sat on the wooden chair and stared at the book with a flurry of complicated emotions.

Scenes of all the men she had met over the years flooded her mind.

Some of the men had broken up with their girlfriends for her.

Some had even abandoned their wives for her.

Even worse, some of them had abandoned their wives and children because of her.

She deeply despised those men who had become so ruthless just for her beauty. Slowly, the more men she tested, the more she felt that men were all womanizers, and they were all bag eggs.

She thought she had seen through the nature of men and that all men would be mesmerized by her good looks. However, that was until she met Evan, who was not the least bit interested in her beauty. His deep love for his wife surprised her and made her envious.

If I were to change Evan’s memories with the secret technique, would he fall for me? Would he reject all other women for me?

She had to make a choice between her love and her life. Upon deliberation, she was all the more certain of her decision.

Shermaine picked up the book and took a deep breath. Perhaps this is the only chance God has given me. Evan, I must have you!

Evan was still asleep when she entered the secret chamber.

Caressing his face, she whispered, “Evan, everything will be different when you wake up.”

An hour later, Evan woke up feeling dizzy.

Shermaine was staring at him at the side. There was a look of anticipation in her eyes.

Looking into Evan's eyes, she wanted to know if she had successfully altered his memories. Besides, she wanted to know how he would treat her now.

"Evan, are you awake?" she asked in a gentle voice.

Evan held his forehead and sized Shermaine up. "You..."

Shermaine's heart was racing as she answered, "I-I'm your wife, Shermaine."

When she was altering Evan's memories, she had repeated in his ear, "Shermaine is Evan Seet's wife... Shermaine is Evan Seet's wife..."

She believed that the important information should be engraved in Evan's mind by now.

Shermaine? My wife?

Sure enough, the information played in Evan's mind.

Looking at Shermaine, he asked, "Why am I here?"

"Y-You came to find the antidote, and then you were trapped here. Let me help you get out."

Evan nodded.

Upon walking out of the secret chamber and arriving at the cave, they saw Frida and Elias sitting on wooden chairs while drinking tea.

Frida and Elias exchanged glances. They knew well that Shermaine had used the secret technique on Evan.

Truth be told, they had already guessed that Shermaine would do it.

No one could stop her from doing things that she had set her mind on.

Frida walked to her while looking at Evan. "Shermaine, is he—"

"He's fine. We'll leave now."

Frida was stunned. "Shermaine, come with me. I need to talk to you."

Shermaine lifted her head to look at Evan, and the latter nodded at her. "Go. I'll wait for you."

“Okay. I’ll be back soon.”

Shermaine went back to the secret chamber with Frida, who looked at her in shock as she questioned, “Did you alter his memories?”

“I did...”

“Is it worth it?”

“Yes!” Shermaine answered without hesitation.

“Are you leaving with him now?”

“Yes! I’ll cure his friend with the antidote. Then I will go wherever he goes.”

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1814

Chapter 1814 Deceived By His Own Memories

Frida pondered for a moment, but she was still worried about Shermaine. “His wife, his children, and his friends will tell him the truth when they see you with him. Have you—”

“I’ve thought about this before I changed his memory. He won’t suspect anything. Even if something unexpected crops up, I can handle it.”

Frida sighed. “I hope you get what you want and be happy with him for these remaining three months. Make your sacrifice worth it.”

“Thank you. When I’m gone, all of you have to protect the treasure for me.”

“Don’t worry. We’ll protect the treasure well.”

Shermaine nodded. When she walked out of the secret chamber, she saw Evan chatting with Elias over tea.

Elias was telling him to treat Shermaine well.

“I will!” Evan replied.

Elias let out a sigh of relief. He never thought that the secret technique of altering memories would actually work. Evan now regarded Shermaine as his wife, and his friends would probably be shocked when they saw him with Shermaine later.

“Evan, let’s go.” Shermaine walked to his side and looked at him affectionately.

“All right.” Evan stood up.

Watching as the two walked away, Frida asked Elias in a soft voice, "Do you think Shermaine will get what she wants?"

"Misfortune might be a blessing in disguise and vice versa. I guess it depends on her fate now."

There was a look of sorrow in Frida's eyes. She thought that Shermaine had done something foolish because the man was not worth it. "Shermaine has always looked down on men. I never thought she would give up her life for a man. This is really surprising."

"Life is full of surprises. We should respect her decision. Whether it's worth it or not, it's still her choice."

Frida inhaled deeply and went to Shermaine's room. She noticed that Shermaine's old dresser was quite nice, so she decided to use it for now to remind her of Shermaine.

Walking down the mountain, Shermaine told Evan about the journey of getting the antidote.

She said that Elias, her senior, could not bear to see her suffer for the antidote. Hence, after some persuasion, he had agreed to give her the antidote.

She also said that since she had been with Evan for many years, she thought that her relationship with her senior would grow distant. Yet, they still treated her well.

While listening to this, Evan recalled having a one-night stand with a woman. The woman had regarded him as a gigolo, and she was Shermaine.

Later, Shermaine had given birth to his child, and many things had happened between them.

Shermaine had altered every memory he had with Nicole, causing him to think those things had happened between him and Shermaine instead.

Evan could never have imagined that he would be deceived by his own memories one day.

Looking at Shermaine, he uttered plainly, "I don't remember you being acquainted with them. If I hadn't seen them today, I wouldn't have known that you have such a relationship with them."

"Yes. We've been together all these years and have experienced many things together. I've never gone back for so long." Shermaine forced a smile, a complicated look in her eyes. "Now that we have the antidote, what are you going to do next?" she asked, quickly changing the topic.

“After detoxifying Jeremy, we’ll leave and go back to detoxify Faye.”

Go back... Shermaine was still concerned about going back with Evan. Although his memories had been altered, those who knew him would definitely tell him about the past once they went back. Will he suspect me?

“What’s wrong?” Evan asked curiously, seeing that she was silent.

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1815

Chapter 1815 Call Her Shermaine

“N-Nothing.”

Shermaine was a little absent-minded. Is it better to let Evan go back or let him stay here? How will he react when he sees his friends?

Dusk was falling rapidly. As they went down the mountain, Evan urged her to walk faster.

Shermaine smiled and gave a small nod. Yet, the closer they got to the bottom of the mountain, the more nervous she was.

And much to her apprehension, the two made it down the mountain before the sun set.

Levant and Davin, who had come out to look for Juan, immediately approached Evan and Shermaine upon seeing them.

Levant even joked, “Why is your brother with Shermaine? Did he fall for her?”

“How is that possible? Evan is deeply in love with Nicole. He will never fall for Shermaine!” Davin said firmly.

At that moment, he did not expect that the truth would give him a hard slap in the face later.

Walking up to them, Levant glanced at Shermaine curiously before looking at Evan. “Why is she—” With you?

“Evan, what happened to the bet? Did you win? Did you get the antidote?” Davin cut Levant off after giving Shermaine a sideways glance.

“Yes!” Evan nodded.

Davin smiled. "I knew it! Ms. Shermaine, you should honor the bet. Give us the antidote!"

Stunned, Shermaine turned to look at Evan.

Evan glared at Davin. "What did you call her?"

Davin did not think that there was a problem with what he had just said. "I called her Ms. Shermaine. What's wrong, Evan? Do you think it's too polite to call her that?"

"Respect your sister-in-law. Call her Shermaine!" Evan chided.

His words left Levant and Davin at a loss.

Davin looked extremely shocked. W-What? Did I hear him wrong? Did Evan just say that she's my sister-in-law? No, no, no! I must've heard him wrong.

"Evan, what did you say? What should I call her again?"

"Shermaine! Your brother said that I'm your sister-in-law. We're a family, and it's inappropriate for you to call me Ms. Shermaine," Shermaine said.

Davin could not wrap his head around that line. Sister-in-law? Family? What's going on? Seriously, am I hearing things now?

He turned to Levant and asked with confusion, "I-I think there's a problem with my ears. Did you hear what my brother just said?"

Levant looked surprised as well. "He told you to call her Shermaine because she's your sister-in-law!"

F*ck! Nothing's wrong with my ears. But why did Evan say that she's my sister-in-law?

Davin's mind was filled with questions. He shut his eyes and opened them again to make sure that the two people standing in front of him were Evan and Shermaine. After that, he pinched himself hard. Only when he gasped in pain was he certain that he was not dreaming.

But why... Has Evan fallen in love with her?

While sizing him up, Davin got to his brother's side and whispered, "Evan, you... Have you really fallen for her?"

Evan could not understand him at all because his memories had been altered. He shot him a look and said, "It's getting late. Let's head back."

With that, he walked into the cabin with Shermaine.

Davin was so stunned that he could not utter a word. Staring at Evan's and Shermaine's back, he turned to Levant and muttered, "I-Is he my brother?"

Levant nodded and answered firmly, "Yes!"

"H-He and Shermaine... What happened?"

Chapter 1816 New Mother For Juan

"It looks like your brother has fallen in love with Shermaine. You're going to have a new sister-in-law!" Levant said.

"What?" Davin exclaimed. "No way! What about Nicole? If Juan, Kyle, Maya, and Nina find out about this..." He dared not imagine what would happen after that. "Juan is still busy looking for the treasure. His father is about to find him a new mother now. We have to find him."

"Let's get back and have a look first. We'll let Draven and Damien look for him."

"All right. Thank goodness Nicole is in town studying the antidote. If she sees them... I don't know what's going to happen."

Levant laughed. "What's going to happen? She'll probably slash him with a knife."

"Slash him? You think Nicole will do that? I don't think so... If she does, whose side will you take?"

"Me? I'll help deliver the knife!"

"Y-You're twisting the knife!"

"I'm Nicole's brother. Shouldn't I help my sister?"

"Sister? You're just Sir Musgrave's adopted son. You, Evan, and I are cousins by blood. You're supposed to help—"

"Help your brother? By letting him be with Shermaine and become a jerk who abandons his wife?"

Davin gave it some thought and realized that he was being outrageous. He sighed and said, "I think I'll deliver the knife to Nicole with you." With that, he ran toward the cabin.

How could Evan be with Shermaine? What happened? But something's wrong with the way Evan looks at her. It seems that he really sees her as his family now. What in the world is going on?

Levant could not figure out the truth, but he knew that something else was behind this.

I must get to the bottom of this!

Back in the cabin, Evan and Shermaine saw that Nicole was feeding Jeremy medicine when they entered inside.

"Mr. Seet, you're back."

"Mr. Seet, are you all right?"

Darius and Draven scrutinized the man. They were so worried about him that they had discussed looking for him earlier.

"I'm fine! I got the antidote. Shermaine, give it to Jeremy."

Holding a mug, Nicole turned around and glanced at Shermaine, who was standing beside Evan. "I've developed the antidote and gave it to Jeremy."

With her brows furrowed, Shermaine gave Nicole a once-over. She developed the antidote by herself? Looks like she's really not an ordinary person. She must be Evan's wife. She looks beautiful and elegant, and she has a good figure. I wonder if Evan will recall anything when he sees her. No, he won't. It's stated in the book that once a person's memory has been altered, they won't remember anything for three months.

Clenching her fists, she tried to calm herself down.

"You fed him the antidote? Where did you get it from?"

Nicole was stunned when she heard Evan's words. Why is he speaking to me in such a tone?

"Mr. Seet, I accompanied Mrs. Seet to the hospital in town. She had been working tirelessly and finally succeeded after conducting thousands of experiments. It's not easy to get this antidote. Mrs. Seet has really worked hard for it," Darius explained at the side.

Evan frowned and started appraising Nicole. Did Darius call her Mrs. Seet? Whose wife is she?

"Evan, I don't know if the antidote she developed is right. Why not let Jeremy eat the antidote I got as well just to be safe?"

Evan thought for a while before he nodded. "Okay."

Nicole stared at Evan in disbelief. Does he not trust me?

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1817

Chapter 1817 What Is Your Name

"Evan, I've tested the antidote that I developed with Jeremy's blood. It can cure him completely. Who... is this? We're uncertain if she's really holding the antidote. We can't let Jeremy eat this."

Nicole was worried. She had finally developed the antidote, and if Shermaine were to feed Jeremy with some other poison again, her efforts would be in vain.

Evan looked Nicole up and down before glancing at Shermaine. "She's my wife. Of course she's holding the antidote, but you... Who are—"

Before he could even finish his sentence, the door was pushed open.

Davin and Levant were completely stunned when they saw Nicole. Damn. Nicole is back already? Something doesn't feel right. What happened?

Nicole stared at Evan in puzzlement as she pointed at Shermaine and asked, "Who is she again?"

Evan's memory clearly told him that Shermaine was his wife. "She's my wife."

Those words hit everyone like a truck.

Nicole stood frozen. She could not regain her senses for a long time.

"Did I mishear something?"

"Did Mr. Seet say that this woman is his wife?"

"W-What's going on? Did something happen during the two days that I accompanied Mrs. Seet to the hospital in town? What happened to Mr. Seet?"

"Perhaps Mr. Seet has his reasons. He definitely doesn't mean it."

Draven, Damien, Darius, and Jensen were utterly confused.

After exchanging glances with Levant, Davin walked up to Evan and attempted to speak for him.

“Evan, what happened to you? Did you hit your head or something? My sister-in-law, Nicole, is standing right in front of you. This woman here is one of The Four Guardians of Daemonic Mount. How is she my sister-in-law?”

Evan looked at him in blank amazement. Shermaine is my wife! I can't be wrong about this!

He glanced at Nicole and barked, “Nonsense! Your sister-in-law is Shermaine!”

Davin was utterly floored. Damn! How is he so confident when he's getting it all wrong? Has he lost his mind?

Nicole, having recollected herself, walked up to Evan and gazed at him fixedly with her bright eyes. “Evan Seet, if she's your wife, then who am I?”

Evan looked at her. He had no impression of her at all, yet she seemed familiar to him somehow.

Is she someone I've met before?

At the thought of her developing the antidote for Jeremy, he cleared his throat and asked politely, “Madam, may I know your name?”

Nicole laughed in exasperation when she heard that question from her husband.

“My name? Evan Seet, if you're joking with me, please stop. It's not funny at all. If you pull my chain again, I'll make you pay for it.”

Nicole could not figure out what was going on, but Evan was going too far. Hence, she guessed that Evan was fooling around.

Davin, who was equally confounded, agreed with Nicole. He looked at Evan upon coming to a realization. “Evan, I can't believe you're pranking us like this! I'm impressed! You've totally fooled us just now. Levant and I were worried that Nicole would slash you with a knife! I was worried sick!”

Looking at Nicole's and Davin's expressions, Evan wondered, What is this woman talking about? And what nonsense is Davin spouting? Why can't I understand a thing?

Chapter 1818 Cast A Spell On Him

“Stop teasing him, you guys! My husband only loves me!” Shermaine piped up upon noticing the trace of doubt in Evan's eyes. She then turned her head and looked at Evan affectionately. “Right, Evan?”

Evan nodded, surprising everyone once again.

Nicole stared at Evan incredulously. She had only been away for two days, but Evan had turned into a different person.

What happened to Evan?

Davin walked over to Evan and tugged his sleeve. "Evan, what are you doing? You don't really like this woman, do you? You've only known her for several days. Don't be stupid. If you betray Nicole, your five children will not forgive you! Think about it carefully!"

Evan looked at Davin, wondering if the latter had lost his mind.

Meanwhile, Levant's dark eyes were locked on Shermaine's face. He was studying the change in her expression. Seeing the frown on her face and her fingers that were tightly clenched on the corners of her clothes, he reckoned that Evan had become like this because of her.

"Ms. Shermaine, what kind of spell did you cast on him? He doesn't even recognize his wife now," Levant asked.

Shermaine's heart skipped a beat, but she had already expected that kind of situation to happen. She tried to keep calm as she replied, "I didn't cast a spell on him. He is a loyal man. He will only commit to one person in his life! You people have always told him that it's normal for a man to have more than one woman in his life and have even sent several secret lovers to his side. You just won't give up even though he has rejected all of them, and you even brought a woman here..."

She glanced at Nicole and went on, "You can't make jokes like this anymore. Otherwise, as his wife, I'll really get angry!"

Davin was stunned.

This woman is twisting the truth and playing the victim here! How dare she call Nicole a secret lover when Nicole's Evan's legitimate wife?

"Bullsh*t! What lover? You're the secret lover here!" Davin snapped.

Shermaine rolled her eyes at him. "Enough, you! I'm his wife! I won't let him keep any secret lover! Just give up on that idea. Evan, I'm not feeling well. I want to take a stroll outside. Will you go with me?"

Nicole watched as the two walked away in a daze, feeling as though she was about to pass out.

She did not expect to encounter such a dramatic scene after taking painstaking efforts to develop the antidote.

God, are you testing my relationship with Evan? He's a forty-year-old man now. Why did you send such a woman to his side? Even worse, the woman has the upper hand now. Evan has forgotten about me... How is this fair?

Levant walked over to Nicole and consoled her, "Don't be sad. Shermaine must be behind this. I guess she has fed him something."

Darius asked straightforwardly, "Did she feed him something that would make him lose his memory? But Mr. Seet didn't lose his memory. He still remembers us, everyone except Mrs. Seet."

"Yeah. What kind of drug could make him forget a particular person?" Jensen was curious as well.

Noticing the frown on Nicole's face, Damien knew that Darius and Jensen were making the situation worse.

He shot them a look and said, "There must be this kind of drug; otherwise, Mr. Seet wouldn't have ended up like this. Besides, Daemonic Mount is an evil place. It makes sense that such a strange drug exists. Perhaps there are even creepier ones!"

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1819

Chapter 1819 Flower Sea Of Joy

All of them shared a look in silence until Nicole said, "I trust Evan! I trust that he still loves me!"

Everyone was relieved to hear that, believing that everything would be fine as long as Nicole trusted Evan.

They had been worried that Nicole might leave Evan out of anger. However, at that moment, Nicole had shown them how magnanimous she was.

They thought that Evan's love for her did not go to waste.

"Nicole, we're happy that you're willing to trust Evan. But if Shermaine had really fed him something, would Evan be in danger? She can't continue doing this. We have to find a way to help my brother and wake him up!"

“What’s important right now is to find out what happened to him so that we can find the right cure,” Levant suggested.

“I’ll investigate the matter with Damien right away,” Draven volunteered.

After pondering for a moment, Levant said, “Sure. Go to the mountain and see if you can find anything there. Davin and I will go look for Evan and Shermaine to monitor them. We can prevent her from taking advantage of Evan and force her to tell us the reason Evan has become like this when the opportunity arises.”

“All right. I’ll go with you,” Davin replied without hesitation.

Nicole looked at Levant and gave him a small smile.

Levant was a thoughtful and observant man. He knew that she would still feel uncomfortable although she said that she trusted Evan. After all, Evan was not himself now, and he was with another woman.

“I’ll go with you,” Nicole said.

Levant smiled and replied, “You haven’t rested well in the past two days because of the antidote. You should eat something and take a nap. Don’t worry. Davin and I are here. Everything will be fine.”

“He’s right, Nicole. I promise that we’ll never let that woman take advantage of my brother.”

Nicole, who was exhausted, eventually nodded in agreement.

Thereafter, they went their separate ways. Damien and Draven went up the mountain, while Davin and Levant went to find Evan and Shermaine. They searched for a long while, but there was no sign of Evan.

Looking around, Davin thought, Strange. Where are they? Where else can they go?

Having thought of something, he looked at Levant and said, “I think we should look for them in a hidden and remote place.”

“Why?” Levant asked.

“Think about it. Shermaine bewitched my brother, and my brother is seeing her as his wife now. What if she gets excited and plans to... Won’t she do it in a remote place?”

Levant narrowed his eyes. “And you think she’s gonna do it outdoors? Then where do you think is appropriate?”

Davin gave it a thought before naming a place. Levant thought it made sense, so they rushed to the place.

“Jeez. Too bad it’s nighttime. The moonlight is too dim. We can’t see if anyone is in the sea of flowers.”

Davin and Levant were standing in front of Flower Sea of Joy. Looking at the flowers that were swaying in the wind, they tried to locate Evan and Shermaine.

Both of them thought that it was a romantic place suitable for doing romantic things.

“Let’s just call him out,” Levant said.

Knowing that it was the only way to stop Evan from making a mistake, Davin, while observing the sea of flowers, shouted, “Evan! Are you there? I saw you! Come out now! Evan!”

Chapter 1820 Wrong Person

Huh? Something moved in the center. Is that Evan?

Davin made a gesture to Levant, pointing in that direction, and Levant told him to continue shouting.

“Evan, we saw you! Get out of there now, or we’ll get you out! I’m coming!”

After a pause, he started walking in that direction.

Levant sensed that someone was there indeed, but he wondered if it was Evan. If he really did cheat on Nicole with Shermaine, what should I tell Nicole? Evan, please don’t do this to Nicole. You’ve always been faithful to her!

“Evan!” Davin shouted at the two people lying in the center of the sea of flowers.

Yet, the two people ignored him. They seemed to be sleeping. They had each other in their arms and a white cloth over their faces.

Davin lost his cool when he saw that. He knew that the only people who would do such a thing on Daemonic Mount were Evan and Shermaine.

Did Evan do it with her, and then get into a dream where he’ll spend the rest of his life with her? Evan, you’ve made a mistake! If Nicole sees this, she’ll die of a broken heart.

Nervously, he walked to the both of them and called Evan, but the two, who were lying down, did not move an inch.

In a fury, Davin kicked the man and said, "Stop sleeping. Get up!"

The man on the ground woke up and pulled the cloth away from his face, looking at Davin in shock.

"Who are you?"

Davin was startled. Huh? He's not Evan.

"Who are you? Are you crazy?!" the man yelled at Davin.

Davin smiled apologetically and said, "I'm sorry. You two should go back to sleep."

"Sleep my foot! I just dreamed of getting rich and having a son, but you ruined it!" The man gnashed his teeth and threw a handful of soil at Davin.

Davin did not manage to dodge it, and the soil dirtied his clothes.

He had never been humiliated like that. Despite knowing that it was his fault, he squatted down and grabbed some soil with both hands before throwing it at the man and the woman.

"Ah! Who are you?" the woman screamed.

"Are you tired of living?" The man was purple with rage.

Davin dusted the dirt on his hands and said calmly, "This is the punishment you get for messing around. Keep this in mind!"

"Messing around? She's my wife!"

"Yes! We just want a child. How are we messing around?"

Davin was stunned. Upon digesting their words, he came to realize that the sea of flowers could fulfill one's wishes in dreams and that the couple couldn't conceive.

Oh my god. I made a mistake. Should I apologize?

Suddenly, he heard the woman crying.

"This is it. I'll never become a mother. I dreamed that I was pregnant with a son, and I was about to give birth to him. Then, this man destroyed my dream... My son... My son is gone now..."

Feeling apologetic, Davin looked at them and said, "I'm sorry. I didn't know about this. I'm so sorry."

Looking at his wife, who was crying her heart out, the man replied in distress, "Your apology is useless now. Our son is gone because of you."

"Yes. Give me back my son..." the woman cried.
