

Barren Mother Give Birth To Sextuplets To The Hot CEO Chapter 16

A few hours after Amy had arrived back to the apartment she rented when she came back from SouthHill, she took a cab to her children's school. The school was a very prestigious and expensive school. Every students attending the school were from the richest family in town. When Amy arrived at the school in an attempt to pick up the kids, the teacher who was in charge of the kids told her that the children had been taken away by a man. A man? Her heart almost jump off her chest. Did Elizabeth betrayed her by telling her son about her willingness to leave? Was it Broderick who came to pick up the children? If he was and has found out the children are his, then she's doomed. Everything about her became totally disorganized, she ran out of the school and was almost taking a cab back to the mansion when she thought on the opposite side, what if it's not Broderick who came to pick up the children? Although there was ninety percent chance that he was the one. She ran back inside the school and saw the teacher already walking out of the classroom, "who was the man who came to pick my children?" "Mr. Callan," the teacher answered, "he claimed to be the father of the children." An aggressive rage almost tore Amy apart. Was Callan out of his mind? What relationship subsists between them that makes him have the gut to come and pick the six children? "Did he tell you where he's taking them to?" Amy asked and the teacher handed her over a letter he dropped behind for her. "Why didn't you give me this before?" She asked. "You looked like you already knew who came to pick up your children so I felt like it was not necessary to give you plus you seem to be in a hurry," the teacher said. "I took the children to B hospital to perform a DNA test on the m," the content of the letter reads. Amy sped out of the school, took a cab quickly and even persuaded the cab driver to speed up even more. When she got to the hospital, she ran immediately to the DNA section and then saw Callan standing tall before a woman who was obviously a doctor, they were both having a conversation. Amy appeared and asked angrily, "where are my children? What gave you the right to come and pick them?" When the doctor standing with Callan heard this, she walked away leaving Callan and Amy together, "How surprising that you have six children. Really! Who would have known that you would give birth to six children? God has indeed favoured you," he said. "Is that the answer to my question?" She asked angrily. "How long can you hide my children from me? I knew that you can't let any man have sex with you after you left me... so? The children are obviously mine. Don't be flattered, I don't need you, I'm more interested in my children." Callan said. "Your children?" Amy smirked, she has never seen a man as foolish as Callan. "You are mistaken, you are not their father and their father is not someone you want to joke with," Amy said and Callan scoffed. "Really?" He scoffed again, "Tell me another lie, please? You seem not to know how powerful my

“How did you find out about my kids?” Amy asked. She was curious about many things but she can only ask a few. “A source told me,” Callan smirked and then said, “my children are currently in the laboratory and a DNA test will soon be performed on them all, it’s not because I didn’t believe they are my children, it’s so that I can have enough evidence to tender at court when claiming the six children back. I assure you that you will never get to see my children again,” he said. Amy was not disturbed with his threat as she even smirked in an unbothered manner, it’s amazing how Callan grew from a loving and caring husband that he was many years back into a heartless somebody. Amy wondered if he should let the doctors perform a DNA test just so Callan can be sure that the children were not his, otherwise, he would keep bragging that the children were his. Amy stood a few distance away from him, waiting for the result, about thirty seconds later, someone began to approach her and the person looked familiar, when he got before her, Amy’s mouth parted. “You need to answer this call,” Brett handed over the phone to Amy and she received it, she already saw the name ‘Mr. Broderick’ as the caller ID. “What are you doing at the DNA department with your ex husband? Is there a secret I should know?” Broderick asked. Amy’s heart became disorganized and fear held onto her soul, Callan can know she has children for all she cares but Broderick, no! That will be the worst. “No...no...there is no secret,” she answered. “Is it because I have not satisfied your lustful desires, that’s why you met with your ex husband maybe he can gratify your lust, how promiscuous are you, woman?” Broderick asked. This period, Callan set his gaze on Amy and Brett, Brett was popular and known by many to be Broderick’s personal assistant. Callan was wondering what relationship subsists between Broderick and Amy. Although Broderick was not standing here with them, he knew Broderick was behind this. Brett was always carrying on the command of Broderick and Callan knew that this was not an exemption. “I’m not...” Amy suddenly swallowed the word ‘promiscuous.’ Defending herself bluntly will only land her into more trouble. Why was Broderick stalking her? “You have once been married before, right? How come you don’t know how to honour a marriage? Is this how you will honour a marriage? By meeting up with your ex husband?” Broderick’s voice came through again “It’s not what you think, I say sincerely,” she said. *Then tell me what you are meeting him for, woman?” Broderick demanded in a firm tone. Amy dared not to tell him that it was because of her children, she had to come up with something, ‘he said he wanted to tell me something.’ It didn’t take Broderick any effort to know that she was lying, “Callan used to be my childhood friend and now one of the investors to one of my small companies, it would not take me time to ask him about your purpose here with him. Will you still dare to lie before me?”