

Afterwards, several people returned to the place where they had parked before.

Wu Shutong said to several people, "You guys go further away, I'm going to report to the British Lord in the car."

Several people nodded at the same time, and walked a long way in the opposite direction.

Wu Shutong just got into the car, took out his mobile phone, and used a special contact software to make a voice call to Ying Zhu.

When the phone was connected, the British Lord asked him, "Has the situation been clarified?"

Wu Shutong quickly said, "Reporting to the British Lord, the subordinates have already entered the location of the copper mine to investigate, but now the entire copper mine has collapsed from the bottom, and the entire copper mine has collapsed from the bottom. The aboveground part of the copper mine has also completely collapsed into ruins, and the entire site is full of collapsed construction waste, and there are no clues to be found..." The British Lord asked sharply, "How could this be?! Such a huge base, just say no. Gone?! What about the people inside?! Have they all been killed?!"

Wu Shutong said in panic, "Go back to the British Lord, what's going on with the people inside, and the subordinates don't know anything about it! Originally, I still pinned my hopes on Cyprus. Official investigation, but they have now ordered that the entire site be filled up, and they have declared to the outside world that the copper mine has reached the end of its useful life and has been artificially abandoned. Now that the place is heavily guarded, the subordinates are powerless to investigate!"

The British Lord said

coldly He asked in a low voice, "Why are the Cyprus officials in such a hurry to fill up the place?! To cover up the evidence in such a hurry, could it be that they discovered something hidden from the public?!" The Lord actually grasped the key point of the problem in an instant.

However, there is no turning back when the bow is opened.

He didn't dare to take the responsibility that the entire garrison of dead soldiers had already been occupied, and even Mr. Ober was strangled. He just wanted to let the Lord know that the reason why this place was razed to the ground was because the mysterious enemy was too powerful. Just like the defeats in New York and Northern Europe, it is not that one's own side is too good, but that the enemy is too strong.

So, he could only bite the bullet and say, "My lord, my subordinates feel that the people in the dead man's station, as well as the Nakul uncle, are probably dead. It is very likely that the enemy took advantage of their unpreparedness to wash this place with blood..."

"Bloodwash..." the British Lord murmured, "Uncle Nakul is extremely powerful, who can wash him with blood?!"

Wu Shutong lamented, "My Lord, my subordinates don't know who did it, so I ask the British Lord to punish him!" !"

After a long time, the hero said dejectedly, "Forget it, it seems that this world is not what I thought it was, I was too optimistic..."

After finishing speaking, the British Lord said again, "Okay, you can withdraw, don't mention this matter to anyone, and offenders will be killed without mercy!"
