I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1707—Archimedes' eyes continued to wander.

'Hmm?'

He noticed a figure that was different from the others.

Everyone on the 9th floor was staring at him, but this person was eating his food and drinking his wine.

Furthermore, this person was looking out the window like he did not care about Archimedes.

As the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, Archimedes was always in the spotlight no matter where he went as long as he did not meet those geniuses.

Today, he met someone who did not care about him at all, so his interest was piqued.

He shifted his gaze to that person.

After he saw the person's face, he was a little shocked.

'It's a kid!

'He doesn't know what's what!

'Perhaps he's a direct descendant from a family and this is the first time he is coming out.

'He's never been broken down by society, so he thinks he's all that and is never bothered by anyone.'

Of course, Archimedes was staring at David.

David only glanced at Archimedes and Bernard when they first came up. When he saw that Bernard was a late Sovereign Ranker, he was shocked.

After that, he stopped paying attention.

Archimedes was not weak, and he had the protection of a late Sovereign Ranker, so he was definitely someone from a major force.

'But so what?

'What does that have to do with me?

'If they don't cross me, I don't cross them.'

Now, he only wanted time to pass quickly so that the auction would start as soon as possible.

Archimedes stared at David. At the same time, he attracted the attention of the others.

The others were pretty curious about David.

David was already here when they arrived.

What was even weirder was that most of them would sit together in groups of three to five or even seven to eight.

David was the only one sitting alone.

He had a wooden long box next to him with something unknown inside.

At the same time, there was also a small wine jar on the table.

It was not the same as the other wine jars in the tavern.

It looked old so no one could tell its age.

When everyone on the 9th floor stared at him, David frowned unconsciously.

He had a strong perception, so he knew others were staring at him without looking.

David was not interested to be the center of attention.

'Fine, I'll go.'

He was not scared of them, and he was also not scared of the late Sovereign Ranker.

If he engaged in a fight with the late Sovereign Ranker, he might not lose since he had his mind power and Evil-Splitting Sword, but he truly did not like attention.

It would be the same no matter when and where he was.

'If I can't stay here, I'll wait at Treasure Trove.'

'It's almost time anyway.'

When David was about to get up to leave, Archimedes walked in front of him.

“My friend, you seem bored by yourself. Why don’t we have a drink?” Archimedes asked.

He wanted to see who this young man was and how dare he ignore him.

“I’m sorry, I am busy. You can drink if you want, but I won’t be drinking with you.”

David stood up after he said that. He put his sword sheath on his back and reached over to grab his Exquisite Wine of Hundred Flowers and Fruits before leaving.

Archimedes was stunned for a second.

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1708

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1708—Archimedes never thought a kid would reject him when he voluntarily went up to him to be friendly.

As the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, Archimedes had never been insulted like this before.

So many people were watching as well!

If word got out, how would he show his face?

Everyone on the 9th floor was shocked by what David said.

Even though they did not know who Archimedes was, they knew he was not simple since he had a late Sovereign Ranker as his protector.

‘How dare that kid do that?’

‘Is he an idiot?’

Before Archimedes could register what was going on, David had grabbed his things to leave.

Then, Archimedes reached out to stop David.

“Kid, you’re not conscientious at all. I am older than you, so I am your senior. Is this how you treat your senior?” Archimedes said with a gloomy face.”

“Bro, I am busy. There are so many people here. Can’t you get them to drink with you?” David answered helplessly.

He still had no idea that the person in front of him was the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, and that he was here to investigate Cornelius' death.

If David knew, he would not waste his time spewing nonsense with him.

"I want you to drink with me," Archimedes insisted.

"I am busy!"

"Delay it!"

"No! This matter is crucial to me, so I have to leave now."

"You can leave, but you have to leave the wine jar in your arms here. I'll then go drink with others and let you leave." After Archimedes said that, he stared at the wine jar in David's arms.

He did not know what was inside.

However, since David was bringing it everywhere he went and it looked so old, Archimedes figured it must be some good stuff.

At the same time, he wanted to test David's reactions.

If David was willing to give it to him, then he would be wrong.

If David was unwilling to give it to him, then it might be some good stuff.

When David heard that, he understood what was going on.

'He's interested in my Exquisite Wine of Hundred Flowers and Fruits.

'This guy knows what's what.

'He knows I have good stuff in here.'

If David did not need to give Celia and the others this wine to help them get more chances to enter Eternal Realm, he would not mind sharing it.

He already had 30 thousand lavish points anyway, so he did not care about other things. However, he needed the wine, so no matter who asked for it, he would not give it to them. "My master gave me this wine, so I can't give it to you," David rejected without hesitation. "Oh? May I know who's your master? Can you tell us? Maybe he's an old friend of the Lightfoot family," Archimedes said nonchalantly.

Of course, he did not think David's master was an old friend of his family.

Instead, he was indirectly trying to expose his own identity.

The Lightfoot family's status was at the top of the ranks in the Central Sacred Continent.

When everyone heard of that name, they were startled.

Indeed, when Archimedes said that, everyone's jaw dropped.

Sounds of discussions filled the room immediately.

"He's from the Lightfoot family, so it's no wonder he looks so outstanding. The Lightfoot family's reputation is fully justified indeed."

"Yeah! This one should be Master Archimedes, the first-in-line heir of the family."

"The Lightfoot family is the true controller of Splendor, one of the top five trading companies in the Central Sacred Continent. As the first-in-line heir of the family, Master Archimedes is indeed handsome and loaded not just in name."

"Right? But I heard something happened to the family recently, have you heard?"

"I know some of it. Gossip says that Cornelius, the second-in-line heir of the family, died mysteriously. Everyone at the West End is so anxious. If they can't find the murderer soon, the repercussions might spread all over the Central Sacred Continent."

"It's not that serious, is it?"

"Not that serious? Don't underestimate the Lightfoot family's strength!"
