Chapter 1770

“What do I want? I want to ask you what you want after following me for so long?” David asked.

“We’re admitting defeat this time. What should we do for you to let Master Archi go? Just tell us. I know you should have your demands since you haven’t taken action after so long. Tell us and we’ll fulfill it for you.”

“Alright. I’ll tell you what I want. If you can help me take care of something, I will let him go,” David thought about it and said.

Bernard did not say anything.

Archimedes, who was under David’s control, cried impatiently, “Tell us! Tell us now! David, as long as you tell us, I will do my best to help you. There’s nothing I can’t do on the Central Sacred Continent!”

“When I was making my way here not long ago, I ran into a pretty arrogant guy, and I got into a conflict with him. He wanted to kill me, but he failed. So, I killed him. His family should be coming for me soon. Can you help me with that?”

“Sure sure sure! Of course! David, leave this to me. If his family dares to come to you, I will surely help you take care of it. No one on the Central Sacred Continent dares to disrespect me,” Archimedes yelled as if he had spotted a glimpse of hope.

It would be fine if David had any demands.

He was worried that David would be stubborn and then directly kill him.

If that happened, he would be so aggrieved.

“Right, before that guy died, he told me his name was Cornelius Lightfoot. You are Archimedes Lightfoot and you both have Lightfoot as your surname. Moreover, your names are both super pretentious so I’m guessing you should know each other,”

David said while pretending to be dumb.

‘What?’

‘Cornelius?’

‘David was the one who killed Cornelius?’

The smile on Archimedes’ face froze.

Then, his body started to shake, and an intense fear filled his heart.

Since David dared to kill Cornelius, would he also dare to kill him?

Bernard and the other powerhouses were all stunned as they stood in the distance.

The reason they were here was that the family asked them to investigate Cornelius' death. Who knew that the murderer was right in front of them?

At the same time, he also had Master Archimedes as a hostage now.

They were not idiots, and they could tell that David was playing them for fools.

Archimedes Lightfoot and Cornelius Lightfoot. One could tell from a glance that they were related, so how could David not know it too?

Furthermore, Cornelius had definitely told David that he was the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family before he was killed.

Bernard stared at David as his brain raced.

'Why did David tell them that he had killed Cornelius?

'Is he trying to make amends with the Lightfoot family in return for Master Archi's life?

'No!

'He's not an idiot, so he'll know there will be no way in hell that we will reconcile.

'He killed the second-in-line heir and now he wants to use the first-in-line heir's life to reconcile?

'How would that work?

'What is David trying to do? 1

‘He knows there’s no way this matter will end peacefully, but he still said it.

‘Is he not scared of the Lightfoot family’s retaliation?’

Bernard shuddered suddenly, then he looked at David in disbelief.

‘Unless... He wants to kill all of us?’
