I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1925-West End of the Central Sacred Continent.

Deep inside Treasure Trove of Large Trade Zone 47.

The Fellowes family's True Saint Cedar, Pre-Saint Roald, Head of Treasure Trove Valerio, and the third young mistress of the family Alba were all sitting together.

Meanwhile, the person in front of them was True Saint David, who just killed Nek in the Simmons Continent.

When David returned to the Central Sacred Continent, he immediately went to the Fellowes family to discuss the last deal.

Late True Saint Rank was not enough.

What he was about to do next required him to be a Sacred Saint, regardless of if it was going to the Iridescent Sect to rescue Celeste or helping the Fellowes family deal with the Palmore family.

The Fellowes family was his key to achieving Sacred Saint Rank.

"David, you are completely famous now. It has been a long time since there has been a death of a Saint in Star Kingdom. I didn't expect the first one to die by your hands." Cedar said with a forced smile.

"Cedar, I had to kill Nek. Even if he was a True Saint, I would still have killed him as long as I had the strength, let alone a Pre-Saint," David replied indifferently.

"The Simmons family is not worth worrying about. The most troublesome one is the Saints Association. When the Saints Association was established, it formed a rule that stated there should be no internal conflicts in Star Kingdom. In the beginning, some people did not listen, so Lord Sid punished them to set an example for others. After that, no one dared to do it again. You've killed Nek this time, so the Saints Association will probably come after you soon."

"I have already killed Nek, so it's fine if they come to me. I will take all the responsibility. Cedar, let's forget TSA for a while. I have something more important to tell you now." David changed the subject.

The most important thing now was how to convince the Fellowes family to complete this last deal.

300 branches were fine. After all, Treasure Trove was a big business, so it would not hurt them much.

However, it might be too much to merge the trading company and take a stake in Treasure Trove.

David did not know how the Fellowes family would react when they found out, and they would probably be furious.

However, in his opinion, the Fellowes family had no other way to fight back against the Palmore family's pressure. If they did not work with him, they could only be devoured by the Palmore family.

At the very least, David would not completely take over Treasure Trove.

After the merger, the Fellowes family would still have full control over Treasure Trove, and David would not participate.

David's purpose was just to spend money to gain some lavish points.

However, he could not say this, and even if he did, no one would believe him.

"David, please tell us."

"Before that, I have to ask you a few questions." David thought for a while and decided to approach this indirectly.

It would be difficult for the Fellowes family to accept it if he said this upfront.

"David, please!"

"Cedar, the Fellowes family has completely fallen out with the Palmore family this time, right? And I'm sure they've already figured out why you were protecting me at all costs now."

"That's true. As far as I know, after Tai went back, the Palmore family already started to act. They are going to take action against my family and seize control of Treasure Trove," Cedar replied bluntly.

He knew that he wanted David's help, so naturally, he could not hide anything.

Otherwise, the other party would give up and refuse to help.

Facing such a powerful person with a strong background, the Fellowes family had no other choice.

“So, what are you going to do?” David asked.

“David, to tell you the truth, the Palmore family has been eyeing our Treasure Trove for a very long time. Although we are not reconciled, we have never had a good chance to get rid of them. There is no other way than to accept our fate. It wasn't until we met you that we had hope. So, after Vai sent the news back to the family, we decided to take a gamble and do our best to help you complete the task. At the same time, we hope that you and your master could help us to get out of trouble.” After Cedar finished speaking, his eyes were fixed on David.

The same went for the other three.

David's next answer was likely to determine the fate of the Fellowes family.

The Fellowes family offended so many people because of David just so they could wait for this moment to come.

Now they had completely offended Tai, so there was no chance for them to reconcile with the Palmore family.

The Palmore family would inevitably suppress the Fellowes family aggressively, not giving them any chance to make a comeback.
