

Reborn Through Fire

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 1010

• • •

Chapter 1010 Your Woman Got Beaten Up on Set Again

“Oh, Sharon, I didn’t expect your acting skills to have improved so much. So much so that you’re willing to take a proper beating for the scene. It looks like without the ephemeral halo of “Miss international superstar”, you’re actually honing your acting skills.

Not bad. This is praiseworthy. I’ll tell Gilbert later and allow you to return to GK Pictures.”

“You!”

“Alright, Sharon. Don’t you see Kisa praising you? Moreover, didn’t you beat that girl up as well? Consider this matter over then.

More importantly, we’ve smoothly completed the scene.”

“Director...”

“Alright, your faces are swollen, so let’s call it a day here. We’re down to the last few scenes, so work hard, everyone. And, try to wrap everything up within a month.”

The director clearly could not be bothered to deal with Sharon and just buried himself in tinkering with his camera.

So, the latter could only seethe resentfully at Kisa. Her already slightly misaligned face was swollen with two more slap marks, and she looked even more hideous.

Kisa, too, did not want to continue to be around her, so she dragged Jolina and left.

Sharon, however, suddenly called out to her. “Kisa Becker, it sure feels good being the wife of GK Picture’s CEO, huh?”

“Oh, and how did you know?” Kisa turned around and sneered at her.

“Heh, it seems like you’ve totally forgotten about Jensen.”

Kisa’s lips curved playfully as she tilted her head and asked, “What are you trying to say?”

“Hmph, don’t be too happy. My mother is about to get together with Mr. Tanner, and he’ll be my father when the time comes. I don’t think Mr. Tanner’s power is any weaker than Gilbert, so we’ll see if you dare to insult me again!”

Upon hearing what Sharon said, Kisa once again felt sorry for that father of hers.

‘Look at this. This is the daughter he loved and favored so much.

‘In the end, the same daughter thinks he is useless, and she wants to take another man as her father.

‘It’s embarrassingly sad when you think about it.’
Inside Club Lovely Serenity.

Peter sat on the couch with a lighter in his hand, flicking it from time to time.

His eyes were unfocused, as if he was deep in thought.

Beside him, Adrien and Carolyn were teasing one another.

Anthony, who was seated opposite them, looked on and was straight-up disgusted.

Adrien ignored him as he hugged Carolyn and said some old-fashion romantic words.

Carolyn, who got pissed off, glared at Anthony and hissed at him, “Leave if you can’t stand it. Who are you making that retching face for?”

“You, of course!” Anthony smiled as he looked at Adrien. “Mr. Tanner, I know an ophthalmologist, and he’s really good. How about I introduce you to him and get your eyes checked?”

“Huh? Is there a problem with your eyes?” When Carolyn heard that, she held Adrien’s face with a worried look on hers.

As Anthony looked on, he really felt like throwing up.

‘What a stupid woman!’

‘And, her daughter is just as stupid as her!’

He suddenly looked at Peter and said, “I heard your woman got beaten up on set again.”

Peter narrowed his eyes slightly but did not answer.

A smirk appeared on Anthony’s face as he said, “That woman is called Jolina, right? Her face was slapped so hard by Sharon that her skin tore. Tsk, poor delicate thing.”

Peter suddenly looked at Carolyn, and a terrifying and dangerous feeling radiated out from him.

Carolyn was shocked and immediately held onto Adrien. “It must be the scene’s requirements or the director’s request. Sharon would never do that on purpose.”

As she said that, she even shook Adrien’s arm.

The latter gave her a doting look before turning to Peter. “Alright, alright. It was just an act. Don’t take it for real.”

Peter narrowed his eyes coldly but did not say anything as he got up and went to the bathroom.

Inside the bathroom, he unbuttoned his shirt and stared at the birthmark on his chest with a frown.

• • •