

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 241

Chapter 241 A Gloomy Day

Kelvin quickly hissed and looked to the corner.

Amidst the darkness, Gilbert looked at Kelvin with heavy eyes. "Did you just say...Kisa is going to the farm for a vacation with the Case family?"

Kelvin nodded blankly.

Gilbert had been gloomy the whole day. Kelvin did not dare to talk to him.

Gilbert placed his glass on the table and came out from the corner.

The atmosphere in the room immediately turned heavy. 1

Gilbert asked carefully, "Is Jensen going too?"

"Errrr..." Kelvin thought for a while and replied, "I don't think he's going. The Case family had never mentioned about him."

It was only then did Gilbert relaxed himself.

Gilbert turned around, sat down on the sofa and continued drinking.

The corner Gilbert was sitting at was the perfect spot. Everyone could ignore him. They could drink, eat, laugh and chit chat freely.

Now

that he has moved to the center, they did not dare to chat more as the tense atmosphere persisted.

Kelvin looked to the heavens and quietly thought, 'I'm never inviting this guy over for any drinking sessions again.'

The next day.

Kisa wore a floral dress and put on some light makeup. She looked clean and lovely.

Jensen felt a little worried when he sent her off, "What if I go with you?"

Kisa shook her head, "I'm worried they'll suspect something if you follow. If I go alone, they'll assume that I'm still the old Kisa who isn't brave."

Jensen sighed, "Alright then. Please be careful. Call me if anything happens."

"Alright."

When Kisa reached the Case family's house, Carolyn and Sharon were ready.

Kelvin and Gracie were there too.

Gracie was shocked when she saw Kisa.

Gracie smiled at her and said, "Kisa, you've really changed a lot."

"Yeah. After I recovered, I gained a bit of weight. I feel a lot healthier than before."

"That's amazing!" Gracie still had the same sweet smile.

Then, Gracie added, "Kelvin and I wanted to go to the farm on our own. But Carolyn insisted that we come over here so it's easier for us to meet up. You know, in case we got lost on the way there."

"Yeah, I feel the same as well."

Although Kisa replied as such, deep down she was sneering.

Carolyn's plan was for Anthony to 'kidnap' everyone. Of course, she would not allow them to drive to the farm on their own.

The driver drove an extended MPV.

Carolyn and Sharon shared the same row; Kelvin and Gracie sat on the second row while Kisa sat alone in the last row.

It seemed like Gracie was eager to chat with Kisa. The journey had just started but Gracie had already moved to the last row and sat with Kisa. This made Kelvin roll his eyes.

"Kisa, you..."

"You don't have to be so formal when talking to me," interrupted Kisa.

Gracie loosened up and replied happily, "Kisa, I'm really happy that you've fully recovered." "Thanks!"

All of a sudden, Kisa was reminded that Jensen had kidnapped Kelvin for four months.

Kisa said, "Oh yeah, I hope you don't take it to heart about the incident when Jensen kidnapped Kelvin. Actually, he wanted Kelvin to focus on treating me. If anyone, you should blame me instead."

Gracie shook her head hurriedly, "Why would I blame any of you? I'm very happy that he could help you fully recover."

"You're really kind," said Kisa, as her impression of Gracie as a nice person began to grow.

Gracie smiled shyly, "Right. When you were missing those four months, Gilbert was searching around crazily for you. I think he is still- AH!"

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 242

Chapter 242 Beat to the Draw

Before Gracie could finish speaking, the driver slammed on the emergency brake.

Due to the sudden jerk, everyone's backs were forced into the car seats.

Kisa felt nervous.

Carolyn and Sharon's plan was for the car to drive into a rural area and Anthony would kidnap everyone.

Kisa had already checked the route yesterday. In about ten minutes, the car should reach a road that was under construction. That was the most rural area.

If Kisa had guessed it correctly, Anthony's men would ambush the car in that area.

The place where they suddenly stopped at was neither rural nor busy. It was the place where Kisa and Jensen had discussed. A road sign made of stone they had marked down the day before.

That's right. Kisa had arranged her own people to ambush the area.

Her plan was to make a move before Anthony kidnapped everyone.

She could only get the upper hand when she beat Anthony to the draw.

After the car stopped, a few masked men pulled open the car door.

Carolyn and Sharon were in obvious disbelief.

“Wh—Who are you guys? What are you trying to do?”

They found it weird that Anthony changed the location without informing them.

Kisa sneered internally but pretended to be scared, “What are you guys doing?! Don’t come near me!!!

Gracie was not informed about this. Her face was genuinely filled with shock and panic.

When the big sized men entered the car, Kelvin hurried over to guard Gracie with his body. He yelled at those men, “What are you guys trying to do in broad daylight?”

“Shut up. Mr. Mullen gave us an order to kidnap all of you to play a game. Boys, go for it.”

Upon hearing the words ‘Mr. Mullen’, Carolyn and Sharon seemed a lot more relaxed.

Although they still seemed scared on the outside, it was obvious that they were acting.

In the car, the driver was a man in his fifties. Other than Kelvin who was a young man, the rest are all ladies.

Kelvin could not protect everyone with just a pair of hands. After a while, the gangster pinned him down.

Kelvin was enraged. He threatened and yelled at those big sized men but to no avail.

A few of the men whipped out pen knives and stabbed at the shoulders of those in the car. All of them groaned and fainted instantly.

“Hiss!”

After a long while, Kisa woke up in a daze. Her shoulders were extremely painful.

She gritted her teeth and tried to move her muscles as she looked around her.

‘This looks like a hut in the farm with a double bedroom.’

Kelvin and Gracie were lying on the bed, knocked out. The unconscious Sharon was thrown at a corner, seeming a little haggard.

Someone waved at Kisa outside the window.

Kisa glanced once at Sharon before she silently tiptoed out of the room.

“How is it? Is everything okay?”

“Yeah. Everything is prepared. The reporters are already here.”

“Okay.”

Suddenly, a noise was heard from the room. One of them must have woken up.

Kisa quickly waved her hand, signaling the person to leave.

She stood at the door and was not in a hurry to step back in. Instead, she peeped inside quietly to check on the situation.

She noticed that Kelvin had woken up. He was panicking and calling Gracie to wake that Gracie was in good shape, Kelvin let out a sigh of relief.

After Gracie woke up, Sharon soon followed after.

1. up. Seeing

Sharon was stunned for a moment. She then asked anxiously, “Where is Kisa? Why isn’t she here?”

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 243

Chapter 243 Kidnapped

Sharon probably did not notice that Carolyn was missing.

The plan to kidnap Kisa was, after all, planned by her family. Sharon must be rejoicing deep down.

Kelvin muttered coldly, “How dare Anthony kidnap so many people in broad daylight.”

Gracie pulled Kelvin’s hand and said anxiously, “I don’t know where they brought Kisa to. Would they hurt her?”

Kelvin suddenly panicked, “Anthony had always held a grudge on Kisa. She might not be safe.” Seeing the both of them worry about herself, Kisa felt touched.

Sharon looked to the other side and pretended to cry, “You’re right! Anthony hated Kisa to the core. Who knows what he’ll do to torture her? Boo hoo... Kisa, where are you? Boo hoo hoo...”

Sharon's forceful act made Kisa feel disgusted.

Kisa smirked. Immediately after, she changed her expression and walked in with a panicked look.

"You're finally awake!"

"Kisa?"

Gracie rushed over happily, "Did anything happen to you?"

Kelvin found it strange too, "Anthony did not do anything to you, right?"

Kisa shook her head, "I was thrown into this house with you guys but I'm the first to wake up.

I checked out the situation outside. We're at the farm. I'm not sure why Anthony kidnapped us and brought us here."

As soon as she finished explaining, Kisa looked at Sharon worriedly. "Sharon, are you okay?"

Sharon was stunned.

Sharon pointed at Kisa and stuttered, "Y-y-you're fine?"

"Yeah. I'm fine, Sharon. Do you feel relieved?"

"Y-yeah." Sharon smiled awkwardly. Her wound-filled face was still covered with crocodile tears. It was a funny sight to see.

Kisa laughed internally. She pretended to wipe away Sharon's tears, "I'm sorry for making you worry. Your tears have washed off your healing cream."

Sharon smiled and took a step back, "You're my sister. It's my job to worry about you."

Kisa smiled and glanced around. She pretended to be surprised and asked, "Where is Carolyn? I don't see her here."

It was only then that Sharon's face changed.

"Mom. Oh yeah! Where's mom?"

As Sharon was speaking, she quickly ran outside.

go away!" As a public figure, even though Sharon knew that her mother was being framed, she did not dare to say anything.

Kisa stared coldly at the humiliation that was on Carolyn's face. She was happy. 'I guess she never thought that something like this would happen to her when she framed my mother. These are the consequences of her actions.'

The reporters stayed outside the house for half the day before finally dispersing. The man who slandered Carolyn was long gone by then.

The ones left in the house were Carolyn, who was outraged, and Sharon, who was crying, while Kelvin and Gracie stood at the door.

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 244

Chapter 244 The Consequences of Her Actions

The front of the house was crowded with reporters. The endless sound of cameras flashing, and people discussing, laughing, and cursing filled the place.

Kisa stood at the window and sneered at the situation inside the house. She saw Carolyn hugging a blanket in fear, with a shirtless stranger standing beside her.

Sharon rushed through the crowd and roared, "Mom, what are you doing? What the hell is going on?"

"How would I know what's going on?!" Carolyn's eyes were bloodshot red, and her voice was loud and sharp, "Stop it! Stop taking pictures! This is all a misunderstanding!" However, the reporters only laughed, and the sound of the cameras became louder and louder.

Carolyn glared at the man next to her and roared, "Who are you?! Why are you doing this?! Who's paying you to do this?!"

The man stared at Carolyn innocently and said, "What are you talking about, Mrs. Case? You're the one who asked me to satisfy you. You said you would bring your daughter and friends here for a vacation and told me to come early. I was scared at first, but you told me that no one would be suspicious of us if we said it was a vacation. You even told me that you'd knock your daughter and friends out so that no one would find out about us. How can you say that you don't know me now?"

"Shut up! That's nonsense. You're making things up!" Carolyn reached out and grabbed the man, but he pushed her away and said, "You're a bad person, Mrs. Case. You told me all those sweet words just to sleep with me, but now you're saying you don't know me in front of all the reporters?"

"You're lying! This is slander!" Carolyn shouted.

"Huh? I can't believe she's still playing games at an age like hers."

"I know, right? She even wanted to knock out her own daughter and friends just to sleep with the dude."

"Tsk. I heard she was quite the celebrity when she was younger, but what she's doing now is absolutely scandalous."

"Yeah. At least Emile Becker, who was as famous as her back then, spent the night with Mr. Case when he was single. She even got married to him. This really shows the difference between their character."

"She's in her fifties, yet she still fools around. Tsk. Who knows how many people she cheated on Mr. Case with?"

The unpleasant comments were making Carolyn lose her mind. "Stop it! Go away! Go away!" She yelled at the reporters.

"Oh? Now you're scared of people finding out?"

"How will you face Mr. Case when you get back, Mrs. Case?"

"If I were Mr. Case, I would definitely file for divorce."

"Go away!" Carolyn screamed. She held onto Sharon and yelled, "Sharon, quick, make them go away!"

As a public figure, even though Sharon knew that her mother was being framed, she did not dare to say anything.

Kisa stared coldly at the humiliation that was on Carolyn's face. She was happy. 'I guess she never thought that something like this would happen to her when she framed my mother. These are the consequences of her actions.'

The reporters stayed outside the house for half the day before finally dispersing. The man who slandered Carolyn was long gone by then.

The ones left in the house were Carolyn, who was outraged, and Sharon, who was crying, while Kelvin and Gracie stood at the door.

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 245

Chapter 245 The Older, the Wiser

“What are you crying for? Why didn’t you do as I said when I asked you to get rid of those reporters?! You wanted me to make a fool out of myself, didn’t you?”

Carolyn roared at Sharon.

“Mom, I’m a public figure. All the attention would be on me if I said something in that situation,” Sharon explained. “What in the world happened? Didn’t we talk about this? It was supposed to be Anthony...”

“Shut your mouth!”

The older one is, the wiser they are. Even though Carolyn had just had a meltdown in front of the reporters, she could still consider that Kelvin and Gracie were still there.

“Aunty, are you okay?” asked Kisa deliberately. Carolyn shot Kisa a fierce look, but she did not dare act up in front of Kelvin and Gracie. “I’m fine,” she sneered.

Gracie’s outlook on life was almost shattered to pieces. She stood by the door without making a sound.

“What were you doing, Aunty? If you want to have relations outside your marriage, then just do it secretly. Why did you have to create such a situation and pretend that Anthony’s people knocked us out? I thought we were getting robbed,” said Kelvin with a frown.

Carolyn choked with anger as she glared at Kelvin and said, “Shut up.”

“What? Am I wrong? I’m going to tell my grandpa about this, so he doesn’t ask me to come here again to witness such a horrid scene.”

Kisa smirked. ‘Kelvin’s ability to annoy someone certainly isn’t inferior to Gilbert’s,’ she thought.

Carolyn was so mad that her face turned red. “Get out! Get out of here!” she yelled.

“Let’s go. This absurdity is hurting my eyes,” Kelvin wrapped his arms around Gracie and said as they left.

Gracie turned around to look at Kisa and said, “Are you coming?”

“You guys go. I’ll stay here and comfort aunty,” Kisa replied.

“Okay. We’re off, then. Be careful later; it’s getting dark.”

“Okay.”

Kisa turned around with a smile as she met Carolyn’s cold and murderous gaze.

“This is your doing, right?”

Kisa spread out her arms innocently and said, “Aunty, what are you talking about? Aren’t you the one who proposed for me to come on vacation? You’re the one who arranged all this. What could I have possibly done?”

“Don’t you dare say it wasn’t you. Who else could have done it?” Sharon rushed over and raised her hand to slap Kisa across the face.

Kisa grabbed her wrist and said coldly, “Didn’t you ask Anthony to kidnap us, strip Kelvin and me down, and

44

throw us on the bed so that you can let the reporters take pictures of us? I found the plan to be rather interesting. I have to apologize, aunty, but in order not to let your plans go to waste, I had to let you have a taste of it yourself.”

Sharon’s eyes widened as she looked over at Carolyn subconsciously.

“H—how did you know?” Carolyn asked.

Kisa shook off Sharon’s hand and sneered, “Yes. How did I know about your plans? You’re welcome to take a guess.”

At that moment, Christopher rushed into the house and gave Carolyn an earful.

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 246

Chapter 246 What Are You Guys Doing?

“You b*tch. How dare you fool around at this old age? How will I have the face to go out in the future?” Christopher said angrily.

This was the first time Kisa saw him that mad. Although the man in front of her was her biological father, seeing him angry made her happy. Those were the people who had hurt her mother, and she wanted each and every one of them to pay the price.

“How dare you hit me, Christopher?” Carolyn roared at him in disbelief.

“Oh, I’m not just going to hit you. I’m going to divorce you, b*tch. My reputation is ruined because of you,” he said as he slapped her across the face again.

“Dad, this is all a misunderstanding. Mom didn’t do this. It was Kisa. That b*tch framed mom. She’s the one who ruined your reputation. She ruined our family reputation,” Sharon grabbed his arm and cried.

Christopher glanced at Kisa coldly.

“Didn’t your family plan this? This is the consequence of your own actions. It’s ridiculous that you’re blaming me.” Kisa drew a clear line between her and the Case family.

A series of complex emotions flashed through Christopher’s eyes.

Carolyn screamed and was about to pounce on Kisa when she was kicked away by Christopher. Seeing the gloomy expression on his face, Carolyn panicked. She knelt down and grabbed Christopher’s leg. “You know I didn’t cheat on you, right? We planned this thing together. I accidentally fell into her trap, that’s all.”

“They planned this thing together.’ Kisa pursed her lips when she heard that. Although she knew that her biological father was involved in the plan to frame her, her heart still sank when she heard it with her own ears.

Christopher did not dare look at Kisa. Instead, he just glared at Carolyn in anger. “Christopher, please don’t divorce me. What would Sharon do if we divorced? She has a bright future ahead of her. Please, if not for us, do it for Sharon.” Carolyn cried out miserably while still holding onto Christopher’s leg.

“Yeah, dad. Mom accidentally fell for that b*tch’s trap. She didn’t have an affair with that guy. Plus, the reporters have already taken all those pictures. There’s no use scolding her now.

After enjoying the scene in front of her, Kisa sneered at Carolyn, “You hurt my mother the same way back then. Now, it’s your turn.”

“You b*tch...”

“Enough. Have you no shame? Hurry up and pack your things. We’re getting out of here.” Christopher yelled at Carolyn. He did not dare look at Kisa.

Kisa

gave them a cold look, turned, and walked away.

Not far away, Jensen could not help but smile when he saw Kisa leave gracefully. He did not intervene in the matter. He had only lent her a few men, but she had been able to handle everything well enough on her own. 'Seems like I don't need to worry too much about her,' he thought.

As soon as he was about to leave, he found Gilbert standing behind him. He did not know how long he had been standing there, but he smiled and said, "Long time no see, Gilbert."

"You and her... What are you guys doing?" Gilbert frowned.

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 247

Chapter 247 You Shouldn't Be Helping a Tyrant

Jensen shrugged. "What do you think we're doing?" he asked.

Gilbert's expression became even colder. He had come to the farm since the day Kisa appeared here. He had been monitoring her every move. He knew that she disliked Christopher Case and Sharon, but he did not expect her to frame Carolyn Marshall. 'She is a vicious woman. She ruined the entire Case family's reputation just because of some personal grievance she had against them,' he thought.

Jensen smiled when he saw the cold look on Gilbert's face. "I'll never stop her from doing what she wants to do. I'll only support her."

"Even when she has lost her conscience?"

"Yes, I will support everything she does."

For some reason, Gilbert was jealous after hearing Jensen's words. Maybe it is because he could not do what this man was willing to do for Kisa. However, he was disgusted at the fact that Kisa had done such an evil thing to Carolyn.

"She shouldn't be this vicious," Gilbert said in a low voice. "You shouldn't be helping a tyrant like her."

"Hahaha!" Jensen laughed with a hint of sarcasm. "I finally know why she hates you."

Gilbert stared at him without saying a word.

"It's because you never tried to get to know her. You keep thinking that she's vicious, but to me, she's the kindest person I've met. She's doing all this just to get revenge. You don't know what she went through. You have no right to call her a vicious woman."

In his opinion, his younger brother is so pampered that he has never seen the darkest side of humanity yet.

“Gilbert, you and us... We are not the same.”

‘What does he mean by “us”? Is he implying that he and Kisa are the same kind of people, that I’m isolated from them?’

Gilbert clenched his fists and asked, “You fell for her from the start, right?”

Jensen paused and chuckled, “What do you mean by that?”

“When we were younger, you said you didn’t like her.”

“Yeah? Well, I lied.” Jensen smiled and said, “To be honest, if I’d fought for her when we were younger, she wouldn’t have suffered so much.”

“So what if that’s true? We’re not kids anymore” said Gilbert as he narrowed his eyes coldly.

Jensen merely smiled and turned to leave. Gilbert stared at his back with an indescribable desolation in his heart. The elder brother who had always protected him was gone. He never wanted things to be like this between them, but he knew that they could never go back to how things used to be.

When Kisa returned to the apartment, Jensen was at the door, waiting for her.

“Why are you back so late? Have you eaten yet?” he asked and pulled her into the house. The smell of food wafted out of the kitchen, making Kisa hungry.

Although she had avenged her mother today, she felt a hint of sadness. She was sad because her mother had left the world without witnessing what had happened. She walked along the road for a long time before going home. She did not dare go back to the apartment until the sadness in her heart had calmed down because she was afraid that this man would worry about her.

Jensen had cooked many types of food each day. She marveled at his cooking skills and felt a warm feeling inside of her due to this man’s thoughtfulness.

“Nice job ruining their plan, Kisa,” Jensen said as he poured her a glass of wine.

“Did you go to the farm today?” Kisa took the glass of wine and asked.

“Well...” Jensen hesitated for a while and said, “Gilbert was there too.”

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 248

Chapter 248 It Will Be His Turn Soon

Kisa’s expression stiffened when she heard Gilbert’s name, but she quickly recovered. She took a sip of her wine and laughed with a hint of self-deprecation.

“He must know what I did today then. He must think I’m vicious. After all, in his perception, Christopher and Carolyn treat me well. He must think that I’m an evil, ungrateful b*tch.”

Jensen stared at Kisa who just mocked herself. “He didn’t say you were vicious,” he said. Kisa laughed indifferently. “It’s fine if he said it out loud or not. I know that’s what he thinks of me anyway—a heinous and vicious woman. But that doesn’t matter. I’ll just continue taking my revenge. Soon, it’ll be his turn.”

Jensen looked at Kisa quietly. For some reason, he always felt that her smile was unconvincing, and that there was a sense of brokenness behind it.

He put some food in her bowl and said with concern, “Carolyn and Sharon won’t let this that easily. You have to be careful.”

“Well, Kohen’s banquet is just around the corner. If my guess is correct, both of them will make a move then.”

“Then you should—”

“Don’t worry. I’ll be careful,” Kisa said and turned on the tapping device.

go

At the end of the tapping device, Kisa heard Carolyn’s roar. “It must’ve been you who felt sorry for that b*tch and told her about our plan. How else would she find out about it and use it against me? Tell me, Christopher, did you do it?”

“How many times do you want me to repeat myself? No, I didn’t tell her about the plan.”

“Then how did she find out?”

“Yeah, dad, it must’ve been you. No one would have told her about our plan except you. I know how sorry you feel for that b*tch while mom and I mean nothing to you.”

“Are you guys done? Was ruining our reputation today not enough for you both? I said I didn’t tell her. Would I have helped you frame her if I felt bad for her? Compared to our family reputation, she is nothing. How would I ever want our family name to be ridiculed as you just did all because of her?”

Jensen glanced at Kisa subconsciously. At first, he thought she would be sad at how heartless her father was, but she just continued eating her dinner.

Kisa did not expect affection from her family because she had never received it before, just like Jensen.

“...Okay, okay, it wasn’t you. Geez, there’s no need to get so angry.”

“That’s strange... Who else could have told her about it?”

“Could it be Anthony Mullen? After all, just like you said, Sharon, he’s the only one who knows about the plan besides us.”

“There’s no way it’s him. Anthony has a grudge against that b*tch too, so he wouldn’t have helped her. Plus, he kept calling me today just to ask why we hadn’t shown up yet. It’s clear that he didn’t know we were tied up.”

“That’s weird. Did she secretly install a surveillance camera at home somehow?”

Kisa had already eaten her fill when they said those words. She wiped her mouth and said to Jensen, “I guess this tapping device won’t last much longer.”

After she said that, the voices from the tapping devices stopped, and all she could hear were rustling sounds.

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 249

Chapter 249 I’m Going to Get That B*tch

Jensen glanced at the tapping device and chuckled. “Looks like Carolyn is pretty smart, too.”

“Of course she is smart. Otherwise, how else could she have gotten rid of my mother and taken Christopher by the horns?” Kisa tossed the tapping device into the trash.

Jensen frowned with worries. “So what do you do next to protect yourself from their trap?”

"I can't, so I don't have to. If they want to hurt me, they will have to see if they are still capable of it."

Kisa opened the newspaper and, as she expected, all the pages were devoted to Carolyn and Christopher. Sharon's reputation was affected as well. There were several intriguing photos in the paper, so Carolyn did not even have a chance to clear her name.

and she

She fondled the last page of the book, written by her mother with tears in her eyes, felt a lump in her throat. Had her mother been alive and seen Carolyn's retribution, she would have been thrilled.

In the Case residence, Carolyn tore the paper to pieces and shouted at the maid in a thunderous voice, "What media are these? Who told them to write like this? How am I supposed to go out and face others after this?"

Christopher had gradually come to terms with the scandal. He sat on the sofa and said in a cool tone of voice, "You have been photographed lying naked in bed with a man. How are you going to face others?"

The maids wanted to laugh but dared not. Carolyn was so furious that she kicked over the coffee table. "What are you talking about here? You were asked to go with us that day, but you didn't show up. If you had shown up, maybe this wouldn't have happened."

Christopher sneered. "Kelvin was knocked unconscious by those people. What good could I do? In the end, it was your own misconceptions and your own desire to harm others that got you what you deserved."

"Christopher!"

Christopher got up in annoyance. "I don't care what you guys want to do, but don't bring the Case family's name into it. If anything like this happens again, I will divorce you."

Carolyn was shaking with rage as she stared at Christopher's back.

Sharon echoed her hatred. "It is all that b*tch's fault. If it weren't for her, you wouldn't be laughed at, and Dad wouldn't have done this to us."

"I'm going to get that b*tch." Carolyn gritted her teeth.

"Mom, don't worry, Kohen's party is still five days away. This time, I will make a fool of her at the party."

Carolyn was startled. "What scheme have you come up with again?"

Sharon let out a mysterious smile. "You will see. It is going to be a real eye-opener."

In the Kooper residence, Sharon cried out to Madalyn, who was reading the newspaper. "Kisa is so mean. My mom is her stepmother who has been taking care of her for over ten years, and the treatment

she received in the Case family is no worse than mine, yet she still hurts my mom like this."

Madalyn threw the newspaper on the table in a rage. "Are you sure Kisa did this?"

Sharon nodded vigorously. "She admitted it herself. I know she doesn't like my mom, but she can't do this to her. Besides, it is not just my parents and the Case family that will be affected by her doing this. It is me and GK. If my reputation is tarnished, somebody will inevitably drag

GK into it."

"That is outrageous!" Madalyn pounded the table hard.

Upon seeing this, Sharon hurriedly added fuel to the fire. "Kisa also hooked up with Jensen and created something called J & K Film Group to take on GK. Jensen must have been involved in this matter. Not only do they want to fight the Case family, they also want to use it to destroy me and weaken GK."

"How dare she!"

At that moment, Gilbert was coming down from the stairs while buttoning his cufflinks.

Reborn Through Fire By Kazuya Higan Chapter 250

Chapter 250 I'm Afraid You Can't Let Go

Gilbert ignored their conversation and walked straight out of the house.

Madalyn called out to him in exasperation. "That b*tch hooked up with Jensen to create the J & K Film Group. You know about that, right?"

"Yes."

"Then they set Carolyn up, dragged Sharon down, and used it to ruin Sharon and take on GK. You know about that, right?"

"Yes."

Gilbert's calm and indifferent demeanor hurt her. "You know? Why didn't you go after them? I told you a long time ago, that woman was not a good thing. She is just like her mother, belligerent but good at disguising it. I see that now Jensen has been completely bewitched by her."

"Grandma..." Gilbert slowly turned around and looked at her with sadness in his eyes. "Jensen didn't really want to go abroad back then, did he?"

Madalyn's expression changed slightly. "Who said that? I was selfishly afraid that he would compete with you for the family fortune and wanted to send him abroad, but he did want to go abroad for further study, and I did not force him. I sent him away of his own free will." Gilbert shook his head. "If that was the case, why didn't you let me see him off the day he left?"

"I—I was afraid that you would be sad, that you could not let go."

Gilbert pursed his lips and said nothing more, then turned around and continued to walk outside.

Madalyn shouted from behind him, "What? Did Jensen say something to you? Are you even suspicious of me now? Gilbert, Gilbert!" Madalyn was furious and sad to see her favorite grandson giving her the cold shoulder.

Sharon seized the opportunity to add fuel to the fire. "It is all Kisa's fault. First, she messed with Gilbert. Now she is hooking up with Jensen. She is trying to get them to go against each other."

The last sentence almost hit Madalyn in the gut. It was as if she had seen the tragedy back then. She covered her mouth and cried out in anguish. "She is really a scourge, just like her mother. Her mother has caused trouble to my two sons, and now she is going to cause trouble to my two grandchildren. Damn it, damn it. Why doesn't she die?"

Seeing Madalyn's grief and anger, Sharon sneered in her mind with triumph. She asked Madalyn, "Do you want to fix that b*tch?"

Madalyn stared at her.

Sharon quickly said, "Five days later, Kohen will come here to hold a party, and the main character of the party is that b*tch."

"Hmph! She looks like she is someone important, even getting Kohen to back her up."

“Absolutely. It really pisses me,” Sharon said indignantly, and then a thought came to mind. “But I have a way to ruin her reputation at the party, but I will need a small favor from

“You need my help?” Madalyn stared at her cautiously.
you.”

Sharon shook her head. “Don’t worry, Grandma. It is really just a small favor. You just need to send a message or make a phone call to that b*tch.”

Madalyn was still suspicious. “Is it that simple?”

Sharon nodded vigorously. “It is really that simple. By then, that b*tch’s reputation will be ruined at the party, and then the J & K Film Group will no longer have any ability to challenge. GK.”

Madalyn did not know what this woman was up to, but at the thought of fixing Kisa, she agreed to the request.

Gilbert drove, and as if on auto-pilot, he arrived at the apartment where Kisa and Jensen lived. Davian said they lived on the seventeenth floor. So he got out of the car, leaned over the front of the car and counted up one floor at a time.