

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1888

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1888

Mrs. Queen said: "That's right, I also urged Hayden and Hugh, even if they didn't listen to me. It's useless for me to urge them. Hayden seldom goes back to the old house.

Not to mention that kid Hugh, he has many female friends, but none of them are serious girlfriends. Alas, children are debts."

"Mom, didn't you say wait for me to come back to eat breakfast? I came back on an empty stomach." Hayden had to interrupt his mother again.

Mrs. Queen said: "Yes, yes, go to have breakfast, and the two of you have to go out for a horse ride. Kevin, there is a hot spring near our Queens' ranch. In this weather, after riding a horse, you will be covered in sweat. You can go to the hot spring."

Hayden: "..."

Kevin said with a smile: "The ranch is close to hot springs. That's fantastic. Go to the hot springs after riding the horse. It's relaxing."

"Let's have breakfast first." Mrs. Queen said and got up.

Mr. Queen waited for Kevin to get up, and like a buddy, he held Kevin's shoulders and followed his wife to the dining room.

Hayden was speechless again.

She knew that her parents really fell in love with Kevin, and they were trying their best to match her and Kevin.

She took out her cell phone and called her brother, Hugh.

When Hugh answered the phone, she ordered coldly: "Hugh, no matter where you are, go back to the old house right away."

After speaking, she cut off the call without giving her brother a chance to answer.

Hugh over there was speechless. He made an appointment with a few good buddies today to go out to sea on his private yacht, and it's already arrived at the pier.

There was no other way, the elder sister had an order, so Hugh had no choice but to say to his friends: "My elder brother has an order, let me go back right away, I can't go to sea with you, go and play by yourself, have fun."

Several friends knew that Hugh was not afraid of anything, but he was afraid of his elder brother.

He waved to him understandingly, said goodbye, and a few friends left.

Hugh turned around and ran back.

Not knowing what happened, the eldest sister ordered him to go home immediately with such a cold voice.

After notifying his younger brother to come back, Hayden got up and walked into the dining room.

The four of them dined together, what Hayden saw was the enthusiasm of her parents for Kevin, and what she heard was also the concern of her parents for Kevin.

She couldn't help scolding Kevin in her heart.

"Mr. York."

Hayden suddenly called Kevin. When the three of them looked at her, she asked Kevin with a gossip: "Mr. York, I heard your grandma has already chosen a wife; I'm curious as to which granddaughter-in-law Grandma chose for you."

Hearing this, Mr. Queen and Mrs. Queen looked at Kevin.

Old Mrs. York had chosen a wife for Kevin?

Then, their Hayden had no chance.

Old Mrs. York would not pick anyone on her family's Hayden. After all, in the eyes of outsiders, Hayden was a man.

The enthusiasm of the Queen family couple gradually cooled down a bit.

Kevin admitted honestly: "That's the truth. My grandma chose wives for our brothers, gave each of us a photo, and gave us another year to successfully chase wives within one year. It doesn't matter if you get married or engaged, and no matter how bad it is, you have to confirm the relationship."

Hayden: "Otherwise..."

Kevin said with a wry smile: "My grandma said that if we don't succeed in chasing a wife after a year, we will be expelled from the Wildridge Manor, and she doesn't want grandchildren like us."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-