

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1895

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1895 -Hugh continued to ask: "Mr. York, can you show me the photo of your future wife?"

"Second Young Master Queen, When I catch up with her and when I get married, I will definitely treat you to a wedding banquet. At that time, you will know who is my wife?"

When he married Hayden, Hugh became his brother-in-law, and at the wedding, Hugh was absolutely indispensable.

Kevin said so, no matter how thick-skinned Hugh was, it's not easy to chase after others for photos.

Hugh could only smile and said: "Mr. York, When you get married, you must invite me to the wedding wine. If possible, I would like to be the best man for you to enjoy your happiness. I hope that the next person to get married will be me, lest my parents see me go home alone every day, I dislike myself, and I think that no one wants me."

Kevin smiled, neither agreeing nor refusing, he had to find out if his brother-in-law could be the best man.

If he could let his brother-in-law be the best man, he would reply to Hugh.

After all, he was the future brother-in-law and the only brother-in-law, Kevin still gave Hugh a lot of face.

"I'll make it easier."

Kevin drank too much water.

After Kevin left, Hayden muttered: "Very cunning, so far he hasn't revealed who his wife is."

Hugh ate the fruit nonchalantly, and said, "It doesn't matter who she is. It has nothing to do with us."

He pushed those dim sums towards his sister, "Eat a few dim sums quickly while he's away, you don't dare to eat too much when you're outside."

Hayden said indifferently: "The hotel has reserved a table, and I will go over to eat right away. What are you doing for snacks? I haven't eaten them all the time, and I won't think about them."

She adored snacks, but for many years she had pretended to be a man. They all felt that dim sum was something she could eat or not.

"I'm hungry. I was called back by you, but I didn't eat anything." Hugh ate another piece of snack by himself. He took out his mobile phone, opened Moments, saw the photos sent by his friends, and handed them to his sister, "I-I used to go out with them, but now they are having fun, I can only sit here and bask in the sun. Of course, if I can accompany my sister, I can bask in the sun."

Hayden glare at him: "Don't call me sister outside!"

Hugh smiled and made a face, causing his sister to stare at him again.

The siblings were the same age, but in front of his elder sister, Hugh always looked like a child. His elder sister was so capable. She was his backer, a towering tree for him to enjoy the shade. With his elder sister, he could be used as a quilt when the sky falls.

Soon after, Kevin came back.

A group of three went to the hotel on the ranch for dinner.

This was Kevin's treat, and Hayden specifically told the hotel to give Kevin a discount.

After the meal, after a short rest, Kevin pestered Hayden to a nearby hot spring.

Finally, They went to the hot springs.

Hayden had always been on guard against Kevin. she felt that Kevin was deliberately approaching her, and suspected that Kevin might know that she was a woman.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-