

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1946

Married at First Sight Chapter 1946-Hayden: "I'm short on time, and I don't have time to pester you, Mr. York. If you're hungry, sit down and eat. If not, please take your flowers and leave."

After being stared at by her sister, Hugh didn't dare to speak again.

Kevin immediately sat down beside Hayden, and said cheekily: "I'm hungry, let's have dinner with you, Mr. Queen. I will not force you to accept this bouquet of flowers. Every day from now on, as long as I am in Jensburg, I will send you flowers until you accept my flowers."

Hayden: "I accept it, so you won't give it away?"

Kevin: "No, you accepted it, and I'm going to give it away."

Hayden pursed her lips, pretending that she hadn't said anything.

The butler brought out the prepared dishes from the kitchen.

After the dishes were served, the butler brought two unopened bottles of famous wine, put them on the dining table, and said to Hayden, "Master, these are the two bottles of wine you want, remember to bring them with you later."

Hayden: "Okay, put it in a bag for me."

The butler went to fetch the bag again and filled two bottles of wine.

Kevin was not the first time to eat at the same table with Hayden. Knowing that Hayden ate very fast, he didn't talk too much. He silently tasted the cooking skills of the chef at his fiancée's house. He felt that there was still room for improvement, thinking that he would have a chance someday to show Hayden a few hands.

It's best to cultivate Hayden's stomach so that she couldn't leave him slowly.

After dinner, after resting for ten minutes, Hayden set off.

Kevin still followed her.

Before getting into the car, Hayden turned to Kevin and said, "Mr. York, I'm going to the banquet now, please stop following me."

In the past, Hayden didn't like to attend banquets. Due to her social status, she still had to participate in various activities frequently.

Tonight, Hayden couldn't wait.

Thinking of her attending the banquet, she would be able to get rid of the lingering Kevin.

Kevin had not been in Jensburg for a long time, and the invitation letter for tonight's banquet was sent out half a month ago.

Hayden thought that Kevin didn't have an invitation letter.

Kevin put the bouquet of money that hadn't been sent back into the car, and responded to Hayden with a smile: "Coincidentally, I will also attend the banquet tonight, and You and I always drop by, and the destination is the same."

Hayden: "..."

When did he get the invitation letter?

Did he know her itinerary tonight, so he arranged it in advance?

Too lazy to ask, Hayden got into her car, and Hugh followed her sister into the car naturally. At the banquet, both siblings would drink, and it was not advisable to drive after drinking, so he followed his sister.

Drunk, the sister's driver sent them back.

Soon, several cars drove out of Hayden's villa and left the Yuvinn villa area.

Tonight's banquet was held at the Greenrest Hotel under the Queen Enterprise. Greenrest Hotel was one of the best and most upscale hotels in Jensburg.

Diagonally opposite the Greenrest Hotel was the Fortress Hotel under the York Corporation.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-