

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1949

Married at First Sight Chapter 1949-Kathryn quickly said: "Young Master Queen, your bodyguard didn't hurt me, I'm fine."

She took a peek at Hayden, then quickly lowered her head, looking shy, and said in a low voice, "Young Master Queen, I'm really sorry, I bumped into your bodyguard because I didn't look while I was walking. "

"Ms. Kathryn, I should be the one apologizing. There are so many people here, and I brought so many bodyguards with me, that's why you bumped into my bodyguards. Luckily, you're fine."

Hayden treated those daughters who admired her with aloofness and indifference and would not be particularly gentle to anyone.

When treating Kathryn whom she admired, she involuntarily slowed down her tone, and the coldness on her face melted a bit.

This scene fell into the eyes of others, it was the real daughter of the Farrell family who used the most old-fashioned method to bump into the person who met Young Master Queen, and attracted Young Master Queen's attention.

"As a country bumpkin, she also fantasizes about Young Master Queen."

"She is the real daughter of the Farrell family now, and she will become the head of the Farrell family in the future. She thinks it's normal for Young Master Queen. Young Master Queen is so outstanding that even the third young master of the York family is fascinated by him."

"Yes, if I have a daughter, I also hope that Young Master Queen will become my son-in-law."

"Patriarch Farrell brought Shiloh Farrell over."

Someone saw Patriarch Farrell walking towards this side with his adopted daughter Shiloh, and whispered to the crowd to stop discussing, lest Patriarch Farrell overhear.

Kathryn's hearing was very good, she listened to the whispers of those around her.

There were many young talents in Jensburg, many of them married, and even if they weren't, the majority of them were famous women, and Kathryn looked down on them.

She had also dated countless people in the past, but she didn't fall in love with the other person, and she didn't want to give in, that's why she's single until now.

The adoptive parents had evil intentions. After she turned eighteen, they always wanted to marry her off. The men who arranged blind dates for her were all second-generation ancestors. They had some money in their families, but they had no skills.

In the past, she didn't understand why her parents wanted to marry her off after she was eighteen, and they didn't want her to continue her studies. She didn't understand until the adoptive father's conspiracy was exposed.

When she was young, she was not welcomed by her family and was always bullied by her brothers. It was because she was not born in that family.

After going to school, her grades were obviously the best among the three siblings, and her adoptive parents always wanted to keep her from going to school.

After being admitted to the best university, her adoptive parents wanted to marry her off and not let her go to school, but because her grades were too good, they wouldn't let her go to school. Did not give her a penny.

If her adoptive parents didn't give her anything, she earned money on campus by helping her classmates get water, express delivery, and take out food. In any case, she ran errands and then collected errand fees. Despite her exhaustion, she could earn a lot of money; she was born to study, and even if she made this much money, it would not affect her ranking among the top grades.

During the holidays, she returned to her hometown, purchased farm specialties, and sold them in major cities, making a fortune. During the holidays, she worked as a tutor for elementary or junior high school students, which allowed her to earn money.

When she was in trouble, in order to survive, she always thought of ways to survive.

When she graduated from university, she didn't ask for a penny from her family, but saved a sum of money by herself. She didn't let her family know, and used the money to invest in other businesses. She was lucky, and every time she caught the trend, she earned to a sum of money.

Later, she also established a company, which had been in operation for several years, and had two branches, with a net worth of tens of millions.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-