

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1926

Married at First Sight Chapter 1926-However, the two were not familiar with each other, and the intersection were even rarer.

Julian actually offered to pick her up!

This made Elisa so astonished that she didn't even know how to move her legs when she stood there.

"Ms. Stone, this bouquet is for you."

Remy came to meet the plane with a bouquet, and Julian also came with a bouquet.

Who told him to be entangled by Andrew Reading, and even made a bet with Andrew, and lost to Andrew, so he could only help Andrew get rid of Mrs. Stone.

He pretended to have a good impression of Elisa, which was enough to make Remy nervous and stressed, and made Mrs. Stone dare not match Andrew and Elisa like they did.

After all, Mrs. Stone didn't even know the whereabouts of Julian, so how could she match the two skillfully?

Mrs. Stone didn't dare to think of Julian as her son-in-law, she knew very well that her daughter would not get along with Julian.

Julian stuffed the bouquet into Elisa's arms, and Elisa instinctively hugged the bouquet of flowers.

She lowered her head to look at the bunch of flowers in her bosom, then raised her head to look at Julian, finally recovered her stunned soul, and asked him: "Mr. Bucham, what do you mean by this?"

"It's not particularly interesting. I know you're returning to Wiltspoon today, so I came here specifically to meet you, pick you up from the plane, send you a bouquet of flowers, assist you in pulling your suitcase, pick you up back to the city, send you home, and stay with you at your home to have a meal together." Julian finished speaking in one go, clearly explaining what he was doing now and what he would do next.

Elisa: "..."

"Elisa, Mr. Bucham."

Remy came over. He immediately stood beside Elisa, took the bouquet of flowers from Elisa's arms, stuffed the bouquet he bought to Elisa, and then returned the bouquet of Julian's to him and took Elisa's suitcase from him.

"Mr. Bucham, I don't want to bother you. I'll just take Elisa back, thank you for coming." Remy didn't know what was going on, but he still thanked Julian very well.

Julian didn't stop Remy from doing all this. He looked Remy up and down, such an outstanding man, Mrs. Stone couldn't accept him as her son-in-law, it's just... he didn't know what to say about her.

To have such an outstanding man, Remy, like her daughter Elisa, Mrs. Stone should be smiling.

Because Remy was from Annenburg, Mrs. Stone thought he was far away, so she didn't agree with the two being together, but she tried her best to match Andrew and Elisa, neither of them called, what's the use of matching?

Twisted melons will not be sweet.

"Since Mr. Johnson is also here, let's go back together."

Julian didn't leave like this, and he didn't confront Remy, he was originally there to eliminate disasters for Andrew.

In other words, why did he want to bet with Andrew?

Maybe it's been a little off lately.

Andrew guarded the door for a few days and came to him. He didn't know what happened. During the chat, he came to the matter of betting. Julian actually lost the bet and had to agree to Andrew's request.

He hoped his father would not go to the Stone family to propose marriage because of his abnormal behavior.

Julian didn't say anything, but Remy couldn't help asking: "Mr. Bucham, what are you doing?"

Julian: "The only girl is your Elisa, so I will compete fairly with you."

Remy: "..."

"Let's go, let's go, let's talk while walking."

Julian didn't like to stand in a crowded place and be stared at by people. He stretched out his hand to pull people, but of course he wouldn't pull Elisa.

He didn't say anything to Elisa. He didn't respond to women but liked men; he was sick; he was apathetic.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-