Married at First Sight Chapter 2067-Liam: "..."

It's over!

The medicine list was discovered by his son, how should Liam smooth things over for his wife?

"Who put a piece of paper under the coffee table?" Zachary muttered.

He picked up the piece of paper, and originally wanted to throw it directly into the trash can, but seeing that there seemed to be words on it, out of curiosity, he couldn't help but opened the piece of paper to read.

Tania and Serenity just came out of the kitchen.

She saw her son unfold a piece of paper to look at it, and the coffee table seemed to be shifted...

Tania's face turned pale instantly.

It's over, it's over!

How was it discovered?

She had put the medicine list under the coffee table, but her son still found it.

Could it be the husband told the son?

probably not.

There was no way her husband would betray her.

Tania tried her best to calm herself down, didn't panic, just refused to admit it when the time came.

Zachary opened the paper and found that it was a list of traditional medicine. He didn't understand the principles of medicine, and he didn't know what disease the medicine list was for, but it was hidden under the tea table, so it must be his family's medicine list.

was his parent or grandma sick?

Grandma was still outside, so she shouldn't be sick. Her bones were very good.

That was for his parents?

After Zachary finished reading, he looked at his father and saw his mother standing not far away, looking a little nervous, and he became more and more convinced that his parents had a physical problem.

“Dad, who hid this medicine list under the coffee table? Are you feeling ill or my mother?” Zachary would not just expose the past and asked his father.

Liam pretended to be confused and said: “Neither your mother nor I feel sick. Is this medicine list? Let me see.”

As he spoke, he took the medicine list from his son and read it.

Callum looked at his uncle and then at his aunt, their eyes were very sharp. He could see that the uncle and aunt were not very natural, let alone the oldest brother.

He also asked with concern: “Uncle, are you uncomfortable? Don’t hide it from us, tell us if you feel uncomfortable.”

Tania’s complexion returned to normal. She came over and went to her husband’s side to look at the medicine list. She glanced at it twice and said, “I don’t know who is hiding under the coffee table. Anyway, I and your Dad are fine.

Could it be that the worker at home found that the coffee table was unusual when cleaning, so she wanted to use something to stuff it under the coffee table, and then, this medicine list belongs to her?”

Zachary looked at his mother and said seriously and in a low voice: “Mom, you are not good at making up stories.”

When the workers cleaned the coffee table and found that the coffee table was uneven, they would only tell the owner that it was impossible to take out a medicine list and put it on the table.

Besides, other people’s medicine list must be useful, why put it under the coffee table?

Tania: “I’m not making up a story, I’m just guessing. This tea table has been kept here all the time. Who knows when a medicine list was stuffed?”

As she said that, she took the medicine list from her husband and said, “Zack, your dad and I are fine. Our health is very good. We go for a physical examination every six months. If there is anything wrong, You will be the first to know. If you don’t believe me, you can ask our family doctor. Your dad and I haven’t even had a cold recently.”

They were all very healthy conscious.

The couple were in good health.
