The Alpha King's Human Mate

Bonus Chapter - Aria & Sebastian (2) Chapter 2 - Aria & Sebastian

“authority without wisdom is like a heavy axe without an edge, fitter to bruise than polish.”

For close to three years, Aria watched the girls that scurried out of Alpha Liam's bed every morning. She'd roll her eyes and gossip about them behind their backs, but deep down, she desperately wanted to be one of them.

Well, that wasn't completely true.

She didn't want to be another notch on Alpha Liam's post, another flushed girl running out of his room in the morning. She wanted to be his girl — the only one in his bed. And even if she didn't want to be just another hookup, sometimes she wondered why she wasn't good enough to at least get the offer. She knew it wasn't a proper thought. She wasn't supposed to think this way of anyone but her mate.

If only I'd been his.

Did he not think she was appealing? Aria knew it wasn't very modest to dwell on her physical appearance, but she liked to think she was at least Bonus Chapter - Aria & Sebastian (2) pretty. She saw the way male eyes lingered on her as she walked by. If only Alpha Liam's would.

And then, one night, things changed.

She was bringing Alpha Liam his after-dinner scotch in his office as she always did. Usually, she found him reading or doing paperwork, but tonight, she found him with his eyes closed and rubbing the bridge of his nose in frustration.

“Here's your drink, Alpha,” she said quietly and tried to pretend like her heart didn't skip a beat when his eyes met hers.

“Thank you, sweetheart,” he said, smiling dryly when she placed the glass on his desk. There were two more empty scotch glasses next to it.

Aria turned to leave like she always did, but his voice rang throughout the dimly lit office. “Wait.”

“Yes, Alpha?”

He just stared at her for a moment before sighing. “Nevermind, I shouldn't trouble you. This is a man's issue.”

There was no hesitation in her answer. “You wouldn't be troubling me, Alpha, whatever it is,” she said, “Perhaps I could not contribute the way your advisors can, but I can lend a listening ear.”

He took a long sip of his drink like he was mulling it over before Bonus Chapter - Aria & Sebastian (2) patting the recliner in front of his desk.

Her heart skipped a beat as she took a seat.

“You've heard the news, I assume.”

“That we have a new King?” she asked.

Alpha Liam's mouth curled into a snarl. “I would hardly call him a King,” he growled, “He's a usurper. To kill the rightful king, and for what? Some human he claims is his mate?”

Alpha Liam finished the scotch in one long gulp and threw the glass against the wall behind her head.

It made a sharp crack as it shattered against the wall. A pit formed in her stomach.

No matter how many times she saw him angry, it still made her uneasy. She understood why he was angry - he had far too much responsibility on his shoulders. Not only was he running a large pack, but he was busy forming alliances and trying to change the world. Of course he was angry sometimes.

Anyone would be, she told herself. “Do you understand what this means?” he scoffed.

“Tt makes our work harder —” Bonus Chapter - Aria & Sebastian (2)

“Tt makes my work harder,” he cut her off, “Not only has that boy committed regicide, but if the rumors are true, he's going to put a crown on some human's head. He expects us to be ruled by a human.” His face twisted in disgust at that last word.

“[heard the human isn't happy about it,” Aria replied, “Maybe she'll try and reject the bond.”

“Oh, as if it'd be that easy,” he rolled his eyes, “Humans can't feel a mate bond, let alone reject one. And as soon as she catches a whiff of what it's like to live like a Queen, she won't want to. Humans are greedy, simple creatures like that.”

Aria had never met a human ~ besides Brian, and she didn't think he counted — but she didn't want to have to follow orders from some greedy human who didn't understand their culture.

“[I need to move quickly,” Alpha Liam said, but it didn't seem like he was talking to her anymore. “It'll be difficult, but I only need a few more alliances to make my move...and this human may prove beneficial. If that Doy is so hellbent on protecting her, we can use her against him.”

“Pm sure -”

Whatever Aria meant to say was cut off by Alpha Liam's lips smashing against hers. It took her a minute to recover, but once she did, she did her best to match his pace. She didn't have any kissing experience, so she wasn't entirely sure what to do, but she tried to let instincts guide her. Bonus Chapter - Aria & Sebastian (2)

His tongue slipped into her mouth without any warning, exploring her mouth like a man dying of thirst. She let out a sound of surprise but opened her mouth wider to accommodate him.

After several minutes of exploring her mouth, he pulled back. His breath smelled like alcohol, and his pupils were blown wide as he looked at her.

“Bend over the desk,” he ordered.

Aria's heart was pounding a mile a minute as she scrambled to do as he asked.

She leaned against the desk, the back of her thighs brushing against the wood. Her uniform, as was most of the women's, was a tight t-shirt and black skirt when they were working.

He let out a condescending laugh as he looked at her. “No, sweetheart, the other way.”

A blush spread across her cheeks, and she turned over until her stomach was digging into the wooden edge. Liam was on her immediately, his back pressing her even further into the desk. His alcohol-stained lips covered her neck, and she moaned when she felt his fangs skim the area where a mating mark would be.

“could if I wanted to, you know,” he whispered into her ear. Bonus Chapter - Aria & Sebastian (2)

Her breath hitched.

And then his fangs were gone, and his hands were pulling off her skirt and panties.

She heard him spit, and a moment later, he entered her.

The obtrusion was large and uncomfortable, but she bit her lip to keep from crying out. She didn't want him to think that she wasn't good at this sort of thing — not when he'd finally decided he desired her this way.

Still, there wasn't much time to adjust. He started moving immediately, his hips bucking into her and moaning low in his throat. The movement of him inside her burned and the desk was still digging into her skin, but she was pleasing him. That's what mattered.

He started speeding up after a minute, slamming into her so hard that Aria couldn't contain her cries. It felt like someone was shoving a knife deep inside her.

And just when she wondered if she'd be able to bear any more of it, he shuddered and stilled inside her. He stayed like that just long enough to catch his breath before he pulled out, leaving her bent over the desk.

He patted her ass. “You've got a tight pussy there, sweetheart,” he chuckled, “Now, how about another drink?” ')

Aria pulled on her panties and skirt and nodded.
