

Divorced but Delighted By Millie Huffman Chapter 296

Divorced but Delighted By Millie Huffman Chapter 296

Chapter 296 Take Me There!

“As long as you like it!”

Archer was also happy.

He was afraid that his niece would throw away all the good things.

Anyway, Cherry was like this.

Now that there was a comparison, her elder sister's girl was the best.

She was beautiful, kind-hearted, and honey-tongued.

Unfortunately, they had only found her two years ago. If she had been in Los Angeles all this time, he would not take care of Belle's daughter.

They liked sincere people.

Eudora was happy, too.

Like her husband, she was also worried that if the gifts were not enough.

After all, the Barton family had helped them a lot in recent years, so it was worth it to give them valuable gifts.

What's more, Cici had been lost for many years and suffered for more than 20 years. As elders, they should put in some effort.

Eudora explained the meaning of this gift to her. “This longevity lock is usually given to children. They hope that newborn children can live long life and won't be taken away by demons. You had a hard life when you were young and lost. The lock was refilled by us. Now that our family is reunited, we will be together for a long time.

This hairpin is a gift for your coming-of-age. You've been out all these years, and you haven't been with your relatives since you were 18 years old. We have to make up for it on important days.

As for this ring and necklace, they are your dowry prepared by your uncle and me. When you meet your Mr. Right, you will take this set of jewelry and your husband's family won't bully you!"

The four pieces of jewelry have different meanings.

From birth to adulthood, and then to marriage.

It could be said that this gift was not only valuable but also very sincere.

When Cierra heard this, her eyes welled up with tears. She thanked them again with a smile. "Thank you, Uncle, and Auntie."

It turned out that so many people were concerned about her.

She felt so happy.

She used to be very pessimistic.

Ever since Aleah came back, her future seemed to be ruined.

She didn't know what to do.

Therefore, she was in a daze and relied on her feelings for Draven when she was young.

She married him.

Now that everything ended, when she woke up, she realized how good it was to have relatives.

That was a nightmare. Her future was bright now. There were loved ones, parents, and brothers protecting him.

She was really happy.

Sarah also noticed that her daughter's mood changed.

She didn't say anything.

She thought to herself, "As long as Cici likes it, She can accept it as she wants.

Anyway, the Barton family could afford to pay these favors.

Besides, this was the love given to her by her family."

Sarah stroked her daughter's back and stroked her long hair with a kind smile.

Without disturbing her, she looked at her brother and sister-in-law opposite her.

"By the way, why are you here today?"

Sarah was used to calling him by his name and it sounded more intimate.

She let Cierra sit next to her. She asked casually, "Didn't I tell you that we would bring Cici back in a few days? Why did you come here in advance today?"

"Sister."

Archer immediately said.

He didn't hide anything and told her everything that had happened to the Chester family today.

100

Including that he proposed to live apart and that he was going to move out.

Hearing this, Sarah's face darkened.

Even Cierra raised her head and listened quietly.

Because it was an elder's matter, she didn't interrupt.

"Have you told Dad about this?"

Living apart was not a small matter, and Sarah's expression was very serious.

Moreover, the Chester family had never done this before. Their father valued the family very much.

This was also the reason why Wilson was willing to let Belle stay at home after the divorce.

If it were an ordinary family, they wouldn't care about you. They would even urge you to find a new home.

The Chester family wouldn't be like this.

They valued family members much.

Therefore, living apart was an important thing.

When Sarah heard this, a trace of guilt flashed across Archer's face. "I only told Dad that Eudora and I had moved out. I haven't dared to mention living apart."

No matter how old he was, he was still a child in front of his parents and his old sister.

Sarah did not scold him. Instead, she said in a serious tone, "If you really want to do that, you should discuss it with Dad. If you don't dare to mention it, I'll bring Dad food later and go with you."

"I don't know

will he agree?"

Eudora was a little worried.

She admired Wilson very much.

Mere

As a healthy old man, his suggestions and opinions were all very creative. Moreover, he' could keep up with the times.

The only flaw was that he was stubborn. As long as he made up his mind, he wouldn't change.

If he didn't agree, they couldn't live apart.

However, Sarah was calm. "Don't worry. If he thinks it's reasonable, he'll definitely agree. Although we have family rules, now that the situation was different."

She was well aware of what kind of person Belle was.

She didn't want to say it. The doctor told her to calm down and try not to think about these troubles.

Otherwise, she would have driven them out when she took the boy from the Trevino family to look for Cici yesterday.

What the hell? Everyone in the Chester family was fine, except for Belle. She was the only one who was bad.

Since the trouble was caused by Belle, if their dad knew about it, he would not blame Archer.

He was old, but he was not blind.

Didn't he know what Belle had done in the past few years and what Archer had done?

Therefore, she was sure Wilson would not scold Archer.

After listening to his sister's words, Archer calmed down.

However...

1

He frowned. "Sister, you're in poor health. I'm afraid you can't go to the hospital. Eudora and I can go there. You don't have to do that."

Before Sarah could speak, Cierra raised her hand and said, "Why don't you take me there?"

Chapter 297 Clark

Cierra was also worried about Sarah's health.

If William had not found her, Sarah might have been lying in the hospital now, instead of chatting with them now.

Of course, she didn't want Sarah to go around until she had completely recovered.

"I'm not a porcelain doll. After two years of recuperation, I'm much better than before."

Like a healthy child showing off, she even stood up and turned around, shining brightly in the sun.

"Hey, look, I look good, don't I?"

Since Cici came back, she had been in a much better mood.

Other than occasionally having some palpitations and needing more rest, she didn't need to stay in bed all the time.

Cierra was still worried. "You look much better, but you haven't fully recovered yet. I have seen Grandpa before, and I think he's a reasonable person."

Hearing her daughter's words, Sarah felt a surge of warmth in her heart.

There was no lack of people around her who cared about her, but the little girl she had missed for more than 20 years was naturally different from others./

She touched Cierra's head and smiled gently. "I'm not that fragile. Ever since you came back, my health has improved a lot. Besides, it's not like I can't go to the hospital. You can't replace me for this regular physical examination, can you?"

The family doctor could be invited to the Barton family, but the hospital's medical equipment could not be moved to there. She could go somewhere.

Cierra held her mother's hand and said, "Then when you go to the hospital, don't be too angry. No matter what we say, you should be calm down, okay?"

When Sarah heard her daughter's words, she couldn't help laughing.

"I know. Don't worry about me."

"If they were here, they wouldn't have let you out. Being protected by you guys, I'm so happy."

Hearing her words, Sarah's smile widened.

They did not continue to chat here. They planned to prepare dinner and send it to Wilson later.

At first, Archer wanted to cook, but after all, he was a guest, so Sarah did not allow him to. This job was also taken over by Cierra, and Mrs. Taylor helped him.

At the same time, Sarah was chatting with Archer in the garden.

They talked about the Chester family.

It wasn't just those annoying things, but also the Chester family's business and Mrs. Chester's health, etc.

She didn't forget to mention Clark. While they were talking, Eudora told Clark what had happened just now and secretly took a picture of Cierra's back and sent it to her son.

Eudora, "Your cousin likes your gift very much. Come visit her when you have time.

Understand?"!

It was rare for him to reply with an "OK" emoji at a time.

Eudora was surprised. She didn't expect that her son would be interested in this cousin, whom he had never met before, so she took the opportunity to chat with him.

Eudora, "Your cousin will go to the hospital with us to visit your grandfather later. Would you like to come over? Your grandfather is injured and hospitalized. As a grandson, you should take care of him."

There was no reply.

Eudora knew her son well. After waiting for two minutes, she put away her phone.

While Archer was chatting with his sister, he suddenly remembered Will and asked, "By the way, why didn't I see Will? Isn't Jaquan in the company today? Did he take him – there?"

It was the weekend, and Will did not go to school. Jaquan worked overtime in the company and Will was usually in here.

At the thought of the little guy, Sarah's expression became even gentler. "There's a caring person taking care of Will these past two days. I was a little embarrassed at first, but I thought that the girl had a good temper, so I wanted her to get closer to him. I wanted Jaquan to be with her."

When Archer heard this, he immediately understood. "Had Jaquan thought so?"

Sarah forced a smile and shook her head. "I don't know, but he is much better than before. He treated that girl differently."

Sarah stopped.

She knew her son very well.

It was probably because he had been favored by the heavens since he was a child and did not know how to pursue a girl.

However, she was sure that they liked each other. After all, she was an experienced person.

She was just afraid that Jaquan would say something terrible to the girl and do something troublesome. If that happened, the girl would be scared away.

Therefore, Sarah didn't say too much.

In her heart, she had already regarded Wanda as her daughter-in-law. Now, Jaquan should be able to work hard and marry her.

no

However, Archer did not think too much about it. In his opinion, his nephew was the best. If he took a fancy to someone, he could get her.

Therefore, he put forward his opinion,

“If Jaquan liked her, you can help him. More importantly, what does she do to Will? It won't be good if she was a bad girl.”

“Don't worry about that. That girl treats Will well.”

Sarah could tell in the past two days that if it weren't for Will, Wanda wouldn't want to stay in the Barton family.

She avoided Jaquan as soon as she saw him. She treated Will like her own son.

Moreover, the girl and Will looked quite similar.

In the blink of an eye, Sarah seemed to have known something.

Unfortunately, before the answer came to her mind, her thoughts were interrupted by Archer and she began to talk about William.

Her youngest son was really troublesome.

After such a big thing happened today, she didn't know where he had gone.

What the hell?

After chatting for a while, the driver, Mr. Sam, made a video call.

“Madam, someone is at the door. It's a young man we don't know, but he's with two old gentlemen who lived in our house two days ago. Should we invite him in?”

“Of course, bring him in.”

Of course, Sarah remembered Freddy and Dr. Charles, but she was a little surprised about the young man.

“By the way, let me see what that young man looks like.”

On the day of Draven's visit, Mr. Sam was not there. Sarah was worried that they would come to harass Cici again, so she mentioned it worriedly.

Chapter 298 I Really Don't Know You

Mr. Sam shared the video with her. The face of the young man could be seen clearly.

She really didn't know him.

He was wearing glasses and looked a little familiar, but she was sure that it was not Draven and his friend.

Sarah was relieved. "Let them come in. They must be Cici's friends. Remember to be polite."

"Okay."

Mr. Sam replied.

Soon, Bruno was led into the Barton family.

Even though he had taken over the West family for many years, Bruno was still shocked by the various things in this place.

That was amazing. Even though the West family and the Trevino family were equally famous, the gap between them was still obvious.

In particular, the people of the Barton family were united. Not only their main enterprises were booming, but also their other projects were booming in the mall.

The most famous one was William, the second son of the Barton family. XR Entertainment had only been established for a few years, it could even barely be compared with the top one.

Not to mention the MRC Group, which took over by Jaquan.

Bruno sighed in his heart. At the same time, he had a dark thought.

He pushed up his glasses, and he had some thoughts.

If he could be with Cierra, He would completely take over the West family.

With the help of the Barton family, there was no need for him to compete with that illegitimate child.

However, this thought only stayed in his mind for a few seconds before it was quickly dispelled by him.

How could a girl like her be used by him?

In the early years, he was so hard that he couldn't bear to hurt her. Now he had put on a mask of hypocrisy and pretended to be harmless. How could he dare to have the idea of being a wolf?

He was not a good person, but he could pretend to be a good person for the rest of his life in front of her.

Bruno thought to himself and adjusted the smile on his face to make him look less terrifying. Instead, he looked like a simple guest.

In the kitchen, Cierra also learned of Bruno's visit.

When she heard the news, she almost patted her head.

Oh no! I actually forgot about Freddy and Dr. Charles!

How dare she!

However, she could not be blamed for that. She was tired.

It was not until she saw Jaquan that she relaxed a little.

www

Perhaps it was because she had relaxed too much, but she had forgotten the two old men behind in the competition.

Forgot?

Perhaps it was because she had entrusted them to Bruno in the morning, so she did not remember this matter.

Cierra didn't dare to delay and quickly went to see them.

The food was almost cooked. After a brief explanation to Mrs. Taylor, she didn't even have time to take off her apron and hurried out.

When she arrived, Bruno was chatting and laughing with Archer in the garden. The two old men were probably tired. They just sat quietly and didn't say anything.

"Freddy, Dr. Charles."

Cierra greeted the two old men before thanking Bruno.

“Bruno, I’m sorry. I had too many things to do today. Thank you for your help.”

Bruno smiled gently and looked at her. “I didn’t do anything, and today’s accident was very sudden. You shouldn’t blame yourself.”

They had also learned about the situation. Except for Wilson and Draven, no one else was injured.

Cierra still felt a little guilty. “I’ve made dinner. Why don’t you have dinner with us?”

Bruno didn’t refuse. “Then I won’t stand on ceremony. OK.”

Cierra smiled and said, “You’ve helped me a lot today. I feel that I can’t pay you back.”

She told the truth politely.

Bruno shook his head. “It’s not a big deal.”

Besides, he was willing to help her.

He just hoped that they could get a little closer.

He tried his best.

He thought that he would restrain himself.

Cierra didn’t know what he was thinking and told him that they were going to the hospital later.

“But I have to go to the hospital to send food to my grandfather later. I’m afraid I won’t be able to entertain you well.”

She was not so polite to Dr. Charles and Freddy.

Anyway, Freddy was half of her relative, and Dr. Charles was also reasonable, so they would not mind.

But Bruno... Bruno was just here.

Cierra had to give a proper explanation.

Fortunately, Bruno didn’t mind. “It doesn’t matter. I’m shameless enough to come here for a free meal. Of course, you should get down to business. By the way, how's Mr. Chester doing? Today's accident looks quite scary."

Cierra didn't hide.

"My grandfather is fine. He..."

Thinking that it was Draven who protected him, Cierra paused for a moment.

But she still told the truth.

"He's protected by Draven, so he was fine. If the results show that there's nothing wrong with him, he'll probably be discharged tomorrow. In other words, Draven's injuries are more serious. I heard from Ryan that he's out of danger. He hasn't woken up yet."

She didn't ask about Draven's situation.

In short, she didn't want to show any concern for him, even if he had done her a favor.

But at the same time, she was in a dilemma.

One should be able to distinguish between gratitude and grudges.

It was one thing to have a personal grudge against Draven, but it was also a fact that he had saved her grandfather's life.

If she ignored him like this, it would be cold.

She still felt a little uneasy about ignoring Draven.

Bruno said timely, "I accompany you to the hospital later. You can visit Mr. Chester, and I'll go see my younger brother and Mr. Trevino. If you need anything, I'll bring it over for you. Anyway, he has helped you a lot, so you shouldn't leave him alone. But I think it's probably inconvenient for you to do so with your status."

His words hit the nail on the head.

She smiled. "Really?"

Bruno's face was full of tenderness, and a gentle smile appeared on his face. "Of course,

I came to Los Angeles to have fun. I heard that there is a Cooking Contest, so I came there for fun. So I have time to help you.”

Cierra got up, “Then I’ll have to trouble you, Bruno!”

While they were talking, they didn’t notice that the elders next to them were smiling and looking at them.

Chapter 299 Asking about Bruno

Cierra, who had already turned around, didn’t notice that.

However, Bruno, who was still sitting there and saw everything.

He restrained himself and took a sip of the coffee.

As soon as he finished drinking, he heard a voice asking him.

“According to Cici, you should be surnamed West, right? Where your home is and where do you work now?”

“Yes, Auntie, my surname is West. I’m now in Chicago, Auntie, have you heard of Bruno West in Chicago?”

Bruno responded politely.

Sarah did not pay attention to the business world. She had been recuperating for the past few years, so she was naturally unaware of the West family in Chicago.

However, Archer’s reaction gave her an answer. “You’re the son of the West family in Chicago? Bruno West?”

Bruno adjusted the glasses, “Yes.”

“You’re young and promising! I heard that you helped the West family develop again. You’re capable!”

Archer praised.

He had heard about the West family in Chicago.

In the early years, their family used to develop very well.

At that time, everyone had praised that the daughter of the Cambre family had married a good man. That boy from the West family loved his wife very much and was very capable. Although they had a higher social status than the West family, he did everything well.

But it didn't last long. In less than three years, the man of the West family was exposed to having an illegitimate child, and the one outside was even one month older than the eldest son of the family.

When he was negotiating the marriage with the Cambre family, he had been messing with women outside!

When the news was exposed, the daughter of the Cambre family was eight months pregnant. When she received the news, she was sent to the hospital immediately.

However, she still died after giving birth to a son.

Originally, this matter could not have been spread to Los Angeles. It was all the West family's fault.

At that time, the West family had just developed. They were afraid that the Cambre family would revenge, so they concealed the news.

The text messages, as well as the demonstration of the mistress, were all deleted.

After a simple burial, he took his mistress home and lived in Chicago as if nothing had happened.

Occasionally, when a call came from the Cambre family, he would hide it or ask the mistress to pretend to be the daughter of the Cambre family.

At that time, the Cambre family didn't think much about it.

When she should give a baby,

the Cambre family said that they wanted to send someone over to take a look, but they were also deceived.

Until Christmas Day, the Cambre family felt that there was something fishy, so they went to Chicago.

After arriving, they found out that so many things had happened.

Although the Cambre family was a family of doctors, they were also fierce. Mr. Cambre used to be a military doctor. He immediately beat him, moved the grave of their daughter back, and took the two children away.

Unfortunately, the disgusting man refused. He claimed that it was his son.

Although Mr. Cambre took the two little guys back to New York, they could only use the names given to them by their parents.

Fortunately, the Cambre family had studied medicine and had not been engaged in politics or business. Otherwise, the West family would be destroyed.

They had given the West family a lot of money to help him get rich. Was this how they treated their daughter?

Just thinking about it made him feel that the person from the West family was a bastard.

It was retribution. It was said that the one from the West family had brain cancer a few years ago.

He was unreliable. Fortunately, his parents were reasonable. When they found out that their son was going to hand over the Group to that illegitimate child, they strongly disagreed and insisted on leaving it to the two people who had been taken away by the Cambre family.

At that time, Bruno was already eighteen years old. And he was brought back to Chicago.

As for Ryan, he was brought back to the West family by his elder brother a year later.

But he soon goes abroad for further study. So far, his reputation wasn't very good.

He was a playboy.

In contrast, the elders preferred young people like Bruno, who were successful in their careers, dignified, and had no news of sex scandals.

Although the matter of the West family was a little messy, he was able to completely control it at such a young age, which was enough to prove his ability.

Archer admired Bruno,

Sarah didn't know much about the West family, but she had a good impression of Bruno after hearing Archer's words.

The smile on her face widened, and she became more curious about him.

“The West family of Chicago? It sounds like you’re from a good family. How did you get to know Cici? Cici used to be in New York, which should be quite far away from Chicago.”

She had been to Chicago in her early years. That place was far away from New York.

And such a big family wouldn’t let people live in another city for a long time, would it?

The result did surprise her.

Bruno explained, “My mother is from New York. I lived in my grandfather’s house when I was a child because of some family matters, and I was in the same school as Cici in New York.”

Although he was her senior and was on the same level as Draven, he had grown up with Cici.

But the Cambre family was not close to the Boyle family.

After all, at that time, the Boyle family attached them to the Trevino family. There were many people in the school who looked down on the Boyle family.

Because of the Trevino family, Draven always took Cici with him.

But things have changed lately.

Thinking of the man who was still lying in the hospital, Bruno couldn’t help smiling, and even his eyes darkened a little.

“He deserves it.”

Sarah did not notice the change. When she heard his explanation, she nodded and said, “So that’s how it is. You must take care of Cici when she was a child.”

Thinking of this, she had a better impression of the young man in front of her.

Bruno wanted to explain himself. However, he was interrupted by the people rushing over from behind.

Cierra didn’t walk very fast, but her voice was loud. “Dinner is ready, let’s go.”

This time, she did not forget Freddy and Dr. Charles. “Junior and Dr. Charles, you two can eat at home first and then rest. If you need anything, just tell Mrs. Taylor, okay?”

Freddy replied, “Don’t worry, Cierra. We can take care of ourselves.”

Cierra didn’t treat him like an outsider and nodded, “Alright, then we’ll leave first.”

They got up and planned to go to the hospital.

However, someone in the crowd was stunned.

Archer tugged at the corner of his wife’s clothes, looking a little dazed. “Eudora, did you hear what Cici called that old man just now?”

He was the leader of L’Opera Restaurant!

Chapter 300 Mother-in-law and Son-in-law!

Archer did not forget how he had been tortured by his father when he was young and how he had occasionally been teased by this old man.

It was an unforgettable nightmare in his life.

It was a grudge between his father and this old gentleman, but he was involved every time.

Not only in his childhood but even if he got married and had children later, as long as this old gentleman met his father, his cooking skills would be taught.

Fortunately, the two families did not have much contact and could no longer bear such a nightmare.

He had thought that he would never see Freddy again in his life. His words were sharp, but he was also very capable. No one could control him.

Who would have thought that they would meet with the Barton family?

He was stunned for a long time just now. He didn’t dare to say hello at all, for fear that the old man would ask if his cooking skills had improved.

He was about to retire. How could he make any progress?

Fortunately, he didn’t react in time.

But after a while, he was shocked by his niece.

He must have misheard.

Just as he was thinking about it, Archer heard his wife's confused voice. "Cici seems to call the old man 'Junior', how could this be? She must be joking."

As soon as she finished speaking, Archer almost fell down.

Fortunately, his wife was by his side and she was able to support him.

"What's wrong?"

Eudora complained.

Archer held her tightly and suppressed the shock in his heart. "It's okay. There was just a small stone."

As he explained, he glanced uneasily at Cierra in front of him.

Because of his delay just now, Cierra had already helped Sarah walk far away. She didn't hear anything behind her, nor did she turn around.

Therefore, Archer heaved a sigh of relief.

Eudora felt that something was wrong with her husband. She held his hand and said, "What are you thinking about? Hurry up."

"OK."

AN

He was absent-minded. A lot of thoughts flashed through his mind.

He looked up at Cierra's back and sighed with emotion.

He would really be led by his niece in the future.

He had learned the rules of the L'Opera Restaurant. Cici must be talented.

If she was talented enough and his niece became a disciple of the Mayo family, it was completely reasonable for her to call Freddy Junior..

If that were the case, wouldn't his niece become his teacher?

The more Archer thought about it, the more shocked he became.

He glanced at the food box in Cierra's hand and pursed his lips.

"He must have a taste!"

Cierra didn't know what Archer was thinking about. She was still chatting with Bruno.

Although she was not very familiar with Bruno, he was a guest. Thus, they chatted and did not pay much attention to other things.

She held a lunch box in one hand and held onto Sarah with the other. She handed the other lunch box to Bruno.

"Thank you for your help today, Bruno. I've already troubled you by taking care of the two old men, and now I have to trouble you."

"It doesn't matter. I'm free now."

Bruno's footsteps were unhurried as he cooperated with them.

On the other hand, Cierra looked a little embarrassed. "I'm the one who troubled you. Of course, I should thank you. By the way, how many days are you going to stay in Los Angeles? If you don't mind, come to my house for dinner before you leave."

No matter what, Bruno had helped her a lot, so it was reasonable for her to treat him to a few meals.

Moreover, not only did she have to take care of Draven, but she also had to deal with Ryan. It was better to deal with the man of the West family as well.

Bruno was happy to hear that.

There was a flash of joy in his eyes. Although he didn't show it on his face, he couldn't hide the joy. "That's great! As long as you are willing to treat me. I'll probably stay in Los Angeles for a few more days. Although the Cooking Contest is over, I'm here and want to experience the culture of Los Angeles. I hope you won't drive me out."

Cierra smiled. Perhaps it was because everyone called her Cici after returning to Los Angeles, and Ryan had always called her that. She felt happy now.

She smiled and said, "Of course not. It's lively with so many people around."

She didn't put the word "shameless" on Bruno.

In comparison, Ryan could be considered to be thick-skinned.

Only Draven could be called shameless.

He even came to Los Angeles!

He didn't want to think about Draven anymore and quickly changed the topic.

"I'm afraid I'll have to disappoint you for failing of this competition."

Bruno shook his head. "I was lucky enough to eat at L'Opera Restaurant. I came to Los Angeles just for the sake of..."

I'm just here to join in the fun."

Naturally, he would not tell Cierra that he had come to Los Angeles for her.

Of course, he didn't dare to reveal the secret in front of the person he liked.

At present, he had hidden it very well.

And things developed just as he had thought.

He didn't expect her to fall in love with him all of a sudden, but it was fine now. He could slowly get close to her.

They used to be distant, but now she was willing to ask him for help.

It was better than before.

Bruno was very satisfied.

He didn't even keep staring at Cierra. He only looked at him when answering questions, and his behavior was very well controlled.

It made people feel very comfortable.

Cierra was also happy to talk to him. "By the way, when we were in New York, I didn't thank you for your advice."

She had succeeded in cooking the dish for Dr. Charles.

Although it was a little unexpected, she still had to say thank you to Bruno.

Hearing this, Bruno knew that she had succeeded. He smiled gently and said, "It's good that it's helpful to you."

Sarah looked at them and her eyes became more and more amiable.

Although her daughter couldn't see through a man's mind, she could.

It was just that she knew too little about this man.

However, for now, Sarah was very satisfied.

He was polite. According to Archer, the young man's career was great.

The more she looked at him, the more she liked him!