

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1951

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1951-Alba and Valerio had just received the genius direct descendants from the Fellowes family. There were only a hundred people on the team, and they were all very young, ranging from tens to hundreds of years old.

In a big family like the Fellowes family, even if they did not have 10,000 direct descendants, there would be as many as 8,000 descendants. This was not including the collateral descendants.

These more than one hundred people could be said to be the most essential part of the family and they were also the last hope of the Fellowes family, i

As for the reason why the Fellowes family sent them here, of course, it was because of David's strength and background.

Now, the Fellowes family were not hoping that David would help them get out of trouble, but they only wanted David to preserve some of their bloodline.

If David was willing to do his best to help the Fellowes family, then this would keep the last hope of the Fellowes family alive.

Before Valerio could figure out where to send the direct descendants, the Palmore family had already caught up to them.

The leader of the team was Anders, the first-in-line heir of the Palmore family.

After David shattered his confidence, he was devastated.

To regain his confidence, his family asked him to lead the strong family members to pursue the direct descendants of the Fellowes family.

They even asked two True Saints to follow him. It had cost his family a lot of money, and it was also enough to show how much importance his family attached to him.

As soon as Anders arrived, he directly displayed his strength to the Fellowes family by destroying the tallest building in Treasure Trove, causing a huge shock.

At this moment, he was standing on top of the huge ship, condescendingly overlooking Treasure Trove below him. Then, he began to feel a little high-spirited again.

'So what if David is strong?

'Grandmaster has already defeated Sid to become the head of the Saints Association. Who in Star Kingdom would dare to go against my family?

'From now on, my family will be the boss of Star Kingdom.'

After he was done with the Fellowes family, he would ask the grandmaster to kill David.

He wanted to step on David to get rid of the hatred in his heart.

As Alba looked at the ship that was blocking the sun, her face turned pale.

Valerio was not doing better than her at that moment. He was also staring sullenly at the sky.

These direct descendants were not only the tasks entrusted to them by the family, but they were also the last shred of hope for the family, so nothing could happen to them.

All the direct descendants of the Fellowes family were panicking.

'Here comes the Palmore family.'

'What should we do?'

'Can we escape?'

As the elite among the direct descendants, they naturally understood what kind of situation the Fellowes family was facing.

Especially after the grandmaster of the Palmore family became the head of the Saints Association, they were forced into a dead end with no hope at all.

Everyone felt lucky when they were chosen by the family.

They thought that if they were sent out, they would be safe. After all, the Fellowes family was not weak, and they were not the kind of family that could be manipulated by others.

Even though they would be tortured, the hatred of having their entire family exterminated and having to struggle on whilst at death's door would still be better than death.

Who would want to die if they could live?

They were all young and had not lived enough.

They did not expect to be caught not long after they escaped.

"Master Vai, the Palmore family is catching up to us, what should we do?" A member of the Fellowes family asked nervously.

Valerio was the head of Treasure Trove. In the Fellowes family, apart from the Saint Realm grandmasters, his status was second only to the head of the family.

All the direct descendants of the Fellowes family had to respectfully address him as Master Vai when they saw him.

When one person spoke, others also spoke.

“Master Vai, save us. We are still young and don’t want to die yet.”

‘That’s right! Master Vai, if we die, the Fellowes family will lose their bloodline and there will be no hope for the family at all!’

“Master Vai, you must have a solution, right?”

Some of the younger direct descendants of the Fellowes family started crying out of fear.

“Everyone, don’t be afraid! The family has a backup plan, and you are the last hope of the family, so nothing will happen to you. Don’t worry!” Valerio comforted.

Upon hearing what Valerio said, everyone calmed down slightly.

Recommended Novels