I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1966-It took so much effort for them to send the direct descendants out just to preserve a trace of the Fellowes family's legacy, so why were they back now?

As soon as Alba and Valerio returned to the family with their people, the seniors began to question them.

Facing the interrogation of the seniors of the Fellowes family, Valerio did not explain anything, but instead, he said that he wanted to see Grandmaster Cedar. 1

The direct descendants who were sent out returned, so of course, the three True Saint grandmasters were informed of such a big event.

Things were different from before.

The Fellowes family was facing an unprecedented catastrophe, so genocide was imminent.

Therefore, the grandmasters had already come out from seclusion.

If there was any important news, they had to be notified.

Not long after, news came asking Alba and Valerio to head to the forbidden area.

When the ancestor gave an order, naturally, no one objected.

The two were then taken to the forbidden area of the Fellowes family.

It was Cedar who greeted them.

When Cedar saw Alba and Valerio, his expression was unpleasant.

He could not understand why these two people returned to the family with the direct descendants.

Originally, David made a move to fend off the pursuers of the Palmore family so that the bloodline of the Fellowes family could be preserved and the plan would succeed.

Now, all of the efforts were wasted because they had come back.

Seeing the gloomy face of Grandmaster Cedar, Alba and Valerio were also a little flustered.

However, they relaxed after a while.

They believe that the grandmaster would not blame them after knowing the truth of the matter.

The news brought by the two this time was beneficial to the Fellowes family.

It could even help the family escape the catastrophe.

“You two, come with me!” Cedar said before turning and leaving.

“Yes, Grandmaster!”

After Alba and Valerio answered, they hurriedly followed.

Then, they went to the center of the forbidden area and saw the other two True Saints of the Fellowes family.

The two grandmasters had been in seclusion all year round, but they were forced to come out now.

“Alba greets you, Grandmasters.”

“Valerio greets you, Grandmasters.”

“Tell me, what’s going on? Why did you bring back the people that were already sent out by the family? Do you know how much thought the family put in to send them out? Do you know that this place is already under the surveillance of the Palmore family? It’s easy to get in, but it will be hard to get out,” Cedar questioned.

“Grandmaster, we understand what you mean,” Valerio replied.

“If you do, why did you do it? Did the family let you down? Are you so desperate for the Fellowes family to die out?” Cedar did not hold back at all.

“Grandmaster, you have wronged us. As members of the Fellowes family, we can give up everything, even our own lives, for the sake of the family,” Valerio said emotionally.

“Then please give me a reasonable explanation! I don’t want to hear any other nonsense.”

“Grandmaster, our return this time was requested by Master David. Plus, he was the one who sent us back. He said that this is the safest place at present, and the Palmore family will find us very easily if we go elsewhere.” This time, Alba was the one who spoke.

“David?”

“Yes!”

“Did he say why?”

“Master David said that he has very important things to do, and he will come here when he finishes. After that, he will join hands with the Fellowes family to deal with the Palmore family. He also said that the Fellowes family will be fine, and he asked us to wait with peace of mind.”

Cedar did not continue talking.

His brows were tightly furrowed together.

He had a good impression of this kid.

Even so, he would not believe that David would come here to die with the Fellowes family.

Not to mention that the agreement between David and the Fellowes family was only verbal. Even if they were friends who had gone through life and death together, he would not do this in the face of such a hopeless situation.

If so, David had sent Alba and others back with only one purpose—to get rid of his burden, the Fellowes family.

Patiently wait for him to finish his work?

No way!

In the end, what they would get would be a devastating blow from the Palmore family.
